George Arnold Hearn was born in New York City, Dec. 7, 1835, and died Dec. 2, 1913. He was the son of James A. Hearn and Caroline Lancaster of Philadelphia. He married Laura Frances, daughter of Howell Hoppock of New York, Feb. 28, 1863. Their surviving children are Mary Hoppock, wife of Herbert Spencer Greims, Caroline Lancaster, wife of Clarkson Cowl, and Alice, wife of George E. Schanck. His son, Arthur Hoppock Hearn, died Dec. 25, 1910. A daughter, Laura Frances, born Jan. 6, 1871, died Jan. 15, 1875, and his daughter Grace Arnold, wife of George B. Wheeler, born Aug. 27, 1875, died Nov. 30, 1899.

Mr. Hearn was a direct descendant of the ancient and knightly house of Heron of Ford Castle in the County of Northumberland, England.

The names of Heroun and Hern are in the "Battle Abbey Roll" of such noblemen and gentlemen of marque as came into England with the Duke of Normandy, A. D. 1066.

Jordan De Hayrun—Herun or Heyrun,—held a barony in Northumberland, 13th of King John, by the service of one knight's fee, married the daughter of Odonellus de Ford, Lord of Ford, and died in the time of Henry the Third. He had one son, William de Heyrun, Baron, who also had a son, William, Knight Baron of Hadeston and Sheriff of that County, Governor of Bambergh, Scarboro and Pickering Castles, who married Maria, daughter of Odonel de Ford, Lord of Ford. Died 1256.

His son, William de Heyrun, Baron of Badeston, married Christiana, daughter of Roger de Notten. Died at Newcastle on Tyne, 1297.

His son, Roger Heyrun, Governor of Bambergh and Sunstanberg Castles in the time of Edward the Second, by his wife Isabella, had one son, Sir William Heron, Knight Lord of Heron

Ford and Bokinfeld in the time of Edward the Third. His son, John Heron of Crowley was living in the middle of the fourteenth century. He by his wife Abicia had a son, Sir John Heron, Knight, Master of the Jewel House in the time of Henry the Fourth. He by his second wife, Johanna, had a son and heir, John Heron, citizen of London, who died in 1514, leaving a son Thomas Heron of Schackelwell. He married Cecily, daughter of Bartholomew Ledell, who died in 1518 holding the estate Adgcomb.

Their son, Thomas Heron, married Elizabeth, daughter and co-heir of William Bond, and died Oct. 2, 1544.

Their son, Sir Nicholas Heron, married Maria Poole. Was knighted in 1565, died 1568, and buried in Croydon Church. His son, Captain Poynings Heron, died in 1595.

His son, Rev. John Heron, B.D. (or Hearn), was born 1578. Was Rector of Chale, Isle of Wight; died in 1648.

His son, Rev. Mathew Hearn, D.D., Rector of Chale, Isle of Wight, had three sons and a daughter of whom Thomas Hearn, ancestor of George A. Hearn, was born April 6, 1685, and died Oct. 23, 1752. He and his wife Anne had six children of whom William Hearn (ancestor of George A. Hearn) married Grace, daughter of William Jolliffe of Heasley, about 1733, died about 1792, and was buried at Arreton. They had 16 children. Their son, George Arnold Hearn, born Jan. 30, 1778, married Sept. 19, 1803, Mary, daughter of Richard Arnold of Shalfleet, who was born July 20, 1783, and died at New York, Nov. 16, 1851. The said George Arnold Hearn left England May 20, 1821, on the ship Nepos, commanded by Captain Collins, arrived in America July 20, 1821, settled in Montgomery County, N. W. Pa., became a citizen of the United States Jan. 31, 1834, removed to New York City 1834, and died there June 6, 1851.

His son, James A. Hearn, was born Nov. 5, 1810, and on Feb. 22, 1835, married Caroline Lancaster, daughter of Moses Lancaster of Philadelphia, who died Oct. 13, 1864. The said James Arnold Hearn died Jan. 3, 1886, in New York. They had six children of whom George Arnold Hearn, the subject of this memorial was the eldest.

In 1860, Mr. Hearn began his business career with his father in the old firm established in 1827 under the name of Arnold & Hearn on Canal Street. The name was then changed to James A. Hearn & Son and the place of business was No. 775 Broadway. In 1879 the firm moved to its present location on West Fourteenth Street, where it has long been known and recognized as one of the most successful retail dry goods houses in the world.

Mr. Hearn's business methods were simple, direct and easily understood, the fundamental principle being to so conduct the business as to constantly give the greatest value to those dealing there. Though at the zenith of his financial strength, during the period when vast speculative fortunes were being made rapidly in this country, he never permitted his interest to be diverted from the great store which was so largely the result of his own effort and which remains a monument to his success.

As a merchant, Mr. Hearn firmly believed in training and developing his own employees. His buyers and those who carried high responsibilities of the firm were all raised from the ranks and had begun in minor positions. He was a keen judge of human nature, was quick to recognize merit, and never forgot those who showed aptitude in advancing the interests of the firm.

Perhaps one of the traits most marked in Mr. Hearn, was his love and pride in the city of his birth, New York. He was always ready to see that no civic cause suffered for lack of counsel or for financial support and gave freely both of money and time to further municipal improvements. While always quick to respond, and most generous in activities to aid suffering communities elsewhere in the United States, as at the time of the Johnstown Flood, the Charleston and San Francisco Earthquakes, and the Galveston Fire, he was still more keen to realize the necessities of this City, and to further patriotic celebrations and all endeavors that tended to add distinction and renown to the name of New York.

Mr. Hearn was an earnest member of the Municipal Art Commission, a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, Council of the University of the City of New York, a member of the Merchants, Lotos, Salmagundi and Aldine Clubs, a trustee of the Metropolitan Museum of Art and a patron of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, as well as President of the Seamen's Christian Association.

Mr. Hearn was a genuine lover of art and was known as a discriminating judge of paintings, ivories and porcelains. His liberal patronage firmly established him as the greatest benefactor of American artists. His interest in the Metropolitan Museum of Art was heartfelt and untiring. His gift of paintings, a wonderful and harmonious galaxy of pictures, is treasured by the Museum as a separate and choice collection. The fund he gave for the yearly purchase of works by American artists was an inestimable boon to the painters of this country.

He was a man of high ideals and charming personality and his character expressed itself in many acts of public and private benevolence. Volumes could be written of his deeds of love and kindness.

Mr. Hearn was an active, efficient, successful and patriotic citizen and generations to come will share the benefits of his worthy achievements.

THOMPSON AND BREWSTER.

BY JOHN DENISON CHAMPLIN, New York City.

Richard Wheeler, in his History of Stonington (1900), in an attempt to explain the ancestry of William Thompson, who died in that town, June 15, 1705, says:

"From reliable information we learn that one of the many John Thompsons who were among the early planters of New England married Hannah Brewster, daughter of Jonathan Brewster, and granddaughter of Elder William Brewster of the Mayflower. She married 2nd, Samuel Starr, Dec. 15, 1664."

The "reliable information" which led Mr. Wheeler into this error was probably derived from Benjamin F. Thompson's History of Long Island (1843). Mr. Thompson says that when the wife of the Rev. William Thompson of Braintree died in 1643, during his absence in Virginia, and his children were scattered, "John, probably the eldest son, was placed in the Brewster family; Jonathan, supposed to have been the second son, resided with his uncle James at Woburn, and was the great-great-grandfather of the distinguished philosopher, Sir Benjamin Thomson, better known as Count Rumford. . . . John Thomson, son of William, came to Long Island in 1656, and settled at Setauket. . . . His wife was Hannah, daughter of Jonathan Brewster, a son of Elder William Brewster of Plymouth, . . . and sister of the Rev. Nathaniel Brewster, afterwards minister of Setauket. . . . He died Oct. 14, 1688, leaving three sons, William, Anthony and Samuel. . . . William, the eldest son, married Ruth Avery of Stonington, where he finally settled and had a family of sixteen sons and four daughters."

This account is virtually accepted by Frederick Diodati Thompson who contributed articles on the Family of Thompson to the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record (vols. xxii, xxvii), but who judiciously omits the twenty children. He clings however to the legend that "John Thompson married Hannah, daughter of Jonathan Brewster, and sister of the Rev. Nathaniel Brewster, who graduated at Harvard in 1642."

It is extremely doubtful if more errors have ever illuminated any page of 'history,' at least since the days of Baron Munchausen's Narrative, than are strung together in the above excerpt from Mr. Thompson's History of Long Island. What is even more remarkable is that the statements should have gone so long unchallenged, for nearly three-fourths of a century have passed since their publication. That they should have been accepted without question by expert genealogists like Mr. Wheeler and presumably Mr. Thompson is an inexplicable marvel.

A little investigation by these gentlemen would have brought to light the following facts:

1. That the Rev. William Thomson of Braintree had no son John and no son Jonathan.

2. That Jonathan, the great-great-grandfather of Count Rumford was the son of James Thomson of Woburn.

3. That there is no evidence that the Rev. William of Braintree and James of Woburn were brothers.

4. That Jonathan Brewster, son of Elder William, had no son Nathaniel.

5. That Jonathan Brewster's daughter Hannah married Dec. 23 (not 15), 1664, Samuel Starr of New London, who was her first and only husband, not her second. Miss Calkins, in her History of New London, says Hannah Brewster was "thirty-five years old in 1680." She was born therefore in 1645 and was only nineteen years old in 1664, when she married Starr.

6. That the Rev. Nathaniel Brewster was probably the son of Francis Brewster of London, who came to New Haven in 1638 with the party of Eaton and Davenport.

7. If the wife of John Thompson, who settled in Long Island, were a sister of Rev. Nathaniel Brewster, she was probably a daughter of this same Francis.

8. That William Thompson of Stonington, called "John Thompson's eldest son," did not marry Ruth Avery, but Bridget, daughter of Nathaniel and Hannah (Denison) Cheseborough of Stonington.

9. That the fruits of this union of Dec. 7, 1692, were five and not "twenty" responsibilities.

With these few exceptions, Mr. Thompson's account of his family may be accepted as substantially correct.

Setting aside for the present the question of John Thompson, it is most remarkable that the identity of so prominent a clergyman as the Rev. Nathaniel Brewster should still be an unsettled question. The compiler of the Brewster Genealogy, published in 1908, says: "The problem upon which numerous genealogists have been working for many years concerning the parentage of Rev. Nathaniel Brewster of Brookhaven, L. I., has not been solved."

Yet Mr. Savage, whose Genealogical Dictionary was published a half century ago, says that he was probably the son of Francis Brewster of New Haven, between whom and Elder William Brewster no kinship has yet been traced, though Mr. William A. Beers, author of a memoir of Roger Ludlow, quoted by Stiles in his History of Ancient Windsor, calls Francis, without authority, a "nephew of Elder William Brewster." Sibley, in his Harvard Graduates (1873), accepts Mr. Savage's suggestion that Nathaniel was the son of Francis, who is credited in 1640 with a wife Lucy and a family numbering in all nine heads. In 1646 Francis Brewster was one of the passengers on the ill-fated ship built in New Haven and sent out in command of Captain Lamberton, the loss which at sea is said to have been disclosed to the anxious inhabitants through the apparition of the phantom ship. Mrs. Lucy Brewster, his widow, married 2nd Dr. Thomas Pell and died in 1669.

Nathaniel Brewster was a member of the first class graduated at Harvard in 1642, his classmates being Benjamin Woodbridge, George Downing, John Bulkeley, William Hubbard, Samuel Bellingham, John Wilson, Henry Saltonstall and Tobias Barnard. He married, according to Mr. Savage, Sarah Ludlow, daughter of Roger Ludlow, Deputy Governor of Massachusetts in 1637 and Chief of the Commission sent in 1639 to govern Connecticut, but when or where this union took place is not recorded.

The life of Mr. Ludlow, after he left Connecticut, is involved in some obscurity. Mr. Savage says that after serving as a Commissioner of Connecticut in the convention of the United Colonies of New England in 1651-53, he "went off next year to Virginia in some disgust and passed there the rest of his days." But the researches of Mr. Waters, published originally in 1886 (N. E. Gen. Reg., xl, 300), show conclusively that Ludlow, even if he visited Virginia, where his brother George lived, returned almost immediately to England. George Ludlow of Co. York, Virginia, in his will, made Sept. 8, 1655, makes a bequest to his brother Roger Ludlow, and in a codicil of Oct. 23, the same year, bequeaths a part of his estate, in a certain contingency, to "my nephew Jonathan Ludlow, the eldest son to my brother Roger, who lives in Ireland at Dublin," and a residuary remainder to Roger's other children. In 1656, Aug. 1, letters of administration were granted to "Roger Ludlow, Esq., the father and curator lawfully assigned to Jonathan, Joseph, Roger, Ann, Mary and Sarah Ludlow, minors . . . during the minority of the said minors." This gives us for the first time the names and an approximation to the ages of Roger Ludlow's children.

Hubbard, in his History of New England, says that Roger Ludlow was a brother-in-law of John Endicott. The will of Philobert Cogan of Chard, Co. Somerset, gentleman, of Feb. 10, 1640, proved April 12, 1641, mentions daughters "Mary Ludloe and Elizabeth Endicott." This gives us probably the names of the wife of Roger Ludlow and of the last wife of Gov. Endicott. In the Visitation of Somerset, under date of 1623, we learn that Mary, daughter of Philobert Cogan and of Ann, daughter of Thomas Marshall, was nineteen years old in that year. She was born therefore in 1604, and was fourteen years younger than her husband Roger Ludlow, who was baptized in 1590. When she married Ludlow is unknown, but it was probably before 1630, when Ludlow accompanied Winthrop to New England.

We are almost equally ignorant of the movements of Nathaniel Brewster after his graduation at Harvard, nor do we know when or why he went to England, though it was probably after the loss of his father. The earliest note we find of him is in 1649, when Thomas Pell of New Haven, surgeon, constituted Nathaniel Brewster of Walberswick, Co. Suffolk, his attorney. This is pretty good evidence of Nathaniel's connection with the New Haven family, for Thomas Pell was his stepfather through marriage with the widow of Francis Brewster. Brewster must have removed soon after to Norfolk, where he preached at several places. A church was formed at Alby in that county in 1651 and Brewster seems to have had some connection with it from the first, but he did not settle there until 1653. In 1654 an order of council directed that an augmentation of £36, which had been granted for the better maintenance of Nathaniel Brewster, late minister of Nettisheard and Irsted, Norfolk, be paid to John Leverington from the time of Brewster's leaving it.

Mr. Brewster seems to have been persona grata to the Lord Protector Cromwell and to have been employed by him in affairs of State. In 1655 he was sent to Ireland with the Protector's son Henry Cromwell, who went with a commission as Major-General to command the forces there. Oliver, writing to the Lord Fleetwood, Lord Deputy of Ireland, under date of "Whitehall, 22d June, 1655," says of Brewster:

"Use this Bearer, Mr. Brewster, kindly. Let him be near you: indeed he is a very able holy man; trust me you will find him so." Carlyle, commenting on this letter, in Oliver Cromwell's Letters and Speeches, says: "Of Mr. Brewster and the other reverend persons, Spiritual Fathers, held in such regard by the Lord Protector as is due to Spiritual Fatherhood, and pious nobleness of Intellect under whatever guise, I can say nothing: they are Spiritual Great-grandfather's of ours, and we have had to forget them! Some slight notices of Brewster, who I think was a Norfolk man; . . . are in the Milton State Papers: they prove the fervent zeal, faith and fearlessness of these worthies."

The Milton State Papers referred to are letters and papers addressed to Oliver Cromwell between 1649 and 1658, found among the political collections of John Milton, including several concerning the churches in Norfolk. Among them is a document in regard to the parsonages of Alby and Twaite, presided over by Mr. Nathaniel Brewster, who, having constantly preached in both places, cannot raise above £50 per annum out of both. "So as the said Mr. Brewster, a great family, and much employed in the country by preaching freely, when there is need, is reduced to very great straits, and not like to continue in his function without assistance from the State."

It was probably in consequence of this report that he was sent to Ireland by Cromwell. Mr. Brewster was in Ireland somewhat more than a year, though apparently not continuously, as there is mention of him at Alby meanwhile. He received, it is said, the degree of B. D. from the University of Dublin, but his name does not appear in the catalogue of graduates. He was a widower at the time if he married, as is said, the daughter of Roger Ludlow. His first wife is said to have been Abigail Reynes, daughter of John Reynes of Edgefield, Co. Norfolk, who must have been the mother of his "great family" mentioned above. Mr. Brewster was much older than Sarah Ludlow. If the statement of his grandson to President John Adams be correct, that he was ninety-five years old at the time of his decease in 1690, he was born in 1595. But this is scarcely probable, as he would have been forty-seven at his graduation at Harvard and sixty at the time of his marriage to Miss Ludlow, then a minor. But if, as is usually stated, he was seventy years old at his decease, Dec. 18, 1690, he was born in 1620, and was therefore thirty-six years old at the time of his visit to Ireland. As Jonathan, the eldest of Roger Ludlow's children, was then a minor, he could not have been more than twenty, and Sarah, if the youngest, not more than twelve years old. Of course it is possible that the six children are not mentioned in the order of their birth, but even if Sarah were next to Jonathan she could scarcely have been more than half the age of the Rev. Nathaniel. If she were "eminently distinguished for her genius and literary acquirements," as we are told, she must have gained them through her connection with the learned graduate of Harvard.

Mr. Brewster probably resumed his ministrations at Alby and Twaite on his return to England, but after the Restoration he came back to New England and preached in the First Church of Boston several months from October, 1663. In 1665 he went to Brookhaven, Long Island, where his sister had settled, and in the autumn of that year accepted a call as the first minister of the church there. He was incapacitated from ministerial duties several months before his death.

Having thus elicited all that is probably obtainable concerning the life of Rev. Nathaniel Brewster, let us return to John Thompson of Long Island, who is said to have married Mr. Brewster's sister Hannah. But first let us glance a moment psychologically at the Brewster-Thompson problem, to discover, if we can, what actuated the mind of Mr. Thompson, the Long Island historian, and caused him to fall into the genealogic pit which has since swallowed up so many others. It was undoubtedly the tradition, if it were a tradition, of the Brewster connection, which led him to look to Massachusetts at once for both the Brewster and the Thompson originals. We must remember that Mr. Thompson wrote before genealogy had assumed the proportions of a science, before the New England Historic Genealogical Society was born, and long before Mr. Savage had made his exhaustive investigations. The descendants of Elder William Brewster then held the stage alone and few genealogists knew of the existence of a second family of the same patronymic at New Haven.

If Mr. Thompson had known of the New Haven Brewsters, his attention would probably have been called to the same locality for the antecedents of the Long Island Thompsons instead of making them a hypothetical branch of a family whose records show no such connection. It is by no means my intention to trace the ancestry of John Thompson, the early settler of Brook-haven, but merely to suggest that his line of descent points logically in the same direction with that of Mr. Brewster.

Several Thompsons were coadjutors of Eaton and Davenport in the settlement of New Haven, among them John, William and Anthony, reported to have come from Lenham, Co. Kent, though this is disputed (Gen. Reg., lxvi, 198). John, of Brookhaven in 1656, is said to have had sons William, Anthony and Samuel, which, if there is anything in similarity of nomenclature, would seem to point the road to New Haven. With him too is probably bound up the question of the ancestry of William Thompson of Stonington, and possibly of Isaac Thompson, a prominent citizen of Westerly, R. I., who died in 1738, leaving a numerous posterity.

Jacob D. Vanderheyden was the Middle Patroon of Troy, N. Y., though commonly known as the "Patroon," owing to the fact that the portion of the estate inherited by him developed into that part which was the most thickly settled district of Troy in the early days. He was in possession of the property as early as 1786, the northern boundary of which was marked by a line passing eastward from the Hudson, through Grand Division St. (now Grand St.), Troy, and the southern boundary of which was Division St. This property was surveyed and laid out in 1787, in streets and lots, by Flores Bancker, and the name "Vanderheyden" given to the territory. In 1789 the name of the entire district owned by the Vanderheydens was changed to "Troy," in spite of opposition to this on the part of the Patroons. The town of Troy, however was not actually partitioned from Rensselaer County until March 18, 1791, the latter county having been separated from Albany County earlier in the same year.

The census of 1790 lists the family of Jacob D. Vanderheyden as follows: residence, Rensselaerwyck—1 male over 16 (father)—4 males under 16—3 females (inc. mother)—4 slaves. He was one of the first justices of the peace of Rensselaer Co. in 1792, served also in 1793-4, and was Asst. Court Justice in 1793 and 1794. In 1792 he gave three lots for the First Presbyterian Church of Troy, at the time of its establishment, and on June 1, 1795, conveyed to the Church Trustees, 16 lots. He was one of the three Commissioners appointed to superintend the building of a Court House and Jail for Troy, and on May 22, 1793, conveyed to the Supervisors of Rensselaer County, four lots for the site of these buildings. On March 25, 1794, Jacob Vanderheyden and three others were appointed Trustees of the town of Troy. On May 10, 1795, he conveyed three lots south of Congress St., between Second St. and an alley, for a public square and for a school house, and two others for a public shipyard and burial ground, respectively. In addition to conveying four lots for the Court House and Jail, he subscribed, on Jan. 14, 1793, 300 pounds toward the cost of erecting the buildings. He was one of the organizers of the First Presbyterian Church of Troy and the first Elder of the church. A stained glass window was subsequently erected in the church in memory of Jacob D. Vanderheyden and the Vanderheyden family.

The original mansion of Jacob D. Vanderheyden stood on the east side of the River Road (now River St.), Troy, where now is the New York State Armory at the foot of Ferry St. It was opposite the ferry which for many years had been a source of income to the family. The first three of his eight children were born there. In 1803, he conveyed this old homestead to his son Derick Y. In 1794 he built a new house near the southwest corner of Grand Division and 8th Streets and resided there until his death in 1809. His son, John G., subsequently lived there for a number of years. From 1834 to 1841 it was occupied by the Rensselaer Institute and was burned May 10, 1862. John G. Vanderheyden continued the operation of the Vanderheyden Ferry after his father's death and was still the owner of it in 1826, when the first steam ferryboat was used. John G. Vanderheyden was one of the committee of two appointed to obtain suitable accommodation for a female academy (Mrs. Willard's). He was elected to the Assembly of Rensselaer County in 1825. April 6, 1807, his name appears as paymaster of the 155th Regt., N. Y. Militia.

An early historian remarks concerning Jacob D. Vanderheyden as follows: "Descending from a Dutch ancestry of grave, virtuous and industrious people, he was one of Troy's most estimable citizens." Judge Woodworth stated in his "Reminiscences:" "His example at that early day, shed a moral influence in the community, the fruit of which is visible at the present day."

The burying ground of the Vanderheydens was at the corner of River and Ferry Sts., Troy. Some remains were disinterred in later years during an excavation. The family of Jacob D. were buried first in a private graveyard at the head of Grand Division St. In July, 1857, the remains were transferred to Oakwood Cemetery.

Jacob D. Vanderheyden was a claimant for Land Bounty Rights at the close of the Revolution as a member of the 6th Albany Co. Regiment.

Jacob I. Vanderheyden was the North Patroon of Troy. In 1774, through inheritance he became owner of the portion of the original estate, bounded on the north by the Piscawan Kill and on the south by a line running east from the Hudson through what was later known as Grand Division St., Troy. Jacob I. Vanderheyden was known as "Big Jacob" and he was the first of the Patroons to be influenced to dispose of any of his property to outsiders. In 1793 his property was surveyed and subdivided by John E. Van Alen, Surveyor, and lots placed on the market. Vanderheyden St., Troy, was named after Jacob I. Vanderheyden.

In 1790, the census lists the family of Jacob Vanderheyden as follows: 2 males over 16 (inc. father)—4 males under 16—2 females—1 slave. He was Asst. Judge of the First Court of Rensselaer County, May 3, 1791, and served again in 1794. On Jan. 14, 1793, he subscribed 100 pounds toward the cost of building a County Court House and Jail. On Feb. 5, 1794, he was appointed a Justice of the Peace of Rensselaer Co. His name appears as a claimant for Land Bounty Rights in the 6th Regt., Albany Co. Militia. It is said Jacob I. Vanderheyden and wife were buried in Mt. Ida Cemetery, Troy.

Derick I. Vanderheyden was the brother of the North Patroon of Troy and was commonly known as "Major Dickie." In the partition of his father's estate, he received the old mansion on River St., just north of Hoosic, which was built by his grandfather in 1756. Some of his children were born there. The house is still in existence although considerably remodeled and added to, now being occupied by a Catholic Institution. Derick I. inherited the portion of his father's estate upon which is now located Oakwood Cemetery in Troy. He built a new residence and farm buildings and this property was inherited by his son Jacob D., and subsequently by the latter's son Nanning. A later residence was built which is now occupied by a daughter of Nanning, Jane Vanderheyden. Jane Vanderheyden is one of the last of the Troy Vanderheydens, there remaining in the neighborhood but a handful bearing the name. She is the very last to be in possession of any of the original Vanderheyden estate, a farm of about 100 acres still being attached to her property.

Derick I. (J.) Vanderheyden was a private in the 6th Regiment of Albany Co. Militia in 1775. In 1787 he was a Lieutenant in Capt. Nanning Vanderheyden's Co., Albany Co. Militia, in 1792 was Captain in Col. John Van Rensselaer's Regt., in 1797 was 2nd Major in Lieut. Col. Jacob C. Schermerhorn's Regt., and from 1802 to 1806 was Major in Lieut. Col. Abram Ten Eyck's Regt. A Dirck Vanderheyden was a claimant for Land Bounty Rights at the close of the Revolution as a member of the 6th Albany Co. Regiment.

Matthias Vanderheyden was the South Patroon of Troy, N. Y., inheriting from his father the southerly portion of the Troy estate, bounded by Division St. on the north and Poestenkill Creek on the south. In 1793, he had his property surveyed and subdivided by John E. Van Alen, Surveyor, and building lots were placed on the market. On Jan. 14, 1793, he gave 30 pounds toward the cost of building a new Court House and Jail for Troy. He evidently served in the Revolution, his name appearing among those of the 6th Regt., Albany Co. Militia, claiming Land Bounty Rights. Matthias Vanderheyden is known to have had but one grandchild, a daughter, who left issue.

David Vanderheyden served in Capt. William Peters' Company in the Revolution. His name appears on the pension roll of 1833-4. He was an Indian trader, traveling as far west as Detroit. His village lot in Schenectady was on the north corner of Union and College Streets. In the census of 1790, his family is listed as follows: David Vanderheyden residence, Schenectady, south of the Mohawk; 1 male over 16 (father)—1 male under 16—5 females (inc. mother)—1 slave.

Jane Elizabeth, b. 1814; m. Dec. 9, 1833, Jacob D. Lansing.

Derick Y. Vanderheyden, was son and heir of the Middle Patroon of Troy. It is not known that he has any living descendants. He was appointed quartermaster of the 155th Regiment, Rensselaer County Brigade, April 6, 1807. From 1813 to 1817 he was village fire warden of the 2nd Ward of Troy, and in 1820 was Coroner of Rensselaer County.

26. JACOB I.,<sup>6</sup> son of (17) Jacob I.<sup>4</sup> Vanderheyden and Maria Van Schaick; b. about 1775; m. March 8, 1799, in Schachticoke, Catharine Schermerhorn; b. July 19, 1781; bp. in Rhinebeck; d. July 5, 1841; dau. of John C. Schermerhorn and Annatie Osterhout. Children:

Jacob I.,<sup>7</sup> b. Dec. 19, 1800; bp. in Wynantskill; d. Oct. 6, 1830.

Hannah, b. Dec. 8, 1802; bp. in Wynantskill.

Maria, b. Nov. 25, 1804; bp. in Wynantskill; m. Robert M. Winne, son of Richard and Sarah Winne.

Jacob I. Vanderheyden was son and heir of the North Patroon of Troy. It is not known that his children left issue. On April 3, 1802, Jacob I. Vanderheyden was 1st Lieut. of a company of Rensselaer Co. Artillery, George Allin, Capt.

The following is a record of the family of Johannes Vanderheyden, son of Johannes Vanderheyden and Catharine Van Brokelen, the latter Johannes being a son of (9) Johannes Vanderheyden, Jr., and Rachel Vanderheyden. This was omitted from the original data submitted for publication on account of some uncertainty at the time of its proper connection.

JOHANNES, son of Johannes Vanderheyden and Catharine Van Brokelen; bp. Jan. 14, 1750, in Albany; m. Annatje Pare (Perrie)

(Price); probably dau. of Isaac Perrie (Price) and Maria Van Schaick. Children:

John, b. Feb. 12, 1774, in "Helleberg;" bp. in Schoharie; m. Maria Bratt, dau. of Frederick Bratt.

Maria (Polly), b. March 16, 1779; bp. in Albany; m. June 30, 1800, in New Salem, Albertus Becker.

Catharine (Caty), b. Dec. 20, 1781; bp. in Schoharie; m. Sept. 22, 1804, in New Salem, Garret P. Van Wie.

Isak (Isaac), bp. Sept. 11, 1785, in Cocksackie; m. Jan. 25, 1806, in New Salem, Susanna Bratt.

Rachel, b. 1791; bp. in New Salem.

The above Johannes Vanderheyden was a resident of Jerusalem, N. Y., according to New Salem church records. His son John was a resident of Bethlehem, N. Y., and the latter made his will Feb. 3, 1810, which is filed in Albany, and in which are mentioned his children, John, Magdalen, Polly, Jamymia, Jenny, his mother Anna, his sisters Polly, Caty and Rachel, and his wife Maria. Abram Vanderheyden mentioned as supervisor of Bethlehem in 1832 and Andrew Vanderheyden supervisor in 1842, 1843 and 1844, were perhaps sons of Isaac Vanderheyden. The latter was a resident of Albany in the early 1800s. On the roll (Revolutionary) of the Third Regiment of Albany County Militia of those entitled to Land Bounty Rights appears the name of Capt. John Vanderheyden. This regiment was recruited from the district south and southwest of Albany, included in which are the towns of Bethlehem, Jerusalem, New Salem, etc.

NOTE:

Of those branches of the Vanderheyden family which were of the most importance in Colonial days and at the beginning of the nineteenth century, practically no descendants bearing the Vanderheyden name survive. In fact so many branches had died out absolutely (as far as male issue was concerned) up to a period about one hundred years ago, that the lines of descent with which Vanderheydens living to-day are connected, are comparatively limited. The following Vanderheydens have or may have left male issue, among whose descendants are the Vanderheydens of the present time:

Johannes, b. 1731 (son of No. 8, Jochem Vanderheyden of Schenectady) had a son Adam, b. 1755, and possibly other children. Adam was a soldier in the Revolution.

Jacobus, b. 1738, and Mathys, b. 1742 (also sons of above Jochem Vanderheyden), may have left issue.

Dirk, b. 1729, David, b. 1740, and Matheus, b. 1742 (sons of No. 9, Johannes Vanderheyden of Albany), may have left issue, although it is not probable, as they were not mentioned in their father's will.

Joachim, b. 1756, and Jacob, b. 1765 (son of No. 14, Dirk Vanderheyden), may have left issue. Joachim m. Elizabeth Smith and is known to have had one daughter.

Abraham, b. 1744, of Lansingburgh (son of No. 8, Jochem Vanderheyden), had sons Jochem, James, Mattis, Gerrit and Abraham, some of whom at least are known to have left male descendants.

Jacob, b. about 1795, of Troy (son of No. 20, John D. Vanderheyden), had two sons Levinus and John.

George, b. 1798, Richard, b. 1801, and John F., b. 1803, all of Troy (sons of No. 22, Abraham Vanderheyden). George m. Catharine Van Alstyne, and had one son Abraham. Richard m. Maria Cooper and he may have had issue, also John F.

Johannes, b. 1787, Cornelius, b. 1791, Dirk, b. 1798, and Daniel, b. 1800 (sons of No. 23, David Vanderheyden of Schenectady), may have had issue.

Dirk, b. 1784, Abraham, b. 1797, David, b. 1800 (sons of No. 24, Daniel Vanderheyden of Schenectady), may have had issue.
 John D., b. 1794, of Troy (son of No. 18, Derick I. Vanderheyden), had but one great-grandson bearing the Vanderheyden name, Lewis.
 Jacob D., b. 1780, of Troy (son of No. 18, Derick I. Vanderheyden), had five Vanderheyden grandsons, Jacob D., b. 1829, John D., b. 1831, Calvin, b. 1833, Edward, b. 1837, and William J., b. 1845. Jacob D., b. 1829, is known to have had a grandson, Nanning. This family lived in Illinois.

The North End Burying Ground in Southampton, Long Island, is on the west side of Main street, at the junction of the North Sea road. It was one of the original home lots laid out in the "new Town Plot" in 1648, and in 1663 was granted to William Russell and he sold it to Obadiah Sale in 1678. He in turn sold it to George Heathcote in 1679. It was described as "his home lot of four acres, bounded south by John Jagger's home lot, east by the Main street, north by the house lot of John Laughton, and west by the road to North Sea."

John Laughton was for many years the schoolmaster in Southampton and wrote many of the deeds and wills. George Heathcote lived in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, and by will, dated May 17, 1710, and proved Nov. 24, 1710, left this lot with other lands to his cousin, Col. Caleb Heathcote, whose name is well known in the annals of New York. On Dec. 13, 1712, Col. Heathcote sold to the Trustees of the town of Southampton, "my dwelling house and home lot, esteemed four acres, being in Southampton. Bounded east by the Main street, south by Jeremiah Jagger's house lot, north by Josiah Laughton's house lot, which lyeth now common, West by the Common." The price was £20 York Currency, or $50. By a resolution of the Trustees in 1721 the south part was set apart for burial purposes and the first burial was made the same year, as will be seen in annexed list. In course of time the whole lot became occupied.

932. SYLVIA<sup>7</sup> HOWLAND (Martha Fearing<sup>6</sup> Thacher, Rev. Roland,<sup>5</sup> John,<sup>4</sup> Hon. Col. John,<sup>3</sup> Antony<sup>2</sup>, Rev. Peter<sup>1</sup>), born November 2nd, 1763, at —; died November 4th, 1825, at —; married at Barnstable, Mass., November 25th, 1784, to Walley Goodspeed (named after Rev. Thomas Walley of Barnstable), born —, 1757, at —; he resided at Sandwich, Mass., and was a farmer, following the sea in early life; he died at Sandwich, Mass. (death also recorded at Barnstable), July 3rd, 1833. He was a son of Joseph Goodspeed (born September 17th, 1736; died —; married June 29, 1756) and Sarah Adams, Jr., of Barnstable, Mass.

Children: 8 (Goodspeed), 6 sons and 2 daughters.

- 1543 i. Obed,<sup>8</sup> born February 26th, 1786; died October 21st, 1864; married Elizabeth McClellan; 1 son.
- 1544 ii. Celia,<sup>8</sup> born November 20th, 1788; died April 8th, 1863; married Braddock Fish.
- 1545 iii. Walley,<sup>8</sup> born February —, 1790; died September 2nd, 1826; not married.

+1585 iii. Caroline,<sup>8</sup> born April 28th, 1821; died May 21st, 1872; married Dr. Horatio S. Cobb.

Stephen<sup>7</sup> Thacher lived in Wareham, Mass., until he was seventeen years old, at which time his father decided to remove to Lee, whither some of his friends had already preceded him. He was determined to move, but the question of how and when he became important, for in those days railroads were unknown and a journey of 150 miles was as much of an undertaking as a journey from Boston to San Francisco would be now. It was finally decided to move in February while the sleighing was good. Accordingly a large ox-sled was provided, upon which the household goods were loaded, and which was drawn by a yoke of oxen, with a horse in the lead. They started about the 20th of the month and were seventeen days on the trip, striking the Boston and Albany turnpike, the great thoroughfare of those days, near Worcester. So long were they upon the road that the same stages and drivers passed and repassed them several times on their trips between Boston and Albany. They arrived at their destination on Saturday. News of their coming had preceded them, and a company of their old friends came out to escort them in, meeting them near what is now known as "Green Water Pond," in the town of Becket. Deacon Roland<sup>6</sup> Thacher bought a farm of about 300 acres a little north of the village of Lee. Stephen<sup>7</sup> Thacher remained on his farm about three years, and there determined to ship as a whaler, which was then a very profitable business. Accordingly in the spring of 1801 he went to Hudson, N. Y., for that purpose; but, finding no immediate chance to ship, he procured work, intending to remain there until a good opportunity presented itself. None, however, offering itself, he returned home in the autumn, where he remained until the following spring, when he, in company with others, engaged to labor on the turnpike then being built between Albany and Schenectady, N. Y. He continued on this work five seasons of seven months each, a part of the time as overseer. Returning to Lee, he engaged in manufacturing, and was the pioneer in several important enterprises, building a powder mill, which he operated until the embargo of 1809 caused its suspension in 1811. He also built a wire factory and continued the manufacture of wire until after the War of 1812, when English wire coming in, he could not compete with it. He also built and operated a chair factory for several years. He built the first paper mill on the Housatonic River in Lee, and remained in this business until his retirement from active life in 1852. In connection with this he established the manufacture and sale of Navarino bonnets, which were very popular and fashionable at that time, and for a season this proved a very profitable business. His mind was always active and of an inventive turn, he was always seeking to improve upon the methods then employed; and thus he introduced many useful improvements in the manufacture of paper, some of which are still in use. Not content with the manner of manufacturing paper a sheet at a time and by hand, he conceived the idea of making it in a continuous sheet by machinery. He obtained a reluctant consent from his partners and an appropriation of $1,500.00 from the firm to experiment in that direction. The result was that in less than six weeks and before the appropriation was exhausted, he presented a sheet of paper of the ordinary width and several feet in length. His partners were astonished. This invention of his was the origin of the cylinder machine for the manufacture of paper, which is still used in many mills. Stephen<sup>7</sup> Thacher possessed the confidence and esteem of the entire community and was honored with many important trusts. He was appointed Justice of the Peace for seven successive terms, 28 years in all; he was known as Squire Thacher so long that his baptismal name was almost forgotten, and was in fact unknown to many. He was a member of the Massachusetts Legislature, 1829-1831, and while in that body was the originator of measures that were of much value to manufacturers, especially to owners of mill sites. In the year 1852, being somewhat advanced in years and desirous of retiring from active business, he sold out his interests in Lee and removed to Saratoga Springs, where he lived until his death.

980. PETER<sup>7</sup> THATCHER (Lot,<sup>8</sup> Rev. Roland,<sup>5</sup> Col. John,<sup>4</sup> Hon. Col. John,<sup>3</sup> Antony,<sup>2</sup> Rev. Peter<sup>1</sup>), born August 21st, 1790, at Wareham, Mass.; he lived at Middleboro and Boston, Mass., in which latter city he was a Dry Goods merchant of the firm of Thatcher, Fearing and Co., of Water Street; he died at Newton Center, Mass., June 13th, 1873, and was buried at Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge, Mass. He married at Wareham, Mass., December 9th (or 19th), 1815 (intention published Wareham, November 7th, 1815), to Elizabeth Fearing, born —, 1795 (see age at and date of death), at Wareham, Mass.; died March 31st, 1864, aged 69, at Boston, Mass., and was buried at Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge, Mass. She was a daughter of John and Abigail (Gibbs) Fearing of Wareham, Mass.

Children: 7 (Thatcher), 5 sons and 2 daughters, all born at Boston, Mass.

- +1655 i. John Fearing,<sup>8</sup> born September 7th (or 17th), 1818; died May 4th, 1891; married Catherine Gibbs Burgess.
- +1656 ii. Elizabeth Fearing,<sup>8</sup> born January 29th, 1822; died November 20th, 1879; married Wilson Jarvis Welch.
- 1657 iii. Peter Fearing,<sup>8</sup> born May 13th, 1824; died August 6th, 1847, at Boston, Mass., and was buried at Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge, Mass. Not married.
- 1658 iv. Emeline Henry,<sup>8</sup> born March 31st, 1826; baptized Old South Church, Boston, June 25th, 1826; died at Boston, Mass., March 5th, 1838, and was buried in Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge, Mass.
- 1659 v. George Henry,<sup>8</sup> born November 23rd, 1828; baptized Old South Church, Boston, November 30th, 1828, in which records his name is given as George Andrew Thatcher; died at Boston, Mass., November 20th, 1842, and was buried in Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge, Mass.
- 1660 vi. Albert Elbridge,<sup>8</sup> born May 22nd, 1829; baptized Old South Church, Boston, July 18th, 1830; he lived in New York City and was at one time a reporter on the New York Evening Express. I am informed that he was also somewhat of an astronomer and used to locate himself at night at the corner of 23rd Street and 5th Avenue, with a telescope through which passers-by could view the heavens for a consideration. He died unmarried in New York City, December 14th, 1905, aged 76, and was buried in Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge, Mass.
- +1661 vii. Franklin Nye,<sup>8</sup> born October 1st, 1835; died —; married Eunice Harriet Cheney.

Peter<sup>7</sup> Thatcher lived for a time in Middleboro, Mass., and then removed to Boston and engaged in mercantile pursuits. He afterwards in company with his brother, under the firm name of David and Peter Thatcher, carried on a heavy dry-goods business; and in 1849 the firm became Thatcher, Fearing and Thatcher. There was at the same time another firm of the name of Fearing and Thacher (Isaac Thacher being the Thacher in this firm). In the latter part of his life he was in the insurance business. He was a man much honored and beloved.

A CHECK LIST OF BIOGRAPHICAL DIRECTORIES AND GENERAL CATALOGUES OF AMERICAN COLLEGES.

By EVA ALICE COLE, Columbia University Library.

All research workers in genealogy and biography who have occasion to consult the standard biographical dictionaries realize very soon the many omissions in even the most comprehensive of such works and recognize the necessity of supplementing them with other works which furnish information, however brief, about the persons whose names were omitted from the more general works. Such excellent compilations as the Dictionary of National Biography and Appleton's Cyclopedia of American Biography, from the very nature of the case omit more names than they include, since they furnish information about well known individuals only and omit those who were obscure or had only a local or very special celebrity. If the desired biographical data about such individuals are to be found, something more than the general biographical dictionaries must be consulted. For such cases the various college biographical catalogues and alumni lists often furnish "first aid" and sometimes provide the full information desired.

The college biographical dictionary is by no means a new type of reference book. Perhaps the most famous book of this class is Anthony à Wood's Athenæ Oxonienses, first published in 1690-91, and revised and supplemented in later editions. To the value of that early work the many references to it as source material in the great Dictionary of National Biography bear eloquent witness. Of only less value is the companion work on early Cambridge graduates, Cooper's Athenæ Cantabrigienses, first issued in 1857, and completed by the publication of an index volume in 1913. Although the Dictionary of National Biography has been compiled since the publication of the Athenæ Cantabrigienses in 1857, Cooper's work is by no means superseded as a reference tool since by actual count it contains data on some 700 Cambridge graduates of the sixteenth and early seventeenth century whose names are not included in the larger general work.

American colleges have not been backward in the publication of biographical data of their graduates, as the various "General Catalogues," "Biographical Directories," "Alumni Lists" recorded below will show. Unfortunately the same degree of fulness of data and excellence of articles is not always attained or even attempted. Such lists vary from the brief alumni directory of some new western college which attempts merely to record the name, year of graduation and address of each alumnus, to the very detailed and satisfactory biographies included in the six imposing volumes of Mr. Franklin B. Dexter's Yale Biographies and Annals. Yet even the more meagre list has its use, and the reference library which has an extended collection of such catalogues and directories is in the possession of a reference tool of great value in biographical and genealogical research.

The present list of such publications is based upon a collection which during the past two years has been formed in the General Reading Room of Columbia University, supplemented by certain titles supplied through the courtesy of the Library of the Bureau of Education at Washington. It includes 152 titles representing 123 American and Canadian colleges and universities, and while comprehensive makes no claim to completeness. As it is intended as a preliminary check list it gives only brief information about each title and does not attempt to supply full cataloguing information. Date of publication has been given to indicate how recent the information is and pagination to show the extent of the work, and the asterisk is used to differentiate lists which contain some biographical data, however meagre, from those which are merely directories of names and classes.

The compiler of the list will be very glad to receive information about additional titles not included in her list, with a view to adding them in a later edition.

SOME EARLY ENGLISH RECORDS PERTAINING TO THE EASTMAN FAMILY.

BY CHARLES R. EASTMAN, American Museum Natural History, N. Y. City.

Until comparatively recently nothing has been known of the origin of the Eastman family in this country beyond the fact that the first colonist of the name in New England, ROGER EASTMAN, sailed for Boston in the ship Confidence in 1638, and was one of the original settlers at Salisbury in Massachusetts Bay. The new settlement by the Merrimac was founded largely by Wiltshire emigrants, and a number of these, including heads of families by the names of Rolfe, Sanders, Whittier and Eastman, came from the parish of Downton, a few miles south of the shire town of Wiltshire. What Rowley and Newbury in England are to their daughter towns on this side the Atlantic, that Salisbury, England, is to our Salisbury in Massachusetts.

The Downton parish register was first searched for Eastman records by the present writer in the summer of 1910, and some notes on the origin of the family were published in the Granite Monthly, a New Hampshire magazine, for December of that year and the following October. Thanks to the generosity of Mr. George Eastman of Rochester, New York, it was possible to engage the services of an expert antiquary, Mr. Charles H. Hoppin, for the purpose of making a complete transcript of early Eastman family records preserved in Wiltshire archives. From the large quantity of material collected by this historian a selection has been made relating to the direct ancestral line to which the pioneer colonist ROGER belongs, and this is included in the present article. Much more space than is here available would be required to contain all the extant information.

ANCESTRAL LINE OF THE PIONEER COLONIST.

First Generation.

The ultimate progenitor of this line of whom authentic records have been preserved is JOHN<sup>n</sup> EASTMAN of Charleton. Following is a literal transcript of his original will, dated April 26, 1564, and proved May 9, 1565.

"Archdeaconry Court of Sarum, Register 4, folio 193.

The foregoing document proves that the testator had only six grandchildren living in 1564, all of whom were minors. Two of the grandsons were named William, one of whom belonged to the family of Roger<sup>1</sup> Eastman and lived at Charleton, in the parish of Downton, and the other, who was son of the testator's executor, at Weeke, in the same parish. Concerning the family that lived at Weeke, it will be sufficient to note that WILLIAM<sup>1</sup> EASTMAN (William,<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>), was twice married, first in 1599, to Elizabeth Kempe, and secondly to Edith —, family name not found, who died in 1619. Downton parish records give the following as his children:

- i. William, b. —; d. 1606.
- ii. Margaret, bp. 1604.
- iii. Elizabeth, bp. 1610.
- iv. Alice, bp. 1614.

Second Generation.

The foregoing will of John<sup>1</sup> Eastman is authority for giving to his son Roger<sup>2</sup> of Charleton only two children who had been born prior to the year 1564 and were still minors when that instrument was made. Other offspring, however, must have been born subsequent to the year 1564, for we find at the time of Roger's death, in February, 1604, he, being then a widower, had eight children living whose names are known to us, and at least eight grandchildren. Besides these heirs, a married daughter of Roger,<sup>2</sup> who had been the wife of one William Skeate, executor under the will of Roger,<sup>2</sup> had previously deceased. Downton parish records show that Roger<sup>2</sup> Eastman was buried Feb. 17, 1604. His will, dated Jan. 11, of the same year, was proved six days following his death. The original will, unfortunately somewhat mutilated, together with the complete detailed inventory of the estate and administrator's bond is on file with the Consistory Court of Sarum, and is an important genealogical document.

The injury to the will itself is of such nature that a portion of the left hand margin has been torn away, or "perhaps eaten by rats," as suggested by Mr. Hoppin, who prepared an exact transcript. The names of one or two of the beneficiaries are unfortunately lost, having been contained in the missing frag-

* The Latin note appended to the will may be modernized as follows:

"The above-written will of John Estmann, late of Downton in our Jurisdiction of the Archdeaconry of Salisbury, deceased, was proved before Master John James, bachelor of law, official of the Lord Archdeacon of Salisbury, on the ninth day of the month of May in the year of our Lord 1565, and by him approved, etc., and [administration] was granted, etc."

ment, but from other sources we are clearly warranted in supplying one of them as William, who was either the eldest or second son. There are named as executor the testator's son-in-law, William Skeate, and as overseers "my well-beloved sonnns Walter Eastman y<sup>e</sup> eld<sup>r</sup> & John Eastman." The remaining heirs, named in the order of their mention, were Nicholas and Roger Eastman, four Skeate grandchildren, and Mary, Edith and Thomas Eastman. Witnesses to the will were John Bebmaton, Thomas Fursley, Walter Eastman and John Eastman. A seal is attached, bearing the device of a talbot passant.

Third Generation.

We come now to the generation immediately preceding that of the emigrant Roger,<sup>4</sup> and find entries in the Downton parish register for reconstructing the families of his uncle William<sup>3</sup> and father Nicholas<sup>3</sup> as follows:

WILLIAM<sup>3</sup> EASTMAN (Roger,<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>), born some time prior to 1564; died after 1622. He married (1) Edith —, who died in Oct., 1605. He married (2) in 1607, — (name blank or illegible in Downton parish register). Resided at Downton. Children:

- i. John,<sup>4</sup> bp. March 29, 1603; d. 1663, leaving son John.
- ii. Richard, bp. Oct. 27, 1605; buried Nov. 1, 1605.
- iii. Greenway, bp. Aug. 26, 1609; was "late of New Alresford in the Countie of Southampton" in March, 1660, at which time his widow was the wife of Thomas Bone.
- iv. William, bp. Oct. 31, 1610.
- v. Thomas, bp. June 15, 1613.
- vi. Richard, bp. May 5, 1615.
- vii. Griffin or "Griffith," bp. Oct. 31, 1619; bur. Aug. 31, 1623.
- viii. Hugh, bp. May 1, 1622.

- i. Thomas,<sup>4</sup> bp. Jan. 9, 1602/3; m. Oct. 21, 1634, Alice Sanders, sister of John Sanders of Weeke. He was living in 1656.
- ii. John, bp. Dec. 24, 1605; m. July 28, 1628, Margaret Newman. His will dated Jan. 5, 1656/7, and proved April 4, 1657. Her will dated Nov. 8, 1673, and probated Dec. 4, 1673; both buried in the parish church at Downton. They had children:
  - i. Christiana,<sup>5</sup> who m. John Noyes.
  - ii. Barbara.
  - iii. Alice, who m. James Barrowe.
  - iv. Margaret, who m. Thomas Wheeler.

- iii. Margaret, bp. March 26, 1608; m. July 20, 1635, Richard Howse.
- iv. ROGER, bp. April 4, 1610; d. at Salisbury, Mass., Dec. 16, 1694; m. Sarah —, b. about 1620/21; d. at Salisbury, Mass., March 11, 1697/8. Will extant.
- v. Nicholas, bp. Nov. 29, 1612.
- vi. Maurice or "Morris," bp. April 26, 1615; will proved May 8, 1669, by his executors "William Rooke and Barbara his wife," designated in the will as "my kinsmen." Bequest of £100 to "my kinswoman Barbara Rooke, the daughter of William Rooke," and £50 to sister Mary Moody. Thomas Eastman overseer.
- vii. William, bp. Jan. 21, 1617/8; had a son William; both living in 1669.
- viii. Alexander, bp. Sept. 12, 1620.
- ix. Christiana, bp. Nov. 24, 1622.
- x. Mary, bp. March 24, 1625; m. John Moody. She was living in 1669, as were also her three children: Mary, Edith and Maurice (or "Morris").

As has already been stated, the earliest ancestor who can be directly connected by authentic records with the line to which Roger, the founder of the family in this country belonged, is John<sup>1</sup> Eastman of Charleton who died in 1565. A number of Eastman items occur in the Ecclesiastical Commissioners' Court Rolls for the Manor of Downton, ranging in date from 14 Edw. IV to 30 Henry VIII (1475-1540). Under date of 1539 occur in these manor court rolls is found in the following entry, where mention is made of both a John and Roger Eastman of Charleton:

Membrane 1. 1539.

Downton Manor. Court held there 17 December, 30 Henry VIII.

Charleton: The tithingman there presents that Roger Estman has been sworn into the office of tithingman; and that (in reckoning the pannage of pigs) Roger Estman has two old and six young pigs; and John Estman the younger, one old pig. . . . Nounton [Nunton]. John Estman has one old and two young pigs.

In conclusion is offered a copy of Eastman items taken from the vital records of Romsey, Hampshire, not previously published:

Chrystenings.

- 8 April, 1596. Elizabeth the daughter of John Eastman.
- 13 April, 1598. Roger the son of John Eastman.
- 3 April, 1599. John the son of John Eastman.
- 1 February, 1600. Margaret the daughter of John Eastman.
- 20 October, 1602. Anthony the son of John Eastman.

Burials.

- 6 October, 1602. John Eastman.

- 174 iii. Robert, b. —, 1797; d. June 20, 1816, unm.

Ebenezer<sup>6</sup> Leggett resided on the old farm at West Farms; he was a member of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, but his daughter Nancy was one of the founders of the Presbyterian Church at West Farms.

Nancy<sup>6</sup> Leggett, who died in 1852, was the last surviving member of Ebenezer's family. Her will, dated Aug. 12, 1852, leaves her house and lot, a parcel of land, etc., south of the village of West Farms, to Ann Elizabeth McGreagor, a school-teacher who had long boarded with her, and after her death to Mrs. Mary Gales, an old friend.

- +184 x. Gertrude Quackenbos, b. March 30, 1823; d. —; m. (1) John H. Lasher; m. (2) J. Bullocke.

John Haviland<sup>a</sup> Leggett lived in the house standing near the present station of the Harlem branch, New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad; and as he was to inherit the house his father had lived in, this is probably the same. He sold this house, July 2, 1810, to Thomas Ludlow Ogden for $7,500; he then purchased a house on Greenwich St., New York City, which he also sold later. From Greenwich St. he removed to a house on Provost St. where he resided until 1824, removing from there to 87 Fourth St. He was a merchant for some years, but was not very successful in his business dealings, and later was appointed Inspector of Customs, a post which he held for many years.

During his life, John H. Leggett had expressed the wish to be buried in the old family burying-ground on Hunt's Point, but this wish was not carried out at his death, and he was buried in the Quackenbos vault, Carmansville, New York City.

Children 1 (Leggett), a daughter, and possibly other children.

187 i. Ann Eliza.<sup>a</sup>(?)

According to the will of Mary Leggett, widow of Cornelius<sup>a</sup> Leggett, David<sup>a</sup> Leggett was living in 1817, when he with his brothers and sister gave the sum of $200 each to their mother, but he was dead previous to the making of her will in 1823, in which she leaves a bequest to her granddaughter, daughter of her son David, deceased. This daughter is not named; but we find the will of Ann Eliza Leggett, dated Jan. 22, 1827, proved Feb. 10, 1827, in which is mentioned her uncle Lawrence Leggett, so that she must have been a daughter of one of Lawrence<sup>a</sup> Leggett's brothers (either Jonathan, Cornelius or David) and it seems likely that she was the daughter of David<sup>6</sup> Leggett, who was mentioned by Mary Leggett in her will.<sup>1</sup>

No record of any children has been found.

Anna (Leggett) Hunt is called the wife of Phineas Hunt in the will of her father, Cornelius<sup>4</sup> Leggett, in 1802; and in the will of her mother, Mary Leggett, 1823, she is called Anna Stevenson, so that she was widowed and married the second time between those dates. No further record of her has been found.

Children, 6(?) (Leggett), 1 son and 5 daughters.

188 i. Sarah,<sup>6</sup> b. —; d. —; m. John Dusenbury.

189 ii. William V., b. —; d. —; m. —.

190 iii. Jane, b. —; d. —; m. Robert McCord.

191 iv. Mary A., b. —; d. —; m. — Kolb; had a son, Rev. William Leggett Kolb.

192 v. Tamar, b. —; d. —; living, unnm., 1841.

193 vi. Henrietta, b. —; d. —; living, unnm., 1841.

The will of Isaac<sup>o</sup> Leggett, dated Dec. 29, 1832, proved March 5, 1833, mentions his wife, Barbara, children under age, unnamed, daughter Sarah Dusenbury. John Dusenbury was appointed executor.

The will of his widow, Barbara, dated Jan. 25, 1841, proved April 17, 1843, mentions daughters Tamar and Henrietta, son-in-law Robert McCord.

It is possible that Sarah, and perhaps other of the children may have been by a former wife, but there is no record of a previous marriage and it does not seem that such was the case.

- 250 iv. Alfred(?). (In the Friends' record we find the record of birth of Alfred, son of Reuben and Mary Marsh Leggett, Feb. 20, 1817. As the birth of Reuben is also recorded as given above, either the name was changed to Reuben at a later date, and the day of the month is wrongly entered in one case or the other, or else they were twin sons. As there are no further records of a son Alfred, it seems likely that a change of name is the explanation of the discrepancy in the records.)
- +251 v. Esther, b. —; d. April 16, 1849; m. John Griffin.
- 252 vi. Joseph Samuel, b. May 9, 1821; d. —, 1895; m.

SOME VITAL RECORDS OF PROVIDENCE, R. I.

CONTRIBUTED BY HENRY RUSSELL DROWNE.

The following records of marriages, baptisms, etc., were found in two old account books of Solomon Drowne (2d) of Providence, R. I., by his great-great-grandson. Solomon Drowne (2d) was born in Bristol, R. I., Oct. 4, 1706, and died in Providence, R. I., June 25, 1780.

He settled in Providence as a merchant in 1730 and for half a century bore a prominent part in the affairs of the town, which he represented in General Assembly. He was prominently connected with the First Baptist Meeting House there and Dr. Manning of Brown University writes that he "found him one of the pillars of the church on his coming to Providence."

He was the son of Solomon Drowne, 1681-1730, a ship builder at Bristol, R. I., and the grandson of Leonard Drowne, 1646-1729, the ancestor of the Drowne family who came from England about 1660, settled and carried on ship building at Kittery, Maine, but in consequence of Indian wars removed his family and business to Boston, Mass., in 1692.

Said Solomon Drowne (2d) was the father of Dr. Solomon Drowne and Captain William Drowne of the Revolution.

CORRECTIONS AND ADDITIONS TO PUBLISHED GENEALOGICAL WORKS.

Every gleaner in the field of genealogical research has met with errors in printed volumes which, left by themselves, carry mistaken conclusions to the end of time. This department has been inaugurated in an endeavor to correct such spurious data. Readers are requested to forward for publication here every such error, and such further additions to printed genealogies as are found, that due correction may be made. The authority for the statement must be furnished, with name and address of contributor.

22. AYRES — INGRAM — CUTT — MOULTON — FOSTER — FELLOWS — SHERBURNE — CORRECTIONS AND ADDITIONS.

According to the Ayres Family, by William Henry Whitmore of Boston, "Edward<sup>2</sup> Ayres was the fifth child and son of Capt. John<sup>1</sup> Ayres, b. Feb. 12, 1658" (Ipswich Town Records), and had the following children:

- i. John, had grant at Brookfield.
- ii. Elizabeth, prob. m. Caleb Griffith, Oct. 30, 1701.
- iii. A daughter, m. Joseph Moulton, as appears by grants.

In 1699 he had a grant of 20 acres in Kittery.

That Edward Ayres, called "of Kittery, Me.," on p. 15, of A Record of the Descendants of Capt. John Ayres of Brookfield, Mass., was of Portsmouth, N. H., as early as 1692, and his brother Nathaniel, 1700, is proved by land conveyances, and the settlement of "the estate of Edward Ayres, late of Portsmouth," all of record at Concord, N. H. This settlement further proves that he had other daughters than those mentioned above. Letters of administration were granted to Jno. Ayres and John Cutt, June 22, 1723 (L. 7, p. 555). The inventory amounted to £1429.5.5.

The proof that he had other daughters is shown by quit-claim deeds to and from John Ayres, his only son, of record in the office of the Secretary of State at Concord, to which the following were parties:

Moses Ingram of Portsmouth and Elizabeth, his wife, John Cutt of Portsmouth and Susanna, his wife, Joseph Moulton of Portsmouth and Abigail, his wife, John Foster of Boston and Mary, his wife, Nathaniel Fellows of Portsmouth and Hannah, his wife, and Joseph Sherburne of Portsmouth and Phebe, his wife, "brothers-in-law and their wives, sisters of John Ayres."

The first quit-claim deed, dated June 7, 1725, recorded June 19, 1725 (L. 14, p. 280), conveyed 135 acres of land with house, barn and orchard in Greenland, 85 acres in Portsmouth, and 46 acres, with house, barn and orchard in Kittery, "all of which were late the estate of Edward Ayres of Portsmouth, deceased, who was the father of the said John Ayres and of his sisters." Sixty acres of the above mentioned land were "laid out to him for his part of the common land of ye town of Portsmouth." The lands he owned at Kittery and Greenland were purchases. This deed establishes his early settlement at Portsmouth.

The quit-claim from the sisters and their husbands to their said brother John, bore the same date and was recorded July 29, 1743 (L. 26, p. 544), by which was conveyed all right, title and interest to lands mentioned in the above quoted quit-claim, "viz.: Dwelling House & Land in Portsth af'd which was y<sup>e</sup> late Dwelling House & land of their Hon'd Father Edw'd Ayers late of Portsth af'd Deceased with ye wharfe warehouse & shop," etc. Other deeds are:

The same grantors to Samuel Nudd of Hampton, N. H., dated Sept. 24, 1725, recorded June 3, 1726 (L. 14, p. 564). Consideration £522. Land at Greenland.

John Ayres, Susannah Cutt, widow, Joseph Moulton and Abigail, his wife, in right of said Abigail and Joseph Sherburne and Phebe, his wife, in the right of said Phebe, all of Portsmouth, to Ephraim Davis of Durham, dated Jan. 14, 1754, recorded July 30, 1760 (L. 63, p. 237). Consideration £250. Land in Barrington "belonging to their father Edward Ayres of Portsmouth."

Gershom Griffith of Hampton to Ephraim Davis of Durham. Quit-claim dated July 29, 1760 (L. 37, p. 239). Lots in Barrington "belonging to my grandfather Edward Ayres of Portsmouth, deceased."

The statement that Edward Ayres was of Portsmouth as early as 1692 is proved by a deed to him from Samuel Penhallow and Mary, his wife, of Portsmouth, dated Jan. 1, 1692-3, recorded Jan. 3, 1717-18 (L. 9, p. 708). On June 13, 1700 (L. 9, p. 710), he purchased land of his brother Nathaniel and Amy, his wife, "all of Portsmouth," and on Jan. 30, 1711-12 (L. 8, p. 183), he acquired land of Samuel Foulson and Abigail, his wife.

Maine Historical and Genealogical Recorder, vol. 3, p. 44. Inscriptions from Point of Graves Cemetery in Portsmouth:

Alice Ayres, wife to Edward Ayres, d. 9th Feb., 1718, aged 53 years. [Query: Was this Alice Ayres Alice Shapleigh, dau. of Alexander of Kittery, Me.?] ]

Edward Ayres died 30th Nov., 1723, aged 65 years.

There are several other early inscriptions of both Ayres and Griffiths but nothing that throws any light on the following query that appeared in the issue of the Boston Transcript of Wednesday, June 28, 1911:

Caleb, b. Aug. 28, 1702, Portsmouth, N. H.

Joshua, b. Feb. 1, 1704.

Gershom, b. Sept. 23, 1707.

After the death of Caleb, Sr., his widow, Elizabeth, m. Henry Lyons of York. Joshua Griffiths of Boston sells the homestead of father, Caleb Griffiths, deceased, which he bought of George Vaughn, March 9, 1702, to Moses Ingraham of Portsmouth, whom he calls father-in-law. Deed dated 1726. Savage says Joshua Griffiths came from England 1635, aged twenty-five. New Hampshire State Papers give David Griffiths, Portsmouth, 1681. Who was Caleb who m. Elizabeth Ayres?

JAMES HENRY LEA.

We announce with deep regret the death of James Henry Lea, a member of The New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, who died in Boston on November 13, 1914. Mr. Lea became a member of the Society February 15, 1906, and since that time has been intimately associated with its affairs, especially as a contributor to The New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, of his valuable series of articles on English wills of American interest. His reputation as a professional genealogist in his chosen field of "English research" was second to none in his profession, and his work furnishes a standard to be emulated by his successors. The following is a brief sketch of his life and activities as published in the Worcester, Mass., Gazette on November 27, 1914:

"Another member of the once numerous Trumbull family has passed away. James Henry Lea, only son of Louisa Jane Trumbull and Henry Lea, and grandson of George Augustus Trumbull, was born in the ancestral mansion (formerly the Court House), Trumbull square, Worcester, July 1, 1846. On the paternal side he came of old Delaware Quaker stock, and on the maternal was akin to the Connecticut Trumbulls whose Revolutionary record (through Gov. Jonathan and the two Johns, painter and poet) is well known.

He was educated at the Highland Military Academy and at Union College, and resided successively in Alton, Ill., Wilmington, Del., Boston, Fairhaven, Mass., and South Freeport, Me. For many years he was connected with the book and publishing business in Boston and Philadelphia; but finally devoted himself to family research, becoming a professional genealogist of high standing.

Among others, he compiled the Trumbull-Clap and the Lea genealogies; and he was a frequent contributor to the New England Historic Genealogical Register. His chief work in collaboration with his English partner, J. R. Hutchinson) was "The Ancestry of Abraham Lincoln in England and America," a de luxe volume beautifully illustrated. He was a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, the N. E. Historic Genealogical Society, the Old Colony Historical Society (honorary), the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, and many others here and abroad.

His profession took him frequently to England, and he had traveled on the continent. Of late he had lived quietly among his books at Elmlea, his pleasant seaside home in Freeport.

On Friday, November 13, 1914, he was in Boston on business; and that evening, on his way to spend the night with a friend, he encountered a severe windstorm, succeeded in reaching the house, but expired almost immediately from heart failure. A simple service, conducted by the Rev. J. H. Holden, was held in Boston, November 16, and he was cremated at Forest Hills, the ashes being interred in the Lea lot in the old Brandywine cemetery at Wilmington.

Mr. Lea married first, Anna Blackwell Williams of Harrisonburgh, Va., by whom he had one daughter, Frances Trumbull Lea, an artist and Salon exhibitor, resident in Paris for several years, now married to Percy Stuart Moroney of the Associated Press, and the mother of a young child, Sylvia Lea Moroney. He married second, Ida Florence Heaton of Providence, widow of Henry W. Pope, by whom he had a daughter, Jane Trumbull Lea, both surviving.

Mr. Lea's favorite diversion was sailing, and he belonged to the New Bedford and the South Freeport Yacht clubs. He was a man of wide cultivation, refined tastes and genial personality; a good story-teller and a charming conversationalist and correspondent. His epistolary gift was inherited from his mother, whose letters, compared to Mme. de Sevigne's, are still remembered by her Worcester contemporaries.

LOUISA TRUMBULL ROBERTS."

Worcester Gazette, November 27, 1914.

WHEREAS the Board of Trustees of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society have received notification of the death of Mr. J. Henry Lea of South Freeport, Maine, it is hereby Resolved that the Society has lost a valued member and noted genealogist, whose services in historical and family research have been marked by intelligence, learning and integrity.

In the examination and tracing of English records and pedigrees Mr. Lea was prominent and his unselfish contribution of many and important discoveries in family history to the pages of the RECORD was noteworthy and deserved the commendation of all antiquaries. Mr. Lea was a man of marked character, genial personality and the soundest judgment in the solving of historical and genealogical problems. The Trustees deplore his sudden and untimely death and desire to express to his family their profound regret at his demise.

It is further Resolved that the Society record the above resolution in the minutes and send a transcript of same to his family.

BOOK REVIEWS.

BY JOHN R. TOTTEN.

EDITORIAL NOTE.—The New York Genealogical and Biographical Society solicits as donations to its Library all newly published works on Genealogy, History and Biography, as well as all works on Town, County and State History, or works embodying information regarding the Vital Records of any and all localities. It also solicits the donation to the manuscript collections of its library any and all manuscript compilations which bear upon the above mentioned topics.

In consideration of such donations the works so presented to the Society will be at once placed upon the shelves of its library and will be reviewed in the next subsequent issue of THE NEW YORK GENEALOGICAL AND BIOGRAPHICAL RECORD, each donation of such character, whether in printed or manuscript form, will be reviewed under the head of "Book Notices" and a copy of THE RECORD containing the review will be sent to the donor.

The Society does not solicit donations of publications or manuscripts on topics foreign to the above mentioned subjects, as its library is specialized and cannot accommodate material which does not bear directly upon its recognized sphere of usefulness.

Donations for review in the January issue of THE RECORD should be delivered to the Society before December 1st of the previous year; for the April issue, before March 1st; for the July issue, before June 1st; and for the October issue, before September 1st.

All donations will be generously reviewed with a view of calling the attention of the public to their good points; but, while generous, the reviews will contain such proper criticism as the interest of the genealogical student would expect from the editorial staff of THE RECORD.

The "Book Notices" of THE RECORD are carefully read by all librarians as well as genealogical students, and the review of a work in THE RECORD is equivalent to a special advertisement of such work.

Letters of transmittal of donations of such works should embody the price of the work donated and the name and address of the person from whom it can be purchased.

A valuable addition to the history of the Coombs family which will be welcomed by all of the blood. It is recommended to all Genealogical Libraries.

MORRILL KINDRED IN AMERICA, an account of the Descendants of Abraham Morrill of Salisbury, Mass., 1632-1662 through his eldest son Isaac Morrill, 1640-1713 by Annie Morrill Smith. The Lyons Genealogical Company, New York, 1914. 8vo., cloth, pp. 144, including index, illustrated. Price, $2.00, postpaid. Address: compiler, 78 Orange street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

An excellent compilation containing valuable genealogical information concerning Abraham<sup>1</sup> Morrill and his descendants to the 8th generation inclusive. It is recommended to all Genealogical Libraries.

FROM ONE GENERATION TO ANOTHER. Being annals of one branch of the Langdon Family from Vershire, Vermont, and afterwards of Columbia, (Cincinnati) Ohio. Edited and published for private distribution by Harriet Nash Langdon and Annie Morrill Smith, of No. 78 Orange street, Brooklyn, N. Y. 8vo., cloth. Price, $2.00, postpaid.

This excellent little book gives much information concerning family characteristics and customs; and is enriched by two genealogical charts, one giving the descendants of Philip Langdon, of England and Boston, Mass., to the 5th generation, and the second giving the descendants of James Davenport<sup>5</sup> Langdon to the 8th generation. Recommended to all Genealogical Libraries.

BAKER ANCESTRY. The Ancestry of Samuel Baker, of Pleasant Valley, Steuben County, New York, with some of his descendants. Compiled by Frank Baker. Quarto cloth, pp. 58, illustrated. Price, $5.00. Address: compiler, 643 Woodland Park, Chicago, Ill.

HISTORICAL SKETCHES OF THE TOWN OF MILFORD (CONN.), by George Hare Ford, 1914. 8vo., cloth, pp. 80, with map and illustrations. Price, $1.50. Address: author, New Haven, Conn.

A valuable addition to the history of this old Connecticut town. It contains amongst other material a fac-simile reproduction of the original town patent issued in 1712-13 with names of patentees; names of heads of families taken from first U. S. Census in 1790; names of residents who served in Civil War, 1861-1865. It is recommended to all Historical and Genealogical Libraries.

THE SOCIETY OF COLONIAL WARS IN THE STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE. Our Deceased Members, 1911-1914, sketches of their Honored Lives with portraits, Constitution and By-Laws, List of Officers, Committees and Members, Chronicle for Twenty Years, 1894 to 1914. Printed by the Society and Dedicated to the Memory of Our Departed Members. 1914. 8vo., cloth, pp. 104. Price, $2.00. Address: John C. Thorne, Secretary-Treasurer, Concord, N. H.

An excellent example of a Society lineage book, and containing, as it does, not only a list of all the members, but also a list of ancestors from whom eligibility is derived, will be of value to genealogists. Recommended to all Genealogical Libraries.

EDMOND HAWES, OF YARMOUTH, MASSACHUSETTS, an Emigrant to America in 1635. His Ancestors, including the allied families of Brome, Colles, Greswold, Porter, Rody, Shirley and Whitfield, and some of his descendants, by James William Hawes, A. M. 8vo., cloth, pp. 217, including an excellent index, illustrated. Price, $5.00 (carriage extra). Address: Author, Harvard Club, 27 W. 44th street, New York City.

This work from the pen of such a well known genealogical writer is in itself self-recommended, and we find it all that we would expect from such an undoubted authority. It contains exhaustive data on the English and American history of the Hawes Family and the genealogical record of Edmond<sup>1</sup> Hawes (the emigrant ancestor) and his descendants to the 8th generation inclusive. Recommended to all Genealogical Libraries.

HISTORY AND GENEALOGICAL RECORD OF ONE BRANCH OF THE STILWELL FAMILY, by Dewitt Stilwell, with introduction and contributions by Lamont Stilwell, of Syracuse, N. Y. 8vo., cloth, pp. 94, including index, illustrated. Price, $2.00. Address: Lamont Stilwell, 331 Union Bldg, Syracuse, N. Y.

A valuable contribution to the history of the Stilwell Family in America giving the genealogical record of Nicholas<sup>1</sup> Stilwell and his descendants to the 8th generation, inclusive. Recommended to all Genealogical Libraries.

THE VANDERLIP, VAN DERLIP, VANDER LIPPE FAMILY IN AMERICA, also including some account of the Von Der Lippe Family of Lippe, Germany, from which the Norwegian, Dutch and American lines have their descent. Compiled by Charles Edwin Booth, Member of New England Historic Genealogical Society, Connecticut Historical Society, Society of Colonial Wars, Long Island Historical Society, etc. Privately printed. New York, 1914. 8vo., cloth, pp. 188, including index, illustrated. Although not generally for sale, a limited number of copies are available by application to the author. Price, $3.00. Address: Author, National Arts Club, 15 Gramercy Park, New York City.

This excellent work contains valuable historical information regarding the German origin of the family and its American branch and contains the record of William<sup>1</sup> Vanderlip (the emigrant ancestor) and his descendants. The work bears evidence of painstaking accuracy and is recommended to all Genealogical Libraries.

A LITTLE BOOK ON HERALDRY, by Clara M. Howell Lyons. 8vo., cloth, pp. 58, with illustrations, 1907. Price, cloth, $1.00; paper, 75 cents. Address: William S. Pelletreau, 64 W. 100th street, New York City.

This modest little work contains a fund of information on the laws of heraldry and will be found a handy reference book to those interested in the subject. The introduction is an interesting review of the origin and history of the use of Heraldic insignia and the body of the work is a good practical description of the conventional heraldic devices and their peculiar significance. Recommended to all Historical and Genealogical Libraries.

GENEALOGY OF THE SOMERSETSHIRE FAMILY OF MERIET, traced in an unbroken line from the Reign of The Confessor to its extinction in the Reign of King Henry V.; compiled from Public Records and other Authentic Sources with notes and references, by B. W. Greenfield, Barrister-at-Law, 1883, Taunton. Printed by J. F. Hammond, 67 High street, with additions and corrections by Douglas Merritt. New York, 1914. 8vo., half morocco, pp. 131. Price, $6.00. Address: Douglas Merritt, Rhinebeck, N. Y.

Mr. Merritt, with the most commendable zeal, has gone to the expense of issuing this 2nd edition of this now almost unobtainable genealogical work and has added essentially to its value by the valuable additions and corrections which he has compiled with his well known painstaking accuracy. The volume is heartily recommended to all Genealogical and Allied Libraries.

JOHN HAY, Author and Statesman, by Lorenzo Sears, L. H. D. 8vo., cloth, pp. 150, including index, with portrait frontispiece of John Hay. Dodd, Mead & Co., 1914. Price, $1.00 net. Address: Publishers, 4th Avenue and 30th street, New York City.

A brief, but comprehensive history of this most eminent of American Statesmen of this modern period. It contains much in a limited space, and its literary merit is vouched for by the reputation of the author. Recommended to all Historical, Genealogical and General Reference Libraries.

NANTUCKET (MASS.) A HISTORY, by R. A. Douglas-Lithgow, M. D., LL.D. 8vo., cloth, pp. 389, including index, 8 illustrations and 1 map. Knickerbocker Press, G. P. Putnam's Sons, 2-4-6 West 45th street, New York City. 1914. Price, $2.50. Address: Publishers.

A most interesting narrative history of this Old Massachusetts Island told in such a manner as to strip the subject of any of the dullness of mere statistical history. It cannot fail to be of value to all those whose interests for one reason or another may center in this Atlantic Island. Recommended to all Genealogical and Historical Libraries.

HISTORY OF THE WOODCOCK FAMILY FROM 1692 to 1912, by William Lee Woodcock. 8vo., cloth, pp. 62. Price $3.00. Address: Author, Altoona, Pa.

An acceptable addition to the history of this family in America, containing a chapter on the English Woodcock Family and chapters on the descendants of Bancroft and Isaac Woodcock, John Woodcock, Andrew J. Woodcock, Bancroft<sup>3</sup> Woodcock, Robert and William Woodcock, Robert<sup>2</sup> Woodcock; and notes on the New England Woodcock Family. Recommended to all Genealogical Libraries.

PERSONAL AND FAMILY HISTORY OF CHARLES HOOK AND MARGARET MONK HARRIS, by James Coffee Harris. 8vo., paper, pp. 116, illustrated, no index. Price, ..... Address: Author, c/o Board of Public Education, Rome, Ga.

A most interesting and valuable contribution to the history of the Harris Family. The branch of the family treated is the southern one of North Carolina and Georgia, and we welcome it as the southern genealogical field has not been heretofore sufficiently cultivated. Recommended to all Genealogical Libraries.

SOCIETY OF COLONIAL WARS IN THE STATE OF NEW YORK, 1913-14. 8vo., paper, pp. 67, prepared under authority of the Council, by the Secretary and containing lists of the living and deceased members. Address: the Secretary of the Society, 43 Cedar street, New York City.

Contains much information of value. Recommended to Genealogical Libraries.

THE HEILIGH AND HARLEY FAMILY, copyrighted 1914, by John R. Witcraft. 8vo., paper, 1914, pp. 31, illustrated. Price, $1.00. Address: Author, Box 13, Merchantville, N. J.

A valuable introductory history of this family and as such is recommended to all of the blood and to Genealogical Libraries.

"IN LOVING MEMORY OF HENRY D. VAN ORDEN." Presented to the Society by "The Misses Van Orden," of 105 Hicks street, Brooklyn, N. Y. 8vo., cloth, pp. 34, illustrated. Name of compiler not given. Price not stated.

A worthy tribute to the memory of the subject of the essay, containing much valuable genealogical and biographical data. Recommended to Historical, Biographical and Genealogical Libraries.

COLONIAL MANSIONS OF MARYLAND AND DELAWARE, by John Martin Hammond. Large 8vo., linen binding, pp. 304, including index and with 65 illustrations of these mansions. Printed from type. Published by J. B. Lippincott Co., Washington Square, Philadelphia, Pa. 1914. Price, $5.00 net. Address: Publishers.

The author of this work has approached his subject with an inherent love therefor, and has succeeded in producing a volume the literary merit of which is pronounced. Artistically it is a pleasure to the eye and in every way esthetically appealing. The field of this literary effort is rich with material and we have within the covers of this work verbal descriptions and pictorial reproductions of many of the most famous homes of Maryland and Delaware. Some 37 of these mansions are described in a pleasing literary style, and their exteriors and interiors illustrated by half-tone plates of high class artistic merit. The author is to be congratulated both for the literary merit of the volume and for the excellence of the work from the publishers' standpoint. Recommended to all Historical, Biographical and Genealogical Libraries.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE HISTORY OF THE COUNTY OF ANNAPOLIS (NOVA SCOTIA). Correcting and supplying omissions in the original volume, by A. W. Savary, A. M., D. C. L. Editor and part Author of the original history. 8vo., cloth, pp. 142, including index, illustrated, 1913. Price of Supplement separately, $2.50 (12 cents postage). Price of both History and Supplement, $3.75. Address: Author, Waverly House, Halifax, N. S.

This is a most valuable addition to the History of this County of Nova Scotia, and is replete with genealogical material. It should be on the shelves of all General Reference, Historical and Genealogical Libraries.

ANNALS OF THE LEONARD FAMILY, by Mrs. Fanny Leonard Koster, of 21 Park Place, New York City. 8vo., cloth, pp. 208, and 58 illustrations and 2 genealogical charts; no index. Price, $5.00 (carriage 15 cents). Address: Author.

This interesting volume is dedicated to the author's father, and is a worthy tribute to the memory of one so dear. It is moreover a painstaking work in so far as the historical and genealogical material therein embraced is concerned. The History of the English origin of the family is recorded in a scholarly manner, and the American genealogy of the family is extensive and accurately recorded. Two comprehensive genealogical charts are pocketed in the covers of the volume, one of the English Leonard family, and one of 6 large pages giving the record of the Leonards of Taunton, Mass. Recommended to all Genealogical and Historical Libraries.

SIMEON CHURCH, OF CHESTER, CONN., 1708-1792, and his descendants, compiled by Charles Washburn Church. 8vo., cloth, pp. 209+32 of index illustrated. Price, $3.00. Address: Compiler, Waterbury, Conn.

A most creditable compilation giving the English and American History of this branch of the Church Family and chapters on the Descendants of Simeon Church by the lines of 8 of his children, viz: Titus, Lois, Eunice, Simeon, Philemon, Elizabeth, John and Samuel. Recommended to all Genealogical Libraries.

WORCESTER FAMILY GENEALOGY. The Descendants of Rev. William Worcester with a brief notice of the Connecticut Wooster Family. First edition, published by J. Fox Worcester, of Salem, Mass., in 1856. Revised by Sarah Alice Worcester, of Hollis, N. H., and Cambridge, Mass., 1914. 8vo., cloth, pp. 270, including an excellent index, profusely illustrated. Price, $7.00. Address: E. F. Worcester, 146 Summer street, Boston, Mass.

A first class genealogical work in every particular; and, being a revision of a former edition, brings the subject matter down to date and eliminates the errors of the former work. Recommended to all Genealogical Libraries.

EARLY NORTHAMPTON (MASS.). Published by the Betty Allen Chapter, D. A. R., of Northampton, Mass. 1914. 8vo., cloth, pp. 229, with table of contents, no index, illustrated. Price, $2.00 (carriage 25 cents extra). Address: Miss Helen C. Sergeant, 82 Bridge street, Northampton, Mass.

A most valuable contribution to the history of this old Massachusetts town, and will be a welcome addition to the shelves of Historical and Genealogical Libraries. It is to be hoped that the success of this volume may stimulate the "Betty Allen" Chapter, D. A. R., to supplement it with another publication containing the graveyard inscriptions and other vital records of the town which are so much desired now by genealogical readers. Recommended to all Historical and Genealogical Libraries.

HISTORIC HOMES OF NEW ENGLAND, by Mary H. Northend, author of "Colonial Homes and their Furnishings." 8vo., cloth, pp. 274, including index, enriched by 95 full page illustrations of these Historic Homes. Boston, 1914. Little, Brown & Co., publishers. Copyrighted. Price, $5.00 net. Address: Miss Mary H. Northend, 9 Barton Square, Salem, Mass.

An artistically beautiful volume and containing, as it does, chapters on the following "Homes": The House of the Seven Gables, The Pickering House, "The Lindens," The Rogers House, The Colonel Jeremiah Lee House, The Ladd-Gilman House, The Adams House, The Spencer-Pierce House, The Governor Dummer Mansion, The Macphædris-Warner House, The Wentworth House, The Franklin Pierce House, The Savory House, The Stark Mansion, The Saltonstall House, The Dalton House, The Kittredge House, The Royall House, The Longfellow House, The Quincy Mansion, and "Hey Bonnie Hall"—it will be found to be of great interest and value to students of family history. It is a work that should be in all general reference, Historical and Genealogical Libraries.

HISTORICAL CATALOGUE OF THE MEMBERS OF THE FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, IN NEW HAVEN, CONN. (Center Church) A. D. 1639-1914, compiled by Franklin Bowditch Dexter, New Haven, 1914. 8vo., cloth, pp. 469. Price, $2.00 (postage extra). Address: Board of Deacons of Center Church, 311 Temple street, New Haven, Conn.

This work is an invaluable addition to the published vital records of New Haven. It contains as nearly as obtainable the list of members of this church 1639-1914; and the earlier lists are enriched by biographical notes that render it genealogically most valuable. It is heartily recommended to all Genealogical and Historical Libraries. The compiler of this work is the distinguished author of that well known series, "Yale Biographies," the excellence of which work insures the accuracy and value of the volume under review.

SOLDIERS OF OAKHAM, MASS., IN THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR, War of 1812 and the Civil War, by Henry Parks Wright. 8vo., cloth, pp. 325, including copious index, profusely illustrated. Price, $2.50. Address: Compiler, 128 York street, New Haven, Conn.

This work, as its title indicates, will be a source of most valuable information to all genealogists and historians, and it is therefore heartily recommended to all libraries of such affiliations. To genealogists it will be especially useful, as it is replete with genealogical notes relative to the individuals who figured in the several wars.

THE JOURNAL OF THE AMERICAN IRISH HISTORICAL SOCIETY, Vol. XIII. Edited by Edward Hamilton Daly, Secretary-General. 8vo., cloth, pp. 402, including index, illustrated. Published by the Society, 1914. Address: Edward H. Daly, 52 Wall street, New York City. Price, $2.00.

A worthy successor to the 12 preceding volumes of this series. It contains much matter of biographical interest. The publication of the Irish Vital Records of Georgetown, Maine, in the volume renders it of great value to genealogists. Recommended to all Genealogical and Historical Libraries.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1868, YALE COLLEGE, 1864-1914, compiled by Henry P. Wright, Class Secretary. 8vo., cloth, pp. 382, profusely illustrated with portraits of members of the Class. Address: Compiler, 128 York street, New Haven, Conn.

A most excellent example of a College Class History, and contains a fund of vital facts relative to the members of the class. Recommended to all Historical and Genealogical Libraries.

HISTORICAL RUTLAND, Souvenir Edition. An Illustrated History of Rutland, Vermont, from the granting of the Charter 1761 to 1911, compiled by Rev. F. E. Davison, of 45 Clarendon Avenue, West Rutland, Vt. Quarto paper, pp. 69, profusely illustrated. Address: Compiler. Price not stated.

An interesting brochure containing much valuable information.

THE BOOK OF THE DUFFS, compiled by Alistair and Henrietta Tayler, 34 Kensington Court Mansions, London, W., England. Printed by T. & A. Constable & Co., and published by William Brown, 5 Castle street, Edinburgh, Scotland. 1914. Quarto, cloth, 2 vols., pp. 307, 321 (628), including index to both volumes in 2nd volume, and including 40 full page illustrations, 30 insets plates, and 29 genealogical tables (or charts). Price £2, 2s. Address: T. & A. Constable & Co., Thistle Street, Edinburgh, Scotland.

It is a positive pleasure to be permitted to peruse a work of this literary and artistic excellence, even while appreciating the inability to set forth its many merits in the circumscribed space of our review columns. Dealing with the history of this noted and titled Scotch family it commands the interest of the general reader as well as the close study of the genealogist and historian. The genealogical material in the volumes will be found to be of immense value. The paper, typography, press work and general ensemble set a high standard for such works which we hope to see emulated in other future productions of this character. Recommended to all general reference, historical, biographical and genealogical libraries.

OWNERS AND OCCUPANTS OF THE LOTS, HOUSES AND SHOPS IN THE TOWN OF PROVIDENCE, RHODE ISLAND, in 1798, located on maps of the highways of that date. Also owners or occupants of houses in the compact part of Providence in 1759, showing the location and in whose names they are to be found on the map of 1798. Compiled by Henry R. Chace, 133 Brown street, Providence, R. I. Quarto, cloth, pp. 28+20 full page map plates. Price $5.00. Address: Compiler. (But few copies remaining for sale.)

This rather unusual book, as the title indicates, will be found to be a mine of valuable information to the historian, biographer, genealogist and real estate expert. The labor of its compilation and the excellence of the result is a monument to the author. It will become an authority in its line, which fact will be a small portion of the gratitude due to the executor of this painstaking task. Recommended to all Genealogical and Historical Libraries.

THE HUBBARD THOMPSON MEMORIAL. A Genealogical Record and Historical Account of the Ancestors and Descendants of Ebenezer Hubbard and Mary Thompson, his wife. Compiled and edited for Ellen Hubbard Skinner, by Lillian Kimball Stewart. 1914. Quarto, ½ morocco and buckram, pp. 423, including indexes of names, places and subjects. Limited edition of 50 copies. Not for sale. Presented to the Society by Mrs. Ellen Hubbard Skinner.

This is a noted example of that class of family memorials of both genealogical and historical character, which owe their existence not only to a justifiable pride of ancestry, but also to a willingness and ability to perpetuate such records in a beautiful and artistic form. The work is of undoubted authenticity and likewise of literary merit reflecting great credit upon the author of the enterprise and upon the compiler and editor. The paper, press-work and binding enhance the general merit of the production. Amongst the 20 full page illustrations are to be found colored representations of the Hubbard, Thompson and Conant Coats of Arms, the other illustrations being portraits of ancestors, illustrations of family homes and localities of interest. The work is not a genealogy constructed along conventional lines. It is rather a collection of pedigree charts showing the lines of ascent of Ebenezer<sup>7</sup> Hubbard along his various blood strains with copious historical data relative to the family surname of each of these strains. Amongst the various pedigrees thus set forth may be mentioned the following: George Hubbard, John Barnard, John Bent, John Bishop, Nathaniel Bowman, William Bridge, Roger Conant, Edward Converse, Joseph Estabrook, Thomas Flegg, John Fleming, Richard Gardner, Walter Haynes, Edward Howe, Thomas King, John Knight, Michael Lepingwell, Hugh Mason, John Moore, Peter Noyes, William Palmer, Thomas Pierce, Thomas Plympton, John Raymond, Edmund Rice, Henry Rolfe, John Roper, Thomas Scruggs, John Sherman, Gregory Stone, James Thompson, Stephen Upson, Richard Walker, William Walton, Philemon Whale, Henry Woodis, Edward Wright, Archibald Thompson, John Gilmore, Robert Gilmore, Matthew Pratt, Nicholas Simpkins, Jeremiah Smith and William Tirrell. The work is a notable addition to any library, and we count ourselves honored to be one of those favored.

MATERNAL ANCESTRY OF CHARLES WHITING MACNAIR, by Hannah Louise MacNair Crawford. 8vo., cloth, pp. 82, illustrated with family portraits and genealogical charts, no index. Price, ..... Address: Mrs. Frank Crawford, 3817 Dewey Avenue, Omaha, Neb.

A most interesting work and replete with historical information relative to the maternal antecedents of Charles Whiting MacNair in this country and on the other side of the water. Recommended to all Genealogical Libraries.

A GENEALOGICAL HISTORY OF THE FICKLIN FAMILY IN AMERICA. From the first of the name in America to the present time, with some account of the family in England, by Walter Homan Ficklin. Quarto, cloth, pp. 134, including index, illustrated. Price, $5.20. Address: Author, Littleton, Colo.

This is another valuable addition to the history and genealogy of Virginia Families, which are so welcome to genealogical students. The work is well executed and will be found of great value to all those of the blood, and it is heartily recommended to them and to Genealogical Libraries.

THE HAVILAND GENEALOGY. Ancestors and Descendants of William Haviland of Newport, Rhode Island, and Flushing, Long Island, 1653-1688, with special records of the allied families of Field, Hull, Torrey, Willetts-Willis, by Josephine C. Frost, compiler of the Frost and Strang Genealogies and editor of 3 volumes of the Town Records of Jamaica, L. I. (1656-1751).

8vo., cloth, pp. 551, including a well constructed index and 84 illustrations of family interest. Price, cloth, $10.00; half morocco, $12.50. Address: Mrs. Samuel Knapp Frost, 254 Garfield Place, Brooklyn, N. Y.

This is a first class genealogical work constructed along recognized standard conventional lines and bears all the evidence of careful and accurate compilation that might be expected by those intimate with the excellent previous work of the author. The history of the family prior to its arrival in this country is carefully set forth and its direct connection with immigrant ancestor to this country William<sup>1</sup> Haviland is therein established. The genealogy of the family in this country is recorded with exhaustive care to the 8th generation inclusive. We take pleasure in welcoming the book and recommending it as a necessary addition to all Genealogical Libraries.

THE ENGLISH ANCESTRY OF ABRAHAM BELKNAP, who settled in Lynn, Mass., 1635, by Henry Wyckoff Belknap. 8vo., cloth, pp. 20, reprinted from the N. E. Hist. Gen. Register. 1914. Address: Author, Salem, Mass. Price not stated.

This excellent article will be welcomed in its individual bound form and it is heartily recommended to all Genealogical Libraries.

A SUPPLEMENT TO THE FROST GENEALOGY, by Josephine C. Frost (Mrs. Samuel Knapp Frost) author of the original Frost Genealogy, published in 1912. 8vo., cloth, pp. 42. Price, $2.00. Address: Author, 254 Garfield Place, Brooklyn, N. Y.

This book of forty-two pages contains corrections and additions to the Frost Genealogy issued in 1912, with numerous unconnected lines, also the records of some descendants of Samuel Frost of Wallingford, Conn., 1712-1746.

The work is executed with the painstaking care which rendered the original volume so acceptable to genealogical students. Recommended to all Genealogical Libraries, and to those of the blood.

RECORDS OF THE TOWN OF JAMAICA, LONG ISLAND (N. Y.), 1656-1751, edited by Josephine C. Frost, member of the Long Island Historical and of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Societies and published by the Long Island Historical Society, corner of Pierrepont and Clinton streets, Brooklyn, N. Y. 8vo., cloth, 3 vols., pp. 454, 457, 448, each volume indexed. Sold only in sets. Price of set (3 volumes) $10.00. Address: The Long Island Historical Society, Brooklyn, N. Y.

These volumes contain an immense fund of information relative to the early inhabitants of Jamaica, 1656-1751, and will be heartily welcomed by historians and genealogical searchers. They will also be an excellent work of reference for real estate experts of that locality. The Long Island Historical Society is to be congratulated in having presented to the public such a valuable addition to Long Island history, and we hope that they may continue to produce other series of like value chosen from their field of operation. The work reflects great credit upon its editor. Recommended to all Historical, Genealogical and General Reference Libraries.

ABIEL WASHBURN AND HIS DESCENDANTS, compiled by William Lewis Washburn, of Patchogue, N. Y. 8vo., paper, pp. 23. Price, 50 cents. Address: Author.

This excellent compilation gives the record of Abiel Washburn and his descendants to the 4th generation, inclusive. Recommended to all Genealogical Libraries.

HISTORY OF GARLAND, MAINE, by Lyndon Oak. 8vo., cloth, pp. 401, including index. Address: Hon. John M. Oak, Bangor, Me. Price not stated.

VOL. XLVI.

NEW YORK, APRIL, 1915.

No. 2.

LUCAS BRODHEAD.

CONTRIBUTED BY AITCHESON ALEXANDER BOWMAR,
Editor The Woodford Sun, Versailles, Kentucky.

Lucas Brodhead, a member of this Society, and one of the most prominent men in Kentucky, died at "Okalee," his country residence in Woodford County, Kentucky, on Thursday, October 1, 1914.

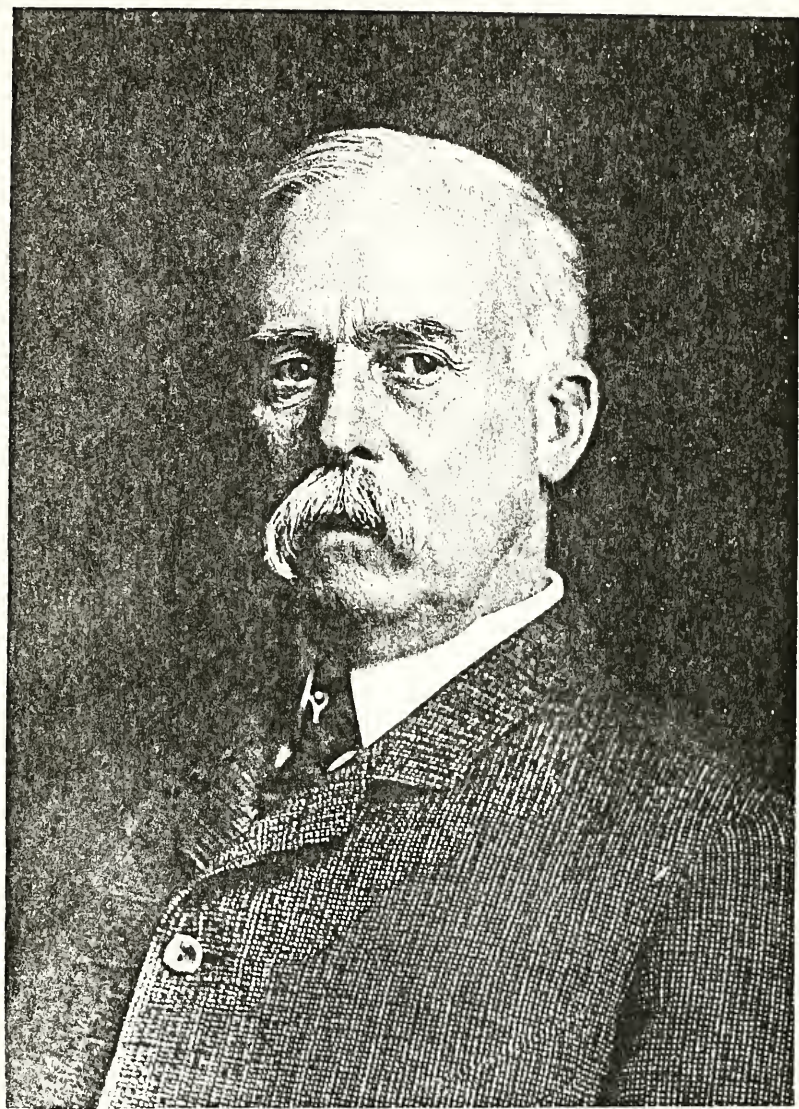

Mr. Brodhead was born in Frankfort, the state capital, on April 12, 1844. His father, Lucas Brodhead, Sr. (b. Ulster County, N. Y., Oct. 31, 1793, graduated Union College, Schenectady, class of 1816), came to Kentucky in 1820 to look after landed interests of his uncle, Hon. Lucas Elmendorf, a lawyer, a man of large affairs and a member of the Fifth, Sixth and Seventh Congresses. Lucas Brodhead, Sr., settled at Frankfort and practiced law there until his death, Oct. 31, 1849.

The family records of the Brodheads, which are remarkably full and accurate, form an intensely interesting study in heredity—such an one as Galton would have delighted to pore over. It seems to the writer that the researches made some years ago as to the descendants of Jonathan Edwards are scarcely more convincing than these as to the value of clean and honest blood. Mr. Brodhead was a man of truly democratic feeling, but after his retirement from business, entertained himself in leisure hours by carefully collecting and arranging the records of his family, a task in which he was greatly aided by a very unusual number of original family documents of priceless value and by his long experience in tracing the pedigrees of blooded horses.

The annals of the Brodheads present the interesting spectacle of a family which for three hundred years of authentic history has in every generation produced people of consequence, of good repute and of gentle breeding.

The Brodheads are said to have emigrated from Bavaria to England in the reign of Henry VIII and to have settled in Yorkshire near Royston. The genealogy of a Brodhead family for nearly four hundred years is on record at Munich. The authentic history of the ancestors of Lucas Brodhead in unbroken line begins however, on Feb. 28, 1610, when James II granted the Manor of Monk Britton in Yorkshire to John Brodhead and Leo Wood. A record in the Herald's College, London, dated Dec. 22, 1732, states that the Earl Mareschal confirmed to Henry Brodhead, a great-grandson of John, the arms of his family, stating that "the family had for more than a hundred years lived in Yorkshire in the credit and reputation of gentlemen and had borne for their arms a lion rampant and two eagles with a demi-lion for their crest as belonging to their name and family."

Capt. Daniel Brodhead, grand-nephew of the John Brodhead of Monk Britton above mentioned, came to the United States from Yorkshire in 1664 and became the progenitor of men of valor and distinction in the new world. He had been made a Captain of Musketeers by Charles II on his restoration in 1660 and crossed the ocean four years later in Col. Richard Nickoll's expedition against New Netherlands. The following year he was appointed Commander-in-Chief of the forces at Kingston, New York, where he remained until his death on July 15, 1667. His wife, Ann Tye, and two sons, Daniel and Charles, came with him across the sea, and a third son, Richard, was born on this side. Capt. Charles Brodhead, above mentioned (d. Ulster County, N. Y., 1724), married Maria Ten Broeck (b. Ulster County, 1764; d. same place, 1717). Their son Daniel married Marichie Cock of Ulster County. One of the sons of this union, likewise named Daniel (b. Ulster County, N. Y., 1756, d. same place, 1836), married Blandina Elmendorf and became the father of Lucas Brodhead, Sr., father of the subject of this sketch.

The original deeds and commissions on parchment pertaining to the Brodhead family which were in the possession of Lucas Brodhead at the time of his death, form a collection of great value. Some of them are:

Grant of land (sheepskin) from William and Mary to Captain Chas. Brodhead, August 3, 1694, signed by Governor Ben Fletcher. Royal seals affixed.

Grant of land (sheepskin) to Ann (Tye) Brodhead in recognition of the services of her husband, Captain Daniel Brodhead, Oct. 1, 1686, by James II of England, Signed by Thomas Dongan, Governor of New York, and Vice-Admiral in and over the province of New York and territories depending thereon in America.

Captain Chas. Brodhead—conveyance (sheepskin) for Mt. Hope and his "Stony Arabia" from Trustees of Marbletown, June 7, 1715. Signed by Richard Brodhead, Joris Middagh and Peter Van Luben.

Five Commissions:

Chas. Brodhead, Commission Ensign Foot Company, 1685. Signed by Governor Thomas Dongan.

Daniel Brodhead, Commission as Lieutenant, 1726, signed by Governor W. Burnett.

Daniel Brodhead, Gentleman, Commission as Captain of the Co. of Militia, Foot, Marbletown, County of Ulster, at Ft. George, New York, April 20, 1733. Signed William Cosby, Captain-General and Governor-in-Chief of New York.

1787. Daniel Brodhead, Commission as Lieutenant. Signed by Governor George Clinton.

Daniel Brodhead, Commission as Captain of Company Light Infantry Militia, County of Ulster, 1798. Signed by Governor John Jay.

Passport for Daniel Brodhead, II, son of Capt. Chas. Brodhead, to travel in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, 1718.

Marriage contract (in Dutch) of Anne Tye Brodhead, widow of William Nottingham, to Thomas Garton. 1681. (Gov. De Witt Clinton of New York, was a direct descendant of Anne Tye Brodhead and William Nottingham.)

Although the name has sometimes been incorrectly spelled Broadhead, wherever the signature of one of the family appears it is spelled Brodhead, as far back as the middle of the 17th century. It will be seen by the list of documents given above that in every generation the Brodheads were officers and gentlemen and men prominent in colonial history.

Mr. Brodhead was a lineal descendant of Anneke Jans.

On the side of Mr. Brodhead's mother the lineage is no less striking. His mother, Mary Cordelia Upshaw Price (b. Frankfort, 1810, d. same place, 1874), was a daughter of Lieutenant Richard Price of Maryland, an officer in the war of 1812 (who died in the service Nov. 11, 1813), and Hannah Upshaw of Virginia (b. Essex County, 1774, d. Frankfort, Ky., 1853).

Lieutenant Price's ancestors were people of prominence and distinction in Maryland. Among them were the Thomases, the Richardsons and the Ewens, as well as the Prices. Several were members of the House of Burgesses. Two were members of the High Commission which governed Maryland under Cromwell.

Lieutenant Price's wife, Hannah Upshaw, was the daughter of John Upshaw of Virginia (b. Essex County, 1715, d. same place, 1801), and of Mary Lafon (b. Essex County, 1744, d. 1807). The Upshaws or Upshurs, or Upshers, as the name was variously spelled, were among the best families of Virginia. John Upshaw was a signer of the articles of the Westmoreland Association, Feb. 26, 1766. This was the first organization formed to resist the Stamp Act, and these articles struck the key-note which was later expressed in the Declaration of Independence. John Upshaw was also a member of the House of Burgesses and Chairman of the Committee of Safety for Essex County in 1775. The copy of his will in Mr. Brodhead's papers shows him to have been quite a wealthy man. His wife, Mary Lafon, was of French Huguenot stock.

A memorandum made by Mr. Brodhead shortly before his death, showed his eligibility to enter the society of Sons of Colonial Wars by twenty different ancestors. Here is the list:

Captain Daniel Brodhead, I; Captain Daniel Brodhead, II; Captain Chas. Brodhead; Wessel Ten Broeck; Lieutenant Benjamin Smeedes; Jacob Du Bois; Louis Du Bois; Captain Joris Middagh; Major Counradt Van Elmendorf; Captain Albert Hermann Rosa; John Upshaw; Samuel Kock; Major Richard Ewen; Francis Hutchins; William Richardson; Philip Thomas; Matthew Blanchan; Samuel Thomas; Counradt Ten Eyck; Marquis Calmes.

Mr. Brodhead was married on June 29, 1880, to Miss Sallie Breck, daughter of Rev. Robert L. Breck, an eminent Presbyterian minister, and granddaughter of Judge Daniel Breck (b. Topsfield, Mass., 1788)—a distinguished Kentucky lawyer and jurist who was Judge of the Supreme Court of Kentucky, 1843–1849, and was a member of the Thirty-first Congress. Judge Breck was the son of Rev. Daniel Breck of Boston, who graduated at Princeton in 1774 and was a chaplain in the Revolutionary Army, serving with Montgomery and Arnold at Quebec. Mrs. Brodhead's ancestry has been traced through eight lines, which render her eligible to the Colonial Dames' Society. She entered through William Hathorne (or Hawthorne) of Salem, Mass., who arrived at Boston on the Arbella in 1630, and for forty years rendered distinguished service in civil, judicial, and military capacities. Two others of her Massachusetts ancestors arrived between 1630 and 1640, one in the Plymouth and one in the Bay Colony.

Lucas Brodhead was educated at the famous classical school of B. B. Sayre, at Frankfort, where he was the schoolmate of many brilliant men, and afterwards attended college at Toronto, Canada, for a short time.

When hardly out of his teens, he engaged in flour milling at Aurora, Illinois, and was remarkably successful.

In 1869, when only twenty-five years of age, he became agent for his kinsman, the late A. J. Alexander and assumed the entire business management of the latter's great estate, the more notable portion of which was the famous Woodburn breeding farm. This had been founded by R. S. C. A. Alexander, the elder brother of A. J. Alexander, a man of wonderfully broad views and remarkable vision, who laid the foundation for the greatest breeding establishment in America, but also probably gladly expended more money upon it than he ever took out of it. Mr. Brodhead with financial ability of the very first rank, and with a mind of remarkable constructive powers, rendered to the breeding interests of America, priceless services by making Woodburn Farm so great a success—not only along lines of scientific breeding, but in the way of great financial returns. It is not too much to say that this was one of the great achievements in America in the seventies and eighties, and it made Mr. Brodhead's name as well known in New York and other eastern cities—in fact, all over the United States—as in his own community.

Retiring from active business some twelve years ago, Mr. Brodhead devoted a large portion of his time to public affairs. His influence, although quietly and modestly exerted, was very marked. The Louisville Evening Post, one of the principal journals in Kentucky, said editorially at the time of his death:

"Mr. Lucas Brodhead died this morning at his home in Woodford county, after a short illness.

Mr. Brodhead was a gentleman of high character, a citizen ready to meet all the requirements of citizenship; a man of business, who carried his moral code into every transaction; devoted to Kentucky life and Kentucky interests; a loyal friend; a charming companion; a man who will be missed from every walk, from every interest in modern life.

His example remains; his memory smells sweet and blossoms in the dust; may this example and this memory serve as an inspiration to young men of Kentucky to follow the paths he made beautiful for many years."

Mr. Brodhead was a man of great popularity and possessed the devoted love of very many people. He was the soul of courtesy, of unselfishness, of generosity, manliness and courage. There was something gallant and knightly in his bearing which won all hearts. His purse was open to every one less fortunate than himself, but with fine judgment—not prodigally or recklessly. No man ever had a finer sense of the fitness of things. In person he was tall, extremely handsome and graceful and though his principal lines of blood were English and Dutch, gave strong evidence of the French Huguenot strain in his appearance and manner.

He was a great business man, a really great financier, yet he was so noble a gentleman that his personality dwarfed his achievements. It was impossible to be so much impressed with what he had done as with what he was.

THE WORLD WAR.

REMINISCENCES AND REMARKS BY THE HON. CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW
AND THE HON. JOSEPH H. CHOATE.

On the afternoon of January 8th, 1915, at a special meeting, the Society was honored by the presence of the Hon. Chauncey M. Depew and the Hon. Joseph H. Choate and an audience which filled the Hall.

Very appropriately, on this anniversary of the Battle of New Orleans, the subject discussed by the distinguished speakers was the world war in Europe. Those who were present and those unfortunate enough to have missed the occasion will thank the Publication Committee for the following reproduction of the addresses in verbatim form.

In a few felicitous remarks, Mr. Bowen, the President, introduced Mr. Depew, who spoke as follows:

"Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen: The task that has been imposed upon me is a pretty difficult one, as all the pages of all the press, with extra pages added, are twice a day trying to tell this story—to ask me to tell it in thirty-five minutes. I tell you it simply can't be done!"

MR. CHOATE: "The whole hour is yours." (Laughter.)

MR. DEPEW: "I gave close study to this question when in Europe, and was one of that vast army who are now bursting their throats to death all over the country, narrating their experiences, some of which happened. (Laughter.)

It is a curious and interesting fact that this most frightful war of all centuries happens in the semi-centennial year of the Red Cross Society. The Red Cross Society is the only international organization since men submitted their disputes to the arbitrament of the sword which alleviates the sufferings and saves the lives of the wounded upon the battle-fields and in the hospitals, and of those who are invalided from exposure and hardship. The first of these organizations of mercy in a great war was the Sanitary Commission organized in the North soon after the beginning of our Civil War. Its work was so beneficent and effective that the fame of it became universal. This led, in 1864, fifty years ago, to representatives of seventeen nations meeting at Geneva and forming the Red Cross Society. The work of that Society has expanded and it has done incalculable service for mercy among the victims of earthquakes, floods, fires and other calamities which have been beyond the means of the neighborhood and have aroused the sympathy of the world.

When we look for the beginning of this titanic struggle, we find its genesis in the Franco-Prussian War of 1870. The most wonderful constructive statesman of his generation and rarely equalled in any period was Bismarck. He was, at the beginning of the war and had been for many years, the Prime Minister and practical ruler of the Kingdom of Prussia. He had a great ambition to unite all the kingdoms, principalities, duchies and other separate governments of Germany into one Empire, under the leadership of Prussia, with the King of Prussia its Emperor.

Austria was the leader of the German Race. Bismarck picked a quarrel with Austria and in a short campaign, won the victory at Sadowa which humbled Austria and transferred the leadership of the Germans to Prussia. He smashed King George of Hanover, tumbled him off his throne, seized his vast treasures, called the Guelph Fund and annexed Hanover to Prussia. That Guelph Fund, Bismarck said frankly, years afterwards, enabled him to overcome the jealousies of the minor German States in forming his empire and securing the leadership to Prussia's King.

France had occupied for a long time the leading place in Europe in international influence, in literature, the arts and industries. To secure Germany the position held by France, it was necessary by war to crush the empire of the Third Napoleon. The corruptions of that government were so great and had so weakened the army and the patriotism of the people, that the conquest was not difficult, provided France could be isolated and the other great Powers induced to keep their hands off. Here came one of the greatest triumphs of diplomacy. Bismarck succeeded in so intensifying the fears and animosities between Great Britain and Russia that he brought them to the verge of war. Then, with a clear field, he invaded France and in a short campaign, ended French Power at Sedan and crowned King William of Prussia, Emperor of Germany at Versailles.

Having thus united the States of Germany, he thought it necessary for Germany's future development to render France helpless, as to power or influence. He imposed in the Treaty of Peace, terms so severe that, not only Bismarck but all the statesmen of Europe, felt that it would be impossible for France ever to rise to a position where she would be a factor, except under the dictation of Germany, in the affairs of Europe. He took from France her two richest provinces, Alsace and Lorraine, and annexed them to Germany. He imposed a fine upon France called an indemnity of a magnitude greater, by far, than ever had been exacted from a defeated enemy. He demanded a milliard of francs or a thousand millions of dollars in gold to be paid at stated intervals, within a definite period.

To France, deprived of two of the best contributors to her finances, staggering under the frightful debt incurred, in carrying on the war, piled onto the debt which was the inheritance of Napoleonic wars, Bourbon extravagance and Third Empire corruption, this fine or indemnity seemed, in the opinion of Europe, to condemn France to hopeless poverty for generations. Then occurred the miracle of the nations. The French people found, in their savings, in their stockings, under their hearths, in the hiding places of their peasants and working people and in the credit of their bankers, the gold to pay to Germany, this thousand millions of dollars in an incredibly short time. Relieved of the German army, which was kept in France to enforce the payment of the indemnity, the French people, with an energy, hopefulness, resourcefulness and spirit, never equalled, bent their individual and united energies to the resurrection and rehabilitation of their country. They began to be the bankers of Europe. They loaned to Russia two thousand millions of dollars and hundreds of millions to other countries. At the same time, they have perfected their railway systems, their telegraphs and telephones, and other vast works of public improvement and organized and maintained an army, equal on a peace footing to that of Germany and a navy the third in the world. Bismarck and after him, the present Emperor and his advisors, became alarmed at this miraculous revival of French national spirit and achievement and the demonstration of its financial and economic ability. Some years after peace, I have been informed by English statesmen, the Emperor laid before Queen Victoria, who as you know was his grandmother, the danger to England as well as Germany by this ever increasing power of France. He asked that Germany be given a free hand to rectify the mistake made by the terms of peace, and to reduce France by another war. Queen Victoria said, "No," with an emphasis which was final and induced Russia to deliver an equally emphatic negative.

Return now to the German Empire and its progress and ideals during these forty-four years. The separate nationalities or states which made up the German Empire in 1870 were poor and the victims of jealousies and animosities of centuries, of warring dynasties and religious revolutions. To the young Empire, thus situated, came this enormous gift of one thousand millions of dollars in gold. It came to be administered for the uplift of Germany by men of extraordinary administrative and executive ability. Bismarck was succeeded by the present Emperor who has demonstrated in his twenty-five years the highest qualities of a Ruler in the development of his Empire's resources and industries, and the expansion of its opportunities for trade and commerce.

We, Americans, speak boastfully and yet our boasts are plain truths in regard to the progress and growth of our Country since the end of the Civil War. But, the advancement of Germany, industrially and commercially, during the same period, has been quite as remarkable. Prior to that time, the congestion of population, forced German emigration all over the world. Bismarck said to a friend of mine, "To provide for the German cradle, we must expand in territory. We must have colonies for our surplus population." The stimulated industries of Germany have so well taken care of her increasing numbers of people that immigration has almost ceased. The Empire has become a vast workshop. It is supplying, not only the needs of the German people, but is entering the markets of the world in successful competition, not only with Great Britain but with all other highly organized industrial nations.

Under the impetus and inspiration of the Emperor, Germany has built up from insignificant numbers the second greatest mercantile marine in the world. She has become in power and equipment second as a Naval Power. Her Navy and her mercantile marine working together for the expansion of her commerce have given her, from an unplaced position, forty-four years ago, a commanding influence in supplying the needs and meeting the markets of South and Central America, of Africa and of Asia. She has entered into formidable competition in the domestic markets of Great Britain and her colonies and of the United States. Through her state-owned railroads, the German Government has become a partner in every industry in her empire, not only for encouragement but assistance, in the export of her products. Her banking resources have advanced with equal strides and most intelligent administration. Her schools have specially prepared the advance agents of her industries to study the wants and meet the requirements of civilized, barbaric and semi-savage people of different racess and continents. Her universities have become the admiration of other nations and places of pilgrimage for their young men. She has created a military system upon a basis of universal, compulsory service never equalled. This has made for her a dominant military class and caused her to be the foremost of military powers. Though she had already the greatest military establishment of any nation, this last year, when the General Staff asked for two hundred and fifty millions of dollars to place the army far and away in advance of all others, the amount was voted unanimously by a tax upon the capital of the country and not upon its income. The industrial and intellectual classes have put the military in supreme power in their government. The industrial classes and the financial interests believe their safety and prosperity are in the largest and the strongest army they are capable of supporting, while the teachers of the land have been instructing the youth of every age in the necessity of German power and the right by might of the expansion of German ambitions and ideals. Here we have the spark which required only the match to set the world aflame.

I came recently upon a passage in the works of Heinrich Heine, who ranks next to Goethe and Schiller in influence upon German thought, written in 1834, the year in which I was born.

*"Christianity—and this is its highest merit—has in some degree softened, but it could not destroy, the brutal German joy of battle. When once the taming talisman, the Cross, breaks in two, the savagery of the old fighters, the senseless Berseker fury, of which the Northern poets sing and say so much, will gush up anew. That talisman is decayed and the day will come when it will piteously collapse.

Then the old stone gods will arise from the silent ruins and rub the dust of a thousand years from their eyes. Thor, with his giant's hammer, will at last spring up and shatter to bits the Gothic Cathedrals."

It is hardly possible to estimate the influence of the philosophy of Nietzsche and its subsequent enforcement in the long service in the universities of Treitschke upon German thought and action. Their philosophy was "might makes right"; that German culture is the necessity of the world; that nothing should be permitted to stand in the way of the attainment by Germany of what the Emperor would call "her place in the sun", so treaties become scraps of paper.

In further illustration and more immediately practical, a relative of mine of superior talent and acquirement, was a student in one of the German universities—a student in laboratory work, came in close contact with the professors. The talk of the professors at recess was that war was a necessity for Germany; that she was not only threatened by Russia on one side and France on the other, but was so cramped and confined that she must expand; that Belgium could offer no obstacle and as Germany was prepared to the highest point of efficiency, France could be conquered in six weeks; then with Belgium and Holland, naturally falling into the Empire, Germany would have a coast line and harbors on the English Channel; that England was not a military nation and under those conditions, could be easily invaded, but before that, she would necessarily see that she must yield to Germany her supremacy of the seas and give to Germany her unquestioned right of the foremost place in the markets of the world. Thus a barrier would be raised against an invasion of Europe by Russian barbarism, and German culture, intellectual, mercantile, financial and industrial would lead the world. They also said that while they wanted to keep on friendly terms with the United States, Germany could not submit to exclusion from South America and the Pacific Ocean because of the Monroe Doctrine. There is no question but what these learned gentlemen clearly and frankly expressed what is the honest belief of every man and woman in the German Empire.

Now, at this critical juncture, what was the position of Great Britain and France? The internal situation in Great Britain was more intense and perilous than it had been in generations. It was the belief of most Englishmen and of all foreign observers that Civil War was imminent. The Ulster men had been armed and trained by experienced soldiers and mustered over one hundred thousand. They were sworn to resist home rule to the last man. The Southern Irish, to the number of over a hundred thousand, were arming and drilling to enforce home rule. All efforts on the part of the leaders of the different parties to come to an understanding and peaceful solution had failed. The King had called them all together at Buckingham Palace and after days of most earnest consultation, the meeting had dissolved; the government could find no compromise and the King despaired. The German Ambassador informed his government that civil war was inevitable. Sir Edward Carson, the leader of Ulster, left the conference and went to Belfast, where he reviewed an immense army, thoroughly armed and drilled, accompanied by their women as they marched, all singing as a battle cry the old Covenanters' hymn.

"O God, our help in ages past,
Our hope in time to come,"

while Mr. Redmond had gone South to meet an equally enthusiastic and determined army.

Nobody in England, under those conditions, dreamed of a European war.

France had the largest debt with which any country had ever been burdened. It amounted to six thousand of millions of dollars. France had to raise nearly two hundred millions of dollars a year in interest on her debt before she had anything for her army, her navy and her civil requirements. She had been so frightened as to the purposes of Germany, because of threats in Morocco, of Algeciras and Agadir that she had strained her resources to the utter-most with only thirty-eight millions of people to keep an army as large as Germany with sixty-eight millions. She had reached her limit. The ablest financiers in France said to me last summer, "Our financial position is perilous. The strain of governmental requirements and increasing taxes is threatening our industrial prosperity and financial stability. Nobody in France, under those conditions, wanted war and everybody looked upon its possibilities with horror. One of the most eminent of French statesmen said to me, "In our efforts to keep peace, we have not permitted our troops to approach within eight kilometers of the frontier, while Germany has crossed the frontier in several places and occupied positions of strategic importance."

Austria, of course, was, in her diplomacy and international relations, controlled entirely by Germany. Russia had not yet recovered from the effects of her war with Japan. Her financial situation was acute. Her internal troubles great. There were serious strikes, accompanied by violence in her factories and mines which were not industrial but revolutionary. Russia was in no condition to declare war.

It was this situation, in these various countries, which misled the military party in Germany into believing that the time had come for an immediate and successful war.

The military mind, in control of government, is always a peril to its peace. It knows its own power but has a contempt of the forces of a possible enemy and no broad, diplomatic or statesmanlike comprehension of the situation in other countries. The military party believed Belgium neither could nor would offer any opposition to the German armies, marching across Belgium to the practically undefended part, next to Belgium, of the French frontier. It did not believe that France could resist a successful invasion and that another Sedan was certain to happen on the anniversary of the Sedan triumph of 1870. They believed that it would be impossible for Russia to seriously attack the German frontier. They thought England entirely out of any possible interference or any effort to help France or to aid Belgium because she had her hands full with her domestic troubles and possible revolution.

So, Austria was told to go ahead against Serbia, for the Austrian Government was in a state of frenzy because of the assassination by Servians of the Archduke Ferdinand and his wife, the Archduke being the heir of the aged Emperor of Austria.

The Austrian Emperor, after a long, remarkable and successful reign, during which he alone had been able to hold together the many conflicting races and elements of the dual empire, was in his eighty-fourth year and the idol of his people. In a remarkable proclamation, he called upon them to rally to the national standards, to punish the people who, as he said, have been for years insulting and injuring me and my house. Never was there such a fateful message. Never were a few words weighted with such terrible consequences.

As always, when racial and religious passions are stirred, the unexpected happened. Russia, kindred in blood and religion with Servia, was swept by a wave embracing all classes, loyalists and revolutionists, patriots and anarchists, Grand Dukes and the peasants, in a Holy War. The Czar, who had not appeared publicly in the streets of his capital for many years, rode about everywhere in an open carriage, to be hailed by the populace as the Saviour of Fatherland, Servian Brethren and the Orthodox Religion.

Russia began to mobilize, notwithstanding the threat of Germany that if she did, war would be declared, and Germany promptly declared war. Luxemburg and Belgium, though protected by treaties, were instantly invaded by the German armies. France mobilized. England declared war, ostensibly to defend her faith and honor, pledged to Belgium, but equally for her faith pledged to France, and above all, a belief that in the struggle, whether she entered or not, was involved the existence of her empire.

The weight of condemnation of this frightful condition and situation had fallen upon the German Emperor. After a careful study, I do not believe that the responsibility rests wholly with him. A bit of gossip from a very high source, with intimate knowledge and touch with conditions in the German governing class, came to me. It was that when the Emperor had secured the two hundred and fifty millions for armament and had perfected the military machine, he felt that Germany was safe. He then took his usual vacation on his yacht in the North Sea. The Crown Prince was the leader of the war party. He was enthusiastically seconded by his five brothers. The war party included the whole of the General Staff and had the sympathy of the German People of all classes. That the sons said, "If you go ahead and get ready for war, we will help you in bringing the Emperor (the gossip said, 'the old man') around when he returns". When he did return, he was swept off his feet.

This year is the centenary of the birth of Bismarck and of Waterloo and St. Helena for Napoleon. After a hundred years most of the ideas which these master spirits represented are in death grips in the most disastrous war of the ages. Its result may determine for the future whether Napoleon and the democracy of the French Revolution or Bismarck and absolutism shall govern the world.

This is an age of marvels. They are so wonderful and frequent that we are no longer astonished at anything. It is within the bounds of possibility, if not expectation, that forces can be found strong enough to pierce the ether of the universe in which move in harmony suns and planets and constellations. Astronomers say that Mars is like our earth and inhabited. If so, the people undoubtedly worship the Prince of Peace. If the Martian philosopher could now communicate with our world, he would discover this astonishing situation.

There are about one thousand six hundred millions of people upon the globe. Nine hundred million of them are now at war, killing each other and destroying each other's cities, villages and homes. These nine hundred millions comprise eight-tenths of the professing Christians of the world. The only peoples who are not involved are the United States, the Republics of Central and South America, Spain, Italy, some of the wild tribes of Asia and of Central Africa, the Scandinavian countries and the Esquimaux. I do not include Mexico, which is in a state of Civil War.

Is, then, Christianity a failure? I say NO, a thousand times, NO. God moves in mysterious ways, His wonders to perform. He teaches the people full knowledge of right and wrong and leaves them the largest liberty in their conduct and actions. They assume with their eyes open and fully conscious of the consequences, the violation of Divine Law. The Old Testament History is filled with examples of the punishments which would have followed this kind of disobedience.

There are plenty of illustrations in Modern History. The most significant is our own Civil War. We all knew slavery to be the sum of all crimes. We tolerated it and supported it, legislated for its protection and put the whole power of the government behind it, for nearly a century. Then came, swift and terrible, the conflict between different civilizations and ideals and at a cost of a half million of lives, the slaves were emancipated. The Republic, freed, entered upon a career of liberty, humanity and prosperity, which in the half century, since the close of the Civil War, has made the United States, the freest and most powerful of governments and our people the happiest of all the nations.

The governments of Europe have been, for years, violating Divine and Human Law. They have been training, beyond reason, millions of their young men for war and teaching them the righteousness of the doctrine that "might makes right". They have violated treaties, which are as solemn and binding upon nations, as contracts and honorable obligations are upon individuals.

Passion, hatred, vindictiveness, cruelty and bloodthirst are working their worst, but as in our Civil War, there will come, from this conflict, national sanity, the end of militarism as a controlling power in government and the reign of the people, by whose voice alone can, thereafter, nations be plunged into war.

Some incidents connected with my personal contact with the beginning of the war may be illuminating. I was in Geneva with my family. On the first of August I went to the bank to draw money and was informed not only by that bank but by all others in Geneva, that they were paying out no money upon Letters of Credit or bankers' or express checks or even Bank of England notes. There had been no sign of war and everything was still going on as usual in Geneva and had been the day before at Berne, the capital of Switzerland. I made up my mind, from long experience, that when bankers shut their doors and lock their safes, they either actually or psychologically know of trouble. I found a train left for Paris in two hours, secured a compartment and then informed my family. I was instantly up against the most serious crisis in my domestic life. How were two ladies and their servants to pack their trunks in two hours? The thing was impossible. Any mere man ought to know that this was a work not of hours, but of days. However, we caught the train. While standing in the crowd on the station platform, I heard a conversation which relieved the tension. They were two English maiden ladies of the spinster type seen often in Punch, but rarely met with. One said to the other, in a high key and a sharp voice, holding in her hand a five-pound note, "Sarah, was there ever such an outrage? Here is an English bank note which has been good all over the world, since Christ came to earth, and these Swiss pigs won't change it." (Laughter.) This was the last train which left Switzerland for France for the next month. The French trains were all used by the government for the mobilization of the army. The movement of the train was normal, until it stopped at the first station in France. There was a notice on the wall, on a paper, about three feet square, calling all men between certain ages, instantly, to the colors. About twenty were there to take the train. The station master told me that notice had been up only one hour. At the next station, where it had been posted for three hours, there were five hundred prepared to go. They filled our train, until cars were added, making it so heavy that, instead of reaching Paris at ten o'clock that night, we did not arrive until five on Sunday morning, the 2d of August.

They stood in the aisles so thick that movement was impossible. The women with them fainted and were taken into our compartment until we were as close as sardines in a box. Every time I put my head out of the door of the compartment for air, these recruits, taking me on account of my side-whiskers, to be an Englishman, waved their arms and yelled, "Vive l'entente cordiale."

Similar scenes of those liable to military duty from the neighborhoods were taking place at every railway station, all over France. Most of these men, as I saw them, were in the late twenties and early thirties, and had begun to make a safe position for themselves and their families in their various vocations. They represented every walk in life, professional men, farmers, shop-keepers, artisans and laborers. They had dropped everything. I heard many instances where shop-keepers were unable to collect what was due them or pay what they owed, and their accumulated and active capital dropped out of existence as if swallowed by an earthquake. Their farewells had been hasty to their families, but I did not hear a single regret or complaint. Each man thought that upon him, in a measure, rested the fate of his country.

When we arrived in Paris, the government had taken almost all of the automobiles, taxicabs and cabs, where the horse was able to walk. We finally secured a cab which was like Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes's famous "One Hoss Shay" and a horse whose bones belonged to the crows. The ordinary fare to the hotel, the day before, was two francs. The ancient driver demanded forty and got it.

Though it was so early in the morning, the cafes were all open and the side-walk tables all filled with crowds of men and women. They had been there all night. The men, obeying the notice to join the colors, the women, their mothers, wives, sisters or sweethearts waiting to bid them good-bye as their trains left, neither knowing if they would ever meet again.

It was strange to see Paris, which I had left two weeks before, never so gay, never so crowded, never so brilliant, never so ideally like Paris at its best, while now, the stores were all closed, except the provision shops, the streets empty and a general air of a city in a state of siege.

Now, as to the spirit of the people. I have spoken of Germany. We must remember that every man, woman and child in Germany, France, Russia, Belgium and Great Britain think their country absolutely right and that they are fighting and suffering in a Holy War.

The old man who waited upon me at the hotel said, "My only son went yesterday. I am sorry I did not have more." I secured with difficulty a man way in the sixties as a chauffeur. He said, "My four sons have just left me for the war. I wish I was able to go myself. This means life or death for France and for all of us. Do you think England will help? If she don't we can't win alone."

I met a lady whose name stands high in the roll of famous statesmen and soldiers of France for a thousand years. I never met such a picture of concentrated and intelligent sacrifice and determination. She said, "My husband went to the war this morning. My brothers went last evening. My boy is only eight or I would send him. If we are beaten, France disappears as a Nation, our glorious past is a memory. We lose everything which makes life worth the living and there is no future for our children. If England will help, we can succeed, but not alone. Will England help?" This was the wistful cry which went up from every soldier, statesman and from every home in France.

I never can forget the scene when England declared war and announced her loyalty and faith with France, Belgium and Russia. It is the greatest privilege which has ever come to men to have lived and been active participants in the events of the last sixty years. There has been no such period in recorded time. In liberty, humanity, social service and on the material side in inventions and discoveries, it has crystallized into achievement, the dreams and aspirations of all the centuries.

But it is a supreme opportunity to have felt and shared those emotions of all the peoples of a nation and sometimes of the world, which lifted our common human nature into the rarer atmosphere of brotherhood and hope.

As a boy, I used to attend the camp meetings in the woods. The movement was in charge of intensely religious leaders and members. When the Evangelist had brought his whole congregation, including the strangers who came from curiosity, to their knees, there was a moment when voices were uplifted and raised in the ecstasy of belief that Heaven had opened and salvation was sure. Such was the sentiment which swept over and uplifted the French when England declared her friendship and support.

When I left England for France and Switzerland, there was universal gloom. No one believed that Civil War could be averted. Sir Edward Carson in the North and Mr. Redmond in the Center and South of Ireland were marshaling their armies for the war. When I returned, a month afterwards, the English and the Irish, the Scotch and Welch were singing, "God save the King", and all parties volunteering to the colors.

Ancient History is an interesting study. It amuses, interests and instructs those who have time to read, but arouses no interest or passion. Yet, there stands out one effort of heroism, patriotism and sacrifice which thrills and inspires each succeeding generation as it did the Greeks, three thousand years ago. It is the story of the Three Hundred who died at Thermopylæ. So, when the tragedies, victories, defeats and settlements, after the war, have been forgotten, except by the student and the librarian, the boys in the schools and in the academies, the scholars in the universities, the preachers in the pulpits, the statesmen in the forum, will thrill and be thrilled by the unequalled heroism, the unparalleled sacrifices and the indomitable courage of little Belgium. Her cities, villages and isolated homes have been burned and ravaged. Millions of her people, men, women and children are starving by the road-side with no roof but the skies and no bed but the ground. Their government is in exile, but the prayers, which is all these devoted sufferers have left to give, is with their sons, their brothers, their husbands and their fathers who are illustrating the finest courage of all the ages in trenches and on the battlefields.

We can not dwell too long upon the horrors of this war.

When it was possible to leave Paris, the city was in a state of siege. It required passports, a certificate of residence and character from the landlord of your hotel and permission from the police to leave. When my party arrived in the inclosure of the Prefecture of Police, there were several thousands waiting to secure these permits. There was only one official to grant them and he took ten minutes for each applicant, because the form was the one used to identify suspicious persons. He asked and recorded the height of each individual, the color of the hair and of the eyes, the contour of the face, the shape of the nose. My wife has never forgiven him for putting on her certificate and in his book a nose she never had. I saw that it might take three days or a week to get our papers and yet, we were passed around the outskirts of the crowd and through the offices first. Our unpopularity was intense and the protests disagreeable from the angry crowd. How did we do it? I can only say I was born in Peekskill, Westchester County, on the Hudson, and that explains the trick. (Laughter.)

We found a train, leaving at ten in the evening, but not scheduled. By the same "Peekskill" methods, we secured a compartment, and entered the train yard with the mail wagons. We should have been at Boulogne in four hours, but did not arrive until five the next morning. There were no vehicles, and we tramped in the rain, leaving our baggage behind, for forty minutes, until we reached the pier. We were compelled to remain there in the rain eight hours before we were permitted on board the Channel Boat. The reason given by the officers of the boat was that nobody had ever been permitted to come on board until after the decks were swabbed and the decks had never, during forty years, been swabbed before twelve o'clock. The most hidebound, conservative "Stand patter" in the crowd became a progressive. I did not stand the whole time, because for an hour, I found a reserved seat on the step of a freight car. When, finally, we were permitted to board the boat, there was a rush as if for life, though we all knew, she would not sail for two hours. Most of the men carried suit cases and travelling bags with which they mercilessly banged those ahead. The situation was relieved, however, when I heard a weary voice behind me say, "My God, Julia, only to think that we left Pittsburgh for this." (Laughter.) England, with its welcome and hospitality, its air of peace, security and content, its uninterrupted daily life in every department, business, social, amusements and Sunday normal, was a wonderful relief and gratification. The Americans who deserve the greatest credit were the thousands of men and women, mostly school teachers, whose tickets were worthless and their money gone. Their courage and patience were beyond praise. The American Committee for relief to our countrymen and countrywomen in London and Paris, performed most intelligent and helpful service in sustaining and sending home the needy.

Our Ambassadors and Diplomatic Representatives in the War Zone have won high praise and deserve all honor. This is especially true of Ambassador Herrick in Paris, Page in London and Van Dyke at the Hague, Gerard in Berlin, Penfield in Vienna and Whitlock in Brussels. I have no doubt the others in the war zone did splendidly, but their work did not come under my observation.

I heard a delightful story about one of the Diplomats whose genius for diplomacy had been discovered by the unerring judgment of Mr. Bryan, though hidden from his neighbors. It was said that his wife was asked how they enjoyed their new honors. She answered, "It's all very lovely, but people are too kind. We scarcely ever went out at home, but my husband, poor dear, since we have been here, has not had his dress coat off his back or his knife out of his mouth." (Laughter.)

There is salvation even in the midst of war tragedies in the sense and practice of humor. All the combatants who heard of it, whether Allies or Germans, were laughing. It seems the Burgomaster, Max, of Brussels, is a confirmed joker. When the German Army took possession of the city, the General commanding ordered the Burgomaster to come to his headquarters. When the Burgomaster entered and was assigned his seat opposite the General, the General took his revolver out of his belt and placed it on the table with the muzzle towards the Burgomaster and said, "Sir, I am now ready for business". The Burgomaster pulled out his stylographic pen and placed it on the table, with the pen pointing towards the General, and answered, "General, so am I." (Laughter.)

What of the future? The war will end as suddenly as it began. The parties to any settlement will be so full of the passions, vindictiveness and revenges of this most brutal and destructive of all the contests of history, that they can make a peace only upon terms which will give time, rest and recuperation for a renewal of the fighting. We must be a party to this settlement and upon us devolves the gravest responsibility.

The public opinion of the world has been effective in averting serious crisis. It prevailed in the peace between the Balkan States and Turkey, and the Balkan States themselves which prevented an imminent European war. But the United States has the only public opinion which will have influence with either side. The South and Central American republics have been too recently in revolution. In Mexico Huerta has been deposed and exiled, and in his place is general chaos. Spain is too nearly related and Italy too closely involved, with China a negligible quantity in the affairs of the world. All the hostile nations are earnestly arguing their claims, their rights and the rectitude of their action in the American press and through every medium of American opinion.

A wonderful opportunity has come to the United States for the expansion of its commerce in South America and the Orient. It is a duty as well as an opportunity, for these people require a large number of necessities which they neither produce nor manufacture and which have come to them from the belligerent nations. But in occupying this field we will act in the broadest spirit of comity. When peace is declared and the warring nations, exhausted and demoralized, are reorganizing their industries for the rescue of their people, we will welcome them to an open door in the markets of the world.

It would be a fearful calamity if the efforts, subtle and direct, to involve the United States in this war were successful. It is the duty of all our people to support President Wilson in the maintenance of our neutrality.

But our largest and most comprehensive responsibility is to impress upon the negotiators, the victor and the vanquished, that for the first time in the history of the world an agreement for disarmament can be made. It must not be left in the power of a class to declare war, but that must be the right only of the sovereign people. The Hague Tribunal can be so enlarged that it will become an international parliament to which must be submitted all disputes between governments, and with an international force on sea and land to compel acquiescence to its decisions and decrees. Then out of this war will come blessings never dreamed of as possible. Its sacrifices, slaughter, ruin, and untold sufferings will be forgotten in the happiness and hope which will come from the era of Peace on Earth and good will among men.

At the conclusion of Mr. Depew's remarks, Mr. Choate spoke as follows:

"Mr. President and Ladies and Gentlemen: In the first place, let me correct a false impression. I am not going to make an address. Anybody who undertakes to make an address after an oration from Mr. Depew—why, it is like grinding on a hand organ after an overture on the colossal organ of the cathedral, and I can't do it. I speak by the card, and I am only going to do what I was asked to do—make a few remarks; and the card says 'Tea at five o'clock.' It now wants ten minutes of five, and the President told me that under no circumstances was the audience to remain in this room, or anything to be said, after five o'clock, and tea is the very appropriate immediate sequel to one of Mr. Depew's speeches (laughter) because it is like his speeches—the thing that cheers but not inebriates.

And then, Mr. Bowen had promised to make a speech. It has been a little disappointing; his speech was altogether too short. When he speaks it is always to the purpose. I class him always with the sons of Zebedee, as one of the Boanerges, because whatever he does is always a success. Didn't he set his hand last year to raising $65,000, so as to buy the adjoining building, and give us a room for a fit auditorium? He did it in less than three months. And he has got it locked up somewhere (laughter) drawing compound interest. And I am sure he will never call upon us to meet again in this room. These gentlemen on the platform have all got cold feet. (Laughter.) They are all dreading bronchitis or pneumonia, for while they have their backs to the wall, the wall is made up of nothing but windows.

Now I have a duty to perform this afternoon. I was brought here for a special purpose, and that is to move the initiation of the Honorable Chauncey M. Depew into the fraternity of honorary members of The New York Genealogical and Biographical Society. (Applause.) I believe I have been authorized and instructed to tender that distinguished honor to him and to welcome him to the Brotherhood, and to put to the vote of this company whether he shall be admitted. Those in favor?

I heard no noes. The vote was unanimous.

Now it was my pleasure to make the acquaintance of the Kaiser, William II, a good many years ago in London. I met him there occasionally, but he was always on his good behavior, because we met in the presence of his grandmother or his uncle Edward. And I never supposed he was going to be such a scourge to mankind as some people now think he is. What I think myself I won't say. I am bound by the statute of neutrality and by the interpretation of that statute as laid down by our distinguished President at Washington.

I have been perfectly delighted to hear from Mr. Depew his experience as a refugee. (Laughter.) I have heard a great many of the refugees, and they all told the same story before. I never heard one that varied until he spoke this afternoon. They all had the same experience, and each one seemed to think that he or she was the only one that had had any experience at all. But his experience was most delightful and most instructive.

Now, let me speak about the spirit of the English people. It is perfectly magnificent the courage and the spirit of endurance and hope with which they are bearing the terrible struggle in which they are engaged, and especially the mothers of England, and the women of England. I don't think anything more grand has ever been witnessed on the face of the earth.

Let me give you one or two instances of how the families, the mothers and the fathers take it. I saw by the paper the other day that one of the four sons of an old friend of mine in England, a very distinguished woman, had been killed on the field of battle, and I wrote her a letter of sympathy and condolence, and I immediately received a reply which was perfectly magnificent. I wish I had it here to read to you. She says, 'Yes, we had four sons, three in the army and one in the navy. The one that you write about is dead, and we are very proud of it, and we are glad to have been able to give him to the service of his country. Another one has been taken prisoner six weeks ago, and we have not the least idea whether he is dead or alive; and the third is wounded; and the fourth is safe on one of the ships of war that has not yet encountered the Germans. But we count it as a very great prize, a very splendid reward to say that we have been able thus to devote all our sons if necessary to the service of the Allies in this cause.'

Well, then, I heard another story from the lips of the man himself, the father of six sons. He said he had four sons already in the service, and he was very proud of it. The fifth son was twelve years old and at school, and he came to him one day with tears in his eyes and he says, 'Father, now talking as man to man, (laughter), was there ever anything meaner than that the Inspectors turned me down and refused to let me enter the service simply because I was only twelve years old?' No! You may depend upon it that England is determined never to submit or yield, and she never will submit or yield until she has reached the point where she can say that this devil of militarism has been so completely subdued that it will never trouble the world again.

We met at the Hague eight years ago, on the 15th of June, 1907, for the purpose of devising measures that would preserve the peace of the world for all time. We agreed to a great many things there, and everything seemed very auspicious at the time. The gates of the Temple of Janus were closed—closed was it, or open? I never can remember which. (Laughter.) At any rate, the fact was that peace existed throughout the world. There was not a single nation, savage or civilized, that was engaged in war, and so it continued during the four months that our deliberations continued.

The representative of the Kaiser was there, and his conduct seemed a little queer. In the first place, Germany refused to enter into the conference at all unless it was upon the understanding that the question of the suppression of armaments was not pressed, and the English representative made a statement, as he was permitted to do, of the reasons why Great Britain thought that the suppression of armaments ought to be agreed upon by the nations, and our delegation said amen to that, and the subject was laid aside. Well, then, all through the conference there was evidently a hidden struggle, not manifested by words at any moment, on the great question whether the British Channel was to be kept open or made possible to be closed; Germany upon the one side, and Great Britain upon the other; Great Britain wanting to keep the Channel open so as to permit the feeding of her population under all circumstances, whenever war might arise, however long it might be protracted, Germany wishing to be permitted at any time to make all possible efforts to close it if she could. She tried to close it the other day by getting down to Calais, but she never got there, and she never will. (Applause.)

Mr. Depew is right in saying that the future is ours—I've got two minutes more.—Let me say that: The future is ours, and I can see only two possible benefits that will arise to us from this terrible conflict. One is that we shall be able to serve as peace-makers when the time comes. I don't think the time has come yet. I was glad to see that even the New York Peace Society said yesterday in an address that it was not time to talk about peace yet. And we shall be the one great—recognized as the one great power in the world, and we shall be called upon I have no doubt to advise and assist and perhaps to suggest the terms of peace. And that will be a very great service that we can render to mankind.

And, then, another thing is that this war is going to make us all a great deal poorer, and it will put an end to some of that frightful extravagance and luxury now depreciating the character and quality of our young men and women, especially here in New York. (Applause.) Poker and bridge and the tango are too much for the education of our young people, and I think that all such extravagances as these, as a part of the education of American youth, will be put an end to.

Now the time has come—I see you all look a little thirsty. (Laughter.) The teapot is boiling, and if I trespassed upon your patience a moment longer, I should be violating the instructions of the President, and my own oath of office." (Applause.)

OF FRIENDS.

RECORDS COPIED BY MR. BUTLER HOAG.

The town of Easton was originally a part of the Saratoga Patent of 1684, and was afterwards a part of the town of Stillwater and Saratoga of Albany County. In 1789 it was erected into a separate township, and from being the easternmost town of the Patent was called East Town or Easton.

In the History of Washington County,* published in 1878, is an account of the great military expeditions which passed up the Hudson in early times (some of them through Easton); of the building of Fort Sarahtoga on the banks of the Hudson in 1709, and its destruction in 1745; of the erection of Fort Clinton, some distance back from the river in 1746, and its destruction in 1747. As there stated it is probable that there was a settlement around Fort Sarahtoga previous to 1744.

Whatever may have been the extent of this settlement, the territory in question remained unoccupied, so far as known, between the close of the war of 1748 and the breaking out of the last French War in 1754. Immediately after the close of this war in 1760, several families moved in, but with the exception of a few Friends, were driven out during the War of the Revolution, and returned only after peace was restored. There soon followed settlers from Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Dutchess County, N. Y., and one at least, Killian De Ridder, from Holland.

The first Friends who settled in the town were Rufus Hall and Zebulon Hoxsie. They were brothers-in-law and came from Dutchess County in the fall of 1773. The first Meeting was held soon after at Zebulon Hoxsie's house. In 1775 Hall brought his family here, and the Society had then increased by the addition of several families of Friends from Rhode Island and Dutchess County. The first Preparative Meeting was established in May of that year, and a log meeting-house was built in 1778. Other additions were made to their number from time to time and they were prosperous and happy. Then the Revolutionary struggle took place and they found themselves, notwithstanding their peace-loving principles, in the midst of the theatre of war.

Y., and to the author of the History of Washington County for the information in this brief introductory, much of which is copied verbatim, and refers readers of the RECORD to the more extended account of the early settlers of the county given in its pages.

During the continuation of this struggle they suffered much in the loss of property and by the persecution of the warriors, who looked upon the peaceful Friends with scorn.

After the close of the war the Society rapidly grew in numbers and influence. In 1787 a frame meeting-house was built.

For regular worship this building has been closed for several years, but is open for Half-Year meetings, and occasional funerals. It is still cared for by the Society of Friends and is well preserved.

In 1781 Elias Hicks made his first visit. In his journal he says: "After stopping in Albany, rode to Saratoga, since called Easton, and lodged with our friend Daniel Cornell; it was late in the night when we arrived and the evening snowy; the country being newly settled, Friend houses were generally poor, so that several times I felt the snow on my face when in bed."

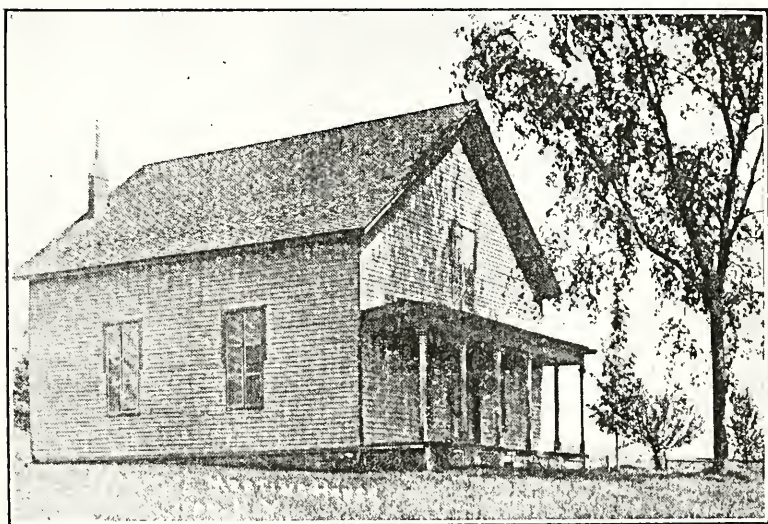

Indians still roamed through this section; it is related they frequently peered in the log meeting house, and once a band on an expedition of murderous intention, with scalps dangling from their belts, appeared at the door; after watching the silent worshippers awhile, they departed without molesting.

Friends from Peru, N. Y., a distance of one hundred miles, sometimes came to attend the Quarterly Meetings; on one occasion, Huldah Hoag, made the trip on horseback with a babe in her arms.

During the anti-slavery times noted speakers were heard in this old meeting-house, among them Lucretia Mott, Charles Remond, Parker Pillsbury and Fred Douglass.

On the 25th of 12th month, 1887, an appropriate centennial was held.

981. ALLEN CROCKER<sup>7</sup> THATCHER (Lot,<sup>6</sup> Rev. Roland,<sup>5</sup> Col. John,<sup>4</sup> Hon. Col. John,<sup>3</sup> Antony,<sup>2</sup> Rev. Peter<sup>1</sup>), born June (or July), 17th, 1793, at Rochester, Mass.; he lived at Rochester and Middleboro, Mass., in which latter place he died May 13th, 1885 aged 91-10-26, and was there buried. He married at Middleboro, Mass., December 7th (or 8th), 1816, to Elizabeth Rounseville Peirce, born Middleboro, Mass., November 20th, 1796; she was a member of the 4th Baptist Church in that town; she died at Middleboro, January 27th, 1871, aged 74-2-7, and was there buried. She was a daughter of Major and Deacon Levi Peirce (born Middleboro (now Lakeville), Mass., October 1st, 1773; died there August 22nd, 1847, aged 74 years; married December 13th, 1795), and his wife Sally Bourne (born —; died February 23rd, 1853, aged 75, at Middleboro, Mass.), of Middleboro, Mass. Col. Levi Peirce and his wife were both baptized by immersion November 7th, 1824, and admitted to the Fourth Calvinistic Baptist Church, and he was made a Deacon, May 27th, 1826, and both were dismissed to Central Baptist Church in Middleboro, August 10th, 1828.

Children: 3 (Thatcher), 2 sons and 1 daughter; first 2 born in Rochester, third in Middleboro.

- 1662 i. Levi Peirce 1st,<sup>8</sup> born December 7th, 1817; died August 12th, 1823, aged 5-8-5, at North Rochester, Mass., and was buried at Rock Cemetery, Plymouth Co., Mass.

- +1664 iii. Elizabeth Allen,<sup>8</sup> born November 12th, 1832; died —; married Robert Knight Remington.

“Middleboro, Mass., May 13th, 1885.—Mr. Allen C. Thatcher, an old and honoured citizen, died at his residence on Main Street this afternoon of pneumonia, after a short illness. Mr. Thatcher was born at Rochester, June 17th, 1793, and was, therefore, very nearly 92 years of age. He was educated in the public schools of Rochester. He went to Boston at an early age, where he entered upon a mercantile life as a clerk in a West India goods house. He then returned to Rochester, where he carried on a grocery and dry goods store. Mr. Thatcher came to Middleboro in 1831, when he became prominently connected with the Newmarket woolen mills.

He continued his relations with the Company until 1855, when he retired on account of advancing years; and he has since resided with his son Mr. L. P. Thatcher. Mr. Thatcher married a daughter of Col. Levi Peirce, the founder of the Peirce Academy, who died about 2 years ago after having lived to celebrate his daughter's golden wedding. Mr. Thatcher's funeral will take place from the Central Baptist Church on Saturday."—N. Y. Herald.

THROOP CHAPMAN.

BY SARAH LOUISE KIMBALL,

181 Addison Avenue, Palo Alto, Cal. (1910).

Thomas Chapman and Mary, daughter of Capt. William and Martha (Collyer) Throope, were married by Rev. Solomon Williams at Lebanon, New London County, Conn., on Jan. 26, 1729-30. They subsequently resided at Ashford, in Windham County, and Bolton, in Tolland County, being admitted to the church at Bolton in 1746-7. Thomas Chapman died at Bolton, March 2, 1793. Their ten children are recorded at Ashford, as follows:

- i. Thomas, b. Jan. 3, 1731.
- ii. Mary, b. Nov. 26, 1732.
- iii. Martha, b. July 2, 1735.
- iv. Bethethan(?) (daughter), b. Jan. 11, 1737.
- v. Throop, b. March 25, 1739.
- vi. William, b. Nov. 25, 1741.
- vii. Sybbel, b. Aug. 7, 1744.
- viii. Ann, b. Sept. 13, 1746.
- ix. Joseph, b. May 9, 1747.
- x. Elias, b. May 26, 1749.

Throop Chapman, second son, subject of this sketch, served in both the French and Indian and the Revolutionary wars. When only eighteen years of age he enlisted, on April 9, 1757, in Capt. John Slapp's 8th Company of Connecticut Volunteers, serving until the following Sept. 1. He was also corporal in Capt. Hugh Ledlie's Company, March 17, to Dec. 3, 1762. Capt. John Slapp was from Mansfield, Conn. The General Assembly of Feb., 1757, voted to raise 1400 men to meet and act in conjunction with the regular army under the Earl of Loudon, for the 1st Regiment.

These companies were in Col. Phineas Lyman's Regiment at Fort Edward. (See Connecticut Historical Society's Collections, French and Indian War Rolls, vol. ix, p. 184, and vol. x, p. 316; Com. Adam's Papers, in Connecticut State Library.) Subsequently to Dec. 3, 1762, and prior to April 12, 1774, he removed to Belchertown, in Hampshire County, Mass., and sometime between the year 1783 and 1785 he settled at Readsboro, in Bennington County, Vt., of which he and Daniel Davidson and a Mr. Sloane, from Conway, Mass., were the first settlers, and where his name appears as head of a family in the first census of the United States, 1790. He was a selectman of Readsboro, and with Joseph Hartwell, called the first meeting of that town, March 17, 1794. (See Vermont Hist. Gaz. Mag., vol. vii, p. 219). He enlisted at Belchertown, Sept. 22, 1777, in Capt. Jonathan Bardwell's Company, Col. Elisha Porter's Regiment, in the Revolutionary War, and received his discharge Oct. 17, 1777, in which latter month he reenlisted for three month's service in Capt. Elijah Dwight's Company of the same regiment. (See Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors in the War of the Revolution, vol. iii, p. 335.)

He married, first, Susanna Barney, who died at Belchertown, April 12, 1774; and secondly, June 22, 1774, Deborah Willson, daughter of Jacob and Amy (or Ruth Smith) Willson of Ashford and Woodstock, Conn., and Belchertown, Mass., granddaughter of Joseph and Mercy (Parker) Willson of Ashford, and great-granddaughter of Benjamin and Sarah (Jackson?) Willson of Newton, Mass., and Jacob and Thankful (Hemenway) Parker of Roxbury, Mass., and Woodstock, Conn. His first wife was mother of seven of his children, and his second of nine.

On March 30, 1783, Throop Chapman and his second wife were admitted to the Congregational Church of Belchertown, and on May 7 following, several of their children, together with two of his daughters by his first wife, were baptized in that church. This was evidently just prior to his departure for Readsboro, Vt., his daughter Hannah, born 1785, being the first child born in that town. Children by first wife:

- i. William, ensign; m. Amy Wilson, March 21, 1782; d. at Belchertown, May 3, 1807, aged about 48 years.

("Polly Clough" was Mrs. Hubbard's grandmother, Mary Throop (Chapman) Clough of Nelson, N. Y.)

RECORDS PERTAINING TO THE HAMILTON, DEAN AND BOTTS FAMILIES.

TAKEN FROM OLD FAMILY BIBLES IN THE POSSESSION OF MRS.
HORACE DINSMORE LYON AND MISS HELEN LORING SICKLES.

CONTRIBUTED BY THERESA HALL BRISTOL.

Alexander James Hamilton was the only son of James Hamilton, Esq. ("Keeper of His Majesty's Stores, appointed as of Chattam, now at Woolwich"), and Miss Daes. James Hamilton, Esq., was the eldest son of Alexander Hamilton of Ballincreeff ("undoubted male representative of the ancient family of Innerwick, who had a charter under the Great Seal of all his lands, dated Anno, 1720"); who married Lady Mary Kerr, daughter of William, Marquis of Lothain. (Baronage of Hamilton of Innerwick.)

Alexander James Hamilton was commissioned Lieutenant in the 45th Regt., May, 1775. In 1775 this regiment was in Ireland; served three years in America, 1776-77-78. (British Officers of the Regular Army serving in America, by Worthington Chauncey Ford.) Evidently he did not return with his regiment, as his marriage here in 1778 and the births of his children prove. He was elected a member of St. Andrew's Society, 1786, and was Manager, 1787-90, 1793-94, 1799-1800; 2nd Vice-President, 1801-9. He married Mary Deane of New York, and it is her father's Bible which contains most of the earliest records which follow:

Catherine Louisa Hamilton, born 14 of Aug., 1830; m. (1) John Watt Matthews, 14 Nov., 1849; m. (2) Edward Woodruff Derby.

According to tradition, Alexander James Cranston Hamilton, as the oldest surviving son of Alexander James Hamilton, was entitled to a commission in the British Army. This he refused, and passed it on to a younger brother, Archibald Wade Hamilton. The following, copied from a newspaper, is in the writing of the late Catherine Morton Botts, his niece:

"Archibald Wade Hamilton, Esq., has received an appointment in the staff of the United States army. This gentleman was a commissioned officer in the British army, and much esteemed for his gallantry and good conduct. At the commencement of the late war he tendered his resignation, which was refused, under an express stipulation that he should not be called upon to bear arms against his country. Notwithstanding this assurance he was landed at New Orleans, and when ordered to the attack he resolutely refused to draw his sword against his country and fellow citizens. He was placed under arrest, and Sir Edward Pakenham expressed his determination to have him put to death after the battle. The total defeat of the British in that action frustrated the object, and we are now happy to perceive that our government has not been insensible to patriotism so distinguished."

On the record there is given no marriage of Eliza, daughter of Alexander James Hamilton, but the following written on a small slip of paper, was found between the leaves:

"Dr. James Wyeth and Miss Eliza A. Hamilton have intended Marriage on Monday 27th Day of March ——. Jacob Wyeth.

Witness, J. Patten.

THE NEW SITE OF THE NEW YORK GENEALOGICAL AND BIOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY.

BY CLARENCE WINTHROP BOWEN.

An article appeared in the NEW YORK GENEALOGICAL AND BIOGRAPHICAL RECORD in April, 1914, written by John Reynolds Totten, Chairman of the Executive Committee, giving full particulars of the Building Fund of $65,110 raised in December of 1913. With this fund in hand the Trustees of the Society spent more than a year's time in searching for an available site. Every section of the city was considered, and the conclusion was finally reached that accessibility was most desired and that no better selection could be made than a site near 59th Street and Park Avenue. After careful deliberation, therefore, three lots with dwelling houses thereon, numbers 122, 124 and 126 East 58th Street, between Park and Lexington Avenues, each 19 feet wide, making a total frontage of 57 feet, were purchased by the Trustees on January 16, 1915. The New York Public Library is directly opposite and the Liederkrantz Society joins the Library building on the West. The proposed Lexington Avenue Subway will have a station extending from 58th to 60th Street, where express and local trains may be taken. The 59th Street Crosstown Line, the Madison Avenue route and other modes of travel are close by. The Grand Central Station, Wall Street and Brooklyn can be quickly reached on the South; and from the West Side a member of the Society by using the Subway or Elevated Railroad and the 59th Street Crosstown Line can easily get to the proposed new building. The location, therefore, is regarded as an ideal site. The asking price for the three buildings was $126,000, but the Society was advised by real estate experts who were members of the Society to make the purchase in January, because it was thought a better price could then be obtained. The three lots and buildings were finally secured for $106,000 and title was taken on March 16th.

After purchasing the property on January 16th, the Trustees did not deem it wise to issue a circular soliciting subscriptions, but thought it desirable to have letters written or calls made upon members who might be interested in making a second or a new subscription to the Building Fund. The subscriptions thus secured between January 16th and March 16th were $13,797; and the interest and net profits on sale of bonds, less expenses for printing, postage and architect's plans, amounted to $2,648.25. These two items plus the Building Fund of $65,110 above referred to made a total Building Fund of $81,555.25. The Trustees found it necessary, therefore, to raise in subscriptions $24,444.75 more in order to make up the $106,000. As however, there was not sufficient time before March 16th to do this, money was borrowed to secure funds sufficient to pay for the site.

The subscriptions received during the few weeks before March 16th were so numerous that it was thought best to make a determined effort after March 16th to raise the required $24,444.75. A circular, has therefore been sent to every member of the Society, so that those who have not given or who may wish to make a second subscription during the year 1915 may do so at their convenience. Until this debt is paid, the Trustees do not wish to proceed with the construction of the new building. As many friends of the Society will be interested in knowing just what amounts have recently been given to the Building Fund, a list of the subscriptions amounting to $13,797 is given below. On the following pages are also given the subscriptions to the December, 1913, Building Fund.

NOTICES FROM THE PRESS.

SOCIETY TO BUILD A HOME.

The New York Genealogical and Biographical Society purchased a site for a new home yesterday at 122 to 126 East 58th Street, between Park and Lexington Avenues. The site is now occupied by three four-story private dwellings covering a frontage of 57 feet by 100 feet in depth. The house at 122 was bought from Prof. Alexander Lambert and the two others were purchased from Henry B. Anderson. Although no plans for the new structure have been prepared, it is understood that building operations will begin at an early date, as the present home of the Society, at 226 West 58th Street, near Broadway, has for many years been too small for its needs.

It was just a year ago that the Society closed a campaign to raise a building fund of $65,000. The late J. Pierpont Morgan, several months before his death, offered to contribute $10,000 toward the fund provided the members raise $55,000. In January the Society announced that the required sum had been obtained. Since that time several sites have been under consideration. The East 58th Street site was obtained several weeks ago by Pease & Elliman.

The site is in the growing clubhouse district, between Fifth and Park Avenues, just north of 59th Street. On the Fifth Avenue corner of 62nd Street the new home of the Knickerbocker Club is nearing completion. The Metropolitan Club is at 60th Street, and at Park Avenue and 62nd Street, the northwest corner, the new home of the Colony Club is being erected. A short time ago the Calumet Club left its old lower Fifth Avenue home for the former H. B. Hollins residence in 56th Street, just off Fifth Avenue. The Grolier Club, which recently sold its present home in 32nd Street, near Madison Avenue, is looking for a convenient site further uptown, and although no purchase has yet been made, it may join this new east side club centre. Opposite the site just purchased are the Liederkranz Club and a public library branch building.

The New York Genealogical and Biographical Society was organized forty-six years ago, and its first home was at 124 West 54th Street, the residence of the Vice-President, Dr. David Parsons Holden. Several removals were made until 1896, when the present home at 226 West 58th Street was presented to the Society by Mrs. Elizabeth Underhill Coles. A fireproof addition, with a large assembly hall, was erected in the rear about ten years ago.

The steady growth in membership and the large acquisitions to the library made it necessary to look for larger quarters. The late Mr. Morgan's offer of $10,000 started the building campaign, and among the contributors were John D. Rockefeller, Mrs. Frederick F. Thompson, James J. Goodwin, the late Mrs. Henry Draper, Andrew Carnegie, Miss Emily F. Southmayd, Mrs. E. H. Harriman, William Rockefeller, Mrs. Russell Sage, Edward S. Harkness, Charles Harkness, William R. Proctor, and Frederick W. Vanderbilt.

The Society has a library of more than 20,000 volumes, almost exclusively devoted to genealogy and local history.

—New York Times, Jan. 17, 1915.

THE NEW YORK GENEALOGICAL AND BIOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY BUYS.

To erect a larger home for its growing activities, the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society has purchased the old dwellings at 122, 124 and 126 East 58th Street, from Henry B. Anderson and Prof. Alexander Lambert. The site, 57 x 100.5, was obtained through Pease & Elliman, and will be improved with a fund started last year, and to which the late J. P. Morgan, who was a life member, subscribed $10,000. Other contributors include John D. Rockefeller, Mrs. Russell Sage, George F. Baker, Andrew Carnegie, James Junius Goodwin, Mrs. E. H. Harriman, and Mrs. Frederick F. Thompson. The Society, organized about forty-six years ago, is now housed in 226 West 58th Street, and has one of the finest and largest biographical libraries in this country.

The Society's first home was at 124 West 54th Street, the residence of the vice-president, Dr. David Parsons Holton, and later it moved to 54 East 25th Street, the home of the corresponding secretary and librarian, Dr. William Frederic Holcombe. Subsequent locations were at Mott Memorial Hall, 64 Madison Avenue, the Berkeley Lyceum, in West 44th Street, and in 1896 the Society moved to its present home, 226 West 58th Street, which it owns. A fireproof addition was built ten years ago, but the growth of the Society in recent years has been so marked that it has been found absolutely necessary to secure larger quarters.

The Society publishes a 100-page quarterly magazine which has been in continuous existence since 1869. The new building will enable the Society to enlarge its library and to form a collection of portraits of distinguished Americans.—N. Y. Evening Post, Jan. 18, 1915.

Correction of record of descent of Charles Leggett (No. 67).
(Note by compiler.)

As was noted in vol. 45, p. 375, under Thomas' Leggett (No. 23), the statement made by Rev. T. A. Leggett that Charles Leggett was a son of Thomas' Leggett, had not been proved to the satisfaction of the compiler, but lacking proof to the contrary, the records were put in as they stood, with a query as to their correctness. Since the publication of these records, the descent of Charles<sup>4</sup> Leggett (No. 67) has been established; records have been found which prove him to have been the son of Isaac<sup>3</sup> Leggett (No. 24) and his wife, Hannah Wiggins. The corrected records are as follows (beginning with Isaac<sup>3</sup> Leggett, p. 376):

24. ISAAC<sup>3</sup> LEGGETT (Gabriel,<sup>2</sup> Gabriel<sup>1</sup>), born at West Farms, —; died —, before 1781; married Feb. 2, 1761, Hannah Wiggins.

Child 1 (Leggett), a son:

+67 i. Charles,<sup>4</sup> b. Sept. 17, 1762; d. Aug. 14, 1834; m. Phebe Williams. (As it is not possible to change the numbers throughout the line, we are merely transferring No. 67 from its former place under Thomas<sup>3</sup> Leggett, to this, the proper place for the record of Charles.)

Notable Americans, vol. 6.

Children 8 (Leggett), 4 sons and 4 daughters:

+140 i. Isaac,<sup>5</sup> b. —; d. —; m. Mary Strong.

141 ii. Benjamin, b. —; d. —; m. —.

+142 iii. Samuel, b. —; d. —; m. —.

+142a iv. Wilson, b. —; d. —; m. Eunice Haight.

+142b v. Hannah, b. —; d. —; m. Stephen Brown.

+142c vi. Rebecca, b. —; d. —; m. Isaac Starbuck.

+142d vii. Mary, b. —; d. —; m. Benjamin Battey.

142e viii. Susannah, b. —; d. —; m. Feb. 4, 1824, Samuel Peasley, son of Micajah and Jane Peasley of Peru, Clinton Co., N. Y. (No further record.)

The record of birth of Charles<sup>4</sup> Leggett is taken from the death record, as found in the Friends' Records of Queensbury, Warren Co., N. Y., the record reading as follows: "Charles Leggett, died 14-8-1834, aged 72 years, 10 months, 28 days, of Isaac and Hannah;" thus establishing both the date of his birth and his parentage. We do not find the maiden name of his wife amongst the Friends' Records, but in the biographical sketch of General Mortimer D. Leggett (Notable Americans, vol. 6), it is stated that he, Mortimer, was the grandson of Charles Leggett and Phebe Williams; but the fact that one and probably the eldest of their sons was named "Wilson" might indicate that her name was not Williams but Wilson.

The arrangement of the children is probably not the correct one, but failing any birth dates, the three sons named by Rev. T. A. Leggett are given first, and the others arranged according to the dates of their marriages. The record of Isaac's marriage is from the biography mentioned above, but it is probable that Wilson was the eldest son, and Isaac one of the younger children. The names of Benjamin and Samuel are only found in Rev. Mr. Leggett's record.

In the marriage records of their children, Charles and Phebe are called "of Chester, Warren Co., N. Y." Nov. 1, 1838, Phebe Leggett removed to Scipio, Cayuga Co., N. Y., where her daughter Hannah, wife of Stephen Brown was then living. No record of the death of Phebe Leggett, widow of Charles has been found.

Children? (Leggett), a son, and probably other children:

+254 i. Mortimer Dormer,<sup>e</sup> b. April 19, 1821; d. Jan. 6, 1896; m. (1) Marilla Wells; m. (2) Weltha Post.

CORRECTIONS AND ADDITIONS TO PUBLISHED GENEALOGICAL WORKS.

Every gleaner in the field of genealogical research has met with errors in printed volumes which, left by themselves, carry mistaken conclusions to the end of time. This department has been inaugurated in an endeavor to correct such spurious data. Readers are requested to forward for publication here every such error, and such further additions to printed genealogies as are found, that due correction may be made. The authority for the statement must be furnished, with name and address of contributor.

25. ANDREWS—ANDRUS—ANDROSS—CORRECTIONS AND ADDITIONS.

Miss Caulkins, in her History of Norwich, Conn. (1866), under the above names (pp. 222 and 223), gives the following: "Jeremiah Andrews admitted 7 May, 1714. John Andrews, Sr., admitted 1716. They were probably sons of Francis Andrews who died at Fairfield in 1663, and in his will enumerated nine children, among whom were John and Jeremiah. John Andrews, Jr., admitted 1716. John and Sarah, children of John Andross, Jr., were baptized July 5, 1713. David and Benjamin Andross appear also as inhabitants about 1715."

More recent investigations have proved that this Norwich Andrews-Andrus family were descended from Lieut. John Andrews of Chebacco Parish, now Essex, Mass. John,<sup>2</sup> the eldest son of Lieut. John<sup>1</sup> Andrews, bought land in 1704 on the east side of the Shetucket River, and removed to that place with his wife Judith (Belcher) and his eight children, among whom were the above John, Jeremiah, David and Benjamin. The descendants of this branch of the family have spelt the name Andrus, Andros, or Andross. Essex Probate Files; Norwich Land Records, Book 2b, p. 909; Knowlton Ancestry, p. 23; Norwich Town Records.

SPALDING—ANDRUS.

HOLMES—ANDRUS—STERRY.

In Wheeler's History of Stonington, Conn. (1900), there are some inaccuracies in the genealogy of the Holmes family. I give here one correction that I am certain of. Wheeler says that Temperance Holmes, born 27 Jan., 1728, daughter of John and Abigail (Frink) Holmes, married Roger Sterry. It was Abigail, daughter of this same John, who married Roger Sterry, 4 May, 1748, while Temperance married 7 Oct., 1747, Daniel Andrus. This is proved by the will of their father, Capt. John Holmes, which is dated March 1, 1783, and mentions daughters Temperance "Andris" (quotation marks are mine) and Abigail Sterry (Stonington Prob. Records). The parentage of this Daniel Andrus has not been positively proven, but the circumstantial evidence is so strong that there is scarcely room for doubt that he was the Daniel Andrus, baptized at Preston, Conn., 14 April, 1723, son of David<sup>3</sup> and Hannah (Haskell) Andrus (John,<sup>2</sup> Lieut. John<sup>1</sup> Andrews of Chebacco Parish). Was he the father of Judge John Holmes Andrus, born in 1768, and who lived later in Danby and Pawlet, Vt.? Can anyone throw light on this point?

MRS. THOMAS D. GOODELL, New Haven, Conn.

26. GAYLORD—WESTCOTT—CORRECTION.

In vol. i, pp. 446-47, of the Early Connecticut Probate Records, Hartford District, 1635-1700, by Manwaring, in the abstract of the will of Samuel Gaylord, Senior, 4th line from bottom, it reads: "I give to my daughter Abigail, wife of Joseph Wascoat of Stamford," etc.

The given name Joseph is in error. Abigail Gaylord married Daniel Westcott of Stamford, Conn. The release on file in the settlement of the Gaylord estate dated April 10th, 1696, is so executed. This Daniel Westcott is the same Daniel who removed to Fairfield, Salem Co., N. J., about 1696. The signature to the original release on file at Hartford in the Gaylord estate settlement is the same as that affixed to his original will on file in the Secretary's office at Trenton, N. J.

27. MILLARD—CORRECTION.

In The Commemorative Biographical Record of Dutchess County, pp. 242-243, and in the Genealogical and Family History of Southern New York, vol. i, pp. 65-68, a wrong ancestry is assigned to John Millard, Jr., of Cornwall, Conn., from whom and his wife Christiana (not Christina) Rust, many families in Western Massachusetts, Western Connecticut, New York City, the Hudson Valley, and Northeastern New York are descended. Also, the list of the children of John Millard, Jr., and Christiana, his wife, as printed in the works named, is incomplete.

John Millard, Sr., of East Haddam and Cornwall, was the youngest son of Thomas Millard, Sr., called also "Thomas Miller," of Charlestown, Mass., and East Haddam, Conn., by wife Rebecca Dutton (Joseph,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>), as is proved by the will of Thomas Miller otherwise Millard, Sr., dated at East Haddam, July 26, 1728 (Hartford Probate Records, vol. xii, pp. 146-148, and printed in Manwaring, pp. 546-548).

Finally, Thomas Millard, Sr., of East Haddam, was the eldest son of Humphrey Millard, called also "Humphrey Miller," of Charlestown and Reading, Mass., by wife Elizabeth Smith (Matthew,<sup>2</sup> Matthew<sup>1</sup>) (Wyman's Charlestown, pp. 673, 872, and Paige's History of Cambridge, p. 610), as is proved by a quit-claim deed given Dec. 29, 1736, by Thomas Millard, Jr., of East Haddam, to James Hay of Boston, relinquishing rights to land in Westminster, Mass., granted to Humphrey Millard on account of services in King Phillip's War (Worcester District Deeds, book 29, p. 209), and by the will of Thomas Millard, Jr., presented for probate at Colchester, Conn., May 16, 1752, and recorded there (Probate Records, vol. ii, p. 234).

The will explicitly identifies the Millards of Cornwall with the Millards of East Haddam, and the quit-claim deed describes the Westminster land as "one of the Lotts in Narragansett Township Number Two and all undivided Land in said Town, Descended to me by my Honoured Grandfather Humphrey Miller Dec<sup>d</sup>." In the first sentence of the document the grantor calls himself "Thomas Miller," and at the end he signs his name "Thomas Millard."

That the "honoured" grandfather deserved the adjective is revealed by two further documents, happily preserved. One is a petition to the "Hon<sup>d</sup> John Leveret Esq., and other worshipfull members of the Councell," signed by Timothy Wily, Humphrey Millard, Samuel Bull and Henry Sparkes, asking redress for an injustice inflicted by Major Waldron while they were serving under Captain Hunting in the expedition "to the Eastward" (Mass. Archives, vol. 69, p. 120, and printed by Baxter, Collections of the Maine Historical Society: Documentary History, Second Series, vol. vi, pp. 167-168). The other document is a letter from James Stoakes, dying in Rhode Island, written 3 (9) 1675, to his "loving friend Humphrey Miller, living in Charlestown." (With the order of Oct., 1676, granting to Humphrey Miller administration on the estate of James Stoakes, it was filed, Middlesex County Court Records, vol. iii, p. 150. Not quite accurately copied it was printed in the Genealogical Bulletin, vol. i, p. 157).

The parentage and place of birth of Humphrey Millard have not been ascertained. The names associated with his in public records, and the known circumstances of his life, including purchase of land at Reading, Mass., in 1680, death at Reading, April 5, 1684, and administration of his estate (Middlesex Probate Records, vol. vi, p. 264), appear to connect him with the Millards of Salem, Newbury and "the Eastward." He may have been a grandson of John<sup>1</sup> Millard of Salem, tailor, who bought house, shop and land in that town in 1652, and sold them in 1657; and a son of Jasper<sup>2</sup> Miller, who was of Strawberry Bank (Portsmouth), N. H., in 1660, of Sagadahoc, Maine, in 1679, and of Pemaquid, Maine, in 1687. Jasper appears to have had connections with Charlestown, and may have lived there in 1653.

Assuming that Humphrey Millard was probably of the third generation of his kindred in New England, John Millard, born at East Haddam, Conn., Dec. 21, 1736, was of the sixth generation. He married at Cornwall, Conn., May 21, 1761, Christiana "Hamblinton," daughter of Simeon and Sarah (Long) Rust (Nathaniel,<sup>4</sup> Nathaniel,<sup>8</sup> Israel,<sup>2</sup> Henry<sup>1</sup>). (Cornwall Vital Records, p. 40, and Church Records, p. 122.) Whether she was a widow, or obtained the name "Hamblinton" by adoption is not known. She was born at Coventry, Conn., July 31, 1743 (Dimock's Births, Marriages and Deaths in Coventry, Conn., p. 104). She died, according to family records, June 17, 1831, and is said to have been buried in the cemetery near Cornwall Bridge on the road to Kent. The stone has disappeared. John<sup>6</sup> Millard died Nov. 22, 1812 (grave-stone lately standing in cemetery near Cornwall Bridge). In 1757 he was enrolled in Captain Samuel Dunham's Militia Company (Conn. Hist. Soc. Coll., vol. xi, p. 206). A will made April 16, 1801, is in the possession of Mr. Walter P. Millard of New Hamburg, N. Y. A later will was proved at Litchfield, Dec. 8, 1812.

The children of John<sup>6</sup> and Christiana (Rust) Millard recorded at Cornwall, as born there, and named in the will of 1801, were:

- Charles, b. Feb. 19, 1762.
- Rufus, b. Feb. 12, 1764.
- Roswell, b. March 22, 1766.
- Philo, b. April 27, 1768.
- Sarah, b. April 19, 1770.
- Jerusha, b. Feb. 24, 1773.
- Chloe, b. Jan. 10, 1776.
- Diantha, b. March 30, 1778.
- Ira, b. Nov. 12, 1780.
- Russell, b. April 15, 1785.

Charles<sup>7</sup> Millard, the eldest of these children, married Lydia Pride of Poughkeepsie, and from them are descended many of the Millard families of New York City and the Hudson Valley.

Philo<sup>7</sup> Millard, the fourth son of John<sup>6</sup> and Christiana, married (1) Mary Russell, and (2) Olive Lydia, a daughter of Abraham and Lydia (Gillett) Fuller of Kent. A daughter, Olive Lydia, born of the second marriage, married at Kent, Sept. 6, 1826, Augustine Giddings of Great Barrington, Mass. The present writer is her grandson.

28. NOTES ON A HISTORY OF OLD KINDERHOOK, COLLIER.

Page 96. Lambert Jansen Van Alstyne m. about 1682 to Janetjje Mingael; she was bp. in New York, Jan. 18, 1660; her parents were Thomas Janszen Minsar and Marritje Abrahams; see N. Y. Gen. & Biog. Soc. Coll., vol. i, p. 55, Dutch Church, N. Y., Baptisms. The first child of Thomas Janszen (the above couple) was bp. in N. Y., Oct. 1, 1651; see N. Y. Gen. & Biog. Coll., vol. i, p. 30. To assume that Marritje Abrahamsen was the daughter of Abraham Pietersen Vosburgh means that she was married and bore her first child before any of her brothers or her sister were born. See record of the Vosburgh Family, New Netherland Register, No. 8, p. 120. As a matter of fact this was Marritje Abrahamsen (Van Deursen), daughter of Abraham Pietersen (Van Deursen) and Tryntje Melchiors. See Van Deursen Genealogy, vol. 1, p. 8.

Page 98. The progenitor of the Vosburgh family in New Netherland was Abraham Pietersen Vosburgh. See Van Rensselaer-Bowier Manuscripts, p. 840. It is true that Dr. O'Callaghan in the Hist. of New Netherland, vol. i. p. 439, mentions Pieter Jacobsen and wife as settlers in Rensselaerwyck in 1639. But there are no grounds for assuming them to be the parents of Abraham Pietersen Vosburgh, as Prof. Pearson also has done. The Albany County records show that Pieter Jacobse went down the river with 1500 beavers from Beverwyck, June 28, 1657. Prof. Pearson is in error in stating that Jan Andriese, Pieter Jacobse Voosboorg and Kipp Haecker required surities in court, Jan. 25, 1658; see Albany Co. Records, Pearson, p. 247. The original document will be found in Albany County Deeds, Liber 2, p. 145. It is written among some hasty memoranda, chiefly notes of complaints of assault, etc. The name in question is very hurriedly written, and by close comparison with other specimens of the same writing it appears to be Pieter Jacobse borsboom not Voosboorg. The case before the court was for selling brandy to the Indians. For further reference to this case see Court Minutes, 1658-1660, pp. 1, 12, and 23; where in each case the name clearly appears as Borsboom or Bosboom. The foregoing is the only occasion in the Albany records where the name Vosburgh appears following the name Pieter Jacobsen. And this is now proved to be an error in transcription, as can be seen from the original record.

Pieter Jacobse Bosboom, an early Schenectady settler, was a brickmaker and Indian trader; he was several times before the court for cheating the Indians. O'Callaghan, having assumed Pieter Jacobse, the fur trader, to be a Vosburgh, erroneously gives the same occupation to his supposed son, Abraham Pietersen.

The Court Minutes, 1652-1656, contain many references to Abraham Pietersen Vosburgh, a carpenter, surveyor of buildings, bridge builder, and later as an owner with Wynant Gerritsen (Van Der Poel) of a saw mill on Wynants Kill. But never as a fur trader. Abraham Pietersen Vosburgh was killed by the Indians at Esopus, on Sept. 21, 1659. His three sons, Peter (the eldest), Jacob and Isaac, were among the freeholders of the Kinderhook patent.

If there is any documentary evidence to show that Isaac Vosburgh, who married Aug. 1, 1686, Annetje Jans Goes, daughter of Jan Thyse Goes and Steyntje Janse Van Hoesen, was either a carpenter or trader, I have failed to find it in a search covering the past fifteen years. Isaac Vosburgh was still a minor, on Sept. 5, 1676, when his elder brother Pieter sued Jan Thyse Goes, for an assault upon Isaac who had been chasing Jan Thyse's cows.

OBITUARY.

MRS. ANNA PALMER DRAPER.

Mrs. Anna Palmer Draper, a Life Member of this Society, and who contributed a year ago $1,500 to the Building Fund, died December 8th, 1914, at her residence in this city, 271 Madison Avenue. Mrs. Draper was the sister of Courtlandt Palmer, the Founder of the Nineteenth Century Club, who died in 1888. Her husband, Prof. Henry Draper, whom she married in 1867, was a noted astronomer, and she worked with him in his observatory for many years, becoming proficient in astronomy. She gave to the Harvard Observatory the 11-inch telescope used by her husband. The Draper Memorial was also one of her gifts, costing more than $100,000, and comprised part of the Harvard Observatory. It contains the spectra of more than 10,000 stars, and the catalogue, known as the Draper Catalogue, is regarded as an authority the world over. In 1898 Mrs. Draper was appointed a member of one of the Visiting Committees of Harvard University.

Her great-grandfather was Capt. Amos Palmer, who took a prominent part in the defense of Stonington, Conn., when that town was bombarded by the British in 1814. Her grandfather, Courtlandt Palmer, was a prominent merchant in New York in the early part of the nineteenth century. Mrs. Draper was acquainted with scientific and literary men in all parts of the United States, and for many years had gatherings at her home on Madison Avenue, which were unique in the history of the United States. The Emperor Don Pedro, of Brazil, was entertained by Prof. and Mrs. Draper when he visited this country. Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman, Gen. Francis A. Walker, the President of the Massachusetts School of Technology, and others equally prominent, were frequent guests at her home during the past 30 or 40 years. Her estate in the country was on the Hudson at Dobbs Ferry. Mrs. Draper's death is a conspicuous loss to the city and to the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society.

SOCIETY PROCEEDINGS.

REGULAR MEETING, JANUARY 8th, 1915.

Meeting called to order at 4:00 o'clock, President Clarence Winthrop Bowen in the Chair.

Mr. Bowen introduced the Hon. Chauncey Mitchell Depew, who addressed the Society on "The Present War in Europe: Its Causes and Impressions."

At the end of Mr. Depew's address Mr. Bowen introduced the Hon. Joseph Hodges Choate, who had been invited by the Trustees to apprise Mr. Depew of his election by the Trustees as an Honorary Member of the Society.

At the close of Mr. Choate's address Mr. Henry Parsons moved that a vote of thanks be tendered to both speakers, which was seconded by Capt. Richard Henry Greene.

The meeting then adjourned.

FORTY-FOURTH ANNUAL MEETING, JANUARY 8th, 1915.

The President, Clarence Winthrop Bowen, in the Chair.

The minutes of the last Annual Meeting, held on January 9th, 1914, were read for information and on motion approved.

Announcement was made that Thomas Whittaker, Life Member, died Christmas Day, Dec. 25, 1915, aged 73.

The following new members have been elected: Mrs. James Herman Aldrich, 150 West 59th Street, City, Life Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; McDougall Hawkes, 8 East 59th Street, City, Life Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; Gustav Maurits Ernfrid Lind, 200 West 72nd Street, City, Annual Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; Henry Suydam Reynolds, 950 Madison Avenue, City, Annual Member, proposed by Abraham Hatfield, Jr.; Mrs. Charles Edwin Sherman, Lawrence, Long Island, N. Y., Annual Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; Rev. Ernest Milmore Stires, 3 West 53rd Street, City, Annual Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen.

The Annual Reports of Officers and Committees being next in order, the Secretary, Mr. Henry Russell Drowne, reported as follows:

Our membership now consists of 6 Honorary, 153 Life and 341 Annual Members, being a gain of 44 for the year, and in addition thereto we have 104 Corresponding Members.

The lapses in membership for the year were 24 died, 17 resigned and 5 dropped.

Seven meetings of the Society have been held on which occasions the hall was often crowded to its fullest capacity.

The more important transactions of the Board of Trustees were as follows, viz:

Annual Election of Officers, Committees, etc., on January 13th, 1914.

The election as Life Members of such persons who not being members had subscribed One Hundred Dollars or more to the Building Fund as a recognition of their interest in the objects of the Society and the enrollment as Benefactors of J. Pierpont Morgan and John Davidson Rockefeller.

As Patron: Mrs. Frederick Ferris Thompson.

As Donors: James Junius Goodwin, Clarence Winthrop Bowen, Mrs. Henry Draper, William Ross Proctor, Miss Emily Frances Southmayd, Miss Annie Burr Jennings, William Isaac Walker, Andrew Carnegie, Charles Deering, Charles William Harkness, Edward Stephen Harkness, Mrs. E. Henry Harriman, William Rockefeller, and Mrs. Russell Sage.

Messrs. William Ross Proctor and Walter Geer have been elected Trustees to fill the vacancies caused by the death of Gen. James Grant Wilson and the resignation of Mr. Howland Pell.

The resignation of Prof. Frank Dempster Sherman as Registrar of Pedigrees, has been accepted.

On motion report was received and ordered on file.

The Treasurer, Mr. Hopper Striker Mott, presented his Annual Report, a printed copy of which will be attached to the minutes of this meeting. He showed the Society free from debt with a cash balance for general purposes on hand of $824.20.

The assets of the Society from various sources are valued at $140,450.70. Liabilities none.

It was duly moved and seconded that the report be received and ordered on file.

Mr. Abraham Hatfield, Jr., Chairman of the Executive Committee, reported that the Society had received from Room Rents $1,316.00, being $150.00 less than in 1913. The Lecture Hall was used 53 times, bringing in $405.00, which was $31.00 less than in 1913. The building has been kept in good repair. The total receipts for general purposes were $12,546.03.

The Society has outstanding Bills Receivable amounting to $896.00 and unpaid bills $176.67.

The transactions on Church Records for 1914 show a net expense of only $331.14.

We have added ten volumes to our Collection of Church Records and have ten additional volumes which are for sale at an average price of about $75.00 each.

The subscriptions to THE RECORD were 606 as compared with 576 for 1913. On motion report was received and ordered on file.

Mr. Hatfield, as Librarian, reported accessions of 339 bound volumes, an increase of one over 1913. That 206 volumes were donated, 133 added by purchase and exchange, 382 pamphlets, 89 manuscripts, making total accessions from all sources of 810 as compared with 822 for 1913.

The Library now consists of about 9,100 bound volumes and 5,400 manuscripts, pamphlets, etc. The Library attendance for the year was 1,373.

On motion report was received and ordered on file.

The Necrologist, Mr. Winchester Fitch, reported the death of three Corresponding Members: Livingston Crofts, Rev. William Durant and Hon. Alonzo Rex Fuller. Eight Life Members: Mrs. Henry Draper, Richard Hockman Handley, William Nelson, Mrs. William Hunt Perry, Mrs. Sylvanus Reed, Rev. William Jones Skillman, Gen. James Grant Wilson and Gen. Edward Francis Winslow. Thirteen Annual Members: Lemuel Bolton Bangs, M.D., Lucas Brodhead, Mrs. Morris Ketchum Jesup, Mrs. James Marcus King, James Henry Lea, Mrs. Katharine Searle McCartney, John Edward Marsh, Samuel Dayton Pierson, Isaac Parish Smith, Harry Dugan Spears, Warner Van Norden, Mrs. Alice Dean Ward and Col. Walter Phelps Warren.

Mr. Hopper Striker Mott, Chairman of the Publication Committee, made a verbal report, calling attention particularly to THE RECORD, and that the long continued Thacher-Thatcher articles had been the source of increased income, further that the new department devoted to Corrections and Additions had brought forth material from all over the country. He stated that THE RECORD now paid its own way, and was a dignified publication, fully equal if not superior to any other similar Society magazine.

The report of the Archivist, Mr. Royden Woodward Vosburgh, was read giving a list of the many church records which had been copied during the year, which when transcribed, amounted to a grand total of 2300 pages with 200 pages of introductory and historical matter.

He called attention to the fact that while the plan of the work was to copy only records up to 1800, all records prior to 1850 would be copied. Additional records from Schoharie, Troy and Lansingburgh are now in preparation.

On motion report was received and ordered on file.

The report of the Chairman of the Research Committee and Historian, Dr. William Austin Macy, was read.

He mentioned the addition of Mr. Henry Cady and Miss Florence E. Carr as Corresponding Members, and Miss Nettie Barnum Eells to the Research Committee, and stated that the manuscript additions during the year had been fully set forth in the issues of THE RECORD. He called attention at some length to the study of eugenics as adding so much to the knowledge of mankind and stated that all inquiries made of the Historian had been answered as promptly as possible.

On motion report was received and ordered on file.

The report of the Chairman of the Committee on Heraldry, Mr. Charles Pryor, was read. He stated that the usual notices had been sent out during the year, but with no results as yet, but that he hoped we might yet hear from some of our members, for the Armorial Ensign ought to be to the family what the National Flag is to a nation.

The report of the Nominating Committee being next in order, the Chairman, Mr. Henry Parsons, presented the names of the following five candidates for term 1915-1918:

Thomas Townsend Sherman.
William Ross Proctor.
Abraham Hatfield, Jr.
William Isaac Walker.
Tobias Alexander Wright.

On motion report was received.

It was duly moved and seconded that nominations be closed and that the Chair appoint Tellers.

The Chairman appointed Messrs. Charles Keeler Winslow and George Horace Perkins as Tellers.

In the interim President Bowen made a few remarks, stating that additional moneys collected for the Building Fund had been sufficient to purchase an additional bond, and that those previously purchased now showed a profit of about $700.00; that the question of securing a new location for the Society was receiving very serious consideration, and that several sites had been suggested and were being carefully investigated. He congratulated the Society on the fact that all the subscriptions to the Building Fund had been collected and the money was safely invested.

The Report of the Tellers being next in order, they reported that 99 votes had been cast, of which 77 were by proxy, and that 19 unstamped proxies had been rejected, all for the Regular Ticket.

The President declared the candidates duly elected as Trustees to serve for the term 1915-1918.

Mrs. Levi Holbrook spoke as to the advantages of having the Library open on Monday evenings as of old, instead of on Sunday afternoons, and moved that the Board of Trustees be requested to change the Sunday afternoon opening to Monday evening. This was duly seconded and carried unanimously.

On motion adjourned.

SPECIAL MEETING, JANUARY 29th, 1915.

The President, Clarence Winthrop Bowen, in the Chair.

The Board of Trustees reported that at the meeting of the Board, held on January 12th, 1915, the following officers were elected for the year 1915, viz:

Mr. Bowen then announced that since the last meeting of the Society the following deaths had been recorded, viz: John Edward Parsons, Life Member, died January 16, 1915, in his 86th year; George Clinton Batcheller, Annual Member, died January 25, 1915, in his 81st year; John Denison Champlin, Annual Member, died January 8th, 1915, in his 81st year.

The Executive Committee reported the election of the following new members, viz: Mrs. Richmond Mayo-Smith, 305 West 77th Street, City, Life Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; John Denison Champlin, Jr., 201 West 78th Street, City, Annual Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; Joseph P. Day, 34 Gramercy Park, City, Annual Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; Mrs. Joseph C. Hoagland, 640 Park Avenue, City, Annual Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; Edwin Scott Matthews, 117 West 58th Street, City, Annual Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; Miss Caroline Lucy Morgan, 521 Park Avenue, City, Annual Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; Edward Codman Parish, 52 Wall Street, City, Annual Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; William Macklenberg Polk, M.D., 310 Fifth Avenue, City, Annual Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; Alfred Tuckerman, 58 Kay Street, Newport, R. I., Annual Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; John Griswold Webb, 109 Orchard Place, Ithaca, N. Y., Annual Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; Miss Julia Chester Wells, 30 West 31st Street, City, Annual Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen.

Mr. Bowen announced the selection of a site on East 58th Street, between Park and Lexington Avenues, for the new building, which he felt sure would be heartily approved.

The lecturer of the evening was then introduced:

Mr. William Webster Ellsworth, President of the Century Company, read a paper entitled "The Making of Europe; How Wars have changed the Map," which was illustrated by the stereopticon with Maps and Pictures in Color, Portraits, Documents, etc.

At the close of Mr. Ellsworth's lecture Mr. Henry Parsons, with a feeling of personal indebtedness, moved the thanks of the assembly to the speaker for his very instructive address.

Mr. Josiah Collins Pumpelly seconded the motion.

Mr. Francis Lynde Stetson made remarks regarding the graphic presentation of warfare in Europe and hoped that hereafter Peace would have its Victory.

General Asa Bird Gardiner said a few words on the subject of violation of treaties and that Peace would only be permanent when these violations were punished.

Mr. Charles Gifford Finney Wilcox spoke on universal justice as the solution for universal Peace.

Vote of thanks was unanimously carried.

The Chairman announced the regular meeting on February 12th, stating that the Speaker would be Hon. Simeon E. Baldwin, LL.D., ex-Governor of the State of Connecticut, who would read a lecture on the Hartford Convention; and in March, George Francis Dow, Secretary of The Essex Institute, Salem, Mass., would address the Society on "Life on a New England Farm a Century Ago." In April Rear Admiral William S. Cowles, United States Navy, would lecture on "The Navy of the United States," and in May the Speaker would be William Milligan Sloane, LL.D., Vice-President of the New York Historical Society and Professor of History in Columbia University, on "The Battle of Princeton."

The meeting then adjourned.

REGULAR MEETING, FEBRUARY 12th, 1915.

The President, Clarence Winthrop Bowen, presided.

Mr. Bowen appointed Robert S. Swords as Secretary of the meeting and then made the following statement:

One of the special objects of calling this meeting was for the purpose of allowing the Society to vote upon the changing of the date of the Annual Meeting of the Society from the second Friday in January each year to the second Friday in February.

The Board of Trustees deem it necessary to make this change in the date of the Annual Meeting in order to allow the Treasurer ample time to make his Annual Report after the closing of the books on December 31st of the preceding year and for other necessary administrative reasons.

Capt. Richard Henry Greene offered the following resolution, viz:

RESOLVED, That the time of holding the Annual Meeting of this Society and Corporation be and is hereby changed from the second Friday of January to the second Friday of February, and that the President and Secretary of this meeting make, verify and file the necessary certificate of this change as required by law.

This resolution was seconded by Mr. James Benedict and was unanimously carried.

Mr. Bowen then announced that since the last meeting of the Society the following deaths had been recorded, viz: Edward Livingston Ludlow, Life Member, died February 11th, 1915, in his 80th year; Norman Bruce Ream, Life Member, died February 9th, 1915, in his 71st year; James Congdell Fargo, Annual Member, died February 8th, 1915, in his 86th year.

Also that the following name had been restored to the membership roll of Annual Members, viz: John Buckley Pine, and that Edward H. Leggett, Attorney-General State of New York, Albany, N. Y., had been made a corresponding member, to represent the State of New York.

The following new members of the Society had been duly elected, viz: Frederick Augustus Schermerhorn, 101 University Place, City, Life Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; Mrs. William Adams Brown, 114 East 30th Street, City, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; Samuel Edson Gage, 28 East 49th Street, City, Annual Member, proposed by Lawrence Bogert Elliman; George Corson Heilner, 11 East 77th Street, City, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; Miss Helen Kenyon, Clifdale, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Annual Member, proposed by John Reynolds Totten; Mrs. Franklyn Hallett Lovell, 37 Madison Avenue, City, Annual Member, proposed by John Reynolds Totten; William Alexander Nash, 19 West 73rd Street, City, Annual Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; Miss Mary Van Buren Vanderpoel, 30 East 53rd Street, City, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen.

Mr. Bowen then introduced the Hon. Simeon E. Baldwin, LL.D., ex-Governor of the State of Connecticut, who delivered a lecture entitled "The Hartford Convention."

At the close of the lecture Capt. Richard Henry Greene, Yale University, Class of 1861 and 1862, moved a vote of thanks to Governor Baldwin. The motion was seconded by Rev. Richard C. Morse, Yale University, Class of 1862, a nephew of Prof. Morse, the inventor of the Telegraph, and a grandson of Rev. Dr. Jedediah Morse, the geographer. As Governor Baldwin graduated from Yale, Class of 1861, these three gentlemen were in college together.

The meeting then adjourned.

REGULAR MEETING, MARCH 12TH, 1915.

The meeting was called to order at 8.40 P. M., the President, Mr. Bowen, in the Chair.

Since the last meeting of the Society the following death has been recorded, viz: Ethan Allen Doty, Life Member, died March 10, 1915, aged 78 years.

The Executive Committee reported the following members had been elected: Mrs. Charles Stewart Smith, 25 West 47th Street, City, Life Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; Mrs. Eleanor M. Bamford, 204 West 94th Street, City, Annual Member, proposed by John R. Totten; Mrs. George Clinton Batcheller, 23 West 72nd Street, Annual Member, City, proposed by Hopper Striker Mott; T. Waln-Morgan Draper, 106 West 13th Street, City, Annual Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; Thomas William Lamont, 23 Wall Street, City, Annual Member, proposed by Clarence Winthrop Bowen; Miss Jane Parsons, Troy, Penn., Annual Member, proposed by Henry Parsons.

The Board of Trustees reported the election of Mrs. Dora P. Worden of Ithaca, N. Y., as a Corresponding Member and a member of the Research Committee.

Mr. Bowen then introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. George Francis Dow, Secretary of the Essex Institute, Salem, Mass., who spoke on the subject "Life on a New England Farm a Century Ago."

At the close of Mr. Dow's address, Capt. Richard Henry Greene moved a vote of thanks and made some interesting remarks in regard to his visits to Essex. Motion was seconded by Mr. Dwight Brainard Baker.

On motion meeting adjourned.

KNICKERBOCKER.—The State Historical Society of Wisconsin at Madison having requested enlightenment on the use of the term "Knickerbocker," the result of investigation proves that it applies to such residents of New Netherland as arrived before the English gained possession. It would accordingly apply to families who were here prior to 1664 and might with justice extend to 1674 when the final transfer was effected.

Washington Irving hit upon this name when he decided to announce the publication of his facetious History of New York, in which, to quote his words, he "opened a vein of pleasant associations and quaint characteristics peculiar to my native place." The name first appeared in an advertisement in the New York Evening Post, Oct. 26, 1809, which asked the whereabouts of "a small elderly gentleman, dressed in an old black coat and cocked hat, by the name of Knickerbocker," who had left his lodgings in a hotel on Mulberry Street sometime since. The same paper, Nov. 28, announced the discovery in his room of "a very curious kind of a written book" and that the work would be published in order to discharge certain debts he had left behind.

The American Citizen of Dec. 6 stated that the book would be issued that day. With this happy method of inciting public curiosity the history made its appearance.

Some years later the author returned to New York and in an "Apology" he justified the work as a parody which was intended to burlesque the pedantic lore displayed in certain American works, but added: "When I find, after a lapse of nearly forty years, this haphazard production of my youth still cherished among them [the descendants of the Dutch worthies]—when I find its very name become a 'household word' and used to give the home stamp to everything recommended for popular acceptance, such as Knickerbocker societies, Knickerbocker insurance companies, Knickerbocker steamboats, Knickerbocker omnibuses, Knickerbocker bread and Knickerbocker ice—and when I find New Yorkers of Dutch descent priding themselves upon being 'genuine Knickerbockers'—I please myself with the persuasion that I have struck the right chord." And so it has come to pass that the original settlers have received a designation of which, when living, they were not cognizant and their descendants a name with which to conjure.

The word is derived from "Knikker," which stands for "marble" pure and simple—a marble such as boys play with, and "bakker," a baker. There was a Knickerbocker family which settled in New York State prior to 1683, the particulars of which can be found in Vols. 39 and 40 of the N. Y. G. & B. Record. It is related that one of the name was a great friend of Irving, and after his death his personality so impressed the writer that for sentimental reasons it was chosen as representative of the early settlers.

CITY FLAG AND SEAL.—The Art Commission has presented to the Board of Alderman of the City a design for a city official flag based upon the United Netherlands tricolor (orange, white and blue), charged with the city seal on the center or white bar.

The said colors in the United Netherlands flag adopted in 1582 at the suggestion of William, first Prince of Nassau and Orange, were arranged in three equal horizontal stripes and not in perpendicular stripes, with the blue nearest the staff as proposed; again, the orange was not the last of the perpendicular colors, but "Orange Boven" with the orange color at the top. We submit that if a change is made it should be historically accurate.

The proposed arms thereon was not adopted on the date inscribed below, for the American Eagle at the top was unknown in 1664, but was added in place of the crown theretofore used as a crest, in September, 1784. The date should be omitted or made correct and if any change in the color be determined upon the arrangement should be as originally adopted by the United Netherlands, with the New York seal upon the white bar above the blue.

RICHARD HENRY GREENE, 235 Central Park West.

BOOK REVIEWS.

BY JOHN R. TOTTEN.

EDITORIAL NOTE:—The New York Genealogical and Biographical Society solicits as donations to its Library all newly published works on Genealogy, History and Biography, as well as all works on Town, County and State History, or works embodying information regarding the Vital Records of any and all localities. It also solicits the donation to the manuscript collections of its library any and all manuscript compilations which bear upon the above mentioned topics.

In consideration of such donations the works so presented to the Society will be at once placed upon the shelves of its library and will be reviewed in the next subsequent issue of THE NEW YORK GENEALOGICAL AND BIOGRAPHICAL RECORD, each donation of such character, whether in printed or manuscript form, will be reviewed under the head of "Book Notices" and a copy of THE RECORD containing the review will be sent to the donor.

The Society does not solicit donations of publications or manuscripts on topics foreign to the above mentioned subjects, as its library is specialized and cannot accommodate material which does not bear directly upon its recognized sphere of usefulness.

Donations for review in the January issue of THE RECORD should be delivered to the Society before December 1st of the previous year; for the April issue, before March 1st; for the July issue, before June 1st; and for the October issue, before September 1st.

All donations will be generously reviewed with a view of calling the attention of the public to their good points; but, while generous, the reviews will contain such proper criticism as the interest of the genealogical student would expect from the editorial staff of THE RECORD.

The "Book Notices" of THE RECORD are carefully read by all librarians as well as genealogical students, and the review of a work in THE RECORD is equivalent to a special advertisement of such work.

Letters of transmittal of donations of such works should embody the price of the work donated and the name and address of the person from whom it can be purchased.

MORRILL KINDRED IN AMERICA. An account of the Descendants of Abraham Morrill of Salisbury, Mass., 1632-1662, through his eldest son, Isaac Morrill, 1640-1713, by Annie Morrill Smith. The Lyons Genealogical Company, New York, 1914. 8vo, cloth, pp. 144, including index, illustrated. Price, $3.00, postpaid. Address compiler, 78 Orange Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

An excellent compilation containing valuable genealogical information concerning Abraham<sup>1</sup> Morrill and his descendants to the 8th generation inclusive. It is recommended to all Genealogical Libraries.

(In reviewing this book in the January, 1915, issue of the RECORD, we erroneously stated that the price was $2.00. The price is as above stated, $3.00.)

A WALLOON FAMILY IN AMERICA, Lockwood de Forest and his Forbears, 1500-1848, together with a Voyage to Guiana, being the Journal of Jesse de Forest, 1623-1625, by Mrs. Robert W. de Forest. 8vo, art paper binding, 2 volumes, pp. 314+391, including index in 2nd volume, profusely illustrated with portraits, scenes and maps; copyrighted. Published by Houghton, Mifflin Co. Price, $5.00, postpaid. Address: Publishers, No. 16 East 40th Street, New York City.

These richly constructed volumes present in most attractive form the fortunes of a sturdy and prosperous family from sixteenth century France to nineteenth century America. The careers of some of its important members are set forth with an admirable sense of the life of bygone days, and the book has considerable historical importance as well as every-day interest.

Of special interest is the Journal of Jesse de Forest and his colonists, recently found in the British Museum, telling of a colonizing voyage to Guiana in the seventeenth century under the auspices of the West India Company. The Journal entire in the original French, and translated into English, is herein published. Another important figure is Lockwood de Forest (1775-1848), a leading merchant of Connecticut and New York, and the center of a long and bitter church trial.

It is the appendix to the 2nd volume that contains the genealogical and other vital records that will render the work of great value to genealogists. These volumes are heartily recommended to all historical and genealogical libraries.

THE SAMPSON FAMILY, by Lilla Briggs Sampson. 8vo, cloth, pp. 238, including index, with charts and illustrations; copyrighted 1914 by author. Waverly Press of Baltimore, 1914. Price, $3.00. Address: author, Broadway and 29th Street, Flushing, L. I., N. Y.

This most creditable work is replete with valuable information on the Sampson Family presented in narrative form and bound together genealogically by charts. It contains notes on the Sampson Family in England, Scotland and Ireland and in the United States in the particular States of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Virginia and Maryland. Recommended to all Genealogical Libraries.

FACTS RELATING TO THE HISTORY OF GROTON, MASS., by Samuel Abbott Green. Vol. II. 8vo, cloth, pp. 215, including index. Groton, 1914. Price, $2.50. Address: George E. Littlefield, 67 Cornhill, Boston, Mass.

The first volume of this work is entitled "The Natural History and Topography of Groton." Like all of the author's writings, the volume is characterized by a painstaking accuracy of statement which will render it an authority on Groton history. This volume is made up largely of biographical and genealogical articles and will be welcomed to the shelves of all historical and genealogical libraries.

NOTES ON THE TUCKERMAN FAMILY OF MASSACHUSETTS AND SOME ALLIED FAMILIES, by Bayard Tuckerman. 8vo, art paper binding, pp. 263, including index, illustrated. Limited edition of 60 copies on hand-made linen paper; copyrighted, 1914. Riverside Press, Cambridge, Mass. Address: Bayard Tuckerman, 59 Wall Street, New York City.

This artistically presented volume contains the annals of the Massachusetts Tuckerman Family in America up to and including the 6th generation, with notes on the allied families of Wolcott and Gibbs. It is a notable addition to the genealogical publications of the year and will be welcomed by those of the blood and by genealogists in general. The work is enriched by illustrations of marked artistic merit. We congratulate ourselves in having been presented with this rare and beautiful volume.

OUR PLYMOUTH, FOREFATHERS, The Real Founders of Our Republic, by Charles Stedman Hanks. 8vo, cloth, pp. 339, index, illustrated. Price not stated. Address: author, Seacroft, Manchester-by-the-Sea, Mass., or publishers, The Page Co., 53 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass.

Here the story of the Pilgrims is told in a most interesting narrative form and from a genealogical standpoint will be welcomed as throwing light on the history and atmosphere of those times. Recommended to all historical and general reference libraries.

BRACE LINEAGE, by J. Sherman Brace, M.E., Counsellor at Law and Member of the Wyoming Historical Society. 8vo, cloth, pp. 54+1, with index. Limited edition of 100 numbered copies. Published by George E. Elwell & Son, Bloomsburg, Pa. Price, $2.50. Address: author, Bloomsburg, Pa.

This genealogical essay gives the record of Stephen Brace, who died in 1692 in Hartford, Conn., and of certain of his descendants, together with an introduction which sketches outlines of the family history from the conquest in 1066 to the settlement of the family in Hartford, Conn., in 1660. It is a careful and satisfactory compilation and is recommended to all genealogical libraries.

FOX FAMILY NEWS, Vol. III, 1914. 8vo, cloth, pp. 28. Edited by Howard Fox, M.D., 616 Madison Avenue, New York City, 1914. No price stated.

This is the third volume of the published collections of the Society of the Descendants of Norman Fox and adds to the material already published which will, we hope, stimulate the Society to in the future publishing of an exhaustive Fox Family Genealogy. This series of volumes should find its way to all genealogical libraries.

IN MEMORIAM OF WILLIAM THURSTON PARKER, JR., B.S. Beloved son of William Thurston and Elizabeth (Stebbins) Parker, January 3rd, 1876—June 7, 1900. 8vo, cloth, pp. 131, illustrated. No price stated. Address: Dr. W. Thornton Parker, Valley View, 65 Columbus Avenue, Northampton, Mass.

A beautiful tribute to a departed loved one; and while mainly biographical in its character, yet contains much of interest to the genealogist.

LOWER NORFOLK COUNTY AND NORFOLK COUNTY (VIRGINIA) WILLS, 1637-1710, by Charles Fleming McIntosh, of Norfolk, Va. 8vo, cloth, pp. 222, including index. Published by the Colonial Dames of America in the State of Virginia. 1914. Price not stated. Address: Society of Colonial Dames, 609 West Grace Street, Richmond, Va.

This is a most valuable work and will be found a great aid to genealogists searching in that part of Virginia. There are two wills therein recorded giving clues to Long Island, N. Y., and to Rhode Island connections, viz.: that of Francis Finch and that of George Bradley relative to family history in that section of the country. Recommended to all genealogical libraries. Mr. McIntosh, the compiler, is an authority on Virginia genealogy and has solved many difficult problems.

FULLER GENEALOGY, Vol. III. Some Descendants of Capt. Matthew Fuller, John Fuller of Newton, John Fuller of Lynn, John Fuller of Ipswich, Robert Fuller of Dorchester and Dedham, Mass., to which is added Supplements to Vol. I, Fuller Genealogy, some descendants of Edward Fuller of the Mayflower; and to Vol. II some descendants of Dr. Samuel Fuller of the Mayflower (which volumes I and II were previously published), compiled by William Hyslop Fuller, of 23 School Street, Palmer, Mass. 8vo, cloth, pp. 325, illustrated. Price of Vols. I, II and III $5.00 each, postpaid. Address: compiler.

This third volume of this excellent series brings the genealogy of this well-known American family well up to date. Like its predecessors, Vols. I and II, it is of first-class merit and renders the material on this family practically complete to date. The author is to be congratulated on the completion of an arduous task and deserves the gratitude of those of the blood and name. Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

GENEALOGY OF THE FISHBACK FAMILY IN AMERICA, the Descendants of John Fishback, the Emigrant, with an historical sketch of his family and of the Colony at Germanna and Germantown, Virginia, 1714-1914, compiled and edited by Willis Miller Kemper, of Cincinnati. 8vo, cloth, pp. 350, including index, illustrated. Price $4.00. Address: Publisher, Thomas Madison Taylor, 12 West 44th Street, New York City. 1914.

A most creditable contribution to the genealogical record of this American family of German origin. Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

THE GREENWOOD GENEALOGIES, 1154-1914. The Ancestry and Descendants of Thomas Greenwood of Newton, Mass.; Nathaniel and Samuel Greenwood of Boston, Mass.; John Greenwood of Virginia, and many later arrivals in America. Also the early history of the Greenwoods in England and the arms they used, by Frederick Greenwood of East Templeton, Mass. 8vo, cloth, pp. 546, including copious indices and some 40 illustrations of family interest. Limited edition of 300 copies. Price, $10.00 in advance. Address: author at East Templeton, Mass. Lyons Genealogical Co., Publishers, New York. 1914. Copyrighted.

A first-class genealogical work constructed along standard genealogical lines and will be welcomed by all of the name and blood in this country. Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

paper cover, 50 cents; cloth, $1.50; full soft leather, $3.00. Address: Charles N. Page, 2940 Kingman Blvd., Des Moines, Ia.

An excellent contribution to the history and genealogy of this family in America and should be found in all genealogical libraries.

HISTORY OF DE KALB COUNTY, TENN., by Will T. Hale. 8vo, cloth, pp. 254. Table of contents, no index, illustrated. Price $1.00. Address: Publisher, Paul Hunter, 401 Church Street, Nashville, Tenn.

An excellent narrative history of this county. It contains lists of the names of soldiers of the Revolutionary War buried there and of the Veterans of the War of 1812 and Mexican War and also rolls of those of the county who served in the Civil War on Federal and Confederate sides. Recommended to all historical and genealogical libraries.

POLITICAL HISTORY OF THE SECESSION to the Beginning of the Civil War, by Daniel Wait Howe, President of the Indiana Historical Society. 8vo, cloth, pp. 649, including index. The Knickerbocker Press, G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York and London, 1914. Price $3.50. Address: author, Rooms 3-5, Union Trust Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind., or the publishers, New York City.

The author traces the causes, of which slavery was the chief, but by no means the only one, that led to the Civil War. It is an important contribution to the history of a momentous period. The author has arrayed his facts in such a way as to give them a new interest, and to enable the reader to understand the issues and the attempted compromises that antedated the final outbreak. Though a descendant of old Massachusetts stock and a veteran of the Union side of the Civil War, the author has presented his subject with the impartiality of the true historian. Recommended to all historical and general reference libraries.

LIEUT.-COLONEL MOSES PARKER, 27th Regt. of Foot of the Continental Army, by Captain William Thornton Parker, M.D., Son of the American Revolution. 8vo, paper, pp. 20. Published 1914. Address: author, 63 Columbus Avenue, Northampton, Mass. Price, 50 cents, postpaid.

GREAT GRANDFATHER'S CLOCK, at the Old Parker Homestead, Bradford, Mass., A.D. 1760, by William Thornton Parker, M.D. 8vo, paper, pp. 10, illustrated. Price 35 cents. Address: author, 63 Columbus Avenue, Northampton, Mass.

Both of these pamphlets are of great genealogical interest to those of Parker lineage and as such are heartily recommended to genealogical libraries.

JOHN FRENCH, JR., OF TAUNTON, BERKLEY, MIDDLEBORO AND OAKHAM, MASS., and his Descendants, by Henry B. Wright, Secretary of the Oakham, Mass., Historical Society. 8vo, paper, pp. 33+, index, illustrated, and list of officers and members of the Oakham, Mass., Historical Society. Price not stated. Address: Henry B. Wright, 20 Livingston Street, New Haven, Conn.

A most satisfactory compilation bearing all evidence of accuracy of statement and constructed along standard genealogical lines. Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

ANDREWS GENEALOGY, Ancestry of Henry L. and John C. Andrews, Woburn, Mass. Pamphlet, 8vo, pp. 19, second edition, 1914. Price not stated. Address: H. L. Andrews, 397 Main Street, Woburn, Mass.

A creditable contribution to the genealogical record of this family in America. Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

MAJOR THOMAS SAVAGE OF BOSTON AND HIS DESCENDANTS, by Lawrence Park, Esq., of Groton, Mass. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 78, illustrated, including an excellent index. Price $2.25. Address: author, at Groton, Mass.

This work is a reprint of the excellent articles which have recently appeared in the New England Historic Genealogical Register, and it is moreover enriched by the addition of some 18 portrait illustrations which did not form a part of the articles as they appeared in the Register. For painstaking care and accuracy of statement, this compilation cannot be excelled, and it should be secured by all of the name and blood<sup>1</sup> and by all genealogical libraries.

BETHANY (CONN.) SKETCHES AND RECORDS, compiled and published by W. C. Sharpe, Editor of the Seymour Connecticut Record. 1908. 8vo, 2 parts. Part I, cloth, pp. 1-132; Part II, paper, pp. 133-188. Address: author, Seymour Record, Seymour, Conn. Price for both, $2.60.

A valuable historical work which is rendered very useful to genealogists by the section of some 258 pages devoted to biographical sketches. Recommended to genealogical and historical libraries.

A HISTORY OF OLD KINDERHOOK, from the aboriginal days to the present time, including the story of the early settlers, etc. By Edward A. Collier, D.D. 8vo, cloth, pp. xiv, 572, with 100 illustrations and 3 maps. Price $5.00. G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York, or the author at Kinderhook, N. Y.

The author has spent the past seven years in the preparation of this work, the inception of which began over 50 years ago, when he was called to the pastorate of the Reformed Church at Kinderhook. As a history of one of the oldest Dutch settlements in the Hudson valley, one that was settled independently between the two Manors, and which retains to-day its original name, this volume cannot fail to be recognized as a valuable addition to the local history of the State. Dr. Collier's thorough and systematic research through a complex and varied mass of sources of information has enabled him to present clearly an exhaustive study of the subject. The chapter on land titles and litigation, with the maps and the documents printed in the Appendix, drawn principally from the originals at Albany, will be found to be of great value in bringing to light additional clues as to the relationship and ancestry of the early Kinderhook settlers. In the chapter devoted to the sketches of the first Patentees and Freholders of Kinderhook, the author would have attained more accuracy, if he had quoted less from O'Callaghan and Prof. Pearson, and had drawn more from the Van Rensselaer Bowier Manuscripts and the Index of Albany County Grantors and Grantees. In this chapter we find a list of Communicants, 1716 to 1730, and Marriages, 1717 to 1734, from the Kinderhook church record; a list of contributors to the salary of the Rev. J. Van Driessen, 1729; and what is still more valuable, a list of taxpayers, 1744, the original of which was destroyed in the fire at the State Capitol. In the succeeding chapters the author has treated in a style both interesting and attractive, the usual topics which make up a local history, such as traditions, reminiscences, gleanings from newspapers, biographical sketches and data pertaining to civil, social, political and religious life. Particularly delightful is the chapter devoted to old homesteads and their people, which contains much genealogical information. The beautiful illustrations of the homesteads with which the book abounds, form a strong bond between the past and the present, and will add materially to the value of the book for all descendants of the old Kinderhook families. Only a few pages are occupied by the index, which can scarcely be called more than index of topics discussed in the various chapters. This may call for criticism from "he who runs and reads," but scarcely from those who have more than a passing interest in the subject. The inadequate index urges a careful reading from page to page, lest some long sought for information may be overlooked, and in this respect the reviewer at least is well satisfied with the index as it is.

While some parts of the book, mostly extracts from documentary data, would ordinarily be considered as "dry reading," if compiled in the usual manner, Dr. Collier has even there succeeded in interspersing little flashes of wit and humor, which not only do not detract from the historical nature of the subject at hand, but also serve to entertain the reader. As an illustration, in speaking of the numerous Van Alen deeds, he says: "The Index leads us to suspect that when any of the nine children of Lawrence Van Alen had a family party title deeds were passed instead of cake." The citizens of Kinderhook and those who claim the right of citizenship as descendants of the early settlers, may justly feel proud of their local history, and all should join in congratulating Dr. Collier, who has lived among them for fifty years, in having brought to successful completion an exhaustive compilation, which is stamped on every page with the sterling mark of excellence.

THE NEW YORK Genealogical and Biographical Record.

NEW YORK, JULY, 1915.

No. 3

JAMES CONGDELL FARGO.

CONTRIBUTED BY WILLIAM CONGDELL FARGO,
Member of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society.

James C. Fargo, the dean of all officials who had spent a lifetime in the Express business, and who was President of the American Express Company from 1881 until June, 1914—a period of thirty-three years—died at his residence, 56 Park Avenue, New York City, February 8th, 1915, in his 86th year.

The funeral services were held at St. Barnabas' Church, Irvington-on-the Hudson, N. Y., February 10th, with interment at Sleepy Hollow Cemetery, Tarrytown, N. Y., the obsequies being attended by many prominent express and railroad officials. An impressive tribute of respect was the stoppage of all business by the American Express Company and its employes, in pursuance of a general order issued by President George C. Taylor. On the stroke of 12 noon, February 10, throughout the Company's territory, not a package or wagon was moved, for a period of five minutes, and every employe revered, by silence, the memory of the great departed expressman.

In speaking of Mr. Fargo's death, Dr. Ernest M. Stires, Rector of St. Thomas' Church, New York, had this to say:

"Mr. Fargo was one of the oldest and one of the most valuable members of St. Thomas' Church. For many years he has been a member of the vestry and the treasurer of the parish. The one outstanding quality in a character remarkably strong was his perfect conscientiousness. He cared for every responsibility with promptness and thoroughness. This was true, also, in his attendance at the services of the church; when his health permitted he was invariably in his place. The carrying of great responsibilities for many years caused many to regard him as an austere man, but those who really knew him discovered in him a sympathetic heart. It was my privilege to make this discovery, and I felt a deep affection for him.

In a period when heads of corporations have been abundantly accused in public print of almost every crime on the calendar, Mr. Fargo was so universally recognized as possessing all the essential virtues in his public and private life that his name was never mentioned except with complete respect. The Church and the community have sustained a great loss, but we will be grateful for his life, and hope for the wide influence of his example."

The Fargo family is of Welsh extraction, Moses Fargo having emigrated from Wales about 1680, and settled in New London, Conn., and the family was identified with the development of New England and New York State. William Fargo, a great grandson of Moses, and the grandfather of James C., was among the first to enlist with the Colonial forces in the Revolutionary War, served faithfully during the struggle for independence, and was present at the siege of Yorktown. William C. Fargo a son of William and the father of James C., also served his country during the war of 1812, and was wounded at the battle of Queenstown.

James C. Fargo was the seventh son of a family of twelve children, and was born at Watervale, N. Y., May 5th, 1829. He was a graduate of the old red school house at Watervale, and at the age of 15 went to Buffalo and entered the office of his brother, William G., who was eleven years his senior, and who, with others, had established an express line from Albany to Buffalo under the name of Livingston, Wells & Pomeroy, and another line from Buffalo to Detroit, known as Wells & Company. At that time there were no railroads west of Buffalo, and the express business amounted to a single carpet bag of perhaps a dozen articles a day between Albany and Buffalo, and the same quantity once a week between Buffalo and Detroit.

In the spring of 1847 Mr. Fargo accompanied his brother to Detroit, and soon after was placed in charge of the business in that city, first as local agent, and subsequently, as the railroad was extended west, as superintendent of Wells & Company's business in the state. Early in 1850 the American Express Company came into existence by the consolidation of the three separate organizations known as Wells & Company, Livingston & Fargo, and Butterfield, Wasson & Company. Mr. Fargo continued with the new concern, and in January, 1855, was appointed agent at Chicago. Shortly after assuming charge he was transferred to the general superintendency of the Northwestern Division of the Company's lines, which position he held until after the close of the war, and in 1867 was called to New York City to assume the duties of general superintendent of the Company's entire lines. From this point forward the history of the American Express Company is the history of Mr. Fargo, so closely did he identify himself with its interests.

In 1866 a powerful competitor in the shape of the Merchant's Union Express Company had been organized, with a capital stock of $20,000,000, but through reckless expenditures the company became stranded inside of two years, and in 1868 was consolidated with the American Express Company under the name of the American Merchants Union Express Company, with a combined capital stock of $18,000,000, as at present. In 1873 the name of the company was again changed to that of the American Express Company.

In 1881, upon the death of his brother, Mr. Fargo was elected President of the American Express Company, and for one-third of a century was its guiding spirit. In addition to the engrossing responsibilities of his position, Mr. Fargo found time to reorganize the Merchants Dispatch Transportation Company in 1871, of which he became President. The company operated a fast freight service over what is now the New York Central lines, and by which system it was later absorbed. Mr. Fargo was also President of the National Express Company, the Westcott Express Company, and a Director of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway.

Many innovations in the express business were introduced by Mr. Fargo, and it was greatly owing to his ability and energy that the company reached its present standard and magnitude. He was constantly looking for opportunities to improve every department of the service. In 1882 he introduced the money order system, which in a few years grew to be an important feature of the company's business and was taken up by all of the other companies. Following this success, in 1891 Mr. Fargo inaugurated the travelers cheque system, which has carried the name and standing of the company to all quarters of the civilized world, and the value of the Company's cheques to American tourists stranded abroad at the beginning of the present war is so familiar to every one that it need hardly be mentioned. To such an extent did the money order and travelers cheque system enlarge the influence of the Company that Mr. Fargo soon saw the necessity of extending the Company's lines into Europe, and accordingly in 1896 offices were established in London and Paris, to be followed soon after with offices at other important points and agencies throughout Europe.

On May 5th, 1914, Mr. Fargo attained his 85th year of age, and the almost unequalled record of seventy years' active service with practically one organization. Few men can discount such a record by fifty per cent, and yet, with his wonderful vitality, Mr. Fargo's perception was as keen and his hand as steady as in the earlier days of his career. Owing, however, to the advancement of years and his failing strength, Mr. Fargo tendered his resignation to the Company, which was accepted June 16th, 1914.

On that occasion the Directors of the American Express Company adopted the following resolution:

"The Board desires to record its keen regret in accepting Mr. Fargo's resignation as President of this Company, and its high appreciation of his loyal, devoted and valuable services during his long incumbency of that office.

Mr. Fargo entered the service of the Company in February, 1844—seventy years ago—when a boy of fifteen years of age. He was elected a Director in 1859 and has served on the Board continuously since that time. In 1867 he was appointed General Superintendent of all lines of the Company, and in August, 1881, its President, since which time he has been its Chief Executive.

Blessed with good health during this long period of service, and highly endowed with the qualities of perseverance, application, integrity and executive ability, he is identified as no other man with the growth, progress and success of the Company. During all these years, its interests have been the controlling purpose and interest of his life. He has unsparingly devoted to its affairs his rare capacity for work, unflagging energy, keen broad vision, high principles, courage and experience. The history, expansion and achievements of the Company are the record of his life's work, of which he may well be proud as we, his associates, are.

In now laying down the arduous duties of Chief Executive of the Company in his eighty-sixth year, he closes his long and distinguished period of service with the esteem and affection of his associates in the management of the Company and their best wishes for his health and happiness."

Mr. Fargo married Frances Parsons Stuart, daughter of Col. John Stewart of Battle Creek, Mich., December 25th, 1853. Mrs. Fargo died August 31st, 1896. Their children were: William C. Fargo, James F. Fargo, Annie Stuart Fargo—died January 1, 1884—and Grace Brownell Fargo—died October 20th, 1873. The sons are connected with the various Express Companies of which their father was an officer. William C. Fargo is Secretary, and his brother James F. Fargo is Treasurer of the American, National and Wescott Express Companies. Among the immediate relatives are: Mrs. S. P. Womley, Mortimer Fargo, Livingston W. Fargo, William Preston Fargo, Fayette C. Fargo, James C. Fargo, 2d, Stanley Fargo, and George W. Fargo.

In commenting upon his career, the Express Gazette said:

"The dean of all Express Executives, Mr. Fargo's judgment was held in profound respect by all his colleagues. Possessed of the highest ideals in the conduct of business, his influence was far reaching. He was singularly quiet in his habits and manner, but all who knew him admired him for his sterling worth and character, and if there is one word in the English language that can be applied to his memory it is 'integrity.'"

GENERAL EDWARD FRANCIS WINSLOW.*

BY WILLIAM FORSE SCOTT,
233 Broadway, New York City.

In October last, at Canandaigua, New York, there passed away a man who was a perfect type of the pure American stock. In the little band who landed on Plymouth Rock, in a savage wilderness, relying only upon their free minds, their strong arms, and faith in their God, were three brothers, Kenelm, Josiah and Edward Winslow. The second voyage of the Mayflower brought their younger brother, John. The family had long been of the gentry of England, and the sacrifices they made in abandoning their homes for the sake of liberty must have been great. These brothers were, by natural powers, among the leaders of men, and they and their descendants stood high in the councils and administration of the colony. Every generation of their descendants has furnished men who stood at the head in the affairs of the country—governors, judges, ministers, generals and admirals.

In the seventh generation from Kenelm Winslow appeared Edward Francis Winslow, who was born at Augusta, Me., Sept. 28, 1837, the son of Stephen Winslow and Elizabeth Bass. He had all the independence of judgment and serene confidence of power characteristic of his ancestors. In the nearly forty years of his working life, he accomplished an extraordinary amount of work, always of a high order and of great value to his country, always as a leader, always ready and fearless in meeting dangers and difficulties, and always successful. In the projection and construction of railways he showed the same confident grasp and unhesitating spirit which had been conspicuous in his brilliant career as a soldier.

Before he was 20, though not an engineer by education or experience, he undertook the construction of railways in Iowa, where railways were just then projected. When Secession took to arms, he was only 23, and without knowledge of the military art; but, with equal patriotism and confidence, he abandoned his business and enlisted a company for the war. His young wife, just married, also descended from an old New England family, zealously supported his purpose.

Beginning in the great war as Captain of Co. F, Fourth Iowa Cavalry, his boundless energy found apt employment in the arduous cavalry operations of 1862 throughout Missouri and Arkansas. Promoted then to Major, he caused his regiment to be specially chosen for service with Grant in the great Vicksburg campaign, in which he so distinguished himself, that, before he was 26, he was advanced to Colonel and to the command of Sherman's cavalry brigade.

From that time to the end of the war he commanded a series of brigades and divisions of cavalry in many campaigns in Mississippi, Tennessee, Missouri, Alabama and Georgia. For four years he was never off duty but twice for a short time, when disabled by wounds received in battle. Twice he was severely wounded and twice his horse was shot under him.

Successful in every campaign, he made the name of his regiment and brigade famous throughout the Mississippi valley. In 1864, when General Thomas was anxiously mustering his forces to oppose the great invasion by Hood, he and the War Department insistently called for the aid of "Winslow's Brigade," then 700 miles away, in pursuit of the rebel forces it had defeated and routed in Missouri and Kansas. This untrained volunteer had easily become a soldier of the highest military skill and ability.

Among many other campaigns, he led a raid from Vicksburg to Memphis, 300 miles, through a country occupied by rebel cavalry numbering three or four times his command, avoiding defeat of his purpose only by constant boldness and energy of movement. With 1200 cavalry he led Sherman's army of 20,000 infantry from Vicksburg to Meridian, 150 miles, forcing the enemy in front with such unbroken success that for twelve days Sherman halted only to bivouac for the night. He commanded a brigade or a division of cavalry in each of the campaigns against the famous Forrest in northern Mississippi in 1864, invariably distinguishing himself and his command by his readiness, resourcefulness and courage. In one of these campaigns (June, 1864) he held back, with a single brigade, through a night and a day, with almost incessant fighting, Forrest's whole command of four brigades, and thus saved General Sturgis' defeated army. In August-October, 1864, when the rebel General Price invaded Missouri with three divisions of cavalry, he commanded a brigade of 1400 cavalry, which strenuously pushed after Price from Little Rock to St. Louis, and thence to Kansas City, and on overtaking him, at once dashed into and broke up one of his divisions (Battle of the Big Blue), receiving another severe wound at the moment of victory. By a special order of President Lincoln he was then brevetted Brigadier-General "for gallantry in the field."

In the greatest cavalry campaign of history, in 1865, he led a brigade of 2500 veterans (First Brigade, Fourth Division, Cavalry Corps, M. D. M.). This was one of the three divisions commanded by the famous cavalry leader, Maj.-Gen. James H. Wilson, which in four weeks marched 600 miles through the enemy's country, crossed four large rivers at flood, constructing their own bridges, fought successfully five battles, took two heavily fortified cities by assault dismounted (Selma, Ala., and Columbus, Ga.), wholly routed all Forrest's forces, and destroyed war material valued at hundreds of millions of dollars. The forts at Columbus were carried by Winslow's brigade alone, led by 'himself, in a battle by night, and it was the last battle of the war (April 16, 1865). He was then distinguished in the administration of civil affairs in Georgia, under military orders, until his command was mustered out Aug. 10, 1865.

After the war he engaged in railway construction and management; was a leading figure in half a dozen roads in the west; built also the West Shore in New York; was President of the New York, Ontario & Western, of the St. Louis & San Francisco, and of the Atlantic & Pacific, as well as Inspector for the United States of the Union Pacific.

Twenty-five years of this strenuous labor seriously endangered his health, and he was forced to retire. Though compelled thereafter to limit carefully his physical movement, his mind never lost its vigorous activity; he was always keenly interested in the affairs of his country and always occupied in helpful services to his friends.

A soldier without fear and without failure; a citizen spiritedly patriotic and self-sacrificing; a friend who never lost an occasion to prove his loyalty; a husband who, during the long years of his married life, brought unalloyed happiness to his wife, he was a true American, worthy of his American ancestry.

THE EARLIEST "BOUWERIES"* IN BROOKLYN, AND THEIR OWNERS

BY JOEL N. ENO, A. M.

The earliest Dutch settlers of Brooklyn obtained individual grants by patent, first on the East river.

1. The first patent was granted in 1636 to Jacques Bentyen and William Adrianse (Bennet), who had bought from the Indians a tract of 930 acres, extending from near the present 28th Street, along Gowanus cove and bay to New Utrecht line; that is, from a certain tree on Long Hill (now "Ocean Hill" in Greenwood cemetery), on the rear of the farm owned (in 1869) by Cornelius W. Bennett and that late of Abraham Schermerhorn, and on the boundary between Brooklyn and Flatbush, to the third meadow creek on the bounds between Brooklyn and New Utrecht, land formerly of Henry K. Kent and Winant & Bennett. Bennet became owner of the whole or nearly the whole tract; a deed from Jacques Bentyne, December 26, 1639, acknowledging that he sold to William Adriansen land adjoining said Adriansen for 360 guilders. Bennet built a house on present Third Avenue, near 28th Street, burned by the Indians in 1643; on the site of the later Schermerhorn house. His widow married Paulus van der Beeck. On May 25, 1668, a confirmatory patent was granted to Thomas Fransen of a tract on Gowanus meadow, divided into four parts; Numbers 2 and 4 of which were transferred to Fransen; No. 4 had been conveyed by Adrian Willemsen Bennet, son of Willem to Paulus van der Beeck, and on September 5, 1666, by van der Beeck and his wife, Maria Thomas (Bennet). Van der Beeck was one of the patentees to whom the township of Brooklyn was granted by Gov. Nicolls, October 18, 1667. The Bennet farm was in possession of Adrian, son of the original owner, in 1696. The stone De Hart or Bergen house was near the first meadow, on Gowanus Cove, west of Third Avenue, near 37th and 38th Streets. This, and the Schermerhorn house are both older than the Cortelyou or Vechte house in Fifth Avenue built in 1699, and till 1859 supposed to be the oldest house in Brooklyn. The swamp, Cripplebush, on the land of Bennet is identical with that formerly between Third and Fifth Avenues near 28th Street. The second of the three meadows was at 45th and 46th Streets on First and Second Avenues, and came into possession of Simon Arison (Aertsen, or De Hart) and joined land of Agias van Dyck, southwest of 47th Street; later the farm sold by H. A. Kent to Winant Bennet partly in Brooklyn and partly in New Utrecht. This Van Dyck farm was bought by Hendrick Van Dyck, the deed being dated October 6, 1708, and sold by him in 1760 to John Bergen, who conveyed it to his son Teunis, father of Cornelius Bergen; and lay between 57th and 59th Streets.

In 1869 it was owned by William C. Langley and Thomas Hunt. The Theodorus and Leffert Bergen farms at 52nd to 56th Street, together formed a tract originally sold April 6, 1724 to Joseph Hegeman for £824; he sold it May 10, 1734, to Cornelius Sandford for £500; August 28, 1744, it was sold by Theodorus Van Wyck of New York and his wife Helen, only daughter of said Sandford, to Hans Bergen; the first of several farms bought by the Bergens at Gowanus, Yellow Hook, and Bay Ridge. From Hans it descended to his son Michael, who divided it between his sons Theodorus and Leffert; the portion of Leffert was owned in 1869 by Thomas Hunt and M. McGrath. The Peter Bergen and Van Pelt farms from 46th to 52nd Streets, were once owned by the Van Pelt family, and divided between two brothers; of whom Wouter conveyed his to Peter Bergen, who divided it between his sons Martenus and Peter. Land in dispute between Arison and Adriaen Bennet, was confirmed November 2, 1696, to Arison (de Hart) and later comprised the farms of Simon and John S. Bergen. Arison (Dutch Aertsen) emigrated to New York in 1664, and bought land adjoining Bennet soon after; his house, the De Hart house, is on record in 1679. He bequeathed his farm to Simon, Jr., who died childless, bequeathing his farm to his sister Geertje, who married Simon Bergen; he divided it between his sons Simon and John S., the former taking the plot on which the De Hart house stood, between 37th and 40th Streets, which was inherited by his daughter Leah, wife of Jacob Morris. The land devised by Willem Ariaense Bennet to his widow Maria Thomas (alias Badge) was patented September 9, 1644, to the widow; it lay between 28th and 41st Streets and in 1869 was held by Abraham Schermerhorn, Garret S. and John S. Bergen, and the heirs of Henry Pope, besides that part of Greenwood cemetery which is taken from the rear of the Schermerhorn and Bergen farms.

2. April 5, 1642, Kieft granted a patent to Cornelis Lambertsen (Cool) of lands extending from the wagon road between said lands and Jan Pietersen's, along the river to a certain swamp, (Krepplebosch), next to the land of Willem Adriaense (Bennet); which land was formerly occupied by Jans Van Rotterdam and Thomas Beets (i. e. Bescher.) This appears on Butts' map as farms of Peter Wyckoff, John Wyckoff, Henry Story, and Winant Bennet. A deed of Thomas Bescher to Cornelis Lambertsen (Cool) of May 17, 1639, for these premises, is the earliest conveyance from one settler to another which has been found for lands in Brooklyn; of which the English translation follows—as to description: "A plantation before occupied by Jan van Rotterdam, and afterward by Thomas Bescher, situate on Long Island. . . on which borders the plantation of Willem Adriaensen (Bennet), cooper; and to the north, Claes Cornelise Smits', reaching the woods in longitude; for all of which Cornelis Lambertsen (Cool) shall pay to said Thomas Bescher 300 Carolus guilders, at 20 stuyvers the guilder." This deed, and most patents for the Dutch period, contain "Lange Eyland" the Dutch equivalent for "Long Island," notwithstanding W. E. Griffis' bold assertion that it does not occur for more than a century later. Jan Pietersen (Staats) lands are set down on Butts' map to J. Dimon, R. Berry, H. L. Clark, A. Van Brunt, and heirs of Rachel Berry. The land set down to Edwin C. Litchfield in 1869, was originally the Vechte farm; 1st to 5th Streets, on which the Cortelyou house stood; on the west side of Fifth Avenue near 4th Street. What remains of the Cortelyou house is now the club house in Washington Park. The founder of the Vechte family was Claes Adriaentse van Vechten of Norch in Drenthe province, Holland. In the Revolution, his grandson, Nicholas Vechte, owned the house; his heir, Nicholas R. Cowenhoven in 1790 sold the house and part of the farm, for £2500 to Jacques Cortelyou, the first Cortelyou, who emigrated in 1652 to New Utrecht; his sons were Adrian and Jacques; the latter sold off city lots. The land between 5th and 7th Streets is set down on the map to Theodorus Polhemus, who received it from his father. Between 7th and 9th Streets, Rem Adriance's; his daughter married Cornelius Van Brunt; the farm on Gowanus creek between 9th and 12th Streets, was owned about 1810 by Cornelius Van Brunt, and divided between his son Adriance, and Henry L. Clarke. The Berry farm on Mill creek, 12th to 14th Streets was sold before the Revolution by Cornelius Van Duyn to Walter Berry, and conveyed by Richard Berry to A. W. Benson. From 15th to Middle Streets, the tract was conveyed about 1751 by Christophel Scarse and Peter Van Pelt to John Bergen, and by him to his brother Dirick Bergen, and fell to his three daughters; Mrs. Joseph Smith, Mrs. Walter Berry, and Mrs. Ebenezer Carson; on Butts' map set down to J. Dimon, Peter Wyckoff, and the heirs of R. Berry. From Middle Street to 20th Street, was originally one farm, owned by Cornelius Van Duyn, and conveyed during the Revolution to Peter Wyckoff; in 1869 held by John Wyckoff. From 20th to 25th Streets was originally one farm owned by Jacob Fardon, and sold in 1720 to Anthony Hulsart of New Utrecht. He sold to Joseph Woodward and Wynant Bennet, and Woodward sold to Henry Story. It was a tract originally sold by Paulus Vander Beeck to Wm. Huycken in 1679, whose son Conradus deeded it December, 1699, to Cornelius Gerritse Van Duyn, who had married Huycken's oldest daughter. Blokje's Berg, a small hill on Gowanus Cove near the corner of Third Avenue and 23rd Street, had the old Wynant Bennet house, near the place where the British received their first check in the Long Island battle, August 27, 1776. The farms of Cornelius Bennet and Joseph Dean (1869) were originally one, reaching from 25th to 28th Streets. Along the bay between 24th and 28th Streets, was the hamlet of Gowanus, laid out in village lots.

3. Red Hook (Dutch, Roede Hoek) included all the land west of Sullivan Street. Its use was granted in 1638 to Director Van Twiller, to be relinquished at the demand of the W. I. Company. He had already obtained Nutton or Governor's Island and other islands, besides lands at Catskill and on Long Island; in all, 3000 to 3750 acres. In 1652 these grants were declared null and void, and reverted to the Company, which through Stuyvesant in 1657, granted Red Hook to the town of Breukelen. It was sold by the patentees and freeholders of Brooklyn, Aug. 10, 1695, to Col. Stephanus van Cortlandt; estimated at 50 acres. The Van Cortlandt heirs deeded to Mathias Van Dyke, Red Hook, "on the Island of Nassau, formerly Long Island, 50 acres more or less," with a mill on it, corner of Dikeman and Van Brunt Streets. Matthias Van Dyke deeded it to his son John, Feb. 1, 1736, and it fell to his sons Nicholas and Matthias in 1784.

4. Frederick Lubbertsen's patent, dated May 27, 1640, included the whole neck of land between East river and Gowanus creek. He was boatswain to Director Kieft in 1638, and then lived in New Amsterdam. His tract is described as "lying on Long Island, near Werpos;" in 1869, bounded by Degraw and Harrison Streets west of Court Street, and by the East river and Hamilton Avenue. Lubbertsen did not settle on his land until 1653; on Nov. 22, 1679, he devised it to his two daughters, Aeltje, wife of Cornelis Seabring, and Elsie, wife of Jacob Hansen Bergen, and to his wife's two sons, Peter and Hendrick Corssen (Vroom). Bergen's land, over 200 acres, was given to his oldest son, Hans Jacobus Bergen, in 1732; he by will in 1743 gave it to his only son, Jacob, who occupied the old Lubbertsen house near the corner of Hoyt and Warren Streets. He conveyed 130 acres near Court Street and Gowanus creek to John Rapalje in 1750 for £700, and bought part of Gerret Wolpherts Van Couvenhoven's patent, and of Jan Evertse Bout's, March, 1698; Vroom, who then owned the land given to himself and brother, conveyed 100 acres to Seabring for maintaining Corssen for life. John Marsh, of New Jersey, had built a mill on the meadows Corssen and Seabring held in common, about 1689; hence the mill became known as "Seabring's", later Cornell's or the "Red Mill"; at Columbia Street and Tiffany Place, opposite Sedgwick Street. The I. Seabring mill, built after 1766, near the head of Gowanus bay, northeast corner of Hicks and Huntington Streets, was later called the "Luqueer Mill."

5. Claes Jansen Van Naerden (or Ruyter) obtained a patent Sept. 30, 1645, of land bounded southwest and southeast by Frederick Lubbertsen's and northeast by Jan Manje's; 21 morgens and 200 rods. (A morgen is about two English acres, and a Dutch rod is 12 feet 3.62 inches English.) Van Naerden sold to Michael Tudens, March 11, 1660; he to Michael Hayneste (Hainelle), April 3, 1666, who sold to Dirck Janse Woertman.

6. Jan Manje's patent was next to the foregoing, and was granted Sept. 11, 1642. From this land to D. J. Woertman's adjoining, in 1674, was Andries Hudde's patent. He, with W. Geritse, bought several flats in Flatlands and Flatbush in 1636; but the Brooklyn patent was obtained Sept. 12, 1645. Hudde never occupied it himself, but it was conveyed by power of attorney through Pieter Cornelissen to Lodewyck Jongh for 400 guilders; the order being approved by the Director, Jan. 2, 1651. Jongh's widow in 1676 conveyed part to Jeronimus Rapalje; in 1679 another part to D. J. Woertman, and in 1685 the rest to the heirs of Joris Dirckse. The Hudde, Manje, and Ruyter patents comprised the whole territory which was later the Remsen, and Philip Livingston estates, Ralph Patchen's, Cornelius Heeney's, Parmenus Johnson's, etc. From Atlantic to Clarke Streets, and from Court Street to East river was bought by D. J. Woertman, and sold Oct. 10, 1706, to his son-in-law, Joris Remsen, for £612, 10s. current money of New York. Joris Remsen was the second son of Rem Jansen Vander Beeck, ancestor of the Remsen family in the United States. Philip Livingston became owner of a large part before 1764. His mansion stood on the east side of Hicks Street, 400 feet south of Joralemon Street. His distillery property was sold July, 1785, to Daniel McCormick; and the property south of the distillery on the 29th April, 1803, to Teunis Joralemon; and the mansion became known as the Joralemon house.

8. Claes Cornelissen (Mentelaer) van Schouw received a patent Nov. 14, 1642, for land probably reaching to the ferry at the foot of Fulton Street.

9. North of the ferry was a small parcel of land of Cornelis Dircksen (Hooglandt) "the ferryman"; he sold Jan. 24, 1643, to Willem Thomassen (or Janssen), and Dirckse obtained another parcel behind the first, Dec. 12, 1645. He conveyed land to Cornelis de Potter, Aug. 28, 1654, and a part to Egbert van Borsum, then ferryman, adjoining Potter's. The Thomassen tract lay next to Henry Breser's originally.

10. Jacob Wolfertsen (van Couwenhoven) received a grant July 3, 1643; confirmed to Breser Sept. 4, 1645, and conveyed by him Aug. 29, 1651, to Cornelis de Potter for 1125 guilders. The patents of Lubbertsen and Breser comprised the balance of the Comfort and Joshua Sands property, as on the Butts map,—up to the line of Fulton Street; and before the Revolution was owned by John Rapalje, great grandson of the first Rapalje, and owner of the largest estate in Brooklyn, but banished for loyalism in 1779, and his estate confiscated to the State. He was reimbursed, however, by the British government. The portion between Gold and Fulton Streets was bought July 13, 1784, by Comfort and Joshua Sands for £12,430 in State scrip.

11. Frederick Lubbertsen, Sept. 4, 1645, obtained a grant of land between H. Breser's and Edward Fiscock's.

12. Fiscock's widow married Jan Haes. Her land was near Martyn's (later Martyr's) Hook, and embraced a part of the Navy Yard site. A part was sold to Cornelis de Potter in 1652, afterward to Aert Aertsen (Middagh), ancestor of the Middagh family, now extinct, though it gave name to Middagh Street. Aertsen married Breckje, second daughter of Hans Hansen Bergen and Sarah Rapalje, and received a patent for land adjoining Joris Rapalje, of 100 acres Oct. 24, 1654, named "Cripplebush" (Dutch Kreupelbosch, underbrush); with his stepfather, Teunis Gysbert (Bogaert).

13. Next to Haes, was Hans Lodewyck's grant, by patent of Nov. 3, 1645.

14. Next was a grant to M. Picet, but regranted to Willem Cornelissen Feb. 19, 1646 (25 morgen), confirmed and regranted by the Governor July 12, 1673, to Michael Heynell, Dirck Jensen, and Jeronimus Rapalje.

15. Peter Caesar Italien, alias C. Alberti, received a grant for a tobacco plantation June 17, 1643; 25 morgen and 24 rods sold in 1647 to John Damon; May 1, 1647, 24 morgen and 450 rods sold; the tract extended from Clermont to Hampden Avenue.

16. Peter Montfoort received a patent May 29, 1641, for land between Hamilton and Clermont Avenue.

17. Jan Montfoort, probably Peter's brother; his "patent" adjoined. In 1869 it was held by John and Jacob Ryerson (between Hamilton and Grand Avenues), they were sons of Marten, who originally owned the whole tract; and descendants of Martin Ryerse, emigrant from Amsterdam, and first husband of Annetie, daughter of Joris Janse de Rapalje; and brother of Adrian Ryerse of Flatbush. Of the descendants of Adrian's sons, from Elbert come the Adriance family, and from Marten the Martense family of Flatbush.

18. Joris (i. e., George) Jansen de Rapalje<sup>1</sup> came from Rochelle, France, in 1623, in the ship Eendracht to Fort Orange; in 1626 to New Amsterdam, north side of Pearl Street; 1654 to Waal-bogt, now Wallabout; bought a tract (Rennegaconck) of the Indians, June 16, 1637, reached from the kil or creek to Kreupelbush, for which Kieft gave him a patent June 17, 1643; now the site of the Marine Hospital and the land between Nostrand and Grand Avenues. He had 11 children. Part was conveyed to Jeronimus Remsen in 1714; by him to John Van Nostrand in 1719; by him to Daniel Rapalje in 1729; by him to Garret Nostrand in 1765.

19. Hans Hansen Bergen received a patent March 30, 1647, of 200 morgen, from Rennegaconck creek to the present Division Street, bound between Brooklyn and Williamsburgh; on Butts' map lands of Gen. Jeremiah Johnson, James Scholes, Abraham Remsen, Abraham Boerum, Abraham Meserole, McKibbin, Nichols, Powers, Schenck, Mills, etc. Bergen came from Bergen in Norway by way of Holland in 1633 to New Netherland; he settled on Pearl Street adjoining J. J. de Rapalje, whose daughter, Sarah, he married in 1639; she was the first white female born in New Netherland, June 9, 1625, at Fort Orange. This was the origin of the Bergens of Long Island and New Jersey. The Bergen land went to Bogaert, Sarah's second husband, 1664. The later Johnson homestead was bought from Rem Jansen Vanderbeeck, who married Janetje de Rapalje, whence it fell to their two sons Isaac and Jeremias Remsen; the latter buying out Isaac, it fell to Jeremias, Jr., who bequeathed it to his relative, Barent Johnson, father of Gen. Jeremiah Johnson. The Boerum farm was originally owned by Teunis Bogert, whose son Adrian sold it to Jacob Bloom; his grandchild sold it to Abraham A. Remsen, March, 1816; sold by him Nov., 1816, to Abram Boerum, and his brother Cornelius' land to Abraham Remsen.

20. The second tier from East river: first Gerrit Wolphertsen (van Cowenhoven); patent March 11, 1647, on the road from Flatbush to Brooklyn village. Next Jacob Stoffelsen, who left Brooklyn in 1656. 22. Jan Evertsen Bout received patent July 6, 1645, for land west of van Cowenhoven; it went to Joris Jurianse, who married Bout's widow. She married, 3d, Jan Janse Staats. The original tract included Freke's and Denton's or the "Yellow Mill." Bout gave the neck to the children of Adam Brower, ancestor of the Browsers. Jurian Andriese sold 27 morgen Feb. 19, 1708, to Carell Debevoise* for £400. 23. Huyck Aertsen (van Rossum) obtained patent Feb. 22, 1646, to land next to Bout; it went to Albert Cornelis Wantenaer, who married Rossum's widow. 24, 25 and 26 patents were lands between the present Fulton Street and Avenue, Raymond Street and a line a little south of Tillary Street; taken up by Joris Dircksen, Pieter Cornelissen, and Cornelis Dircksen in 1646; (see Dircksen "the ferryman").

* Carel De Beauvois (or Bevoise), ancestor of the family in the United States, came from Leyden, Holland, arriving Feb. 17, 1659, with his wife Sophia, and children Jacobus, Gertrude and Catherine; Cornelis was born March 3, 1659, at New Amsterdam. The family is Huguenot, originating in Beauvais, an important town in the Department of the Oise, northern France; earlier Beauvois.

BROOKLYN FIFTY YEARS AGO, AND NOW.

Brooklyn had its origin by the settlement of Jan Evertsen Bout in 1645 near the spot where Hoyt and Smith Streets join Fulton; the latter was then the road to the "Ferry," which is now nearly under Brooklyn Bridge. Most of the land near the Ferry almost to Wallabout was granted to Jan Rapalje in 1643, but a great part of it was sold by his grandson, John Rapelje, to Comfort and Joshua Sands in 1784, for £12,430 sterling. They founded a settlement called Olympia. John Jackson sold the site of the Navy Yard to the United States in 1801, and on the rest of his land near founded "Irishtown" in the Fifth ward, adjoining Olympia. In 1790, the first United States Census found only 1600 population in Brooklyn. Brooklyn when incorporated as a village April 12, 1816, was bounded as follows: From the foot of Joralemon Street to Red Hook Lane; thence to Jamaica Turnpike; thence to Wallabout Pond and the East River. The village had increased to 7000 population in 1820, and was incorporated a city April 18, 1834. The First Ward, on Butts' map, 1869, and Fulton's Farm Line map, 1874, was on the lands of Ralph Patchen (on State Street), Philip Livingston (on Livingston Street), Remsen (on Remsen Street), R. Benson (on Montague Street), Pierpont from De Bevoise (on Pierrepont Street), Swartcope at Monroe Place, Jackson, Kimberly, and Waring, between Pierrepont and Clark Streets, Middagh at the foot of Henry Street, and Jacob and John Hicks on Hicks Street, and Columbia Heights. The Second ward was on lands of Comfort and Joshua Sands; the Fourth on lands of C. and J. Sands and J. B. Johnson, except Tillary's small tract at the beginning of Tillary Street; the Fifth on C. and J. Sands, except a small section on J. Jackson (Irishtown), next to the Navy Yard, and another on Samuel Jackson, about the corner of Concord and Duffield Streets, with part of J. B. Johnson's and John Duffield's (the latter at Duffield Street). A considerable number of street names throughout the city remain as monuments locating the early farm ownership. The Third ward is an extension from the old village, from Boerum Place to Fourth Avenue, on lands of J. Cornell, Schermerhorn, S. Smith, Samuel L. Garrison, George Martense, De Bevoise, and Mary Powers (sold later to Castelar, Christmas, and Lloyd). The Sixth ward extended along Buttermilk Channel from the First ward and South Ferry, to Hamilton Avenue and Fourth Place, on Lands of Ralph Patchen, Cornelius Heeney, Parmenus Johnson, Selah Strong (on Strong Place), Degraw (at Degraw Street), John Cornell (on Columbia Street), Simon Cornell

(from Strong Place to President Street, and east on Red Book Lane), Hoyt's Prospect Hill, adjoining; to Hamilton Avenue, were lands of Kellogg and Blake, Kellogg and Clark, Brush and Benjamin, and Hicks and Smith, between Court Street, Red Hook Lane and Fourth Place. The Tenth ward adjoined the Third and Sixth; owners, J. Boerum, W. Boerum, J. Reid, Jacob Bergen, J. C. Freake (who sold to Brady & Fiske), Poole, Clarke. The Twelfth ward extended from the Tenth to Brooklyn and Erie Basins; owners, Johnson, S. Cornell, Nicholas Luqueer (at Luqueer Street), Jordan Coles, Remsen's Island and Gerritson's Island, Tyson Van Dyke, N. Van Dyke, and Mathias Van Dyke, at the Basins. Eleventh ward, north of Third, from Fulton Street to Portland Avenue; owners, John Duffield, Sam. Fleet (at Fleet Street), Samuel James. Between Myrtle and De Kalb Avenue were De Bevoise, Hamilton H. Jackson, St. Felix (at St. Felix Street), John Jackson east of Washington Park, and John Jackson and John Skillman, north of City Park. Twentieth ward, adjoining Eleventh, is bounded by Portland Avenue, Flushing Avenue, Washington Avenue, and Atlantic Avenue, on lands of Nicholas Cowenhoven, Post Farm (Washington Park), John Jackson, John Ryerson, Jeremiah V. Spader, John Spader, heirs of Jacob Ryerson, W. Hunter, Jr., Clark, Hunter, Jacob Ryerson. The Seventh ward joins the Twentieth on Washington Avenue; other bounds are Flushing Avenue, Bedford Avenue, and Atlantic Avenue, on lands of John Ryerson (at Ryerson Street), Martin Ryerson, John Jackson, Schenck (at Schenck Street). Gen. Jeremiah Johnson, John Skillman (at Skillman Street), Clark and Manley, Tunis Johnson, W. J. Cornell and P. Reid, the tract of the last four half inclosed in the land of Tunis Cowenhoven from beyond De Kalb Avenue to Gates Avenue; on Gates, Ryerson owned from Monroe to Madison Streets, Meserole, from Madison Street to Jefferson Avenue; the estate of Leffert Lefferts, and from Fulton Streets to Leffert Place, Rem Lefferts. The Ninth ward is a Triangle between Flatbush Avenue and Franklin Avenue, on James Pearsall, Parmenter, J. Lefferts, James Underhill, Cornelius Van Cleef, Nehemiah Denton, Nicholas Cowenhoven, Anthony Kerr, Wm. Powers, Evans, and Evans to Glover, Levi Hart, Mary Johnson, Wm. J. Cornell, J. C. Freeke, Moses Smith, S. Fleet, Poole, Estate of Leffert Lefferts, Rem Lefferts, Robert Wilson, Abraham Selover, Robert De Bevoise. The Twenty-second ward adjoins the Ninth on Flatbush Avenue to Prospect Park and Fourth Avenue and the Canal leading to Gowanus Bay; on Poole, Sebring, Ino. C. Ham, (to P. Remsen), Charles Hoyt, late Brower, Eliza Powers, Thomas Poole, Theodorus Polhemus, Polhemus, Jr., Adrian Cortelyou and A. Cortelyou to E. C. Litchfield, Jaques Cortelyou to E. C. Litchfield, Cooper, Theodorus Polhemus, Thomas G. Talmage, Rem Adriance, Van Brunt, H. L. Clarke and H. L. Clarke to A. W. Benson & Fiske, E. W. Benson, Richard Berry, Joseph to Berry, Debora Carson, Rachel Berry to E. B. Litchfield. Between Prospect Park and Prospect Avenue were Joseph Dean, John Vanderbilt, Cornelius Bennet, A. Martenus and John and Peter Wyckoff.

The Eighth ward runs southward from the Twenty-second at Prospect Avenue to the City line between New Utrecht and Gowanus Bay, (including Greenwood Cemetery) continuing tracts of John and Peter Wyckoff, and John Vanderbilt; it has also Jeremiah Vanderbilt (north of Greenwood Cemetery), and H. Story and Wynant Bennet alongside the cemetery and southward; Joseph Dean, Cornelius Bennet, Schermerhorn, Gerrit and John Bergen, John G. Bergen, G. Bergen, Delaplaine, Henry Poole, Simon Bergen to Jacob Morris, and to Lott, and Lott to Delaplaine, John Bergen, and Bergen to John Delaplaine, Van Pelt to Hunt, Martenus and Peter Bergen, Leffert Bergen, Theodorus Bergen, Cornelius Bergen to Hunt & Langley, and Wynant Bennet again. The Polhemuses descend from Rev. Johannes Theodorus Polhemus, first Dutch preacher at Brooklyn, Midwout, Amersfoort, and Gravesend, till 1659. The first Dutch church of Brooklyn was at Fulton Street between Smith and Hoyt Streets. Ward Nineteen is the triangle on Wallabout Bay and the Navy Yard between Flushing Avenue and Broadway; on land of Abraham Boerum, Abraham Remsen, James Scholes, Gen. Jeremiah Johnson, Delmonico, and De Bevoise. Division Street was the boundary between Brooklyn and Bushwick (Williamsburgh section), in which Broadway is situated.

The Twenty-first ward adjoins the Nineteenth on Flushing Avenue to Lafayette Avenue, with Broadway on the north. From Nostrand Avenue to Broadway; Henry Boerum, Rapelyea, Jacobus Lott, F. Vandervoort, Delmonico, J. Meserole, Samuel Meeker, and Wright and Butler (formerly Thomas Brown). Ward 25 continues this last group of tracts, running triangularly between Broadway and Atlantic Avenue to the New Lots line. Ward Twenty-three adjoins ward Twenty-five along Lafayette Avenue from Bedford Avenue to Yates (now Sumner) Avenue and includes Tompkins Park, which with the land south belonged to Tunis Johnson; at Greene and Bedford Avenues, Wm. Spencer; Bedford between Quincy and Monroe Streets, including Lefferts Park, was Rem Lefferts (later R. Graves); from Monroe Street to Putnam Avenue along the east side of Marcy Avenue James De Bevoise owned; to Hancock Street, Estate of Leffert Lefferts; to Halsey Street, Rem Lefferts; Macon and McDonough, Mrs. Lott, nearly to Nostrand Avenue, where T. N. Redding, Betts, and Isaac Brinkerhoff owned; between Fulton Street and New York and Brooklyn Avenues, Rem Lefferts, Jr., adjoining Sarah Millard, between whom and Yates (now Sumner) Avenue was James Lefferts, Jr.

Ward Twenty-four runs from Atlantic Avenue to Flatbush town bounds, between Nostrand and Troy Avenues; contains Lefferts tracts; Estate of Leffert Lefferts, Cornelia Lefferts, Rem Lefferts, Rem Lefferts to Bell, to Rogers, and to J. Moser; southward, John Jackson, Isaac Cortelyou, S. Smith, S. Caton, R. Malbone, Jonathan Trotter, Joralemon, L. Green, Wheaton, Johnson Leake, Delmonico, Schomaker, Bowne, Skillman, John Dittmar, T. M. Sothier, N. E. Mason, J. Spader, Jeremiah Meserole, J. Hegeman, Z. Coffin, Sam. Welles, Backhouse, Boerum, Stillwell, John Lefferts, Vanderveer, John Halsey Bergen, Chapin; and from near Nostrand Avenue along Greene Avenue, Jeremiah Remsen; between the Remsen and the Leffert estate, the heirs of Samuel Gerritson; from near Utica Avenue to Ralph Avenue, Hoogland, J. Lefferts, Carregan, Schomaker, Paul Porter, Delius, Overton, Stanbury, Powers, J. Halsey, Skillman, Redding, Lefferts, Johnson, Leake; beyond, in third division of woodland to New Lots line were long narrowish strips of Thompson, C. Bostwick, James T. Johns, Williamson, Cornelius Suydam, Mary Powers, Jane Bergen, Lunington Van Sickle, Heirs of John Devoe, Mrs. Macomber, Thomas P. Graham (late Jacobus Lott), Michael Stryker, A. O. Millard, James Lefferts, Moses Suydam (to Johnson Leake), Mrs. Sarah Lefferts, Estate of Leffert Lefferts, Rem Lefferts, Robert Lane.

Twenty-fifth ward, from Atlantic Avenue to Broadway; on Gabriel De Bevoise and Jacobus De Bevoise, Mrs. Lott, Moses and Lambert Suydam, Daniel Lott, Bailey, James Lefferts, J. L. Stratton, Ryerson, Estate of Leffert Lefferts, Gideon Tucker, Wm. Philip, Dr. N. A. Garrison, Mrs. Lott, Rem Lefferts, Philip Reid, Hendrick Suydam. The foregoing cover all of the original city of Brooklyn; the city and borough have since absorbed the town of Bushwick. In Bushwick, Williamsburgh was incorporated a village April 14, 1827; from Brooklyn line (Division Avenue) to Union Avenue, thence down Bushwick Creek to East river; now mostly in wards 13 and 14; an addition, now wards 15 and 16, was made April 18, 1835; with the rest of Bushwick consolidated with Brooklyn, July 18, 1853.

Ward 13 is on land of Jacob Berry, Abraham Meserole, David Griswold, Boerum, Frederick K. Devoe, David Dunham, Conselyea, John Miller, Noah Waterbury, Grover and Garrett Furman, Van Mater, Abraham Canon. Ward 14 is on J. H. Maxwell, M. Judson, Richard M. Woodhull, Francis Titus, Lewis Sandford, Sharp & Sutphen, Wm. Vail, Wm. Burnett, Frost, Butler, Hurdy & Sinclair, John Skillman, David Meserole, Mackerell & Richardson. Ward 15 continues the last few, and adds J. Skillman to Joshua Newton, Andrew and Wm. Conselyea, John Devoe, P. Devoe, W. P. Powers, Vandervoort L. Richardson, Morgan L. Smith, Vandervoort & Conselyea to W. P. Powers. Ward 16 joins 15 on Ten Eyck Street; other bounds, Flushing Avenue, Broadway, and Bushwick Avenue; on James Scholes, Abraham Meserole, Boerum to McKibbin (at McKibbin Street), and Nichols, Abraham Bogart to Francis Varet, John Cook to Thomas Moore, Gabriel Cook, Abraham Varet to Francis Varet, Jacobus De Bevoise. Ward 17, known as "Greenpoint," lies on East river, Newton Creek, Meeker Avenue, and wards 14 and 15. On East river, heirs of J. Meserole, and (formerly) Crane & Co.; next east, David Provost, J. B. Taylor, Keziah Bliss, Cunningham, Williams & Sneed, Samuel J. Tilden, heirs of Peter Calyer (on Calyer Street), heirs of Peter Meserole, heirs of Capt. John Meserole, John G. Van Cott, D. C. & A. C. Kingsland, Abijah Mann, Jacob Bennet to A. Mann, Bradford, E.

Bridge. Ward 18 extended from bounds of wards 15, 16, 21, and 25 to Queens county bounds, and from Meeker Avenue to Evergreen Cemetery. Beginning from 17th ward bound (Meeker Avenue), heirs of John Waters, Anthony Hulst (at Anthony Street), Estate of John Devoe, Charles J. De Bevoise, Gabriel De Bevoise, J. W. & M. Y. Beadell, Wm. Cooper, Peter Cooper, Coope & Hayne, Joseph Conselyea, Stephen B. COLONEL JOHN LIVINGSTON OF NEW LONDON,
CONN., ELDEST SON OF ROBERT LIVINGSTON,

CONTRIBUTED BY E. B. LIVINGSTON (1911), London, England.

---

Since the publication of the Livingstons of Livingston Manor, I have come across some further references to this somewhat neglected member of the New York Livingstons, one of which clearly proves he died in London, England, and not in New England, as I inferred might have been the case, owing to the rather ambiguous entry of his death in Musgrave's Obituary.

- 1706-1707. One of the Representatives for New London in the General Assembly at New Haven, Conn.*
- 1709-1710. Member of the Council, and attended the meetings of the same from June, 1709, to July, 1710.†
1713. Mary Livingston, née Winthrop, his first wife, died on Thursday, 8 January, and was buried on Saturday, 17 January, 1712-13, at New London.‡
1713. He married his second wife, Elizabeth Knight, at Boston, Mass., on 1 October, 1713. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Increase Mather.§
1718. According to Miss Caulkin's History of New London, Colonel Livingston went to England in November, 1718, "on some business, and died there."||
1720. This is confirmed by the following announcement of his death, which appeared in the February, 1719-20, number of a monthly publication, issued in London, England, called The Political State of Great Britain, and is the authority for the entry in Musgrave's Obituary:
1720. "On Friday the 19th [February, 1719-20], died of the gout, Colonel Livingston, a gentleman who had distinguished himself by many services to his country abroad; particularly, he commanded a regiment of Indians at the reduction of Nova Scotia, and had several times been sent by the Government of the Massachusetts to execute commissions at Canada, which he performed with great resolution."¶
1721. According to Miss Caulkin's, "the inventory of Lieut.-Col. John Livingston, late of New London, taken at the house of Mrs. Sarah Knight in Norwich, at the desire of Mrs. Elizabeth Livingston, widow of ye deceased, who is appointed administratrix, March 10, 1720-21.
- "The list of effects under this heading is slender. The principal items are 103 ounces of wrought plate at 10 s., 6 d. per ounce, a japanned cabinet, and a field tent. Col. Livingston died abroad."**
1736. Mrs. Elizabeth Livingston, the widow, died on Wednesday, 17 March, 1735-36, of apoplexy, aged about 48 years, and was buried in the New London cemetery the next day. Mr. Joshua Hempstead, the contemporary diarist of New London, was one of the pall bearers.††

- 1861 v. Samuel Bowditch,<sup>8</sup> born January 19th, 1819; died March 9th, 1819, aged 1 month, 21 days, and was buried in Trinity Church Graveyard, Bridgewater, Mass.; gravestone.

The tradition in regard to Mr. Thacher's marriage to Ann Bowditch is that he first saw her in the street and, being attracted by her personality, followed her home, found out her name, and subsequently made her acquaintance. She was at the time engaged to a gentleman by the name of Poor. Mr. Thacher one evening while paying a game of forfeits with a party including Miss Bowditch was, as a penalty in the game, required to marry Miss Bowditch; the ceremony was performed in jest by one of the guests, who afterwards was found out to be a Justice of the Peace, and, according to the then existing laws of Massachusetts, this make-believe marriage was binding. They were subsequently married again. Mr. Thacher was a prosperous merchant in Boston until the embargo of 1812, which compelled him to suspend business there. He afterwards removed to Philadelphia, where he died, leaving his family in poor circumstances. Mr. Poor, the former fiancé of Miss Bowditch, saw her daughters in the street and, attracted by their likeness to their mother, followed them home and, renewing his friendship with Mrs. Thacher in her destitution, aided the family in their need.

The following inscription taken from Latham's Epitaphs of Old Bridgewater, Mass., is to be found in Trinity Church Graveyard, Bridgewater.

"They are even as asleep, and fade away suddenly as the grass.' This stone records the departure from life of two infants dear to affection and to memory:—Mary Gray, died December 20th, 1817, aged 4 months and 18 days. Samuel Bowditch died March 9th, 1819, aged 1 month and 21 days. Children of Lothrop R. and Ann Thacher."

Mrs. Arthur Thacher, of No. 74 West Johnson Street, Germantown, Pa., thinks that descendants of Lothrop Russell<sup>7</sup> Thacher were in 1907 living in Marblehead, Mass.

REVOLUTIONARY WAR MUSTER ROLL.

CONTRIBUTED BY GEORGE AUSTIN MORRISON, JR.

In examining the "Swartwout Manuscripts," now deposited in the New York Historical Society, a number of papers of the period of the Revolutionary War were found and among them an original Muster Roll of one of the companies in the Fourth Regiment of Dutchess County, New York, commanded by Colonel John Frear.

The Fourth Regiment of Dutchess County, New York, has hitherto been known as the "lost regiment," from the fact that no roll of enlisted men in this regiment has been discovered, although a fragmentary list of its officers, and of land bounty rights granted to the officers and some of the men is preserved at Albany. Both Fernow in the Archives of State of New York, vol. xv, and Jas. A. Roberts in New York in the Revolution, give the following:

"Dutchess County Militia—4th. Regiment.

Colonel John Frear

Captains:

Isaac Conklin	Samuel Smith
— Hageman	Luke Stoutenburgh
Elijah Herrick	— Straight
— Kilsey	Bernardus Swartwout
— Low	Hugh VanKleek
David Ostrand	John Van Kleek.

Lieutenants:

Abraham Fort	Jonas Weeks
--------------	-------------

Alexander Furman	(Reuben) Spencer

(No enlisted men found.)"

The list of Captain Bernardus Swartwout's Company discovered among the Swartwout manuscripts contains the names of seventy-five officers and men. A cross has been marked with the pen on four names and one name has been erased, but the remaining seventy names are undoubtedly those of soldiers who saw active service in the war. Comparatively little is known of Colonel John Frear and his descendants, and such information as exists may be summed up as follows:

JOHN<sup>1</sup> FREAR (Abraham,<sup>2</sup> Abraham,<sup>3</sup> Hugo<sup>1</sup>), of Poughkeepsie, New York. He was baptized at Poughkeepsie, 27 May, 1739, witnesses being Baltus van Kleek and Algjen Freer. He fought in the Revolutionary War as Colonel of the 4th Regiment of Dutchess County. The list of enlisted men of this regiment cannot be found, but the list of officers and the list of land bounty rights for this regiment has been preserved. At the commencement of the war in 1776 Colonel Frear was appointed one of the "Committee of Correspondence" to look after the interest of the patriot cause. In 1794 his name appears as one of those who manumitted their slaves. He had a brother Thomas, born in 1741, and a brother Jacobus who lived east of present city limit of Poughkeepsie. (See LeFevre's History of New Paltz.)

John Freer lived one and one-half miles south of Poughkeepsie and is named as sole executor in the will of Elizabeth Van Kleeck of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., dated 8 Oct., 1772, proved 17 May, 1782.

He married Maria VanKleeck, daughter of Elizabeth Van Kleeck, and resided in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

He as "John Frear of the town of Poughkeepsie," left a will, dated 20 Feb., 1807, proved 17 Aug., 1809, L. C. of Wills, page 371, Dutchess County Surrogates Office, in which he mentions his eldest son Simon; the children of late son Baltus, viz.:—Maria Flagelar, Sarah Martin, John, Elizabeth, James, Lawrence and Baltus; daughter Elizabeth Deyo; children of deceased daughter Maria Lemington, viz.: Maria and Hannah; a house and lot in village of Poughkeepsie; grandson John Frear, son of son Simon; grandson John Deyo, son of daughter Elizabeth. Executors, nephew James Frear, son of late brother Jacobus Frear; Jacob Nelson, son of Thomas, and grandson John Frear, Jr. He had known issue:

Simon, b. 10 March, 1753, at Poughkeepsie.

Baltus.

Elizabeth, m. ——— Deyo, and had issue:

Maria.

Hannah.

John.

Maria, b. 28 July, bap. 13 Aug., 1755, at Poughkeepsie; witnesses: Peter Low and Maria Low; m. Cornelius Lemington, and had issue:

Maria, b. 16 July, 1794, at Poughkeepsie.

Hannah, b. 15 March, 1796, at Poughkeepsie.

A List of Capt.

Barnerdus Swartwout

Company

The printing of this roll is an attempt to preserve for all time the record of these men who fought for the liberty of the colonies and whose names otherwise might have remained unknown. There must be a number of other original Revolutionary Muster Rolls in the archives of various historical and genealogical societies throughout the country, and preserved in private collections or family records. It would seem to be a patriotic duty that these Muster Rolls should be photographed and copies placed in the Government Archives at Washington and in the State Archives at Albany, and that the lists of men contained in such Muster Rolls be printed and published in historical and genealogical magazines. Only thus can a more complete record of the patriots of 1776 ever be collected and preserved. A movement to print and preserve such Muster Rolls could readily be organized and would undoubtedly receive patriotic and financial support from private sources—as up to the present time neither the United States nor the respective State governments have taken any interest or initiative in such work.

Y., aged 72; in 1802, "at the age of 22," he married at Augusta, Madison Co., N. Y., Allathyna Roberts. Her father, Joel Roberts, was a patriot who was killed at the Battle of Lexington, Mass., her brothers, Joel, Josh and Jorum were also all at the Battle of Lexington, but they survived the engagement. Allathyna (Roberts) Green was a descendant of John Roberts, who came from Wales to Roxbury, Mass., in 1636, accompanied by his aged mother then 93 years of age (she lived to the age of 103). Arnold<sup>7</sup> Green removed from Augusta, N. Y., to Pompey Hill, Onondaga Co., N. Y., in 1814. On July 1, 1815 (when his son Benjamin Franklin<sup>8</sup> Green was born), he removed to Pike, Wyoming Co., N. Y., where he purchased a large farm of 700 acres. In early manhood he was a Grand Master Mason of the Grand Lodge of the State of New York. His widow died at Portageville, Allegany Co., N. Y., aged 89. They were both members of the Baptist Church at Portageville, N. Y. Children (18):

Briggs, the same year that California became a State in the Union. She was one of the passengers in the ship Republic which bore the great news of California being admitted as a State. Dr. Briggs was one of the three pioneer Methodist ministers to the land of gold and flowers. Two of their sons were in the ministry. Dr. Martin C. Briggs, D.D., was born in Ohio in 1830; he died at San Francisco, Cal., June 11, 1902. He was of commanding personality in California for more than fifty years. He came to that State in 1850 and at once took a prominent part in all of its affairs both religious and secular. As a pastor his ability and eloquence easily gave him the most influential position. He was one of the founders of the University of the Pacific and of the California Christian Advocate and was closely associated with their interests. He was a great power in the State up to the close of the Civil War. His eloquent voice was heard everywhere. No one did more than he to hold California in the Union. In recognition of this service, he was made a delegate from California to the National Convention in 1864 which gave Abraham Lincoln his second presidential nomination. BENJAMIN FRANKLIN<sup>6</sup> GREEN* (Arnold,<sup>7</sup> Nathaniel,<sup>6</sup> Rev. Nathaniel,<sup>6</sup> Nathaniel,<sup>4</sup> William,<sup>3</sup> William,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born at Pompey Hill, Onondaga Co., N. Y., July 1, 1815. Mr. Green, the father of the compiler of these notes, was still living at the time they were submitted for publication, May 23, 1910, having reached the ripe age of 95 years, with still a full share of health and happiness and having grown up with this country during its great advances in commercial and industrial life. As his pedigree shows he is of good English blood. In 1849 he came to New York City from the western part of the State and received a position as clerk with Williams, Bradford & Co., dry goods merchants. He rose rapidly in the business and soon became a partner in the firm of Goddard, Green & Co., dealers in what was then known as "Yankee Notions." Withdrawing from that house in 1861, he started a general commission business, operating with leading dry good houses. The men who were associated with him were in active business life remembered him as a genial friend full of sparkling humor and always ready with a pleasant greeting. On Jan. 6, 1841, he married Lydia M., daughter of Eliphas and Ruth (Bow) Pride, natives of Middletown, Conn. Mrs. Green was born at Hartwick, Otsego Co., N. Y., March 14, 1817. She died at her home in Orange, N. J., on Oct. 3, 1895. The fiftieth anniversary of their wedding was celebrated Jan. 6, 1891. Children (8):

- i. Virginia,<sup>o</sup> b. at Mixville, Wyoming Co., N. Y., Oct. 21, 1841; m. by the Rev. William Day to Hon. George J. Ferry (son of Sylvester and Emily (Downing) Ferry), b. Nov. 28, 1830. George J. Ferry is a merchant and banker. He united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, March 7, 1848. Removing to Newark, N. J., in Nov., 1855, he engaged in mercantile business. From the beginning of his commercial career he has been successful and prosperous amid the many fluctuations which have occurred during the last twenty-five years. He has manifested an intense interest in the educational and general benevolent agencies of the Church and has been active in promoting the spiritual culture of young people. He was a chief donor in behalf of the Centenary Collegiate Institute (Hackettstown, N. J.), having given some $100,000 for its buildings and organizations alone. He has been president of the Board of Trustees from 1868 to 1910. He was also a trustee of Wesleyan University (Middletown, Conn.), and of the Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, N. J. He was a member of the General Conference of 1876 and took an active part in its deliberations. He has been twice elected Mayor of Orange, but having little inclination for political life he retired from politics. Mr. Ferry is an ardent advocate of temperance reform and other philanthropic movements. The firm of George J. Ferry & Co., later known as Ferry & Napier and afterwards as Ferry, Weber & Co., is one of the oldest firms of hat manufacturers in Newark, N. J., engaged in the manufacture of soft fur hats; and their plant is one of the largest in America. Mr. Ferry, the founder of this important industry, is still the head of the firm. He became a practical hatter in 1856, and established business on his own individual account in Market Street, Newark. He built up a trade and pushed this industry into substantial recognition by means of his own efforts until 1879, when he admitted Ernest Napier to partnership, and adopted the firm name of Ferry & Napier. Mr. Napier retired Oct. 1, 1900, and Messrs. John Weber, George J. Ferry, Jr., William H. Ferry, Clarence Monroe Ferry and Charles Downing Ferry were admitted under the firm name of Ferry, Weber & Co. George J. Ferry, Sr., has not only been a leader in the hat industry, but has been a very prominent and popular citizen of Essex Co., N. J., in both political and social life. He has held several offices of trust in the city, and has ably served as a member of Congress, and also as before stated as Mayor of Orange, N. J. He is now an esteemed citizen of Summit, N. J., where his son Charles D. Ferry is a member of the Common Council. His four sons were all practically raised in the business and are thorough experts in hat manufacturing. Mr. Weber has been associated with the house as a salesman for fifteen years; he is a citizen of New York City and now manages the Metropolitan offices of the firm. The large works on Fifth Avenue and Fifth Street were erected and occupied in 1890; and the almost equally extensive works at Bloomfield Avenue and Third Street were built in 1897. Altogether the plant comprises six large brick buildings giving employment to about 500 hands.

INSCRIPTIONS GLEANED FROM STONES IN THE FORT ANN, N. Y., CEMETERY.

CONTRIBUTED BY STEWART H. BURNHAM of Hudson Falls, N. Y.

These data from gravestones in the old cemetery, in the southern part of the village of Fort Ann, Washington County, N. Y., on the road to Hudson Falls, were copied on May 18, 1904. The yard has been neglected for many years and is partly overgrown by thickets of rose and hazel; the graves lay on two hillocks, separated by a little hollow. The majority lie on the south hillock and there were apparently but very few, if any, unmarked by marble stones. The "Harper" stones were of a peculiar grayish hard rock, reticulated with white veins. A conspicuous Lombardy poplar stands on the north hillock.

Died April 13, 1816, Caroline Baxter in the 15 year of her age. In memory of Levi D. Baxter who died Aug. 17, 1823, aged 39 years.

NEW YORK MARRIAGE LICENSES.

CONTRIBUTED BY ROBERT H. KELBY, Librarian New York Historical Society.

In 1860 the State of New York published a volume containing a list of marriage licenses then on record in the office of the Secretary of State, Albany.

The licenses were issued under the seal of the Prerogative Court, and acted as a dispensation from the proclamation of banns, when it was inconvenient or impossible to comply with the general usage. The information given by the license, and unfortunately not printed in the volume published by the State, consisted of the town of residence and occupation of the parties to the marriage, and the prospective bride was designated as Spinster or Widow as the case might be.

In the fire at the Capitol, March 29, 1911, a number of the original manuscript volumes were saved, but all badly burned.

The following additions and corrections are from 432 original licenses, in the Archives of The New York Historical Society.

The pages mentioned in the additions and corrections refer to the volume published by the State.

General Mortimer D. Leggett removed with his father Isaac<sup>o</sup> Leggett from Ithaca, N. Y. to Montville, Geauga Co., O. in 1836, and settled on a farm there. Mortimer remained there until he was 18 years of age, then went to Kirtland Seminary, where he graduated the first of his class; later he studied law at Western Reserve University, and was admitted to the bar in 1844. The same year he received the degree of M. D. from Willoughby Medical College. He was greatly interested in the problem of free graded schools and in 1846 went to Akron, where he established the first free graded school system west of the Alleghanies. In 1857 he removed to Zanesville, where he practiced law for several years.

At the outbreak of the Civil War Gen. Leggett went with Gen. McClellan to West Va., later raised the 78th Ohio Vol. regiment, and served with distinction throughout the war, receiving the commission of Major-general in 1865. After the war he resumed the practice of law, was appointed Commissioner of Patents in 1871, resigned in 1875, and removed to Cleveland, where he resided the rest of his life. He was one of the organizers of the Brush Electric Co. and served as president of that company until 1884. His son Leverett L. Leggett who died about two years before his father, was engaged with him in the practice of patent law for several years before his death.

CORRECTIONS AND ADDITIONS TO PUBLISHED GENEALOGICAL WORKS.

Every gleaner in the field of genealogical research has met with errors in printed volumes which, left by themselves, carry mistaken conclusions to the end of time. This department has been inaugurated in an endeavor to correct such spurious data. Readers are requested to forward for publication here every such error, and such further additions to printed genealogies as are found, that due correction may be made. The authority for the statement must be furnished, with name and address of contributor.

29. VANDERHEYDEN FAMILY—CORRECTIONS AND ADDITIONS.

Vols. 45 and 46, N. Y. Gen. & Biog. Record.

Vol. 45, p. 310. No. 7. Matthys (son of Dirk), m. Margaret Bratt only. The indication of Geertruy —, as his first wife is a mistake which Pearson made, and it unwittingly was included in this record. A very apparent inaccuracy in the Albany Dutch Church records of the baptism of a child of No. 6, David Vanderheyden, is responsible for Pearson's error.

Vol. 45, p. 315. Baata Vanderheyden m. for the second time Oct. 30, 1774, in Schenectady, Johannes D. Van Vorst.

Vol. 45, p. 316. In the will of Johannes Vanderheyden, fifth line, the word "block" should be "clock."

Vol. 46, p. 9. The dates of baptisms in Schachticoke, of the children of Abraham Vanderheyden should be dates of births.

Vol. 46, p. 10. Samuel, son of Jacob D. Vanderheyden, m. Aug. 19, 1822, in New York City, Eliza Ann Douglass, dau. of John Hancock Douglass, M. D., and Elizabeth Williams. She was b. Nov. 5, 1801, in New York City, and d. April 19, 1864, in New York City. Their only child, Samuel Douglass Vanderheyden, was b. April 6, 1824, in Troy, N. Y. Samuel Douglass Vanderheyden m. Sarah Bayeaux. They had children Benjamin and Hattie, who d. in childhood, and an adopted son, Clarence, who d. a young man, unm.

Samuel Douglass Vanderheyden was a lawyer from 1852 until he enlisted at the time of the Civil War. He was very ill in a hospital in New Berne and he never fully recovered. While he did return to New York City, he soon slipped out of communication with his family. He is said to have been a strikingly handsome man with black hair, dark brown eyes and florid complexion. (Submitted by Mrs. George B. Sheppard).

Vol. 46, pp. 12 and 16. Jacob I., son of Jacob I. Vanderheyden and Maria Hallenbeck, was bapt. Nov. 2, 1778, in Cox-sackie.

Vol. 46, p. 16. Derick Yates, son of Jacob D. Vanderheyden and Jane Yates, could not have been the Derick Y. or I. Vanderheyden who was Coroner of Rensselaer County in 1820, as he was deceased then. The Coroner was probably Major Derick I. (pp. 12 and 13), or Derick I., son of Jacob I. Vanderheyden and Maria Hallenbeck (p. 12).

From some Union College Records of students and graduates:

Richard Vanderheyden, class of 1800; degree A. B.; of Troy; probably the son (Derick Y.) of No. 16, Jacob D. Vanderheyden.

Derick L. Vanderheyden, class of 1807; degrees A. B., A. M.; Lawyer; of Albany; son of No. 12, Jacob Vanderheyden.

Samuel D. Vanderheyden, class of 1819; Lawyer; of Troy; son of No. 16, Jacob D. Vanderheyden.

Jacob D. E. Vanderheyden, class of 1827; degree A. B.; of Troy; son of No. 16, Jacob D. Vanderheyden.

BOOK REVIEWS.

By JOHN R. TOTTEN.

EDITORIAL NOTE:—The New York Genealogical and Biographical Society solicits as donations to its Library all newly published works on Genealogy, History and Biography, as well as all works on Town, County and State History, or works embodying information regarding the Vital Records of any and all localities. It also solicits the donation to the manuscript collections of its library any and all manuscript compilations which bear upon the above mentioned topics.

In consideration of such donations the works so presented to the Society will be at once placed upon the shelves of its library and will be reviewed in the next subsequent issue of THE NEW YORK GENEALOGICAL AND BIOGRAPHICAL RECORD, each donation of such character, whether in printed or manuscript form, will be reviewed under the head of "Book Notices" and a copy of THE RECORD containing the review will be sent to the donor.

The Society does not solicit donations of publications or manuscripts on topics foreign to the above mentioned subjects, as its library is specialized and cannot accommodate material which does not bear directly upon its recognized sphere of usefulness.

Donations for review in the January issue of THE RECORD should be delivered to the Society before December 1st of the previous year; for the April issue, before March 1st; for the July issue, before June 1st; and for the October issue, before September 1st.

All donations will be generously reviewed with a view of calling the attention of the public to their good points; but, while generous, the reviews will contain such proper criticism as the interest of the genealogical student would expect from the editorial staff of THE RECORD.

The "Book Notices" of THE RECORD are carefully read by all librarians as well as genealogical students, and the review of a work in THE RECORD is equivalent to a special advertisement of such work.

Letters of transmittal of donations of such works should embody the price of the work donated and the name and address of the person from whom it can be purchased.

IN MEMORIAM OF WILLIAM THORNTON PARKER, JR., B. S. Beloved son of William Thornton and Elizabeth (Stebbins) Parker, January 3rd, 1876-June 7, 1900. 8vo, cloth, pp. 131, illustrated. No price stated. Address: Dr. W. Thornton Parker, Valley View, 65 Columbus Avenue, Northampton, Mass.

A beautiful tribute to a departed loved one; and while mainly biographical in its character, yet contains much of interest to the genealogist.

BRYANT FAMILY HISTORY, Ancestry and Descendants of David Bryant (1756) of Springfield, N. J.; Washington Co., Pa.; Knox Co., Ohio; and Wolf Lake, Noble Co., Ind. Compiled by Clara Vaile Braidon. 8vo, cloth, pp. 258, including index, illustrated. Price, cloth, $3.50; full morocco, $5.00. Address: Miss Ida E. Fisher, Hebron, Ind., or Mrs. C. V. Braidon, 401 South 3rd St., Rochelle, Ill.

A most commendable production giving the record of the ancestor and his descendants to the 9th generation, inclusive. Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

BACON GENEALOGY. Michael Bacon of Dedham, 1630, and his Descendants, by Thomas W. Baldwin, A. B., S. B., Member of N. E. Hist. Gen. Society and Author of "Memoir of Col. Jeduthan Baldwin" and the "Patten Genealogy." 8vo, cloth, pp. 420, including index, illustrated, 1915. Price, $8.00. Address: author, No. 41 Hawthorn St., Cambridge, Mass.

A most excellent compilation. It contains the record of the descendants of Michael Bacon to the 11th generation, inclusive; and also the records of the descendants of John and Nabby (Perry) Bacon. The work bears all evidence of careful compilation and will be welcomed by those of the blood. It is heartily recommended to all genealogical libraries.

THE HISTORY OF NEW IPSWICH, NEW HAMPSHIRE, 1735-1914, with genealogical records of the principal families, compiled and written by Charles Henry Chandler with the assistance of Sarah Fiske Lee. Octavo, cloth, pp. 782, including index, illustrated. Price, $5.00. Address: Miss Sarah Fiske Lee, New Ipswich, N. H.

A most valuable addition to the history and genealogy of this old New Hampshire town. The historical portion is most valuable and contains much of great interest to the genealogist. The genealogical section from page 171 to 720, inclusive, is the feature which most attracts us naturally and it renders the work invaluable to genealogists. Heartily recommended to all historical and genealogical libraries.

THE CLAN McNARY OF THE U. S. A. Probable Ethnic Origin, Clan Traditions and Time of Immigration, by Joseph Rea McNary. 1914. 8vo. paper, pp. 79. Price, $1.00. Address: author, Burgettstown, Pa.

An interesting volume of genealogical interest, recommended to genealogical libraries.

THE ANCESTRY OF KATHARINE CHLOATE PAUL (now Mrs. William J. Young, Jr.), compiled by Edward Joy Paul, A.M. 1914. 8vo, cloth, pp. 386, including index, illustrated. Price, $3.50. Address: Mrs. W. J. Young, Jr., 545 Fifth Avenue, Clinton, Iowa.

This work is not a genealogy, but rather a compilation of the blood lines of the author, and includes valuable genealogical material relative to some 100 families with which she is connected by blood. Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

READ GENEALOGIES, of the brothers and sisters, Israel, Abner, John, Polly (Read) Hetherington, William, Wolcott, Lewis and Nathaniel, compiled by Rev. Henry Martyn Dodd, A.B., A.M., of Clinton, N. Y. 8vo, cloth, pp. 278+ index and a supplement which adds valuable matter to the original work. Price, $2.50, postage 13 cents extra. Address: compiler at Clinton, N. Y.

A very creditable genealogical publication replete with matter of vital interest to those of the blood of the above mentioned progenitors. Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

BRETT GENEALOGY, Bretts in England, William Brett, Roger Brett. Compiled by Mrs. Lucy B. Goodenow. 8vo, cloth, pp. 535, including excellent index, illustrated. 1915. Price, cloth, $8.00; half morocco, $10.00; full morocco, $12.00. Address: compiler, 3089 Broadway, New York City

This is a first class genealogy constructed along standard lines; and, as it is the first Brett genealogy published, it will be the more welcome to the genealogical public. It contains a colored illustration of the Brett arms and a full description of the same; a section on the Bretts in England; the record of William<sup>1</sup> Brett and his descendants to the eleventh generation; a section on Roger Brett and his descendants; and an appendix containing much matter of interest to those of Brett blood. Heartily recommended to all genealogical libraries.

THE MCCLURE FAMILY, by James Alexander McClure. 1914. 8vo, cloth, pp. 224+6 pp. index, illustrated. Price, $4.00 postpaid. Address: author, 419 West Washington Street, Petersburg, Va.

A commendable work, although not constructed along standard genealogical lines. It contains an account of the origin and meaning of the name "McClure"; the family in Scotland and Ireland; the Colonial families and first settlers of the name in New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Vermont, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky, and something of their descendants in these and other States. Colonial, Revolutionary, War of 1812, and Civil War services. Early marriages and wills; other genealogical and historical data. Appendix, giving in outline the Alexander, Bumgardner, Gilkeson, Humphreys, Pilson, Sproul, Steele, Tate and Wallace families of Augusta County, Va. Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

HISTORY OF CHESHIRE, CONN., from 1694 to 1840, including Prospect, which, as Columbia Parish, was a part of Cheshire until 1829. Compiled and written by Joseph Perkins Beach. 1912. 8vo, cloth, pp. 574, illustrated. Table of contents, no index. Price, cloth, $4.00; special binding, $7.50. Address: Lady Fenwick Chapter, D. A. R., Cheshire, Conn. Checks made payable to Mary Brown Stoddard.

This work is a notably good example of a town history and besides the excellent historical matter of its contents contains the baptismal records of Parson Hall and those of Parson Foot (baptisms) and the town vital records, births, marriages and deaths and other important vital statistics which for the most part are arranged alphabetically, which renders the lack of index immaterial. Heartily recommended to all genealogical libraries.

ANNIVERSARY HISTORY OF LEHIGH VALLEY COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA, and a Genealogical and Biographical Record of its families, by Charles Rhoads Roberts, Rev. John Baer Stoudt, Rev. Thomas H. Krick and William J.

Dietrich. Quarto, 3 volumes, pp. 1101, 779+xi, 1467+xi, illustrated, each volume indexed. Price, $18.00. Address: William J. Dietrich, 242 N. 6th St., Allentown, Pa.

In the first volume of this exceptionally excellent work the history of the County and its various townships is set forth in an elaborate and convincing manner. Volumes II and III are devoted exclusively to Biographical and Genealogical records of the County families and contains a fund of material which will be gratefully received by the genealogical public. The three volumes are enriched by numerous illustrations of County interest and with portraits of individuals in connection with the biographical and genealogical data. The work is a valuable addition to local Pennsylvania history, biography and genealogy. It is recommended to all historical and genealogical libraries.

PIONEER SETTLERS OF GRAYSON COUNTY, VIRGINIA, by B. F. Nuckolls, of Galax, Va. 8vo, cloth, pp. 206, illustrated, table of contents, no name index. Price, cloth, $1.50; leather, $2.00. Address: author, c/o Cleveland National Bank, Cleveland, Tenn.

This is a most commendable work and gives valuable information relative to the early settlers of this portion of Virginia. Among the families whose history is recorded are to be found the following surnames: Asbury, Anderson, Bourne, Blair, Bryan, Canute, Coltrane, Cornett, Cooley, Carico, Cox, Dow, Dickey, Dickenson, Davis, Early, Felts, Fulton, Garland, Garrison, Goodykoontz, Gwyn, Hale, Hash, Hanks, Isom, Jones, Johnston, Kyle, Kenny, La Rowe, Lenoir, Lundy, McCamant, Moore, McMillan, Nuckolls, Oglesby, Osborne, Pendleton, Perkins, Pugh, Phipps, Phlegar, Piper, Reeves, Swift, Smith, Scott, Sheffy, Thomas, Vaughn, Ward, Worrell, Waugh and Young. Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

CHISOLM GENEALOGY, 1254-1914. Being a record of the name from A. D. 1254, with short sketches of allied families, by William Garnett Chisolm, LL.B., of No. 925 Cathedral St., Baltimore, Md., member of Society of Colonial Wars. Knickerbocker Press. 1914. 8vo, full morocco, pp. 95, including index, with frontispiece of Chisholm Arms in black and white on vellum paper. Privately printed. Not for sale.

This beautifully presented volume contains exhaustive information relative to the origin of this old South Carolina family and gives the genealogical record of the emigrant ancestor and much genealogical matter relative to the descendants of this ancestor in America. It forms an authoritative basis for a complete genealogy of this family which we hope will appear in the future. The volume is enriched by a complete list of the authorities consulted in the compilation and we congratulate ourselves on having been presented with a copy. Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

HISTORY OF THE PROVINCE OF PENNSYLVANIA, by Samuel Smith. Edited by William M. Mervine. Published by the Colonial Society of Pennsylvania. Press of J. B. Lippincott Co., Philadelphia, Pa. 1913. 8vo, buckram, pp. 231, including index. Price, $2.50. Address: The Colonial Society of Pennsylvania, 1300 Locust Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Samuel Smith, the author of the original manuscript of this volume, was born December 13, 1720, and died July 13, 1776. He was the author of the History of New Jersey, published in 1765. The volume under review, therefore, gives a contemporaneous statement of facts relating to the settlement and development of Pennsylvania and is rendered the more valuable on account of the early atmosphere surrounding the work. Recommended to all historical libraries.

RECORDS OF THE COURTS OF CHESTER COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA, 1681-1697. Published by The Colonial Society of Pennsylvania. 1910. 8vo, buckram, pp. 430, including index. Price, $5.00. Address: The Colonial Society of Pennsylvania, 1300 Locust Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

A most valuable addition to the historical record of this old County of Pennsylvania. The records of this period are full of information relative to the inhabitants at that time and will be of much value as corroborative evidence to genealogical searchers. Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

HORACE WARD BAILEY, Vermonters, A Memorial by his friends, compiled and edited by Frank L. Fish. Privately printed. 1914. Price not stated. Address: The Tuttle Company, 11-13 Center St., Rutland, Vt.

A most interesting presentation of the life activities of this well known and honored Vermonters. It is heartily recommended to all biographical and genealogical libraries.

JOHN CARY, THE PLYMOUTH PILGRIM, by Rev. Seth C. Cary. 8vo, cloth, pp. 274, including index, with colored plate of Cary Arms and other illustrations. 1911. Price, $5.25. Address: author, No. 43 Moultrie St., Dorchester Center, Boston, Mass.

A most excellent presentation of the genealogical record of John Cary, the emigrant ancestor, and his descendants and will be welcomed by all of the blood. It is recommended to all genealogical libraries.

GENEALOGY OF THE VAN PELT FAMILY, compiled by Effie M. Smith from Records of Family, Church, State and Nation. 8vo, cloth, pp. 251, including index, and colored plate of Van Pelt Arms and other illustrations. Chicago, 1913. Price, cloth, $5.00; half leather, $7.00. Address: Mrs. Effie M. Smith, City National Bank Bldg., Omaha, Neb.

A valuable addition to the genealogy of this family in America, and as such it is heartily recommended to all genealogical libraries.

HISTORY OF THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH, of Athol, Mass., by William G. Lord, and The Story of the Auxiliary Organizations, by Mary B. Lord. 8vo, cloth, pp. 96, including index, illustrated. Price, cloth, $1.00; paper, 75 cents. Address: William G. Lord, Athol, Mass.

An excellent work containing much information of value to genealogists. Recommended to genealogical libraries.

THE COLONIAL SOCIETY OF PENNSYLVANIA. Charter, Constitution, By-laws, Officers, Committees, Members, etc. 8vo, cloth, pp. 174, including index. Published by the Society, 1914. No price stated. Address: Society, 1300 Locust St., Philadelphia, Pa.

An admirable year book, rendered the more valuable as it gives the main pedigrees of its members and also statement of many supplemental lines of descent. Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

ANDOVER, MASS., THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY, General Catalogue, 1808-1908. 8vo, cloth, pp. 568. Edited by C. C. Carpenter. Price not stated. Address: Secretary of Seminary, Andover, Mass.

A most excellent example of a College General Catalogue, full of genealogical information. Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

THE MEMOIR OF THOMAS ADDIS EMMET AND OF ROBERT EMMET, by Dr. Thomas Addis Emmet. 8vo, cloth, 2 volumes, pp. 589+644, with index in each volume and with 112 full page illustrations. Published in 1915. Price, $10.00. Address: Emmet Press, 16 E. 40th St., New York City.

"A book by Doctor Thomas Addis Emmet, on the subject about which he is above all men most competent to write, needs no recommendation.

"The venerable writer, now in his eighty-eighth year, has succeeded not only in compiling all that is most authentic about the lives of Dr. Thomas Addis and Robert Emmet, but also in breathing into his pages their undying spirit of patriotism and self-sacrifice in Ireland's cause.

"That spirit is manifestly strong in the writer himself, and these two volumes, a treasure-trove of Ireland's most sacred traditions, will keep it alive and potent in his fellow countrymen for ages to come."

Those of the blood as well as those interested in biography and genealogy will enthusiastically welcome this monumental contribution to the history of this noted Irish Family. We regard it as one of the notable publications of its kind of the year and congratulate the author on the completion of a labor of love brought to so creditable a conclusion. Recommended to all general reference, historical, biographical and genealogical libraries.

A HANDBOOK HISTORY OF THE TOWN OF YORK (MAINE), 1623-1914, From Early Times to the Present, by Edward C. Moody. 8vo, cloth, pp. 251. Price, $1.50. Address: author, York Village, Me.

A valuable addition to the historical information extant on this old Maine town. Contains much data of value to genealogists. Recommended to all historical and genealogical libraries.

THE PIONEER FAMILIES OF CLEVELAND (OHIO), 1796-1840, by Gertrude Van Rensselaer Wickham. 8vo, buckram, 2 vols., pp. 694, with index in 2nd volume. 1914. Price, $5.00; autograph copy, $6.00. Address: author, 1712 E. 89th St., Cleveland, Ohio, or publishers, Burrows Brothers Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

These volumes are a compendium of the history, genealogy and romance of this flourishing Ohio city. "All intelligent users of books will be happy in the splendid index of these two volumes, which experts consider complete.

"The index of 51 pages is divided into five parts: Pioneer families; general index; all cities and towns mentioned; soldiers and patriots of the Revolutionary War; maps."

The volumes are replete with genealogical data and will be found an important mine of information for genealogists, as it would seem that the pioneer families of that city have been fully canvassed. Recommended to all historical, genealogical and general reference libraries.

A most interesting and valuable contribution to the local history of New York City. Recommended to historical and general reference libraries.

SPENCER FULLERTON BAIRD, a Biography, by William Healey Dall, A.M., D.Sc. 8vo, cloth, pp. 462, including index, with 19 illustrations. Price, $3.50 net. 1915. Address: publishers, J. B. Lippincott Company, Philadelphia, Pa.

"Natural History in America is most of all indebted to two remarkable men, Professor Louis Agassiz and Professor Spencer F. Baird.

"Their activities in a public sense in this country began about the same time, Agassiz, the enthusiastic, inspiring teacher, and Baird, the efficient, hard working and lovable organizer, complemented each other.

"Professor Baird was a born naturalist and organizer of methods and men. His biography is not a history of explorations nor a record of technical investigations; but an account of the life and relation to them of a singularly eminent, able, efficient and modest devotee of the natural sciences.

"Apart from the scientific side of the activities it endeavors to make the reader acquainted with the characteristics of a pure and lovable leader of men to whose modesty and self-sacrifice the country owes a debt which is still appreciated only by a select few."

Recommended to general reference and historical and biographical libraries.

CHRONICLES OF ERTHIG ON THE DYKE, by Albinia Lucy Cust (Mrs. Wherry). 8vo, cloth, 2 vols., pp. 361+348, including index in 2nd volume with some 33 full-page illustrations. Price, $7.50 net, postage extra. 1914. Address: John Lane Company, Publishers, 116-120 W. 32d St., New York City.

It is difficult within the space of a formal review to do credit to the manifest merits of this excellent work. It contains chapters on Erthig on the Dyke; on John Meller and the Meller Family; Simon Yorke, the first of Erthig; Philip Yorke, the first of Erthig, and Simon Yorke, the second of Erthig. The volumes are replete with valuable genealogical data and interesting historical notes and the volumes are heartily recommended to genealogical and historical societies.

MAGNA CHARTA BARONS AND THEIR DESCENDANTS, with the story of the great Charter of King John; sketches of the celebrated twenty-five sureties for its observance, and their lineal descents from them of the members of the Baronial Order of Rannemede, by Charles H. Browning, Genealogist to the Baronial Order. Quarto, buckram, pp. 366, including index, illustrated. Issued 1914 under the auspices of the Publication Committee of the Baronial Order, John B. Clements, Charles Marshall, Joseph A. Steinmetz. Price, $20.00. Address: John B. Clement, Keeper of the Purse, Baronial Order of Rannemede, No. 3801 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

This beautifully presented volume contains chapters on the Story of the Magna Charta; A Statement of the Contents of the Charta; List of Magna Charta Barons; Memoirs of the Magna Charta Sureties with pedigree of each; Statutes of the Baronial Order of Rannemede, and finally, from page 147 to end of volume, page 347 (200 pages), the Pedigrees of Members of the Baronial Order of Rannemede.

It is the latter section of the volume that renders it unique and valuable to genealogists, wherein the pedigrees of the members of this order are given in full back to the Magna Charta Baron ancestor, thus establishing many lines of ascent heretofore not published. It is presumed that the genealogist of the order has amongst the archives of the Society the vital facts relative to each generation of the pedigrees published. These vital facts are not published in the volume, the mere line being sketched back to Magna Charta ancestor. The historical matter of the volume is excellent and we heartily recommend it to all general reference, historical and genealogical libraries.

HISTORY OF SCRANTON, PA., AND ITS PEOPLE, by Col. Frederick L. Hitchcock, Attorney at Law, late Col. U. S. V., War 1861-65. Quarto, half morocco, 2 vols., pp. 532+695, illustrated. Index in 2nd volume. Published by the Lewis Historical Publishing Co., 265 Broadway, N. Y. City. 1914. Price, $25.00. Address: publishers.

This is another of the excellent series of publications of the Lewis Historical Publishing Co. The first volume is devoted to the history of the City of Scranton and is full and complete in its details. The second volume is devoted exclusively to biographical sketches of those prominent in the affairs of the city and will be of value to genealogists and historians. Recommended to all general reference and genealogical libraries.

GEORGE CLINTON BATCHELLER.

BY HOPPER STRIKER MOTT.

This Society has lost a valued member in the person of George Clinton Batcheller, who died at his home, No. 237 West 72nd Street, on Monday, Jan. 25, 1915, in his 81st year. He had just completed arrangements to go to Palm Beach to spend the winter.

Of a distinguished Colonial family, Mr. Batcheller was born at Grafton, Mass., Sept. 27, 1834. He descended from Hon. Joseph Batcheller of Canterbury, England, who emigrated to America in 1636 with his wife Elizabeth, one child and three servants, and brothers Henry and John, settling first at Salem and later at Wenham. He was the first representative from that town to the General Court in Boston in 1644. He died in 1647.

John Batcheller, the son, bap. in the First Church in Salem, Jan. 20, 1638; m. (1) July 12, 1661, Mary Dennis, d. June 26, 1665; m. (2) May 4, 1666, Sarah Goodale, dau. of Robert of Salem; d. March 22, 1729. He was one of the jury that tried the famous witchcraft cases in Salem. His will dated Dec. 16, 1698, is of record in Old Series Book 6, April, 1667, to Dec., 1699, vol. 306, p. 141, Essex Co., Mass. His ninth child was David Batcheller, b. at Wenham, Mass., 1673; m. May 7, 1709, Susanna Whipple of Ipswich; d. June 13, 1764. He served as Town Clerk from 1744 to 1748. His will was probated at Ipswich, March 11, 1766.

Capt. Abraham Batcheller, their son, b. at Wenham, June 5, 1722; m. May 15, 1751, Sarah Newton of Westboro, to which town he removed. Soon after his marriage he removed to Sutton where their eight children grew up. In 1763 he was elected Selectman as "Abraham Batcheller." The following year he held the same office and was called "Ensign Abraham," as he was in 1765 and 1766. In the year 1773 as a member of the Selectmen he was called "Lieut. Abraham" and the same in 1782, and in later records he is referred to as Capt. Abraham. He died Jan. 31, 1813. The will is on file in the Worcester Probate Office. One of his sons was

Abner Batcheller, who was born at Sutton, Sept. 1, 1755; m. Feb. 22, 1781, Prudence Leland, b. Aug. 8, 1759, dau. Moses and

Mrs. Abigail (Robbins) Leland; d. 1827. He served in Col. Ebenezer Learned's company that marched from Sutton on the alarm to Concord, April 19, 1775, and also took part in the movement on Dorchester Heights, March 4, 1776, which resulted in the hasty evacuation of Boston.

Moses Batcheller, a son, was born at Sutton, Nov. 22, 1784; m. (1) April 18, 1802, Rachel Wakefield, b. June 12, 1777, dau. Jonathan, Jr.; m. (2) Jan. 7, 1807, Polly Chase, b. Jan. 25, 1791; d. Jan. 16, 1871. At the age of 14 he went to Boston, enlisted in the U. S. Navy, and was assigned as cabin boy to the Frigate Constitution, then in command of Capt. Isaac Hull. After serving his time he returned to Sutton and became a manufacturer of scythes in which business he continued during life, with plants at Grafton, Mass., and Burrillville, R. I. Aquilla Chase, the ancestor of Mrs. Batcheller, was a mariner and came from Cornwall, England, in 1640, to Hampton, N. H. He removed to Newbury, Mass., where he d. in 1670. Moses Batcheller d. Nov. 2, 1864, at Grafton. His first son and second child was named Moses Leland Batcheller and was born Dec. 3, 1809. He m. there Nov. 13, 1833, Sarah Ann Phillips, b. July 19, 1813, dau. of Ebenezer and Sally Leathe. He entered his father's business. His wife was a descendant of Rev. George Phillips, who came from Norfolk, England, in 1630. Her grandfather Ebenezer Phillips enlisted April 24, 1775, and served as a sergeant in Capt. Luke Drury's company and was at the battle of Bunker Hill under the immediate command of Gen. Warren.

George Clinton Batcheller, their first child and the subject of this biography, received his early education at the local grammar school and graduated from the Barre Academy, Vermont, in 1855. The College of William and Mary conferred the degree of LL.D. upon him in 1907 and the Ohio Northern University that of L.H.D. in 1913. His business career started in 1855 in the dry goods house of Turner, Wilson & Co. of Boston, with which firm he remained until 1857 when he became a member of the firm of Nichols & Batcheller. In 1865 he organized Langdon, Batcheller & Co., now George C. Batcheller & Co. with factories at Bridgeport, Conn., and Newark, N. J., and employing more than 2000 persons. He was president of this company and of the Crown Corset Co., the Connecticut Clasp Co., and the Crown Paper Box Co. of Bridgeport. He was also President of the Board of Trustees of St. Andrew's Methodist Episcopal Church of this city, from which church his funeral took place on January 27th.

Mr. Batcheller was a member of the Chamber of Commerce, of the New England Society, the Merchants' Association, the Bibliophile Society, the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society which he joined on Jan. 17, 1910, and the American Flag Association. He was a charter member of the American Flag House and Betsy Ross Memorial Association and a Governor of the Society of Founders and Patriots of America. He was likewise a Son of the American Revolution, a member of the Washington Continental Guard, of John A. Dix Post, G. A. R. the West End Association and Ye Olde Settlers of Ye West Side. One of the last public functions he attended was the dinner of the latter society at the Hotel Majestic a few days prior to his decease. A lover of art he also had a literary turn of mind and devoted many leisure hours to his library which contained miscellaneous and standard works by the best authors. His clubs were the Union League, Republican, Lotus, Patria and Merchants' in this City and the Pilgrims and American Universities in London. He is survived by his second wife, who was Miss Truene Ruth Geddes of Boston.

The following memorial prepared by A. Otis Walker Esq., was unanimously adopted by the West End Association at its meeting held on February 1, 1915 :

"Again death has invaded our ranks and removed from our companionship an old and respected member of this Association. George Clinton Batcheller died at his home in the City of New York on January 25th, 1915, after an illness of a single day, at the ripe age of eighty years. It had been my good fortune to know Mr. Batcheller for over twenty years, and during that period I learned to admire his many sterling qualities. Coming of old New England stock, his entire life has been spent in mercantile pursuits in which he achieved marked success. He was much interested in patriotic work and belonged to a number of patriotic societies. One of his principal achievements in that direction was the purchase and presentation to a patriotic society of the Betsy Ross house in Philadelphia, where the first American flag was made. His hobby was the purchase of rare books, of which he had a large and valuable collection. An entire story of his residence on West 72nd Street was used to house this collection, and it was indeed a pleasure to wander among these books, as I have done in company with the owner, and listen to his comments upon them. Mr. Batcheller was a man whose appearance indicated youthfulness rather than age. He had the characteristics of a man of sixty, rather than those of an octogenarian. In his relations with his fellow men his manner was marked by geniality rare in men of his age, and his cheery smile was always in evidence. He had been a member of this Association for thirty-one years and for many years had been chairman of its Finance Committee. From month to month he was accustomed to be with us at the meetings of the Executive Committee, where his suggestions were always listened to with great respect, and where his presence was a source of pleasure to us all. We shall miss him in the future councils of that Committee as will the members of this Association at its monthly meetings. To his young wife we tender our sympathy and remind her that her husband has left behind him an honored name, which will be to her a goodly heritage."

JOHN DENISON CHAMPLIN.

BY JOHN DENISON CHAMPLIN, JR.

John Denison Champlin was born in Stonington, Conn., Jan. 29, 1834, and died in New York City, Jan. 8, 1915. He was the son of John Denison Champlin and Sylvia Bostwick. He married at Litchfield, Conn., Oct. 8, 1873, Franka E. Colvocoresses, daughter of Capt. George M. Colvocoresses, United States Navy.

Mr. Champlin was the direct descendant of:

1. GEOFFREY, JOEFFREY or JEFFREY CHAMPLIN, who was of the Island of Aquidneck, now Rhode Island, in 1638. He settled first at Pocasset (Portsmouth), on the north end of the island, but removed the next year to Newport, at the south end. He was admitted an inhabitant of the island the 24th of the 11th month, 1638, and a freeman, Sept. 14, 1640. In 1661 he removed, with many others, to Misquamacut (Westerly), in the Narragansett country, but returned to Newport in 1675-6, during King Philip's War, and possibly died there. He is mentioned in 1695, by his son Jeffrey in a deed as "my deceased father." Geoffrey Champlin married, probably in Newport, previous to 1650, but the name of his wife has not been preserved. He had, so far as is known, but three children, all of whom left descendants.

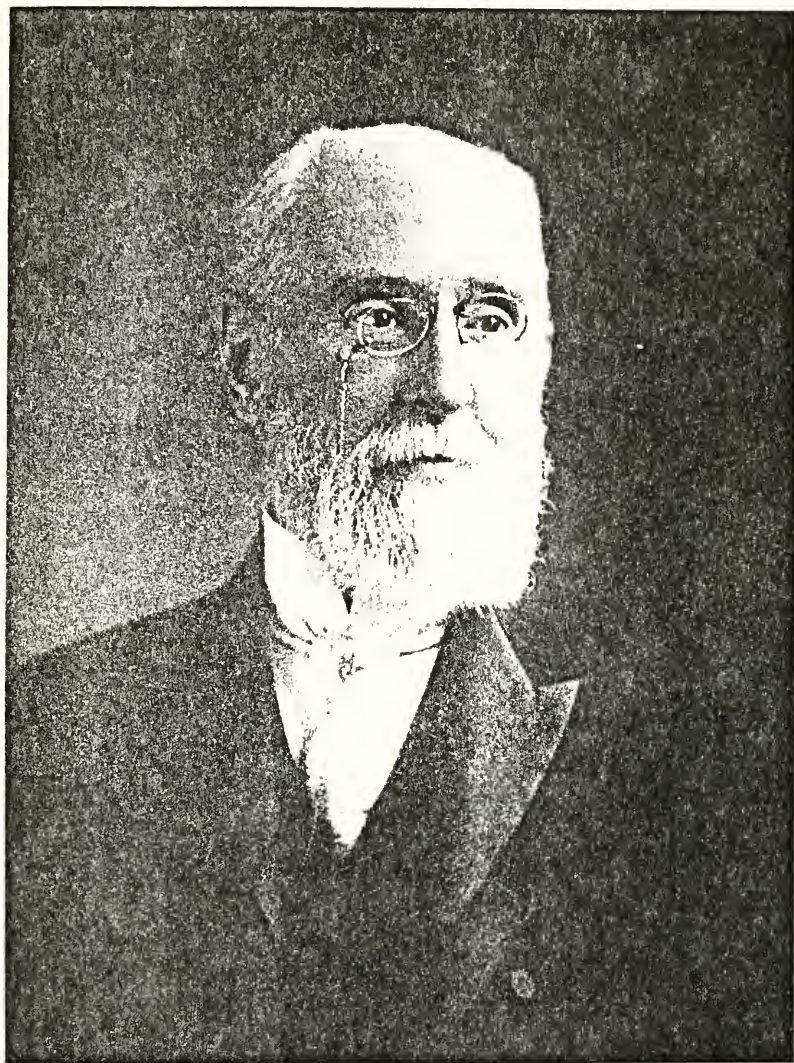

- i. Jeffrey, b. about 1650; d. Kingstown, R. I., in 1715. He was the ancestor of Commodore Stephen Champlin, U. S. N., and of Dr. James Tift Champlin, President of Colby University.
- 2 ii. William, b. in 1654; d. at Westerly, R. I., Dec. 1, 1715.
- iii. Christopher, b. about 1656; d. at Westerly, April 2, 1732. He was the ancestor of George Champlin, member of the Continental Congress, and of Christopher Grant Champlin, U. S. Senator of Rhode Island, in 1809.

2: WILLIAM CHAMPLIN, born in 1654; married about 1674, Mary Babcock, dau. of Capt. James and Sarah (—) Babcock of Westerly. He was twenty-one years old in 1675, when King Philip's War broke out. With other young men of the neighborhood he at once volunteered and served in the several campaigns, both in Narragansett and elsewhere. Though we have no documentary proof of it, he probably took part in the Great Swamp fight in December, 1675, as he was one of the 185 volunteers who received in 1696 from the General Court of Connecticut, for services in the war, the grant of six miles square, comprised in the present town of Voluntown.

He was admitted a freeman at Westerly, Oct. 17, 1679.

In 1683-4 he is recorded a juryman; in 1684-5 a member of the Town Council, and in 1687, when the name of Westerly was changed to Haversham by Sir Edmond Andros, was appointed with John Maxon, to go to Boston to "present a petition to his excellency for a towne Charter and to prosecute the same." In 1690 he is called Captain and was chosen one of the Deputies to represent Westerly in the first General Assembly summoned after Andros' deposition. From this time to 1712 he is recorded as a moderator of nearly every Town Meeting and as Deputy to the General Assembly at nearly every session, in all twenty-three times. In 1699 he was one of the six Commissioners for Rhode Island to confer with the Commissioners of Connecticut in reference to the settlement of the boundary line between the two colonies.

Captain William Champlin died at Westerly, Dec. 1, 1715, in his sixty-second year, and was buried in the family burial ground about four miles from Westerly, where his tombstone still remains. Mrs. Mary (Babcock) Champlin, his widow, died intestate at Westerly in the spring of 1747, aged about ninety-two years. The inventory of her personal estate amounted to £508-13. They had three children:

- i. Mary, b. in 1675; m. in 1700, John Babcock, of John and Mary (Lawton) Babcock.
- 3 ii. William, b. 1677; m. Jan. 18, 1700, Mary Clarke, of Joseph and Bethiah (Hubbard) Clarke.
- iii. Ann, b. in 1678-9; m. Jan. 19, 1698-9, Samuel Clarke, of Joseph and Bethiah (Hubbard) Clarke.

3. WILLIAM CHAMPLIN, married Jan. 18, 1700, Mary, daughter of Joseph and Bethiah (Hubbard) Clarke of Westerly. He was a Justice in Westerly and held other offices. He represented the town in the General Assembly in 1728, 1731 and 1732. He was a large landholder. He died in 1746. His will is dated Aug. 3, 1746; executor, son William; inventory of personal estate, Dec. 29, 1746-7, £821-4-9. Mrs. Mary (Clarke) Champlin, born in Westerly, Dec. 27, 1780; died there in 1760. She was the granddaughter of Joseph Clarke of Westhorpe, Suffolk, England, and grandniece of Dr. John Clarke, one of the principal founders of Rhode Island, several time Deputy Governor, and long the Colony's agent in London, through whose efforts the Charter of 1663 was obtained from Charles II. All their children were born in Westerly. The first two are of record, the others are given in the order of mention in William's will:

- 4 i. William, b. May 31, 1702; m. Nov. 1, 1721, Sarah Thompson.
- ii. Jeffrey, b. March 6, 1704; m. 1724, Mary Maxon, of Joseph and Tacy (Burdick) Maxon.
- iii. Joseph, b. about 1706; m. 1730, Deborah Burdick, of Samuel and Mary (—) Burdick.
- iv. Samuel, b. about 1708; m. 1735, Prudence Thompson, of Capt. Isaac and Mary (Holmes) Thompson.
- v. Joshua, b. about 1710; m. June 11, 1730, Bridget Thompson, of Capt. Isaac and Mary (Holmes) Thompson.

- vi. James, b. about 1712; m. Jan. 15, 1734-5, Prudence Hallam, of Amos and Phoebe (Greenman) Hallam.
- vii. Susanna, b. about 1714; m. Nov. 1, 1742, Samuel Stanton, of Samuel and Lois (Cobb) Stanton.

4. WILLIAM CHAMPLIN, b. May 31, 1702; m. Nov. 1, 1721, Sarah Thompson, daughter of Captain Isaac and Mary Holmes Thompson of Westerly. He held various town offices and in 1734-6 was Ensign of the 1st Co. of Westerly Infantry. He represented Westerly in the General Assembly in 1741 and 1742. He died in Westerly, April 14, 1774; will dated Feb. 15, 1774. Mrs. Sarah (Thompson) Champlin, born in Westerly, March 3, 1703, died there. Children:

- i. Mary, b. July 13, 1722; m. Aug. 9, 1738, Joseph Stanton, of Joseph and Esther (Gathyp) Stanton.
- ii. Samuel, b. Oct. 6, 1724; m. 1744, Hannah Gardner, of Henry and — (—) Gardner.
- iii. Jeffrey, b. Sept. 30, 1726; d. young.
- iv. Ann, b. Jan. 15, 1729; m. 1746, Joseph Pendleton, Jr., of Joseph and Sarah (Worden) Pendleton.
- 5 v. William, b. Aug. 14, 1731; m. Dec. 4, 1751, Sarah Pendleton, of Joseph and Sarah (Worden) Pendleton.
- vi. John, b. Sept. 30, 1733; m. —.
- vii. Sarah, b. March 5, 1735; m. June 16, 1751, Sylvester Pendleton, of Joseph and Sarah (Worden) Pendleton.
- viii. Oliver, b. Aug. 21, 1737; d. unm., April 5, 1791.
- ix. Anstis, b. Oct. 8, 1739; m. 1758, John Dunbar.
- x. Rowland, b. Jan. 8, 1741-2; m. Dec. 21, 1763, Hannah Stetson.
- xi. Eunice, b. Feb. 15, 1744; m. Aug. 24, 1764, Daniel Larkin.

5. WILLIAM CHAMPLIN, born Aug. 14, 1731; married Dec. 4, 1751, Sarah Pendleton, daughter of Joseph and Sarah (Worden) Pendleton of Westerly. A large landholder in Westerly, he had, like other Narragansett planters, a house in Newport, and alternated between his home there and the farm, part of his family remaining in one place and part in the other. In 1768 he was Lieutenant of the 2nd Co. of Westerly Infantry, and in 1776 was chosen Captain of the 4th Co. of the 1st Newport County Regiment. At the outbreak of hostilities he was preparing to retire to Westerly when he was surprised, with many others, by the sudden occupation of Newport by the British (Dec. 7, 1776), and was obliged to remain there until Oct., 1779, when the Americans regained possession. Though thus forced by circumstances to remain neutral during the early part of the Revolution, he always favored the patriotic cause, and in 1779 contributed £20 to the Continental Loan. At the close of the war he did what he could to build up the new government, and in 1789 was one of the committee of five, including Isaac Senter, Christopher Champlin,

Daniel Mason and George Gibbs, appointed in Newport to draft instructions to its Deputies in the General Assembly, impressing upon them the necessity of calling a convention for the adoption of the Constitution of the United States.

Mr. William Champlin died in Westerly, Oct. 17, 1798. Mrs. Sarah (Pendleton) Champlin, born in Westerly, Aug. 7, 1734; died there April 24, 1799. Children:

  - i. William, b. Aug. 13, 1752; m. 1780, Elizabeth Wells, of James and Ruth (Hannah) Wells.
  - ii. Anne, b. May 19, 1754; m. Aug. 17, 1777, Dr. Isaac Ross Bliven, of Major Edward and — (—) Bliven.
  - iii. Lucy, b. May 17, 1756; m. 1783, Arnold Clarke, of Rev. Joshua and Hannah (Cottrell) Clarke.
  - iv. Deborah, b. April 12, 1758; m. Nov. 21, 1779, Fones Greene, of Samuel and Elizabeth (Marshall) Greene.

7. ISAAC CHAMPLIN, born Nov. 20, 1781; married Nov. 8, 1807, Mary Denison, daughter of John and Edith (Brown) Denison of Stonington, Conn. In early life he was a prominent merchant in Westerly and for many years a director in the Washington Bank, founded in 1800. In 1811-13 he was Brigade Quartermaster of the 3rd Brigade of Washington County, and in 1814-17 Brigade Inspector of the same, with the rank of Major. In 1824-30 he was a Justice of the Peace in Westerly, and he represented the town in the General Assembly in 1819-20, 1824-25, and in 1830. He removed in 1830 to Stonington, where he was Postmaster during the administration of General Jackson. Major Champlin died in Stonington, Aug. 8, 1861. Mrs. Mary (Denison) Champlin, born in Stonington, Oct. 14, 1787; died there, Jan. 30, 1862, Children:

8. JOHN DENISON CHAMPLIN, born Dec. 5, 1810; married (1) Sept. 12, 1831, Sylvia Bostwick, daughter of Joel and Nancy (Stone) Bostwick of New Milford, Conn., who was born in New Milford, Conn., Dec. 5, 1810, and died in Lexington, Ky., March 5, 1856. John Denison Champlin married (2) April 5, 1857, in St. Louis, Mo., Nora Crusman, daughter of General Cornelius Crusman of Clarksville, Tenn., who was born in Clarksville, April 8, 1830, and died at Hot Springs, Ark., June 2, 1882. Her husband died in New York City, Sept. 12, 1892. Children, by first wife:

9 i. John Denison, b. Jan. 29, 1834; m. Franka E. Colvocoresses.

ii. William Belden, b. July 15, 1836; m. Mary A. Bullitt.

iii. Caroline Brown, b. Feb. 4, 1839; m. John Laing Macaulay.

iv. Edward Elmore, b. June 13, 1841; m. Esther Smith.

v. Isabella, b. Oct. 20, 1843; d. Feb. 20, 1844.

9. MR. JOHN DENISON CHAMPLIN, of the ninth generation, the subject of this sketch, was a graduate of the famous class of Yale, '56, which counted among its members Chief Justices Brewer and Brown and the Hon. Chauncey M. Depew. He was a lineal descendant of Rev. James Noyes, who served on Yale's first Board of Trustees. His preparatory training was at the Hopkin's Grammar School in New Haven. In College he was a member of the Brothers in Unity, Delta Kappa, Alpha Sigma Phi, Psi

Upsilon, and the Ariel Boat Club. Just before his death he was elected a postgraduate member of Wolf's Head.

After graduation he studied law with Gideon H. Hollister (B. A., 1840) in Litchfield, Conn., being admitted to the Bar there in April, 1859. He soon removed to Milwaukee, Wis., where he practiced for a short time, after which he removed to New York City, as member of the firm of Hollister, Cross & Champlin, of William Street.

In Dec., 1860, he went to Louisiana, intending to practice in New Orleans, but soon after the outbreak of the Civil War he returned to the North. He became associate editor of the Bridgeport (Conn.) Evening Standard in the spring of 1864, and about a year later established The Sentinel, a Democratic weekly, in Litchfield, editing it until 1869, when he sold it and removed to New York City, where he had since been engaged in literary work. In 1873 he edited Fox's Mission to Russia, compiled from the notes of J. E. Loubat. In April of the same year he was chosen a member of the staff of revisers of Appleton's American Cyclopaedia, and for the next two years was one of the corps of editors.

In 1879 he brought out the Young Folks' Cyclopaedia of Common Things, Young Folks' Cathecism of Common Things, 1880, 1906. Young Folks' Cyclopaedia of Persons and Places, 1880, '99, 1911. Young Folks' Astronomy, 1881. Young Folks' History of War for the Union, 1881.

In 1884 Mr. Champlin went as the guest of Mr. Andrew Carnegie on a coaching trip through England and Scotland. On the coach were Matthew Arnold and William Black. After this trip Mr. Champlin published his Chronicles of the Coach, 1886.

In 1890 (with Arthur E. Bostwick) the Young Folks' Cyclopaedia of Games and Sports was published. In 1901 Mr. Champlin issued his Young Folks' Cyclopaedia of Literature and Art. In 1905, the Young Folks' Cyclopaedia of Natural History. Mr. Champlin was the editor of the Cyclopaedia of Painters and Paintings, 4 vols., 1886-8; Cyclopaedia of Music and Musicians, 3 vols., 1888-90.

During 1892-94 he was associate editor of the Standard Dictionary, and in 1893 he was one of the three writers (with Rossitor Johnson and George Cary Eggleston) selected by the Authors' Club to edit Liber Scriptorum, an unique volume containing contributions by more than a hundred members of the club, among them some of the most distinguished literary men in America and Europe. He also was a contributor of copyrighted articles in the Encyclopaedia Britannica; he contributed the chapter on "Music of Two Centuries," for the Memorial History of New York and for a number of years wrote the Art article in Appleton's Annual Cyclopaedia. In 1910 he edited the Speeches and Orations of his classmate, the Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, published in eight volumes. In 1912 he compiled "One Hundred Allied Families of the Seventeenth Century in England and New England," and the same year, "Anne Hutchinson: Her Life, Her Ancestry and Her Descendants." These last two remain unpublished. The Forum and The Popular Science Monthly, as well as numerous other periodicals received many contributions from his pen.

He was a member of the Century Association of N. Y., the Author's Club, the Barnard Club, the N. Y. Genealogical and Biographical Society, the New England Historical Society, the Newport Historical Society, and the Litchfield Historical Society.

In 1866 he was a candidate for the Connecticut State Senate on the Democratic ticket.

On Oct. 8, 1873, he married Franka E., daughter of the late Captain George M. Colvocoresses of the United States Navy, and the sister of the present Admiral George P. Colvocoresses, who was Executive Officer of the Concord at the battle of Manila Bay and chosen by Admiral Dewey to be the Executive Officer of the Olympia immediately after the action.

Mr. Champlin leaves a widow and one son.

REVOLUTIONARY WAR RECORDS.

Hitherto the patriotic societies throughout the country have devoted their time and energies to collecting and preserving the muster-rolls and records of those men who were engaged on the fighting line of the Continental and State troops during the Revolutionary War.

The glory of the actual battling for freedom has almost completely eclipsed the duty of fitting out, feeding, clothing and preparing the fighting men for military services. It must be remembered that great numbers of other patriots jeopardised their liberties and fortunes in providing the ways and means to equip and maintain the Continental Armies, and numbers of men were actually taken from the troops in the field to administer the work of the Quartermaster and Commissary Departments during the campaign. Little or nothing has been published concerning the working of these important departments and the names of hundreds of patriots taking a prominent and useful part in maintaining the fighting units have been neglected and are still unknown. Fortunately a great mass of original MSS. documents, letters, papers, etc., of the Quartermaster Department were preserved in the Department of State and in due course were turned over to the War Department, although as yet no adequate calendars or indices have been prepared. Valuable manuscript letter books, original letters, papers, etc., are also to be found in the archives of many of the public and private libraries and historical societies throughout the country, the difficulty being to locate where such manuscripts are preserved and to properly examine, calendar and index same.

For example, no less than twelve of the letter books of Col. Hugh Hughes of New York, Commissary of Military Stores, 16th July, 1776, and Deputy Quartermaster General for the Continental Army, from 11th May, 1776, to March, 1782, stationed at Fishkill, New York, are preserved in the New York Historical Society. These letter books are filled with the names and deeds of hundreds of men enlisted in such Continental Army service, and throw a most interesting light upon the working of the Commissariat and Quartermaster Departments.

The various heads of these departments all held military rank, as did the heads of the various companies of artificers, wagoners, carpenters, wheelwrights, batteauxmen, blacksmiths, armourers, laboratory men, coopers, clothiers, foragers, etc. They drew the pay, and received the rations, house-room, firewood, candles, etc., due their respective positions and ranks in the army and were as much a part of the Continental Army as the officers and soldiers of the Line.

As early as June 29th, 1775, the Continental Congress resolved:—"That the appointment of Provost Marshall, Waggon Master and Master Carpenter be left to the Commander in Chief of the Army, who is to fix their pay, having regard to the pay such receive in the ministerial army, and the proportion that the pay of the Officers in said army bears to the pay of our Officers."

Early in the War the necessity of securing and employing proper workmen to supply the needs of the Army became acute and whenever a skilled mechanic or tradesman was found enlisted in the ranks of the Continental or State troops he was transferred to the various permanent magazines, store-houses and work shops of the army.

It appears also that mechanics and workmen of all descriptions were enlisted into the Continental service and certain master workmen placed in command of the various companies, so enlisted, as superintendents, or overseers, with corresponding army rank and pay.

Honored Sir:—

We herewith send you the articles signed by the Carpenters whom we have engaged. Also the articles signed by those in Albany. Mr. Carmer refused to serve and we appointed Ahasuerus G. Marselis. to be an overseer in his stead and are of opinion the service will not suffer by the change. They are all to set out to-day for Fort George.

In consequence of your message to us by Henry Glen, Esq., we have appointed John Canoot (?), William Peters and Garret G.

Lansing to be overseers of the batteaumen and have ordered them to wait on you with this for your further instructions.

We are,

Honored Sir,

With Great Respect,

Your most Hubl. Servt.,

HUGH MITCHELL, Clark.

By order of the Committee.

Maj. Gen. Philip Schuyler,
Albany, N. Y."

Sir:—

You are By Order of the Q. M. General to make the best of your way to New Jersey, New Windsor and the Lime Kilns and there purchase the under mentioned articles as cheap and as soon as you can, forwarding every Article to Burdets Landing with the utmost despatch.

You will also engage three companies of Carpenters, each to consist of thirty men, a Capt., and Lieutenant, etc. These you will send forward as fast as raised. They will receive the same pay, rations, etc., as those already in the service.

If any hands that are wanting in your business should be in the Militia you will apply to Gen. Williamson who on showing him this, will undoubtedly release them, as the covering of the troops in Season depends on our getting the necessary materials as soon as possible."

(Hughes MSS. Collection, Small Book.)

(Undoubtedly written by Col. Hugh Hughes, D. Q. M. G.)

As early as 30th December, 1776, the Continental Congress resolved:—"That 15 companies, consisting of a captain and overseer, and 30 Men each be engaged, upon such terms as Gen. Schuyler* (Commanding Officer of Northern Army), shall think just and equitable for the batteau service, and be occasionally engaged on the high ways and other works in the Quarter Master General department, and that four companies of carpenters, to consist of an overseer and 25 men each, be engaged in like manner to attend the Northern Army.

That the Overseers have the Rank and receive the pay of .....†, and be allowed the same rations and the Men be enlisted and paid as private Soldiers. And that Gen. Schuyler or the *General Philip Schuyler in command of the Northern Department, Continental Army, 22nd May, 1777, comprising Albany, Ticonderoga, Fort Stanwix, and their dependencies.

† This blank remained unfilled in the original records of the Continental Congress, but the original lists of Overseers, Superintendents, etc., and the correspondence with such heads of companies show that the rank of the Overseers, etc., was that of a Captain in the Continental Army.

Commanding Officer of that Army, grant warrants to the overseer for enlisting."

Up to the present time no record of the names of the overseers of these particular companies of batteau men and carpenters have been discovered, and with one exception the records of the Continental Congress are barren of the details concerning such appointments. The single exception concerns the officers under Col. Benjamin Flower, Commissary General of Military stores.

On Thursday, September 18th, 1777, in the Continental Congress, a Memorial from Col. Flower was read, together with a list of the corps of the artillery, artificers, and other officers under the command and in the department of the commissary general of military stores:—

"WHEREFOR, RESOLVED that commissions be granted to the said officers, agreeable to their respective ranks."

On Thursday, November 11th, 1777, the president laid before Congress a copy of a resolution passed in Congress on 18th September last, ordering commissions to be granted to a number of officers in the department of the commissary-general of military stores, which was delivered to him by Col. Flower, C. G. M. S., together with the list of the officers, who, notwithstanding the foregoing resolution, have not yet received their commissions—

"WHEREFORE ORDERED that commissions be granted to the following persons in the department of the commissary general of military stores, with the dates annexed to their respective names, agreeable to the said list, viz.:—

Of the Company to work in the laboratory enlisted to serve during the war as artillery men:—

Isaac Curren, Capt., February 1st, 1777.

William E. Godfrey, Capt. Lieut., July 1st, 1777.

Anthony Wright, first lieut., March 1st, do.

Andrew Caldwell, second lieut., April 1st, do.

Of the Company of Artillery artificers, enlisted to serve during the war, to be attached to the artillery in the field:—

Jesse Roe, Capt., February 3rd, 1777.

Valentine Hoffman, Capt. lieut., 12 February.

Christan Beackley, first lieut., 3 February.

William Preston, second lieut., 7 April.

Of the Company of Artillery artificers enlisted to serve for one year and ordered to be re-enlisted to serve during the war:—

David Pancoast, Captain, 10th February, 1777.

John Jordan, Capt. lieut., 17th February, do.

James Gibson, first lieut., 17th February, do.

Of the Company of Artillery artificers enlisted to serve for one year and ordered to be re-enlisted during the war:—

Nathaniel Irish, Captain, 7th February, 1777.

Thomas Wylie, Capt. lieut., 17th do.

George Norris, first lieut., 8th do.

James Sweiney, second lieut, 22nd do.

Jonathan Gostelow, major commissary military stores, 1st February, 1777.

Josiah Watkins, major commissary ordinance Stores, 5th February, 1777.

Wollory Ming, Captain superintendent of the leather manufactory, 1st April, 1777.

—— Parks, Foreman* to the leather manufactory, August, 1777.

Samuel Sergeant, Superintendent of the public works at Carlisle and keeper of all the stores, August, 1777; pay 60. dollars per month and 4 rations a day.

Charles Lukens, Major, commissary military stores and pay master to the commissary general of military stores in the department at Carlisle, March 8th, 1777; his pay 60. dollars a month and 4 rations a day.

Johnson Smith, contractor and procurer of all the lumber and some other materials wanted for the public works at Carlisle, July 21st, 1777; pay 60. dollars per month and 3 rations a day.

Cornelius Sweers, Assistant commissary general military stores at Philadelphia, February 1st, 1777; the same pay and rations as commissary military stores.

Alexander Power, quarter master to the corps of artillery artificers at Carlisle, 30th July, 1777; same pay and rations as regimental quarter master.

Samuel French, major, commissary military stores, 18th January, 1777, with the army.

George Everson, captain, deputy commissary military stores, 18th January, 1777.

Alexander Henderson, Captain, deputy commissary military stores, 10th Sept., 1777.

This list is of the greatest interest, showing, as it does, that not only the heads of the laboratory men, artillery artificers, and commissaries (assistant and deputy), were actually commissioned officers in the Continental Army, but that the superintendents of the leather manufactory, of public works, store keepers, contractors, etc., all held commissioned rank.

As further proof that the heads of the mechanical branches of the Quartermasters Department held official rank, the following Pay Roll becomes of value:—

“Pay Roll for the Board of Works in the service of the United States of America, stationed at Springfield, under the direction of Lieut. Col. David Mason of Artillery for Mo. of June, 1778.

I Master Carpenter as Capt.....	$50.	or	£15.
I Foreman .....	33 1/3	“	10

* A line is drawn through this word “foreman” in the original records

1	do. ....	20	"	6
1	Master Smith as Captain.....	50	"	15
1	Master Wheelright as Captain.....	50	"	15
1	Master Saddler as Captain.....	50	"	15
1	Master Armourer as Captain.....	50	"	15"
(MSS. Rev. War Miss. Papers—1778.)

The ration returns also indicate clearly the rank and title of the head mechanics, and the following two original lists discovered among the Army Return papers of Gen. Horatio Gates, prove that Storekeepers, Forage Masters, Barrack Masters, Waggon Masters, Overseers, Master Blacksmiths and Master Carpenters, and by implication, heads of any companies of mechanics, workmen, batteau-men, etc., all held Continental Army rank and received rations and pay in proportion to such rank.

The lists are as follows:—

(Gates Papers, Army Returns, 1778.)

The return on this victualling list and several other like lists among Gen. Horatio Gates' papers shows that the Heads or Overseers of the Batteauxmen, Carpenters, and Blacksmiths were each addressed as "Captain" in official communications and undoubtedly held that rank in the Continental Army, receiving the pay and rations proportional to such rank.

It is to be hoped that future investigation of the methods used in conducting the Quartermaster and Commissariat Departments of the Continental Army will result in the discovery, classification, calandering and indexing of many MSS. letter books, original correspondence, and documents still hidden away on dusty shelves of libraries and in ancient boxes in country attics. It is only by such labor that the names and biographical and genealogical histories of the officers of the Quartermaster and Commissary Departments of the Continental Army can be disclosed and their names added to the list of the Line Officers as patriots of equal merit to be remembered.

GENEALOGICAL NOTES ON A VERY OLD NEW YORK FAMILY AND SOME OF ITS BRANCHES.

(Egmont, Boon, Toll, Post, Wessels, Van Dyck, Segers.)

This article has been written principally with a view of presenting some early records of one of the very oldest Dutch families of America. It may be of further interest, however, in that it opposes some deductions of certain well-known early genealogists and historians and at any rate it should be valuable as an illustration of how important it is for all students of history and genealogy to base the results of their researches on original sources of information and not from later less authoritative treatises or compilations.

The Egmont family of Holland was a notable one. It is descended from Kings and for generations Egmonts have held high position in the service of their country and the regard of their countrymen. Their history is part of the history of the Netherlands and their name appears constantly in Dutch and Flemish archives. This family first came to the writer's notice when he took up the study of Schermerhorn Genealogy. There was a family tradition to the effect that the wife of the original Schermerhorn settler (Jacob Janse Schermerhorn) was an Egmont—Jane Egmont. So, indeed, had the first genealogist of the family, Rev. John F. Schermerhorn, recorded it. His genealogy was completed in 1847, taking manuscript form only. He had visited Holland, not particularly in Schermerhorn interests, but principally for data in connection with the claims of certain descendants of the much talked of Anneke Jansz, of Trinity Church property fame. Unfortunately he gave no authorities for the various deductions made in connection with Schermerhorn Genealogy and therefore the extent of his studies can hardly be gauged. No question was raised, however, at that time, concerning his version of the Egmont connection, and the Egmont name became circulated through the Schermerhorn family, used both as Christian name and middle name by many.

It was during the period of the 1830s and 40s that American families first woke to real interest in ancestor seeking. Commercial enterprise had given fortunes to many besides those possessing the large landed estates, and the class of the socially elect had begun somewhat to extend its lines. The fad of pedigrees became of importance and coats-of-arms much sought after. However, some forty or fifty years elapsed before research in Schermerhorn Genealogy was again taken up, and in the early 90s, two members of the family, of different branches, and working independently, undertook a serious and detailed study of the subject. Pearson and O'Callaghan had then made their exhaustive researches and compilations. Many of the early New York State documents had been published and made more easily accessible than before, and the old wills, land papers, court records and other manuscripts had been gathered together and placed in form suitable for public reference. Neither Pearson nor O'Callaghan had mentioned an Egmont family among the original emigrants, and it was a Jannetie van Voorhout, daughter of Cornelis Segers, who appeared in their works as the wife of Jacob Janse Schermerhorn, and not Jannetie Egmont. Their authority for this was readily at hand, being contained in the will of Cornelis Segerse van Voorhout, which had been discovered and translated. Both of the Schermerhorn Genealogists arrived at the same result; they could find no trace of a Jannetie Egmont or even very early records of an Egmont family, and the evidence was quite conclusive that a Jannetie van Voorhout was the wife of Jacob Janse Schermerhorn. Therefore the genealogist of 1840s must have been in error and this decision they recorded. As both of these gentlemen were of abundant means and high intelligence and had apparently studied their subject most comprehensively, the author of the Schermerhorn Genealogy, 1914, was prepared to accept their decision, and for the time, he did. But a chance scrutiny of some early baptismal records of the Albany Dutch Church called his attention to the coincidences of a Schermerhorn being witness to the baptism of an Egmont (the Egmont name first appeared in Albany records in 1684) and close examination of other baptismal records connected with the Egmont name, determined clearly the Egmont identity with the family called by Pearson and O'Callaghan, Van Voorhout. He then searched carefully through the records of the New York City Dutch Church, and trace of the family was again discovered, although the Egmont name actually appeared there only twice (as van Egmont). It occurred again, however, in Staten Island church records, and it was finally possible to determine positively that the Egmont families in New York City and Staten Island were also descendants of the early settler who signed his will as Cornelis Segerse van Voorhout. To develop the theory completely, evidence was also found in a copy of the original contract between Cornelis Segerse and Patroon Van Rensselaer, executed in Holland previous to the former's departure for America. In this document Cornelis Segerse signed his name as Cornelis Segerse van Egmont (see Van Rensselaer-Bowier MSS., 1908; these MSS. discovered and published some years after the published articles by Louis Y. Schermerhorn and Wm. C. Schermerhorn). No other conclusions could be acceptable and therefore the Reverend gentleman of the 1840s was shown correct after all, however his deductions had been reached, and family tradition had vindicated itself.

Before 1700 the heads of most Dutch families took as surnames, their father's Christian name, with se or sen attached, and in other cases terminations were used indicative of their former residence in Holland, such as van Amsterdam (Jacob Janse Schermerhorn's first surname), van Antwerp, van Hoorn, van Wyk, van Valkenburgh, etc. Some of the families, however, possessed distinctive family names in Holland and when for some reason, or other, they neglected to use these upon their arrival in America, as the necessity became apparent to take a name which would positively distinguish them from others, they reached back in family history and took the name which others of their kin had borne before them. This happened in the cases of many of the Dutch families in America, and often this original surname did not put in an appearance until the third generation in this country. This was the case with the Egmonts. Voorhout had probably been their residence immediately before their departure to America and in a few instances Cornelis Segers and his sons signed "van Voorhout" after their names. In most cases on record, however, the names are simply Cornelis Segerse, Cornelis Cornelise, Claes Cornelise and Seger Cornelise. "Van Voorhout" was not handed down to later generations as a family name, and "Egmont" was. The town of Voorhout is a small place near Leyden, about 20 miles southwest of Amsterdam. Egmont, which consists of little else than the ancient castle of the family, is about 10 miles west of the village of Schermerhorn and 20 miles northwest of Amsterdam. The sons of Cornelis Segers did not use the Egmont name but their sons did and so continued it to later generations. In the case of Seger, the third son, it is believed that he died without issue. There is at least no record of any of his descendants, and though Pearson and O'Callaghan claimed that the Segers (Seeger, Sager) family of New York were descended from the van Voorhouts, the writer has not only been unable to find proof that such was the case, but all evidence is entirely contrary to the assumption. The Egmont family of America, however, apparently died out at an early day, the cause being a scarcity of male issue. The writer believes, nevertheless, that the early records of this family have a decided genealogical value and are worthy of record, for the benefit of the descendants bearing other names, if nothing else.* If some

* While it is quite reasonable to believe that Cornelis Segerse van Egmont was a member of the historic Egmont family of the Netherlands and that it is not beyond possibility that Lamoral Egmont's branch, considering the severe decline in fortunes of this family, was also that of Cornelis Segers', nevertheless it should be understood that the author has encountered no data to prove this and at the present moment assumption founded on certain known conditions, is his firmest basis of reckoning. There were other branches of the Egmont family from which Cornelis Segers might easily have descended. In fact the author has been informed that there were other individual families of Egmont in Holland and that the name in some cases might have been derived from land belonging to the famous abbey of Egmont, which was destroyed by the troops under Sonoy in 1572. A careful study of Flemish genealogy and history would time in the future, Holland records could be studied to the extent of ascertaining the exact connection between the famous Egmonts of the Netherlands and the American emigrant, Cornelis Segerse van Egmont, one of the most interesting passages of American-Dutch Genealogy would be developed.

It may be pertinent to note the historical facts concerned with the passing of the Egmont influence in Holland and its possible bearing on the cause for a member of the family seeking to emigrate to the wilds of primitive America. The last influential head of the family of Egmont, Count Lamoral, in company with Count Hoorn, was executed on June 5, 1568, at the instance of the Duke of Alva. The sentence, especially in the case of Egmont, was known to have been wholly unjust and for political reasons solely. It is said that the general indignation arising from this event furnished the prelude eventually leading to the revolt of the Netherlands. Soon after this, history informs us, his widow and eleven children (eight of them girls) had been reduced to extreme want and compelled to take refuge in a convent. It is quite possible that later on their influential connections made some provision for them, as the sons are later found enjoying certain positions of some distinction, but two of the latter, Philip and Lamoral, became embroiled in political troubles, as had their father before them, though less creditably, and falling into disgrace, brought fresh disaster to the family. It seems there was cause enough in those days for an Egmont to desire to seek new lands and endeavor to forget.

be necessary to establish the real facts of the case or at least the most reasonable probabilities. But the author hardly believes that the last theory of the origin of the name was likely in connection with Cornelis Segers. He may have had good reason for discarding the Egmont name upon his arrival in America, but its recurrence in later generations certainly would seem to convey to it an importance which could hardly be derived from the condition of a mere residence in a place. If the last were principally considered, then "van Voorhout" would have been continued as the family name.

in Sept., 1643, on het Wapen van Rensselaerswyck with his wife and children. On his arrival in the colony of Rensselaerswyck, he took up a farm, formerly occupied by Brant Peelen, on Castle Island, near Albany (opposite Bethlehem, Albany Co.). In 1644 his rent consisted of 276 schepels of wheat and 320 schepels of oats, which was by far the highest rent of any of the farms in Rensselaerswyck at that time. In 1646 he took over from Adrian Vanderdonck the other farm on Castle Island, called Welysburgh, thus coming into possession of the entire Island (V). He was one of the largest farmers, if not the largest, of the period, in Rensselaerswyck. He maintained a brewery on his property as well (A 1). In an undated will (1643-8) the sixth child Lysbeth is mentioned as being married and not living with them and therefore not assisting them in "acquiring property, shall receive as an acknowledgement, one pound Flemish," and nothing else. In 1651 there were 13 horses and 22 cows on the farm of Cornelis Segerse and the farm contained 70 morgens (140 acres) and the annual rent was 1210 florins (V). Among those signing the oath of fidelity to the Patroon, May 21, 1653, are found the names of Cornelis Segers and Cornelis Cornelise van Voorhout (A 2). On May 12, 1654, Cornelis Segersen was appointed guardian of two children of Gysbert Cornelissen, deceased, at the request of the mother, Elisabeth Cornelissen (B). Cornelis Segerse speculated considerably in Albany real estate, purchasing property in 1654, 1657 and 1658, some of which he later sold. In 1667 he was the owner of a lot in Albany on the S. W. corner of what is now Columbia St. and Broadway (E). He made his will Nov. 22, 1662, which he signed "Cornelis Segers van Voorhout." The following children were mentioned: Claes Cornelissen, deceased; Lysbeth, the wife of Sr. F. Boon; Jannetie, the wife of Jacob Schermerhorn; Neeltie, the wife of Hans Carelsen (D). His name last appears in Albany County Records, Jan. 2, 1676-7.

Cornelis, son of Cornelis Segerse, sometimes signed his name Cornelis Cornelise van Voorhout, undoubtedly to distinguish himself from others by name of Cornelis Cornelise. His name first appears in Colonial records, when May 21, 1653, he with his father, signed the oath of fidelity to the Patroon, signing his name Cornelis Cornelisz van Voorhout (A 2). According to the Van Rensselaer papers, he is charged from Jan. 31, 1652, to Jan. 31, 1658, with an annual rent of f100, apparently for 6 morgens (12 acres) of land in Greenbush, formerly owned by Christoffel Davids, which were leased to Teunis Dircksz van Vechten, Jan. 31, 1650, and would seem to have been occupied by Cornelis Cornelise after that year (V). Between 1654 and 1659 there are records of numerous real estate transactions between Cornelis Cornelise and others, although in some of these cases it is possible some other Cornelis Cornelise was the one involved. He evidently maintained a brewery on his property in Greenbush, which is mentioned in 1661 and again in 1667 when it was disposed of at sheriff's sale (B). His name appears last on public records, July 3, 1668, when Cornelis Cornelise van Voorhout was witness to power of attorney given by Tys Evertse de Goyer to Jacob Schermerhorn on the latter's departure to Holland (G). Cornelis Cornelise evidently died in 1668, and probably the next year his family removed to New Amsterdam, undoubtedly at the instance of the brother-in-law, Francis Boon, who had located there.

* Maryn (Marinus, Marin) Adriaensz (Adriaensen) van der Veere entered into an agreement with Patroon Kiliaen Van Rensselaer at Amsterdam, on Jan. 12, 1631, to engage in the planting of tobacco at Rensselaerswyck, for a period of three years. He had evidently been in America previously, as the farm on which he was to locate was one "which he began to clear before his departure," and also referred to was "a son born before in that country." He sailed for America in "de Eendracht" shortly after July 7, 1631, with his wife Lysbet Thyssen, a child and four or five assistants. He located on property "on the north side of Fort Orange (Albany)," and in July, 1632, was appointed one of the schepens and councilors of Rensselaerswyck. But he was evidently unsuccessful in tobacco planting, a situation being reached as late as April 23, 1634, causing the dissatisfaction of Patroon Van Rensselaer, who expressed the wish that he could have employed Maryn instead as a "skipper to cruise along the coasts of New Netherland" for trading purposes (V.). Soon after, Maryn must have removed to New Amsterdam and on February 19, 1639, Claes Cornelissen Swits deeded to him a house and plantation on the North River. On August 16, 1641, he received by deed from Hendrick Jansen another piece of property and September 20, 1642, he deeded to Jan Jansen Damen, land in Smith's Valley (C.). He was one of the "12 men" chosen by Kieft August 29, 1641, to aid the latter in the direction of the affairs of the colony.

Maryn Adriaensen took active part in the early Indian troubles with which New Amsterdam was concerned. On one occasion in 1641, the burghers became dissatisfied with official action in connection with an affair resulting in the murder of Claes Cornelissen Swits by an Indian of a neighboring tribe. The Chiefs promised to deliver the murderer to New Amsterdam for punishment, but actually could not be brought to do so. Maryn Adriaensen and two others representing the burghers-at-large petitioned the Director, William Kieft, for permission, therefore, to descend upon the Indians, who were encamped at Corlaers Hook and teach them a lesson. Kieft granted the authority (February 25, 1642) and a party of burghers and soldiers led by Maryn Adriaensen and Abraham Planck attacked the Indians two or three days later, killing many and taking a number of prisoners. This led to considerable later complication in the community's dealings with the Indians, and various affrays. On one occasion in which the maize of the Indians had been stolen by some of the settlers, the Indians had in return burned some houses of the latter. This led to an upbraiding of Maryn Adriaensen as having been the original cause of this trouble. Maryn's own barn had been burned and he took the upbraiding much to heart. Blaming Director Kieft for endeavoring to shift responsibility, he became so wrought up that he proceeded to the Director's house with sword and pistol in hand, and addressing him saying, "What devilish lies art thou reporting of me?" would have caused serious disturbance had it not been for the quick action of some bystanders who overpowered and disarmed him. He was thereupon arrested and sent to Holland for trial despite the protests of many of the burghers who desired that he be pardoned (F.). Undoubtedly his sentence was not severe as he returned to New Amsterdam and on May 9, 1647, received a patent of land called Awiehaken on the west side of the North River bounded on the North by Hoboken Kill (C.). He died before May 4, 1654, when his widow, "married yesterday to "Geerlief Michielsens," requested that guardians be appointed over her minor son Tys Marynsen in order that the paternal estate might be settled, and mentioned "her daughter residing at Fort Orange, who is now come with her husband" (T.).

Maryn Adriaensen was undoubtedly a figure of some individuality in the early days of New Amsterdam. He possessed little or no respect for Director Kieft and in the many papers relating to the attempted assassination, his character is described in various terms. The following extract will give some idea of what certain of the officials thought of him: "Maryn Adriaensen a resident of this place and formerly one of the freebooters and sailors of Compaan having at different times behaved very insolently, as endeavoring to force his way on board the Company's ship, when ships arrive, accosting the Director these times with quite an unbearable arrogance and abusing his good will and affection for the community . . ." (F.). But however this may have been Maryn had much influence among the citizens and was distinctly a leader among them as is evidenced by the long deliberations and legal procedure following Maryn's hotheaded assault upon Kieft, in an endeavor to get at the true facts of the case. One of Maryn's men, in fact, was killed in attempting to rescue him. We can hardly judge of the rights of the case as presented in the various documents, but it is even quite possible that Maryn may have had much excuse for his attitude.

Claes Cornelise, second son of Cornelis Segers, in one or two instances signed his name Claes Cornelise van Voorhout. It would appear, however, that in most cases the latter termination was not used. He occupied a farm on Papscaene Island, near Albany, from 1648 to 1658, and in 1650, this farm contained 28 morgens (56 acres) and there were employed thereon, 7 horses and 10 cows (V). On Feb. 1, 1663, his children were mentioned, with ages given, and agreements made that Jan Tyssen, their stepfather, support Maryn and Jacob, the other two to be supported by their next of kin (B).

GYSBERT CORNELISE VAN WEESP, first husband of LYSBETH, daughter of (1) Cornelis Segers Egmont, was in Amsterdam as early as June, 1639, and in 1641 was in Rensselaerswyck (V). He had evidently been in the service of the West India Co., accounts being mentioned as due him in early records (C). He was also called Gysbert "op de Berg" from the fact of his having a farm called the "Hooge Berg" situated on the east side of the Hudson River a little below Albany, which he rented in 1649. He was also referred to as Gysbert Cornelise "waert" (tavern keeper) and his name is also found expressed as Gysbert Cornelise:Ouwerkerk. He died between October 25, 1653, and August 22, 1654 (J & V). His lot in Albany was on the south side of Maiden Lane, between N. Pearl and James Sts. (E).

FRANCIS (FRANCOIS) BOON, second husband of LYSBETH CORNELISE EGDMONT, was born in 1629 and married the latter shortly after her husband's death in 1653-4 (F & G). He was an Indian trader (L 55) and some years after his marriage removed to New Amsterdam. His property in Albany included what is now a strip comprising the entire south side of Maiden Lane, between N. Pearl and James Sts. (E). His name appears in Albany records between 1654 and 1663, when he is mentioned as Treasurer of the Town Revenue (1659); Deputy to accompany La Montagne to the Esopus to meet the Director-General (1659) and Magistrate, 1658, 59, 60, 62, and 63 (C & G). He figures in New Amsterdam records from 1660 to 1669, when he is mentioned as Attorney, Deacon and Alderman, 1668, 69 (C, F & T). He probably removed to New York in late 1663 or early 1664, as January 13, 1664, he and his wife Lysbeth joined the N. Y. Ref. Dutch Church. Boon's place of business was at the "Marketfield" on the east side of Broadway, New Amsterdam, opposite Bowling Green (V 49). He became a man of wealth and after some years' residence in New Amsterdam, removed to the West Indies, where his wife, Lysbeth, died (V 55). The writer has made no serious attempt to determine the extent of his family. A son, Jacob, was baptized June 6, 1666, in New York, and a Frans Boon (widower of Marritie Remmits), possibly another son, was married February 12, 1697, to Catharine Blanck, in New York. Records show that a Francis Bond lived on the Island of Barbadoes as early as 1678 (S). He was born in Bodruyn, Cornwall, England, and in 1696 was President of the Council in Barbadoes. He died Aug. 3, 1699 (N). The names of the following who may have been related to Francis Boon are found among the early N. Y. Dutch records, the name being expressed as Boon, Boons, Boom, Booms, Bone, Bones, Bonnen, Bonen: Agnietje, 1655-75; Jannetje, 1655-76; Metje, 1659; Mathys, 1659; Dirck, 1672; Aunetie, 1680. A Richard Boone was the father of Thomas of St. John's, Dominica, who died in New York, Sept.-Oct., 1771 (S).

SEGER CORNELISE, third son of (1) Cornelis Segerse, apparently left no issue. At least no record has been found of any, after very careful search. He died June 24, 1662, of a knife wound inflicted the day before at the tavern of Anthonis Jansz, in Albany, by Andries Herbertsz Constapel, whom he had severely wounded in the head with a piece of wood (B). (When two fought with knives, a custom of frequent occurrence at this time, the survivor was held guilty of murder if he stabbed his antagonist and death ensued; but only of manslaughter if he cut or slashed him. In 1642 fighting with knives was wholly prohibited (A 10).) The records seem to show that Seger was of very mischievous and dissipated character, a frequenter of drinking places and quarrelsome. His name is first mentioned in an action by Martin, the Brewer, July 7, 1654, when the latter stated that "Seeger Cornelissen had broken in the door of their house, because they would not let him in and give him to drink." A record of Aug. 9, 1654, is to the effect that "De Vryes complains of Seeger Cornelis and Harmen Herpertse (?) for ringing bells at his door and before his house, and complains of their blowing horns at him, in presence of Jillis Pieterse and the neighbors about there" (G). On May 29, 1657, evidences of another quarrel appear when a judgment against Steven Jansen was brought for wounding Seger Cornelissen Wip, with a knife (C). Nothing else excepting a few minor real estate and other transactions are recorded of him. As his brother Claes Cornelissen testified against him in the episode with Martin the Brewer, it seems likely that even his own family had little sympathy with him, and his untimely death must have been brought about through his own recklessness and dissipated habits.

Hans Carelse Toll was in New Amsterdam between 1659 and 1666, in most cases during this period, his name being expressed as Hans Carelsen. In 1662 he is mentioned as Hans Carelsen Noorman (K), and his name appears in Albany County Records, Dec. 9, 1659, as Hans Carelsen Toll. On April 1, 1671, were married in New York, "Hans Carelsen, widower of Neeltie Cornelis, residing at Albany," and "Geertje Teunis, widow of Cors Janszen, residing here at N. Yorck." The house of Hans Carelsen in Albany is mentioned May 10, 1671 (B). Hans Carelsen died before May 20, 1685, as on that date his widow married Francisco Anthony (T).

* The records Nos. 1203a, 1203b, 1203c, 1203d, 1203e, 1203f, while in reality belonging to the record of the eighth generation, are here inserted for the reason that the record of their parents Elizabeth<sup>7</sup> Gray (No. 875) and her husband Abial Lovejoy have already been published in their regular location in this work, and at the time of its publication my information was not as complete as it now is; and therefore I take this opportunity to supplement the information embodied under record No. 875. Under their proper numbering these records would be respectively: 875 i; 875 ii; 875 iii; 875 iv; 875 v; 875 vi. It will be noted also that record No. 1203d is somewhat different from the corresponding record under No. 875 i (under which number it was previously published), which difference is occasioned by later and improved data.

The Higgins Family is an ancient one. It is of undoubted English origin, with certain scattered branches having found lodgment in Ireland during later years. The name, however, has not been carried through as many or as violent variations as has been the case with many other surnames.

Higgin, Higgins, Higginson, Higgens, Higgons and Higgon are all of the same parent stock. As to the derivation or etymology of the surname, the following statement of a recognized authority is both instructive and interesting. "Bapt. 'the son of Richard,' from the nickname 'Hick,' which became 'Higg' and the diminutive 'Hickin' which became 'Higgin.' . . . The parent of Higgin and of all its descendants is undisputably Hickin, the diminutive of Hick, which means that Richard is ancestor of all. . . . For a brief time Hickin and Higgin ran alongside, but the lazier Higgin speedily won, and now as a surname Hickin is very rare."*

One well known authority claims that the name is derived from Higgen or Higgeneye manor, which temp. Edward I, belonged to the Abbey of Ramsey. The De Hygon or De Higgeneye Family held large estates in the co. Huntingdon, temp. Edward I, and, significantly, their arms were three cranes' heads. The origin of this family was in Normandie and the name is a Norman derivative.

In the latter half of the Sixteenth and in the earlier years of the Seventeenth Centuries, the Higgins Family flourished notably in the counties or shires of Buckingham, Bucks, Bedford, Hertford and Worcester, England. It belonged to the nobility of the realm and its representatives were the landed proprietors, owning and controlling vast estates. A common ancestor of many of the present day English families, bearing the name or related to Higgins, was John Higgins, of Weston Underwood, Bucks, b. circa 1600; d. 1661. The arms, crest and motto borne by his descendants, having been originally granted to him, and as recorded in Burke's Landed Gentry of Great Britain (1906, p. 822), are:

ARMS:—Vert, three cranes' heads erased arg.

CREST:—A griffin's head erased or, gorged with a collar, gu.

The present Higgins family, of this descent, occupies Turvey House in Bedford.

However, the most illustrious of the name was probably the famed poet and man of letters, John Higgins (fl. 1570-1602), born, according to his own account, about 1545, and said by Hearne to have been a student of Christ's Church, Oxford. His writings and compilations gave him an easy ascendancy and leadership among the literary men of his time. Others of that day, representing the same family, secured honorable mention in the chronicles of achievement so as to render for the name some special distinctions. As already stated, they belonged to the nobility, and many references are to be found in the authorities appearing in the foot-note* (see post).

Among the early emigrants from England to New England several of the Higgins name appear before 1660. Notably, Abraham Higgins, Salem, Mass., 1637; John Higgins, Boston, Mass., 1655; Richard Higgins, Plymouth, Mass., 1632 (of whom this article makes presentation), and Thomas Higgins, likewise at Plymouth, Mass., 1633. These four early New England settlers bore no apparent relationship, one to another, but it is quite probable that such relationship did exist. Particularly is this suggested in the case of Thomas Higgins, who was possibly a brother or nephew of Richard Higgins, since both settled in the same locality, at approximately the same date, and preserved the same family first names. Thomas Higgins was apprenticed for eight years, Jan. 1, 1633-4, to John Jenney, which would indicate that he had not then reached his majority. He removed to Barnstable, Mass., and married at Nocett, Nov. 3, 1648, (Rose), widow (of Hugh) Tillye. She was possibly his second wife, as he had children recorded in Barnstable: Lydia, 1644; Mary, 1646; Elizabeth, 1647; John, 1649; Thomas, 1651; Hannah, 1653, and others. Further, as bearing some strange significance upon a marriage to be hereinafter noted (post), there is a record of one Richard Whitehead of Windsor, Conn., who says that a demand has been made by his kinswomen, Hannah, Sarah, Rebecca and Abigail Higgins, of some part of their mother's portion unpaid to their father, which he thinks he paid, but to satisfy them he gave them twenty shillings apiece, June, 1645. And, finally, before 1695, certain members of the Higgins Family appeared as settlers in Westchester County, New York, which covers the main lines of Higgins colonization.†

During recent years, a widespread interest has been incited among genealogists and members of the Higgins Family, claiming descent from him, as to the origin and ancestry of Richard Higgins, of Plymouth and Eastham, Mass. Several expert searchers are now collaborating upon a Higgins Genealogy which is to go to press during the coming year. To each of these some credit should be given for the statements of this presentation, and this earlier publication is for the purpose of developing additional genealogical data.*

Researches have been carefully made among certain English archives and records for the birth entry and parentage of Richard Higgins. Valuable data have been uncovered, and until recently it seemed quite probable that he was born in London. One of the New England historians (post) states that he was a "tailor" from London, and working on the supposition that he was a tailor's apprentice, there was found in the books of the tailors of London a record to the effect that, one Richard Higgins, son of Robert, of Leominster, co. Hereford, mercer, placed himself as an apprentice with Phillip Ruddock, of St. Clements Lane, for seven years from the day and year there given, 23 April, 1627. From this, it was erroneously assumed that he did not fill out the term of his apprenticeship, but came to New England instead, and that he was identical with Richard Higgins of Plymouth. Again another authority (post) states equally as carelessly that he was of Celtic or Irish origin, which is unsupported by any authority.

One of the distinguished statesmen and honored citizens of New York was ex-Governor Frank Wayland Higgins (b. 1856; d. 1907). He was a lineal descendant of the Richard Higgins under discussion. His sister, Clara Alzina Hapgood Higgins, wife of the Hon. Frank Sullivan Smith, The Plaza, New York City, is living, and it has fallen to her fortunate lot to recover the lost threads of the ancestry of Richard Higgins. Among the old documents and records of this branch of the Higgins family, so carefully and conscientiously preserved by her ancestor, Timothy Higgins (b. 1767; d. 1850), appear the evidences of the English origin of Richard Higgins. Records, tombstone inscriptions, deeds and wills, papers yellow with age, tell the story, which by the courtesy and kindness of Mrs. Smith is repeated here. She has herself visited the ancestral seat in England and has procured Mr. Gustav Anjou to verify each record. The paragraphs immediately following are presented as her statement of what these records disclose.

party per fesse arg. and azure in chief an oak tree
ppr. between two crescents or."

This likewise appears on a snuff-box, a family heirloom in the possession of Mrs. Smith.

REV. JOHN HIGGINS, b. 1528; m. 1544, Elizabeth, dau. and co-heir of Thomas Clynton, Esquire, of Castleditch (High Sheriff of co. Hertford 1568), and Margery, dau. of Richard Tracy, Esq., of Toddington, descendant of Sir John de Clinton, temp. Edward I.

Rev. John Higgins was instituted Rector of Blatchley of Newport Hundred, co. Bucks, Aug. 20, 1561, and lived at Bridstone, co. of Hertfordshire, 1570. He was reinstated after the death of his wife. His curate was Sir James Walsh. By his wife, Elizabeth Clynton, he had two sons: John, the poet and litterateur, of whom the following account is given, and Edward.

JOHN, son of Rev. John Higgins, b. 1544-5, was a student at Oxford, 1572, although his name does not appear in the University lists. He is thus described in some of his books. He was a poet, antiquary, a historian of great renown, author of a revised edition of Huloet's Dictionaire, London, 1572, dedicated to Sir George Peckham. In the Library at Greenock, Scotland, a copy of this Dictionaire is kept, marked "by John Higgins, late student Oxford in 1572," and the pages are covered with notes, drawings and crests by John Gibbon, who visited Richard Lee in Virginia in 1659. This John Higgins resided in 1586 at Windsham, Somerset.

The second son of Rev. John Higgins and his wife, Elizabeth Clynton, was the following:

EDWARD, b. Sep., 7, 1545; m. 1598, Julian, dau. of Christopher and Elizabeth Meals of Bridstone, co. Hertford. She was b. in 1582; d. in Langley Parish, Stoke-hundred, Hertfordshird, Aug. 1, 1603. In the church at Langley Parish, Stoke-hundred, a brass plate bears the following inscription:

"Here lieth the body of Julian Higgins, wife to Edward Higgins, and dau. to Chris. & Elizabeth Meals, who lived in the Feare of God and died in the Fayth of Christ, 1 Aug. Anno Dei 1603, A most Kind child, a wife, most mild, a spouse and daughter deare. Though young of age, modest and sage, Behold interred heere."

This inscription is faithfully preserved in the records of Timothy Higgins, above referred to, and the births of at least four of the children of Edward Higgins and Julian Meals, his wife, have been established. They had born to them:

- i. Jonathan, b. in 1599.
- ii. Thomas, b. in 1600.
- iii. Julian, b. in 1601.
- iv. Richard, b. Aug. 1, 1603, the day of his mother's death, and who became the settler of Plymouth, Mass.

The family records state that Richard Higgins (last above), came to Plymouth Plantation in 1623, in the ship Ann, with Nicholas Snow, of whom it is alleged he had been a neighbor in England. It is further stated that he returned and was temporarily at Leyden, Holland, returning again to New England on the ship Talbot, in Aug., 1629. And that his name appears on the first tax roll extant in New England, 1632, and on a list of freemen in 1634. He, with Governor Prince and five others founded New Plymouth or Nauset, in 1644. This satisfactorily establishes the English origin of Richard Higgins.

Continuing, therefore, and giving the results of the compiler's researches, several authorities give items and facts in the history and career of this common ancestor of the Higgins family.*

1. RICHARD<sup>1</sup> HIGGINS, b. in England, Aug. 1, 1603, certainly settled in Plymouth Colony, Mass., 1632-3, and perhaps before. He was called "of Plymouth, tailor," and taxed there, 1632. The designation may not have referred to his vocation or may have been a means of concealing his identity for religious or political reasons, as was common in that day. With his father-in-law, Edmund Chandler, he appears in a list of creditors of the estate of Godbert Godbertson of Plymouth in 1633. In the inventory of the estate of Joh. Thorp, Plymouth, 1633, he also appears as a creditor of that estate. His brother-in-law, Samuel Chandler, was likewise a creditor. Richard<sup>1</sup> Higgins was admitted a freeman in 1634 and in the same year took Samuel Godbertson as an apprentice. Again, he appears as a creditor of the estate of Will<sup>m</sup> Palm<sup>r</sup> of Plymouth, 1637. In the vital records of Plymouth is the following entry:

"Dec. 11-1634. Richard Higgins and lidia Chandler were married."

The births of their two sons, Jonathan<sup>2</sup> and Benjamin<sup>2</sup> are entered in the same records. In 1643, he was still at Plymouth and numbered among those then able to bear arms. In 1644, he removed to Eastham, Mass., the history of the latter settlement being interestingly recorded by Freeman in his History of Cape Cod, (vol. ii, p. 347-8). In 1643 the inhabitants of Plymouth, becoming dissatisfied with their location, inaugurated a movement which resulted in the establishment of a new town, first called New Plymouth, then Nauset, and finally Eastham, Mass. Under the direction of Governor Bradford, a committee was appointed to go as it were and "spy out the land." It consisted of "Mr. Thomas Prence, John Doane, Nicholas Snow, Josias Cook, Richard Higgins, John Smalley, and Edward Bangs." The report of this committee was so favorable that all of its members excepting Governor Prince removed in 1644 and settled in the new location. It is also interesting to note that when later (1670-72), Richard<sup>1</sup> Higgins removed to Piscataway, New Jersey, two sons of Nicholas Snow, John and Joseph Snow, and John Smalley, mentioned above, went with him.

Concerning the settlement of Nauset, Secretary Morton says: "Divers of the considerablest of the Church and Town removed and Plymouth was almost deserted," which is some testimonial as to the character of these settlers.

While at Eastham, Richard' Higgins received sundry grants of land from the Colonial Court up to 1657, the last date of the making of said grants. The records show extensive ownership of lands and undoubtedly the family mansion was pretentious for that day, as it was later occupied by his son, Benjamin' Higgins, and continued in the family for several generations.

In the Churchill Genealogy a record is presented:

"Richard Higgins sells to John Churchill 'all that his dwelling house outbuildings with the garden, orchard situate neere Brownes Rock, together with his meddow at South Ponds and at Colebrook, meddowes near Agawan,' etc."—Oct. 26, 1649.

In 1667, Richard' Higgins was still at Eastham, and one authority, indicating his standing, says:

"The council of war, in this time of danger from the Dutch and French, our common enemies, embraced . . . Richard Higgins of Eastham."

Richard' Higgins was a representative from Eastham, Mass., to the General Court in the years 1649, 1661 and 1667, and was a selectman for three years.

From extracts from the ancient records of Barnstable, Mass., published in Barnstable Patriot, 1864:

"Dec. 13, 1660, Agreement of Towns people to cut up Drift Whale that comes within the town limits. Richard Higgins undertakes to provide a companie to cut up the third fish."

Richard' Higgins m. (1) Nov. 23, 1634,* at Plymouth, Lydia, dau. of Edmund Chandler of Plymouth, Mass., 1633, of Duxbury, Mass., 1636-7, and of Scituate, Mass., 1650. Her father d. in 1662 at Duxbury, leaving a will which names his children, but not including Lydia, as she was then deceased. After bearing her husband two children, both sons, some time prior to 1650, Lydia Higgins died. Richard' Higgins m. (2) in the month of October, 1651, Mary, the widow of John Yates. He was of Duxbury, Mass., and they had one child, a son, John Yates, b. Aug. 15, 1650. They removed to Eastham, where he died in 1651, and administration on his estate was granted to his widow, Mary Yates, June 8, 1651. She was destined to survive her second husband, Richard' Higgins, and to be herself married a third time, as will hereafter appear. Her maiden name has not been discovered, but it is interesting to note that some of the Yates family emigrated to New Jersey with the Higgins clan.

As to the exact date of the removal of Richard' Higgins and wife Mary, with certain of their children from Eastham, Mass., to Piscataway, N. J., it is not certain. Hatfield in his History of Elizabeth, N. J., assumes to state that the family settled in New Jersey about 1670. Certain it is that Richard<sup>1</sup> Higgins was a resident of Piscataway in 1672, for he took the oath of allegiance there in that year to the New Dutch Government, and there is a deed recorded at Eastham, Mass., from Richard Higgins to Benjamin Higgins, his son, bearing date Nov., 1672, in which he is called "Richard Higgins of New Pascataway in the Province of New Jarse, Yeoman." This conveys land at Eastham and signifies that he is transferring his property rights there to his son on account of his prior location in New Jersey. Joseph Snow, who also went to New Jersey from Eastham, testified in 1679 that he saw "Richard Higgins" signs the deed in question. Nov. 24, 1672, Mary Higgins, his wife, joined in the conveyance.

Richard<sup>1</sup> Higgins undoubtedly died in Piscataway, N. J., shortly before or during the year 1677, for in land records of that date, his wife, Mary Higgins, is called "widow, etc.," and he is called "her deceased husband" and "late of Piscataway." Whitehead (see foot-note, ante), credits Mary Higgins, "widow of Richard," with having had surveyed for herself 254 acres of land before 1690, but it must have been earlier, as she obtained a warrant April 2, 1677, for the laying out in a lawful manner of the lands which her husband had owned. March 8, 1677-8, there were laid out to her at Piscataway eight tracts of land, containing respectively, 16, 22, 17, 16, 19, 104, 55 and 5 acres. These lands were in the western part of old Piscataway township, near the Raritan river.

One record shows "June 5, 1677, Mary Higgins, widow, and Eliakim Higgins, son of Richard Higgins, late of Piscataway, executors of said Richard's will, sold to Edward Slater, land purchased of John Smalley, Sr., and John Smalley, Jr.," the three latter of whom were residents of Piscataway.

Richard<sup>1</sup> Higgins, b. Aug. 1, 1603; d. 1677, being quite an old man while living at Piscataway, apparently occupied no active position or civil office there.

It is believed that the widow, Mary Yates-Higgins returned to Massachusetts for a short stay, as she conveyed, June 26, 1682, a tract of land in Eastham, which her husband, Richard<sup>1</sup> Higgins, had obtained by exchange with John Doane, July 2, 1669, to the widow of her son, John Yates, for the benefit of his son, John Yates, 3rd. Not long after this she went back to New Jersey and became the wife of Isaac Whitehead, Sr., of Elizabeth Town, N. J., who d. in the winter of 1690-91, leaving her a widow for the third time. More concerning her (post).

- 488      ii. Emilie S., b. —; d. 1909, unrr. Her will, dated June 17, 1907, proved July 9, 1909, names sisters Anna L. Paine, Margaret L. Bingham, Mary L. Briggs, Fannie M. Porter; niece Mary P. Searle;

- nephews Charles F. Porter, Harry A. Briggs.
 Executors: George W. Short and Charles D. Searle.
- 489 iii. Anna B., b. —; d. —; m. after 1888, — Paine.
- 490 iv. Mary H., b. —; d. —; m. after 1888, — Briggs, and had son Harry.
- 491 v. Margaret W., b. —; d. —; m. after 1888, —
 Bingham.

CORRECTIONS AND ADDITIONS TO PUBLISHED GENEALOGICAL WORKS.

Every gleaner in the field of genealogical research has met with errors in printed volumes which, left by themselves, carry mistaken conclusions to the end of time. This department has been inaugurated in an endeavor to correct such spurious data. Readers are requested to forward for publication here every such error, and such further additions to printed genealogies as are found, that due correction may be made. The authority for the statement must be furnished, with name and address of contributor.

BROWN—CORRECTIONS.

Savage states that Edmund Brown of Dorchester was son of Dea. William Brown of Sudbury; that he was shopkeeper at Boston, 1694; that John Brown of Dorchester was "of Roxbury" because he had children (by wife Elizabeth) baptized there 1681-85. These statements are erroneous, as proved by the Hist. of Dorchester; Dorchester Vital and Town Records (Boston Series); Dorchester Church Records; Dorchester Cemetery Inscriptions, and Roxbury Vital Records (Boston Series); also by Savage's own statement that Edmund, son of Dea. William Brown of Sudbury was born 1653. John, son of Edmund of Dorchester was born 1652!

In the book of Dorchester Town Records, p. 305, under the heading "Desayeres of sum p'tys to the towne. 14-3-49" (March 14, 1649), is recorded "Edmund Browne for a house plot." p. 306, "12 day of the 11 mo: 51. Edmund Browne desireth 6 foot in bredth of ground behind his house." "Bro. Blake and Bro. howard are deseyered to buy a Cow for Edmund Browne." "A Cow is bought of R. Witheringt<sup>o</sup> for 4<sup>1b</sup> 10<sup>s</sup> and delivred to Edmund Browne according to agre<sup>mt</sup>." Children:

- 2 i. John, bap. Aug. 22, 1652 (Dorchester Ch. Rec.).
- ii. Elizabeth, b. 1658 (Town Rec.).
- iii. Samuel, b. 1661 (Town Rec.).

Edmund Brown died Sept. 23, 1682, at Dorchester. .

2. JOHN<sup>o</sup> BROWN (Edmund<sup>1</sup>), was admonished by the Selectmen of Dorchester, 14 (7) 1674, "to attend famely Goverment in the place where he did reside and to be dillegent in his Calling" (Town Records, p. 200). "9 Sept., 1678. The same day it was ordered that the Constable should give notice to Jn<sup>o</sup> Brown and John Hopen to dep<sup>t</sup> the Towne as being noe inhabetants" (Town Rec., p. 223). "18, 7, 1678. The same time John Brown appeared and thought he might come into the town to be an inhabetant because born in the town and that he might be a help to his father and mother," etc. (p. 224). "The 29 Novem., 1678. The same day it was p<sup>o</sup>posed to the towne whether Jn<sup>o</sup> Brown should be admitted inhabetant into this town, being put to the Voted the Vote was affermative." In 1680 John Brown's town rate was 5 s. (p. 246). "16-11-1681. The same day at the Request of John Browne, the Select men doe free him from all Town Rates, Excepting only such Rates as shall be made for the ministry; p'vided the town be at no charges toward the maintenance of his father or mother," etc. John Brown's rates were abated 1683 and 1684. Dorcas, wife of John Brown, died Feb. 28, 1678 (Town Rec.). John Brown owned the covenant, 1688. Mary (evidently 2d), wife of John Brown, owned the covenant, 1692, and was admitted to full communion, 1699 (Dorchester Ch. Rec.). John Brown died May 14, 1725, ae. 73, and his widow married (2), at Dorchester, Feb. 4, 1730, James Thornton (Town Rec.). Nancy and Elihu were born Aug. 14, 1779.

Jonathan Lindsly was born Aug. 31, 1781.

Jemimah Lindsly was born Nov. 26, 1783.

Jabez Lindsly, Jun<sup>r</sup>., was born July 28, 1786.

Jabez L. Allen, son of Timothy and Jemimah Allen, was born Dec. 24, 1805, on Tuesday at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Harriet Allen, dau. same, was born Aug. 11, 1807, on Tuesday at 7 o'clock in the afternoon.

Hannah Caroline, daughter of Jabez L. and Caroline C. Allen, was born July 23, 1828.

Hannah C. Allen was baptized by Rev. Albert Barnes, 5th Sept., 1828.

Timothy Allen, one of the sons of Gilbert Allen (who was for many years one of the Deacons or Elders of the 1st Presbyterian Church of Morristown, New Jersey), married "Jemimah Lindsley" (daughter of Jabez and Jemimah (Bedford) Lindsley), who was born in 1783 and died in 1810, having been the mother of six children. After her death Timothy Allen married Ann, daughter of George and Dorcas (Hutchings) McIntire, at Bergen Point, New Jersey, and with her and several children removed to Michigan, where he died at Franklin, Lenowee Co., Dec., 1868. His second wife also died there in Nov., 1874. Jabez Lindsley, son of Timothy and Jemimah (Lindsley) Allen, was born Dec. 24, 1805; was married March 21, 1827, to Caroline Conkling, eldest daughter of Jabez and Hannah (Coe) Mills. Their children were: Hannah Caroline, born July, 1828; died Nov., 1831; Harriette Louise, born at Morristown, Feb., 1831; died Jan., 1832; Charles Mills, born June, 1833, at Morristown; died in Dover, Jan., 1836; William Lyman, born at Dover, N. ### 34. LE MERCIER FAMILY—ADDITIONAL NOTE.

Since the publication of an article on Morris Family of New Jersey, etc., and some Notes on the Le Mercier Family, in N. Y. Gen. & Biog. Record, October, 1914, pp. 364-5, I have found that Capt. William Mercier married Ann Bradford, daughter of William Bradford (printer) and his wife Sytie (Sarah) Santford, whose tombstone is in old Trinity Churchyard. On searching the Trinity Church records, one of the family found that an old tombstone had been removed to the plot of William Michaels in Trinity Cemetery at 155th Street. This tombstone bore the names: Mercier-Bradford, 1777.

This led to an examination of the Bradford Genealogy, compiled by Henry Darrach of Philadelphia, himself a descendant of William Bradford. A letter from him tells me that there is an error in the printed copy, as Capt. William Mercier married Ann Bradford (not Maria, as stated in the Bradford Genealogy), and as David Morris and Christina Mercier called their first child Ann, this is undoubtedly correct.

Mr. Darrach has the family records. Ann Bradford's sister, Elizabeth, married Dr. Jacob Ogden of Jamaica, L. I., and they have many well-known descendants, both in this country and in England. That the Mercier stone was removed to the Michaels plot is another link as to identity, as John Michaels married Elizabeth Morris, the daughter of David Morris and Christina Mercier.

CATHARINE T. R. MATHEWS, Croton Manor, N. Y.

35. TAPPAN—CORRECTION.

New England Hist. Gen. Register, vol. xxxiv. pp. 48-57, article on "Tappan Family," omits the son Abraham, b. May 18, 1695, from the list of children of Isaac and Mary (March) Tappan, who were married March 27, 1691, at Woodbridge, N. J. (Daly's Woodridge, N. J., and original records.)

MRS. L. C. HEELY, 165 West 140th Street.

36. VAN DER GRIST—VAN DYCK—CORRECTIONS.

Fiske's Dutch and Quaker Colonies, vol. i, p. 238, states that Paulus Leendertsen Van der Grist and Hendrick Van Dyck were killed by the Indians at the massacre at Manhattan in 1655. Per contra: Van der Grist returned to Holland, ~671 (N. Y. Col. MSS., ii, 43) and Van Dyck married (2) Magdalena Pÿssens, widow of Jacob Couwenhoven, at Midwout, June 20, 1675 (D. Ch. Marriages, 40).

HOPPER STRIKER MOTT.

37. WILLETT-DE WITT-WILLETT—CORRECTIONS.

In vol. i, p. 262, Abstract of Wills (N. Y. Hist. Society), it is stated that a marriage license was granted to Christopher Hoaglandt and Sarah Willett. This is an error of the copyist. The license was granted Feb. 15, 1696, to Christopher Hoaglandt and Sarah Dewitt. (See Supplementary List of Marriage Licenses, p. 18 and 24; also N. Y. Gen. & Biog. Record, vol. iii, p. 93.)

The Early Wills of Westchester Co., by William S. Pelletreau, page 63, note 31, states that Wm. Willett, Esq., of Westchester "was the son of Thomas Willett and grandson of Col. Thomas Willett, the first Mayor of New York." The facts are that Col. William Willett of Westchester (b. about 1669; d. 1733), was the son of Col. Thomas Willett of Flushing, L. I. (b. 1645; d. 1722), and Helena Stoothoff, his wife, and grandson of Thomas Willett and Sarah Cornell. The latter married (2) 1647, Charles Bridges; (3) 1682, John Lawrence, Jr., of Flushing. She died intestate and letters of administration were granted to her eldest son, Col. Thomas Willett. (See Abstracts of Wills) N. Y. Hist. Society, vols. i, p. 381, and ii, p. 256.)

Page 215, Note 58, states that William Willett, Jr., of Rye was the grandson of the Hon. Thomas Willett, who was Judge of Queens Co., 1710-30. This is an error, as William Willett, Jr.'s, father, William Willett (b. about 1696; d. 1755), was the son of Col. William Willett of Westchester (b. about 1670; d. April, 1733). Nor had William Willett, Jr., any sister Abigail, who married John Thomas, as is stated in the note. Neither was there ever any "Hon. Thomas Willett, Judge of Queens Co., 1710-30." The first Thomas' Willett d. about 1647; Thomas' Willett (b. 1645; d. 1722); Thomas' Willett (b. 1672; d. 1724); Thomas' Willett (b. about 1700; d. 1761).

See Abstracts of Wills (N. Y. Hist. Soc.), vol. iii, p. 111; Some of the Beginnings of Westchester Co. History, by Ex. Gov. Alonzo B. Cornell, p. 18.

Page 377. The Will of Margaret Willett, proved May 28, 1784, states that Mary, Anna, Euphemia and Gilbert were the children of the testatrix's brother-in-law, William Willett. They were in fact the children of her brother-in-law Thomas Willett. See Abstract of Wills (N. Y. Hist. Soc.), vol. xii, p. 298.

In the History of the New York City, by Mrs. Schuyler Van Rensselaer, vol. ii, p. 133, it is stated that "Thomas Willett—one of the original patentees of the town of Hempstead," was also "high sheriff of Long Island under Governor Andros." The patent was granted by Gov. Kieft, Nov. 14, 1644, to Robert Fordham, John "Stricklan," John "Lamoree" (Lawrence), John Carman, John Ogden and Jonas Wood, and Thomas Willett does not appear among the patentees. In the "Division of Land" made in 1647 appears the name of a Thomas Willett, but it is not clear who he was. According to The Early History of Hempstead, L. I., by Charles B. Moore (N. Y. Gen. & Biog. Record, vol. x, p. 14), it is stated that this proprietor, Thomas Willett, was Thomas Willett, the Mayor of New York, and according to others he is made to be the Thomas Willett who married at the Reformed Dutch Church in N. Y. on Sept. 1, 1643, Sarah Cornell. It is certain that some time before Nov. 3, 1647, Sarah Cornell's husband died, as on that date she married Charles Bridges (Carel Ver Brugge), so it remains uncertain which Thomas Willett was proprietor in 1647. The point however, which I wish to make, is that neither of these Thomas Willetts was High Sheriff of Long Island in 1676. Thomas Willett, the Mayor of New York, retired to Barrington, R. I., in 1673, and died there Aug. 4, 1674; and Thomas Willett who married Sarah Cornell, died between Nov., 1645, and Nov., 1647. The High Sheriff of Long Island in 1676 was Col. Thomas Willett, son of Thomas Willett and Sarah Cornell. (See the N. Y. Gen. & Biog. Record, vol. vi, pp. 35 and 37; the N. E. Hist.-Gen. Register, vol. 2, p. 376; N. Y. Civil List, 1891-579).

OBITUARY.

AKERLY. At Flushing, L. I., on July 6, 1915, there passed to her reward Mrs. Charlotte Manigault (Taylor) Akerly of New York, widow of Rev. Samuel M. Akerly, late of Newburgh, N. Y., (obituary, N. Y. Gen. & Biog. Record, vol. 31, p. 57.)

Mrs. Akerly was born 10 March, 1841, in the rectory of Grace Church, New York, of which church her father, Rev. Thomas House Taylor, D.D., deceased, was Rector for many years. Dr. Taylor was the son of John and Margaret (House) Taylor, of London, Eng., and Georgetown, S. C. The Taylors came from Berwick-on-Tweed, and the name is said to have been originally Taillefer.

Gabriel Manigault's wife, Anne Ashby, was a lineal descendant of the Ashbys of Quenby, and the Ashbys of Loseby, who held manors in Leicestershire before 1297, and traced back to William the Conqueror. (Burke's Landed Gentry, Burke's Commoners, Nicholl's Hist. of Leicestershire, Eng.)

Mrs. Akerly was also a descendant of the well-known Wragg, Drayton, Johnson, Bull and Middleton families of South Carolina. Her ancestor, Henry Middleton, probably the most influential man of his day in Carolina, did much to turn the balance of power in favor of the American party during the Revolution, and was President of the Continental Congress in 1774. Among her other forebears were the Carolina Governors, Arthur Middleton, William Bull, Col. Thomas Broughton and Sir Nathaniel Johnson.

Mrs. Akerly was a charter member of Quassaick Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and of the Colonial Dames of South Carolina.

She married 19 Oct., 1880, Rev. Samuel M. Akerly, being his second wife, and is survived by two step-daughters, the Misses Mary and Lucy D. Akerly.

She was buried from Grace Church, by the Rector, Dr. Charles L. Slattery, and is interred in the Akerly plot in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Akerly was whole-souled, cultured, generous and genial, greatly endearing herself to all around her. She fitted Dr. Huntington's definition of a saint: "One who is trying to become what God would wish her to be." In her last years of illness she knew "how to suffer and be strong," and her life motto was ever "Noblesse oblige."

BOOK REVIEWS.

By JOHN R. TOTTEN.

EDITORIAL NOTE:--The New York Genealogical and Biographical Society solicits donations to its Library all newly published works on Genealogy, History and Biography, as well as all works on Town, County and State History, or works embodying information regarding the Vital Records of any and all localities. It also solicits the donation to the manuscript collections of its library any and all manuscript compilations which bear upon the above mentioned topics.

In consideration of such donations the works so presented to the Society will be at once placed upon the shelves of its library and will be reviewed in the next subsequent issue of THE NEW YORK GENEALOGICAL AND BIOGRAPHICAL RECORD, each donation of such character, whether in printed or manuscript form, will be reviewed under the head of "Book Notices" and a copy of THE RECORD containing the review will be sent to the donor.

The Society does not solicit donations of publications or manuscripts on topics foreign to the above mentioned subjects, as its library is specialized and cannot accommodate material which does not bear directly upon its recognized sphere of usefulness.

Donations for review in the January issue of THE RECORD should be delivered to the Society before December 1st of the previous year; for the April issue, before March 1st; for the July issue, before June 1st; and for the October issue, before September 1st.

All donations will be generously reviewed with a view of calling the attention of the public to their good points; but, while generous, the reviews will contain such proper criticism as the interest of the genealogical student would expect from the editorial staff of THE RECORD.

The "Book Notices" of THE RECORD are carefully read by all librarians as well as genealogical students, and the review of a work in THE RECORD is equivalent to a special advertisement of such work.

Letters of transmittal of donations of such works should embody the price of the work donated and the name and address of the person from whom it can be purchased.

NEWTON GENEALOGY, Genealogical, Biographical, Historical. Being a record of the Descendants of Richard Newton of Sudbury and Marlborough, Massachusetts, 1638, with genealogies of families descended from the immigrants Rev. Roger Newton of Milford, Conn.; Thomas Newton of Fairfield, Conn.; Matthew Newton of Stonington, Conn.; Newtons of Virginia and Newtons near Boston, compiled by Ermina Newton Leonard. Large 8vo, cloth, pp. 872, including index. Published by Bernard Ammidown Leonard, De Pere, Wis. 1915. Price, $15.00, carriage 32 cts. extra. Address publisher. Only 125 copies of this work left for sale. Price subject to advance as stock diminishes.

This work is a most excellent genealogical compilation and will be welcomed by those of the blood and by the entire genealogical fraternity. Besides the purely genealogical matter there is a fund of biographical and family historical material of much value. Heartily recommended to all genealogical libraries.

AMERICAN AUTHORS' ANCESTRY, including some others who have influenced life wisely—divines, diplomats, jurists, philanthropists, reformers, and benefactors, by John Osborne Austin, Author of Genealogical Dictionary of Rhode Island, One Hundred and Sixty Allied Families, etc. Quarto, cloth, pp. 107. Published at Providence, R. I., 1915. Price, $6.00, postpaid. Address: J. O. Austin, P. O. Box 22, Providence, R. I.

This is a most painstaking compilation and its authorship ensures the accuracy of the material set forth in the various charts contained in the work. The fund of information will be of value to all who have the blood of the various ancestors in their veins; and the work like those previously compiled by the author will become a standard for all genealogists to refer to. It is recommended to all genealogical, historical and general reference libraries.

VARIOUS ANCESTRAL LINES OF JAMES GOODWIN AND LUCY (MORGAN) GOODWIN, of Hartford, Conn., compiled by Frank Farnsworth Starr for James J. Goodwin. 8vo, cloth, 2 volumes. Vol. I. Goodwin Lines, pp. 319 including index and chart. Vol. II. Morgan Lines, pp. 481 and family chart. Copyrighted 1915 by James J. Goodwin. Press of Tuttle, Morehouse and Taylor.

This work, as its title indicates, is not a genealogy but an exhaustive compilation of data referring to the ancestors of James Goodwin and his wife Lucy Morgan of Hartford, Conn. Among these ancestors there will be found in the two volumes sketches of the following forbears of these two descendants, viz.: Edward Allen; Bartholomew Barnard; Simon Beamon; Richard Beckley; Thomas Birchard; Thomas Bird; Adam Blakeman; Thomas Bliss; Robert Blott; James Boosey; Alexander Bryan; William Buell; Samuel Chapin; Edward Chapman; John Coit; Edward Collins; Joseph Collyer; Thomas Cook; John Deming; Nicholas Disborough; Anthony Dorchester; Margaret Fox; Mathew Grant; Thomas Halsey; Edward Howell; Michael Humphrey; John Lothrop; Nicholas Mason; Simon Mills; Hugh Mould; Olmstead and Newell; William Pantry; John Pratt Prudden and Coley; Robert Royce; Robert Sanford; Richard Saxton; Isaac Sheldon; Hugh Smith; William Smith; Rowland Stebbins; John Steele; George Stocking; John Taylor; Thomas Thomson; Richard Treat; Andrew Warner; Thomas Welles; Moses Wheeler; Robert White; William Whiting; Joseph Woodford; Thomas Woodford.

The well known reputation of the compiler and the great interest taken in all matters genealogical by the late James J. Goodwin guarantees the accuracy of statements made in the work. It is a regrettable fact that the recent death of James Junius Goodwin (who was a valued member and trustee of this Society for many years, as well as a liberal supporter of its enterprises) prevented his seeing this valuable work as presented to the public. Recommended to all Genealogical, Biographical and Historical Societies.

THE CLAN MACFARLANE, The Division of the Clan, Ancestry of David D. McNair, by Mary Wilson Mac Nair. 8vo, cloth, pp. 24, with black and white conventional cut of the Mac Farlane Arms, Crest and Motto. Price, cloth, $1.50; paper, $1.25. Address: Author, Library of Congress, Washington, D. C.

"This little sketch—or series of sketches—has been prepared largely for the children and grandchildren of David D. McNair. The history of the Clan MacFarlane is drawn in great measure from the accounts by William Buchanan of Auchmar (Edinburgh, 1775) and William F. Skene (London, 1837). The story of the division of the clan is taken from the Celtic Monthly; a magazine for Highlanders, published in Glasgow. For much of the information in regard to the later MacNair (McNair) ancestry I am indebted to Theodore M. McNair's Genealogical Record of the Descendants of John McNair and Christiana Walker (Dansville, N. Y., 1880). All the works cited in the Bibliography with the exception of this last named volume, are in the Library of Congress, Washington." Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

WILLIAM WEBB (September 19, 1746—September 23, 1832). His War Service on Long Island, N. Y., and in Connecticut. Ancestry and Descendants, by Capt. Richard Henry Greene, A. M., LL.B. 8vo, cloth, pp. 98, including excellent index with ancestral chart and 3 illustrations of family interest. Privately printed, New York, 1914. Price, $1.25. Address: author, 235 Central Park West, N. Y. City.

The well known accuracy of the author guarantees the perfection of this work from a genealogical and historical standpoint. Captain Greene is perhaps the best known genealogical authority in this community and a work from his pen will be welcomed by all genealogists. Recommended to all Genealogical and Historical Libraries.

SPIRIT OF PATRIOTISM. As Evidenced by the Revolutionary and Ancestral Records of the Society Sons of the Revolution in the State of California. Published by the California Society Sons of the Revolution. Orra Eugene Monnette, Editor and Leon Le Lanne French, Assistant Editor. 8vo, cloth, pp. 512. Portrait frontispiece of "three real sons of the Revolution," viz.: Francis Marion Lemmon; George Washington Peachy and Lewis Patrick Phillips. Price, $7.50, postpaid. Address: W. M. Dixon, Librarian, California Society, Sons of the Revolution, Rooms 812-814, San Fernando Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal. Checks made payable to W. M. Dixon.

This is a remarkably excellent example of a Revolutionary Lineage Book and the California Society is to be congratulated on its publication. The volume is heartily recommended to all genealogical, biographical and historical libraries and to Patriotic Societies.

A valuable town history containing much biographical and genealogical data. Recommended to historical and genealogical libraries.

PARTIAL GENEALOGY OF THE SELLERS AND WAMPOLE FAMILIES OF PENNSYLVANIA, by Edwin Jaquett Sellers. Printed for Private Circulation by J. B. Lippincott Co., Philadelphia, Pa. 1903. 8vo, cloth, pp. 139, including index and frontispiece portrait of David W. Sellers. Price not stated. Address: author, No. 800 Betz Bldg., Philadelphia, Pa.

An interesting contribution to the history and genealogy of these two families, which we trust will stimulate the publication of full genealogies thereof. Recommended to genealogical libraries.

GENEALOGY OF THE KOLLOCK FAMILY OF SUSSEX COUNTY, DELAWARE, 1657-1897, by Edwin Jaquett Sellers. Philadelphia, 1897. 8vo, cloth, pp. 72, including index. Price not stated. Address: author, No. 800 Betz Bldg., Philadelphia, Pa.

A valuable genealogical work well indexed and apparently most carefully compiled. Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

ALLIED ANCESTRY OF THE VAN CULEMBORG FAMILY OF CULEMBORG, HOLLAND, being the ancestry of Sophia Van Culemborg, wife of Johan De Carpentier; Parents of Maria De Carpentier, wife of Jean Paul Jaquet, Vice-Director and Chief Magistrate of the Colonies on the South River of New Netherland, 1655-1657, by Edwin Jaquett Sellers. Philadelphia, 1915. 8vo, cloth, pp. 161, including index. No price stated. Address: author, No. 800 Betz Bldg., Philadelphia, Pa.

A most exhaustive compilation of data relative to the origin and ancestry of this Holland family. Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

GENEALOGY OF THE CADLE FAMILY INCLUDING ENGLISH DESCENT, edited by Frank W. Mahin from material collected by the late Henry Cadle and further enlarged by Mrs. Charles F. Cadle, of Muscatine, Iowa. 8vo, cloth, pp. 146+, index, illustrated. Not for sale. Address: Mrs. Charles F. Cadle, Bethany, Mo.

A valuable contribution to the genealogy of this family and it is recommended to all genealogical libraries.

GENEALOGY OF THE DARBY FAMILY, Ancestors and Descendants of George Darby, 1726-1788, of Montgomery Co., Md., from material collected in 1912, 1913 and 1914. Edited by R. C. Darby, of Atlanta, Ga. 8vo, paper, pp. 172, including index. No price stated. Address: author, 127 Central Ave., Atlanta, Ga.

This work while not constructed along standard genealogical lines contains an immense fund of information relative to George Darby, his ancestors and descendants, which we hope in time may be re-published along standard lines. Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

OGDEN-PRESTON GENEALOGY, Ancestors and Descendants of Captain Benjamin Stratton Ogden and his wife Nancy (Preston) Ogden, compiled by Josie Powell Stone and William Ogden Powell. 8vo, paper, pp. 26. Price $1.00. Address Mrs. M. E. Stone, St. Peter, Minn.

An excellent production giving the Ogden ancestry of Benjamin Stratton Ogden and the Preston ancestry of his wife Nancy Preston and the descendants of this couple to the 10th generation. Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

THE AMERICAN FAMILY OF REV. OBADIAH HOLMES, by Col. J. T. Holmes. 8vo, cloth, pp. 247, including index, illustrated. Price, $2.50. Address: L. A. Holmes, Brunson Bldg., Columbus, Ohio.

While not constructed along standard genealogical lines, this work is full of valuable genealogical information and is recommended to all genealogical libraries.

MAJOR ABRAHAM KIRKPATRICK AND HIS DESCENDANTS, compiled by one of the descendants. 8vo, cloth, pp. 48. Price not stated. Address: Kirk Q. Bigham, 1212 Grandview Ave., Pittsburg, Pa.

Of much interest to the descendants of Major Abraham Kirkpatrick, containing notes on the Kirkpatrick, Oldham, Shaler, Cowan, Lewis, and Bigham Families. Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

PERSONAL REMINISCENCES OF JAMES A. SCRYMSER, In Times of Peace and War. 8vo, cloth, pp. 152, illustrated. Price not stated. Address: Capt. James A. Scrymser, 66 Broadway, N. Y. City.

This contribution on the part of one who has had much intimate association with the leading men of his time and also much to do with shaping events in the past will be read with much interest. Recommended to all Biographical and Historical Societies.

JOHNSON GENEALOGY, by George D. Johnson. 8vo, paper, pp. 32, including index. Price, $1.00. Address: author, National Military Home, Kansas.

This brochure is a compilation relative to the Ancestors and Descendants of Elisha Johnson, of Freedom, Waldo Co., Me., and as such is a valuable contribution to the general Johnson family history in this country. Recommended to all genealogical libraries.

THE ANDREW BRANNING FAMILY, PIONEERS TO THE TERRITORY OF FLORIDA, by W. C. C. Branning, Sr., of West Palm Beach, Fla. Parts 1, 2 and 3. 8vo, paper, pp. 10, 15, 16, illustrated. Price, 10 cts. a part, further parts to be issued. Completed volume, $1.75. Address: author, 630 Datura Street, West Palm Beach, Fla.

Each part of this series contains the observations of the author during 2 years of experience of pioneer life in Florida down to the present date, and the volume will therefore appeal to the historian of that state.

This work is not a genealogy in standard form, but is rather a compilation of genealogical notes relative to the Coxe Family in America and the families (some 75 in all) with whom the Coxe Family in America are connected. It is full of carefully collected information. Recommended to Genealogical Libraries.

PATTERSON GENEALOGY, Descendants of John Patterson of Argyleshire, Scotland, compiled by Guy S. Rix, of Concord, N. H. 8vo, paper, pp. 10, including index. Price not stated. Address: author.

An excellent brochure recommended to genealogical libraries.

MY ANCESTORS. A MEMORIAL OF JOHN PAINE AND MARY ANN MAY, of East Woodstock, Conn., by their son, Lyman May Paine, of Chicago, Ill. Quarto, cloth, pp. 236. Privately printed. Address: Lyman May Paine, 4221 Langley Ave., Chicago.

Mr. Paine has written a book which cannot fail to be of great interest to genealogists and to all who are descended from New England families. Among the well known families mentioned are Aspinwall, Boardman, Bowen, Carpenter, Chandler, Child, Dana, Heath, Huntington, Lyman, May, Morse, Tiffany, Winchester, McClellan, Dudley, Winthrop, Dyer, Standish, Griswold, Hazard and Palmer. The ancestors of Samuel F. B. Morse, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Secretary of State William L. Marcy, Gen. George B. McClellan and Henry C. Bowen lived in Woodstock; and much of interest regarding many other Woodstock families may also be read in this book.

A portrait is reproduced of Capt. Samuel Chandler, an officer in the Revolutionary War and a brother of Thomas Bradbury Chandler, S. T. D. (Oxon.) and a brother-in-law of Gen. Samuel McClellan, painted by another brother Winthrop Chandler. This Capt. Chandler, a portrait of whose wife Anna Paine Chandler, by the same artist also appears, is descended from the Bradburys, Hiltons, Dudleys and Winthrops; and was a great-great-great-grandson of John Winthrop, Governor of Massachusetts; and of Thomas Dudley, also Governor of Massachusetts.

BOOK OF OLD NEW YORK, by Henry Collins Brown. Royal Quarto, pp. 392, with 106 full page illustrations of Old New York, 5 illustrations in color and 101 in black and white, printed on hand made deckle edged linen paper, arranged and printed from type by the Lent and Graff Co., engravings by the Walker Engraving Company of New York City. Copyrighted 1913 by Henry Collins Brown. For full particulars as to price of work or as to copy of work to be sent on approval, address author, 15 East 40th Street, N. Y. City.

In these days of rapid change in the physical appearance of New York City when it is safe to say that the New York of to-day would not be recognized by those who lived here all their lives and who passed away 50 years ago, or in fact 25 years ago—the publication of a work of this character fills a gap in the pictorial history of our metropolis that has long been felt. Not since the discontinuance of the publication of Valentine's Manuals have we had anything which so well preserves the optical presentation of the past of our ever changing city. As the author states the work is not for the student nor for the antiquarian; rather it is for the man on the street, who was born here, or who has passed most of his life in the town of which we (the author) writes. The illustrations which form the important part of the work were made from originals loaned from the collections of Mrs. Robert W. De Forest; Messrs. Robert Goelet; Percy R. Pyne 2nd; J. Pierpont Morgan; A. Van Horne Stuyvesant; Win. F. Havemeyer; Simeon Ford; J. Clarence Davies; Robert E. Dowling; John N. Golding; John D. Crimmins; Henry Morgenthau and others, and the descriptive material being written in many instances by those who "write of memories still vivid." In appearance the volume is worthy of a place in any library, and the subject matter is such that all those who maintain libraries in New York City (old or new) will feel that they must have it on their shelves. Special mention should be made of the more than a hundred wonderful old pictures shown in Mr. Brown's book. The greater part of them have never before been published having appeared originally in single sheets either as Lithographs, Steel Engravings, or Mezzotints. Unlike the usual book on this subject the reproduction of the old prints in Valentine's Manual have been avoided, not because they are without interest, but because Mr. Brown has chosen to give much rarer and hitherto unknown prints of the city that can be seen only in these famous private collections and are consequently not accessible to the general public. Their extreme rarity may be judged from the fact that of several of the subjects shown, only one copy is known to exist, while in quite a number of others, perhaps two or three copies only are all that is left. These pictures are of generous size, some nine inches by six, but the majority 6 by 5 inches. Each plate, however, is sumptuously printed on a separate sheet on special heavy plate paper, from a copper faced etching made for this work.

The colored plates, of which there are four full pages faced with tissue are by the new process work, whereby the original is faithfully reproduced by photography, thus obviating the intervention of any other artist between the original engraving and the copy. This ensures an exact and true copy of the old original. The work is unqualifiedly recommended to all Historical and General Reference Libraries.

We advise all librarians and bibliophiles to see this work and Mr. Brown's liberal offer to send it on approval is one that should be taken advantage of. It has already been placed in many of the leading libraries of this country.

GENEALOGICAL CHART OF 28 GENERATIONS OF A BRANCH OF THE RICE FAMILY, compiled by Earl C. L. Van Wert, of Valhalla, N. Y.
